LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Male Choir.
All male singers wishing to help in the meeting in the Opera House to-night are asked to meet there at 7 o'clock.

Called from Lindsay to Halifax.
A despatch from Halifax says that St. Paul's Episcopal congregation of that city, the rectorship of which has been vacant since the resignation of Rev. Dr. Hill last year, have decided to call Rev. Weston Jones, of Lindsay, Ont., a young man of 32, he being the first selected from a large number of applicants. The parish is the largest in the Maritime Province, and the salary $2000 with a curate.

Don't buy your spring suit until you have inspected the beautiful range of Tereos and Costumes just opened out at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

A Promotion.

The Lindsay Warder says:—
"We are pleased and sorry to announce the departure from Okewood of Mr. Sherin, assistant master in the high school. The pleasure arises from the fact of his having obtained a situation in Okawa High School at a great advance in salary. The sorrow is felt at his departure from Okewood as a teacher. Though here but a few years, Mr. Sherin has made a mark as an educator which will be a strength to him wherever he is called to teach. We hope the people of Okewood may be successful in getting a good successor, and that Okewood may still retain its popularity, but Mr. Sherin's example and influence were great."

Mr. Sherin took his collegiate course at the Institute in Peterborough.

Sad and Sudden News.

The death of John W. Dunlop, the eldest son of Mr. John Dunlop, which was found in our death column, must have been a severe shock to his mother, who keeps a grocery store on the corner of George and Sherbrooke streets. Mrs. Dunlop had received a letter from her deceased only a week previous, stating that he was well and enjoying good health. Yesterday morning she was handed a telegram announcing his death, and asking for instructions what to do with the body. Deceased was employed in one of Mr. Irwin's shanties near Haliburton, but no particulars have as yet been received of the cause of his sudden death. His father is at present in Oregon, U.S.

Grand and Highly Attractive Sale.

Mr. C. Stapleton will, on Wednesday next, 24th March, commence an auction sale of high class English art manufactures, in the store south of the Review office, George street. The goods consist of an extensive assortment of Silver Electroplate, Oxidized Gold and Silver Goods, articles mounted on Oak, Wedgwood, Crown, Derby and other China ware, Ivory-Handled Table Cutlery (Joseph Rodgers & Son), a selection of Musical Boxes playing the most popular operatic and other airs, Sets of Dish Covers, Eutree Dishes, Tureens, Tea and Coffee Services, Liquor and Wine Stands, Sugar and Cream Holders, Cups, Goblets, Fruit and Flower Baskets, &c. &c. the whole offering an excellent opportunity to parties furnishing, and for the purchase of birthday, wedding and other presents. All will be on view on Tuesday next.

Business Notes.

The handsome new "Crystal" block, built by Mr. George A. Cox, is about completed. It is a three-story building with mansard roof. The plate glass front extends to the third floor, giving it a palatial appearance. In all, there are twenty sheets of plate glass in the front. The building is thoroughly heated by hot air apparatus. This morning Messrs. H. S. Griffin & Co. opened a new stock of dry goods in the southern store. The premises are airy, and the goods look very pretty in their pristine crispness. The counters are grained in stained mahogany and embellished with Oak panels, finished in oil. The shelving is simple, all painted white, and crowned with a white painted pediment, relieved by a concave panel in stained mahogany. A long gas fixture stands over each counter, from front to rear, out of which at regular points jut a jk. The elaborated front is tastefully dressed in a manner that does credit to Mr. Joseph Armstrong, the chief clerk. The windows are ornamented with a complete set of Mr. E. Green's patent glass shutters. The millinery department is under the capable management of Miss Brewster-Benn. No doubt Messrs. Griffin & Co. will secure a fair portion of the trade in their line.

A NEW SUITE OF OFFICES

THE CENTRAL LOAN AND SAVINGS COMPANY IN NEW PREMISES

Georgous Decorations, Palatial Fittings and Central Location—a Brief Description of the Place.

The accommodation afforded to the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company by the premises over the Great Northwestern Telegraph Company's office proved to be inadequate as well as unhandy. The company had occupied these premises since organization, but last fall decided to locate in a more convenient place. The matter was left in the hands of Mr. G. A. Cox, the President of the company, and the manner in which he fulfilled the trust reposed in him met with the warm approval of the Directors and shareholders at the recent annual meeting.

The offices of the company are situated south of the Bank of Commerce, George street, in the place formerly occupied by two stores. The front has been remodelled and made to look very handsome. The base is sand blown. Out of this rises iron columns, painted black, and ornamented with FIGURES IN GOLD.

The columns reach to the second floor separating the large sheets of plate glass, surmounted with squares of annealed glass, which form the front.

The main entrance to the bank is flanked on either side by plate glass windows, on the inner side of which are wire net signs, painted in gold, giving the name of the company, the capital at stake, etc. After putting the thumb on a finely finished bronze latch, made at the Peterborough Lock Company's works, and pressing gently, the gold-lettered glass door opens, and the visitor stands in a vestibule, in which from two sides he can see his reflection in surrounding plates of glass. This vestibule has nearly finished woodwork and a covering on the floor of English tilecloth. The visitor pushes one of the swinging glass doors, which are, it may be remarked, each embellished with a circular device (ground into the glass, the circle being formed of the words, Central Canada Loan and Savings Company, Ontario, and enters. On either side of the bank the visitor cannot fail to be struck with the magnificence of the furnishings, and the splendor of the decorations. The counters are all of solid cherry, finished in oil, ornamented with bevel black panels of veneer and burl, with the whole mounted by a screen of clear, glittering sand blast glass, separated by cherry partitions. The clearness of the glass is further heightened in degree by the spacing of ground lines over each panel, in the centre of each of which is the similarly ground into the glass. The door and window frames are all of beautifully veined solid cherry, finished in oil. The banking department extends the whole depth of the building.

The wall and ceiling decorations are in accord with the elegance of the furniture and woodwork. It may be here said that Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co. were given carte blanche as to the paper hanging decorations. They were simply told in what kind of wood the various offices were to be finished and instructed to spare no expense. The decorations were all chosen by Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co. from their ordinary stock, and all the credit as to design and the choosing of colors is entirely due to them. Much credit does it do them, for no such elaborate piece of work in wall-decoration was ever attempted in this part of the country, and competent judges from the cities, seeing it, have stated that nothing to rival it is to be seen in either of the great Canadian centres of trade. A dark, heavy paneled door recedes from the floor about four feet up the wall. The body is of gilt roses on a light brown background. Next to the white plaster of Paris cornice is an elaborate piece of frieze work, 4 feet 6 inches deep, consisting of a top border of gilt roses and a light brown ground, a bead, or narrow border, an eighteen inch on gold ground, another bead, another band of plain sage green and then another bead to separate it from the body paper. The frieze is elegantly rich, combining no shade that clashes in the least with the general surroundings. The ceiling decoration is divided into two long panels extending the full length of the department. The floor is covered with English oilcloth. The windows in the rear correspond with those of the front. They are plate glass, culminating in annealed glass blocks.

After entering the main entrance, and turning to the left, the President's office meets the view. It is a comfortable and neatly adorned apartment. The woodwork is all of smoothly finished black walnut in oil. The furniture, consisting of several cabinets, a revolving book case, a low desk, chairs, etc., are all of walnut, and even the slat shutters spanning the plate glass windows on the inside are of the same material and finish. The wall and ceiling decorations, especially the latter, are magnificent. The body of the wall paper consists of beautifully designed foliages in gold on a flesh color ground. This is captured by a frieze 3 feet 6 inches deep. The ceiling decorations are a succession of borders from the title to the frieze. The still is so sombre that the design is barely distinguishable. Each succeeding border and bead lightens in shade till reaching the frieze, which consists of PENTAGON BLOCKS, set on a cream ground by narrow gut lines. By contrast a dark centre piece lends additional light to the frieze. The office is carpeted with Brussels carpet, the colors of which agree with the surroundings.

At the rear of the President's office there is a door leading through a beautifully designed screen of heavy British plate glass, to the reception room, the woodwork of which is finished in plain white ash. The screen dividing the two apartments has a frame, enclosing the figured glass, one side of which is walnut and the other ash. The reception room is

RESPONSIBILITY FOR CRIME.

THE Rielites are arguing that their martyred friend should have been allowed to escape the penalty of his crimes because the presumption was that he was innocent. Even Mr. Blake conceded to adopt this line of argument in his futile endeavor to find an excuse for himself when announcing his determination to join the Rielites in voting to turn the Macdonald Administration out of office for permitting the law to take effect upon a murderous and vengeful rebel.

Now presumption is not proof. For the conviction of a criminal proof, not presumption, is required, and he should have the benefit of any doubt. But what is a question of relieving a criminal from the penalty of his crimes, then the position is reversed; it is proof, not presumption, of his irresponsibility that is necessary. As he is presumed innocent till found guilty, so he is presumed sane till found insane. Even if a man is insane it does not follow that he may commit crimes with impunity, for indeed criminality almost implies an unsound or defective mind. The true question, as Mr. Blake well knows, is whether the criminal knew right from wrong, and was therefore responsible for his actions. This point was decided in Riel's case by the jury as to his state up to the time of his trial. That he remained in the same mental condition of responsibility up to the eve of his execution was decided by three gentlemen of repute in the medical profession, although the Rielites, including Mr. Blake, do not hesitate to "presume" that they are guilty of conspiracy to cause the death of a man guiltless because responsible—in fact to commit murder.

Punishment, and especially capital punishment, are intended for the protection of the community, and this end certainly would not be attained if criminals were relieved from responsibility because some relation had been in some and the criminal himself eccentric. The abuse of this plea of insanity in the United States is one great cause why Lynch law is so prevalent there. We want no such system in Canada. And it would be still more dangerous for the community if it were tolerated that a criminal could escape punishment because his political and other friends threatened vengeance on the authorities if they ventured to let justice prevail.

The London Advertiser, commenting on the Riel debate, says—

"Mr. Blake, like other Government supporters, carefully keeps out of sight the fact that as long as there was buffalo on the prairie the great majority of the halfbreeds were not disposed to settle down in fixed communities. They were far beyond the reach of the Government at the period Mr. Blake mentions."

In this case why do the Advertiser and its friends pretend that the halfbreeds had been settled for long periods upon their farms? And if the buffalo were the primary cause of the trouble, is that another matter for which Mr. John Macdonald is to be held responsible? When Mr. Macdonald was in power, his Minister of the Interior, Mr. Mills, held that the halfbreeds should be treated simply as the white settlers.

The Kingston Whig drops the defaulter Peck, though, of course, it does not keep its promise by condemning his payment as stipendiary magistrate for a period when he had taken himself off to Dakota for his country's good. It still, however, stands by Peck, the vile slanderer of Canadian volunteers, Canadian jurors, judges and executive. The Whig denies that Mr. Mowat has anything to do with the private opinions of his employee and protégé. Are opinions private that have been passed through the country? Mr. Mowat says he agrees with Peck's opinions except as to the volunteers.

The Finance Minister was ready to deliver his budget speech on Friday, March 12th, yet for many days this important business has been delayed, and is still being delayed, because a minority of the French members and the leaders of the Reform party are uniting to attack the Government for daring to let justice be inflicted upon a French rebel and murderer.

PORT HOPE.

At Port Hope, S. Carrie A. Wilson, wife of Mr. Gay A. Wilson, Science Master in the High School, died on Friday morning. Her death is greatly deplored by the large circle of deceased friends, by whom she was held in high esteem. Mrs. Wilson received a shock a week ago last Saturday, by a cutter in which she was driving with her mother being run into, from which she never recovered. Being but twenty-three years of age, deceased was but starting upon life's voyage, and additional sadness is added by the fact that she had been but one year married. Her husband and her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wilson, (of the Gazette), have our deepest sympathy in their sad affliction.

A Little Solomon.

It is narrated that recently a small boy, one of a family of eleven, called with his father on President Cleveland. The president chatted with the child a while and finally the kid asked—

"Have you got any little boys?"
 "No," replied Mr. Cleveland.
 "No, no little girls?"

"Neither," exclaimed the boy.
 "What a nice, quiet, peaceable man you must be."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Petition by Expelled—The Guard of the Provisional—Not Cool Under Fire—The Rebel Cause Flagging—These Orange Petitions.

THURSDAY, March 18.—Mr. CHAPLEAU, in reply to Mr. Taylor, said the Government had received no petitions from Orange lodges to hang Riel. A Toronto member had transmitted certain representations to him from an Orange lodge. Mr. N. F. Davis had forwarded two petitions from Regina and Moosemin, and there was a letter from a crack in the States.

RIEL OR MARTYR.

Sir A. CARON resumed his speech on the Riel motion, severely condemning Riel's iniquity in raising the Indians. He expressed surprise at the disloyal utterance of Mr. Laurier and read his broken oath as a Privy Councillor. It was a fact that there was an attempt to set up a National Party to avenge Riel's death, but he believed Quebec was essentially loyal. He denied that any conditions had been imposed upon him before the banquet at Winnipeg, and denied the genuineness of the telegram, forged by the London Advertiser, as being from him and Sir John. He scorned Col. Amyot for his attacks upon him and Gen. Middleton, reading fulsome letters and telegrams of praise from the colonel to him and the general. Col. Amyot raged and the House rang with laughter as he was reminded that a soldier should keep cool under fire. A letter from Col. Amyot criticizing Gen. Middleton and claiming that scouts should do the fighting, while the volunteers guarded the forts—and the provisions—called forth fresh roars of laughter. He proved conclusively that Riel did not surrender. Speaking of Laurier's plea for mercy for Riel, he showed the merciless conduct of the rebel leader, and he went on to expose other inaccuracies and fabrications on the part of Mr. Blake's colleague in the leadership. He concluded a masterly and eloquent speech amid loud cheers.

Mr. DUNDAS, while supporting the motion because he thought clemency should have been extended to Riel, disavowed any sympathy with the Reformers. He denied that Mr. Landry's motion was calumnious or inspired by the Administration.

Mr. LANDRY (Kent, N. B.) opposed the motion, dwelling especially on the supposed insanity of Riel.

Mr. McLEOD moved the adjournment of the debate.

THE RIEL DEBATE.

FRIDAY, March 20.—Mr. Mackintosh resumed the adjourned debate on the Riel question, and in his introductory remarks exposed past inconsistencies of the Reformers. So with the question at issue, Mr. Blake had condemned Riel and clamoured for vengeance upon him as the red-handed murderer of Scott without feeling any need of documents to make up his mind, while now with cartloads of papers he professed inability to draw an inference. He quoted many authorities to show that unaccountable of mind did not absolve a criminal who could distinguish right from wrong. He also showed that recommendations to mercy by juries had often been disregarded by Ministers of Justice. Mr. Blake among them. He quoted from Reform speakers asking the closure of the Riel debate to reject Mr. Ward because the Administration would not hang Riel. After a fitting rebuke for Mr. Laurier, the rebel Privy Councillor, for boasting that he would have taken up arms against the Crown, he concluded with an appeal for an equal administration of justice and the avoidance of sectional prejudices.

THE COALITION LEADER.

MR. BLAKE declined to discuss past inconsistencies of Reformers, but would deal with the question of the executive decision as to the exercise of the prerogative of mercy in Riel's case, now admitted to be a subject for parliamentary discussion. He began by giving the lie to Mr. Landry and other members of the House who had denied in their places that the motion was inspired by the Administration. He declared that it was a party question, and professed to speak and vote for himself alone, not as leader of the Reform party. In view of the enormous quantity of papers that had been brought down, he now varied his complaint to the fact that they were not all printed. He admitted that the administration of north western affairs and the punishment of Riel were separate questions requiring separate debate, but he maintained that the wrong question was taken first. But the other would be considered later. By moving the previous question the Government had not checked the fullest and longest debate, but he complained that by stopping amendments it prevented the views of some members from being expressed as they would like. He would vote against putting the question now because they had not sufficient information. Being no doubt in the minority, the main question would have to be put without further debate, so he must give his views now. Perhaps some would abstain from voting, thinking it unwise to take out of the hands of the executive the final decision in such matters. But he had reached clear conclusions, and would record his vote. He held the Government most responsible for all evils in the Northwest. He acknowledged the legal guilt of Riel, which was indeed admitted, the only defence being insanity. He then proceeded with insinuations against the judges, and an attack upon the Court which lasted till noon.

MR. BLAKE SAYS "MARTYR."
 After recess Mr. Blake resumed his attack upon the court that tried Riel, insinuating that the judge would try to convict him because as officer of the Government. He was glad that the Government had paid the expenses of witnesses for the defence, but thought that Dr. Howard should have been called, though he knew the Dr. states that Riel was responsible for his acts. He lamented that no white men had been brought to justice. He discussed the state of Riel's mind at great length, laboring to show it was sound, and to raise a confusion as to the real point whether Riel knew right from wrong. He gave instances and statistics to show that the death sentence was often commuted, especially for a political offence which he argued Riel's was. He thought rebellion was wrong, but also thought that they all thought him both guilty and sane, adding the recommendation to mercy because they thought the Government to blame, thus a utility themselves. If, indeed, the letter is not a forgery like the other Rielite documents. He defended Riel's demand for money for the ground that he intended to use it to continue the agitation. He excused Riel for exciting the Indians to murder and pillage on the ground that Canada and Great Britain had employed Indians in war. He defended his old crime of vengeance for Scott's murder, but said he had changed his mind as to his sanity. He indulged in the jumble that if this crime was considered Riel was hung for it after being acquitted. Next he attacked the ground as to asserted surrender of Riel and then had another fling at the medical commission. He thought it was a grave blow to justice to hang Riel and thought imprisonment for life would be sufficient, though he owned that many even of his own friends would not agree with him. His view was that it was deeply to be regretted that the execution should have been allowed to take place and so he would record his vote.

 Mr. THOMPSON moved the adjournment.

RIEL AND THE INDIANS.

The Promises Made the Rebel Men to Canoe them to Rice.

In his speech in the House of Commons on the Riel question Sir Adolph Caron read a letter which had been sent by Poundmaker to Riel, which showed how completely the Indians were under the influence and control of Riel. It was as follows—

CUT KNIFE HILL, April 29, 1885.

To Mr. Louis Riel:

I want to hear news of the progress of God's work. If any event has occurred since our messengers came away let me know of it. Tell me the date when the Americans will reach the C. P. R. Tell me all the news that you have heard from all places where your work is in progress.

Big Bear has finished his work. He has taken Fort Pitt. "If you want me to come to you let me know at once," he said, and I send for him. We wait still for you. If we are twice on the road. They took twenty prisoners including the master of Fort Pitt. They killed 11 men, including the agent, two priests and six white men. We are camped on a creek just below Cut Knife Hill waiting for Big Bear.

Blackfoot have killed six police at the Elbow. The halfbreeds who interpreted for the police, having served the right though wounded, brought the news.

Here we have killed six white men. We have not taken the barracks yet, but this is the only entire building in Battleford. All the cattle and horses in the vicinity we have taken. We have just one man, a N. Z. Percé killed, he being alone, and one wounded. Some soldiers have come from Swift Current, but I don't know their numbers. We have here guns and rifles of all sort, but ammunition for them is short. If it is possible send us ammunition of various kinds. We are weak only for want of that.

You sent word that you would come to Battleford when you had finished your work at Duck Lake. We wait still for you. If you send us news send only one messenger. We are impatient to reach you. It would encourage us much to see you and make us work more heartily. Up to the present everything is going well with us, but we are constantly expecting the soldiers to visit us here.

We trust that God will be as kind to us in the future as he has been in the past. We send greeting to you all.
 When this reaches you send us news immediately, as we are anxious to hear news. You send us news. Send as many news as possible.

Moreman, Attention!

MONDAY, MARCH 22, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Fairbairn's Cruise.
Any of our readers having a copy of Fairbairn's Cruise, British Heraldry, will confer a favor by sending in the name and address.

Don't buy your spring suit until you have inspected the beautiful range of Tweeds and Costings just opened out at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George Street.

A Respected Member.
The Port Hope Times says:—"Dr. Kincaid, of Peterborough, has been appointed a member of the Senate of Queen's University, Kingston. This is an honor which is only conferred on distinguished graduates, and Dr. Kincaid is very deserving of the honor."

Personal.
The Napanee Express of last week says:—"The congregation of the Eastern Methodist Church were delighted with a solo by Mrs. W. Daly, of Peterborough, on Sunday evening. The edifice was crowded to the doors, and what with the excellent sermon preached by Rev. Mr. Embley, the services were greatly enjoyed. Mrs. Daly is always welcome at Napanee."

Building.
The building season has already opened and considerable work had been done. The contractors seem to be quite sanguine as to the success of this season's operations. One of the fraternities remarked on Saturday night that he had no fewer than eight respectable large jobs to start with.

A Corridor.
In the description of the Central Canada Loan and Savings Company's new office, published on Saturday, there appears to be a mistake in reference to the heating apparatus. The hot water heating apparatus was supplied by Mr. Geo. McLean. It is a John's patent heater, with complete appliances including a double boiler.

Church Notes.
The evangelistic services conducted by Mr. Schirer will be held in St. Paul's Church during the week.

The Rev. I. Tovey preached missionary sermons in the Bridge Street Methodist Church Belleville, on Sunday.

The Rev. F. H. Wallace preached at Courthouse on Sunday in the recesses of the Sunday school work.

Collection.
On Saturday the omnibus belonging to the Grand Central Hotel came nearly being wrecked. While at the Canadian Pacific Railway station in the afternoon the tops of the omnibus were broken and the wheels of the omnibus after them. They were brought to a stop by the driver just before a serious collision with the Grand Central Hotel had occurred. The latter suffered to the extent of a broken window. A dollar and a half covered the loss—no insurance.

Pictures and Storytelling.
If Mr. Ames' letter about the meeting of the Weymouth Club, is as false as his statement that we declined to publish it, our readers have not much cause to regret its absence from our columns. When the letter was brought to us we readily consented to publish it, but did it might have to be held over till Monday on account of unusual pressure on one space, a letter on the Trent Valley Canal having just been put in hand as well as a column by the Rev. Mr. Farnsworth. Our account of the meeting was given to satisfy one of the Club, and we must suppose him to be more worthy of credit than Mr. Ames, who has shown himself to have no regard for the truth.

It Pays.
It pays farmers to bring their grain to the Peterborough market, at least so thinks what farmer from the other side of Rice Lake who took his wheat to another place for marketing, and, being offered only 70 cents per bushel brought it to Peterborough where he received 82 cents per bushel. There was quite a lively time on the square on Saturday. The competing buyers made things lively by freely bidding, while the farmers sat quietly on their heels and profited. Several loads of wheat were picked up at 82 cents per bushel. A well informed western miller who is now in town says: Peterborough, sent to Montreal, pays higher prices for grain than and place in Canada, not even excepting Toronto.

Good Order.
Captain Cooper has deputized one of the police force to be stationed at the Opera House each night it is to be used, to rid the stairs and halls from loafers and to preserve good order.

Wanted.
A good machinist, one accustomed to the tailoring trade. To a competent hand steady work and good wages will be given. Apply to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George Street.

Irish National League.
Mr. J. O'Meara, Secretary of the Peterborough Branch of Irish National League, mailed on Saturday $240 to Dr. O'Rielly, Detroit, the Treasurer of the League. This makes a total of $296 sent from Peterborough.

ANDREW MCNEIL claims that he carries the largest, cheapest and best assorted stock of White and Colored Shirts in town. Give him a trial.

Clearing the Corners.
The corner loafers were out in full force on Sunday night and were the police. The latter had their hands full to keep the corners clear. No sooner did the officers show a squad from one corner, than they, like flies after the festive sweets, lit on another. The Chief is laying traps to catch some of the bluebottles.

To the Ladies.
Miss Delaney has just received a large assortment of dress goods in a great variety of new shades, with lace and trimmings to match. Having determined to make a special feature in future of this branch of her business, she calls especial attention to the prices for these goods, which will be found exceptionally cheap. Miss Delaney is also making a specialty of ladies' and children's underwear, a department which has long been wanted in Peterborough. The millinery department is also complete.

Business Notes.
Mr. C. H. Lee has retired from partnership in the firm of Messrs. Forbes & Co. brokers, &c.

Mr. T. A. Kirkpatrick, of London, has been taken in, in Mr. Lee's place.

Mr. F. S. Sarnage has been appointed manager of Messrs. Forbes & Co.'s Peterborough office.

Mr. Wm. Lech has departed on his annual business trip to Europe.

Mr. Thos. Menzies has gone to New York. He will be absent for about a week.

Mr. J. O'Meara, acting for the Picturesque Canada Co., has recovered judgment from several delinquents.

Messrs. Rush Bros. have put a handsome new delivery wagon on the road.

It Might be Remembered.

—That P. C. Adams has "a little like a beetle."

—That on Saturday night he captured an evader of justice that should paid his respects to His Worship last fall.

—That the Ebert Dramatic Company commences a two weeks engagement at Bradburn's Opera House to-night.

—That the company arrived in town at noon and are registered at the Grand Central Hotel.

—That it seems that all authority doesn't centre in captains of bicycle clubs.

—That other members of the club are sometimes possessed of equal, or more, veracity.

—That Janitor Beavis is in a dreadful pickle—the cellar of the town buildings is flooded and the furnace fire are out.

—That it is likely he will take a holiday till the water is scooped out.

—That the officials will remain "in" in the cold.

Rejuvenated.

During the last few weeks a great change has been made in the store occupied by J. Mercer & Co., corner of Hunter and George streets.

Mr. A. Rutherford, contractor, who had charge of the alterations, executed his work in a satisfactory and pleasing manner. The alterations were commenced by tearing up the old floor and laying a new hardwood one. The shelving has all been removed, somewhat lowered, and a neat cornice, ornamented with gold stencil work, figures at the top. The ceiling has been papered in a rich and elegant manner, and the woodwork throughout has been painted and grained. The old counters have been removed and in their place neat mahogany stained tables, furnished by Mr. A. Clag, stand loaded with goods. A large walnut eared peer glass has also been added. The "daisy" office has been built in the west end of the store, fitted with all modern requisites. Mr. T. McGrath, who had charge of the painting and paper-hanging, performed his work in a manner that showed that he is a master of the decorative art.

The Market.

Notwithstanding the disagreeable weather there was a good number of people on the market on Saturday. The movement in grain, wood, and hay, owing, no doubt, to the varied condition of the roads, was light. The grain offered on the market was made up principally of wheat. A few loads of coarse grain were brought. Very little barley is coming in now, the exceptionally high prices which have prevailed this season for this class of grain having the effect of, seemingly, exhausting the supply. What comes now in to a great extent, of second and third grades. Vegetables were offered in considerable quantities at ordinary prices. The demand for potatoes has slightly relaxed. A very good sample was purchased on Saturday at 55 cents per bag. The north-west corner of the market, around which the meat carts cluster, was gaily decorated. Pork, by the quarter, sold at 7 and 8 cents per pound; beef was purchased at the usual price, from three and a half to five dollars per cwt; lamb, at 7 and 8 cents per pound; mutton, at 6 and 7 cents per pound; and veal at 4 and 5 cents per pound. The butter and egg market was fairly well patronized. Butter sold at 18 and 19 cents per cwt, and the prime article in prints bringing 30 cents. Eggs took another drop, selling at 12 cents per dozen. Turkeys and chickens were rather scarce, and brought good prices.

AN ATTEMPT TO MURDER

JOSEPH LALLANCE, AN ITALIAN, SEIZES AN AXE.

Breaks in a House at Indian River and Attempts to Murder a Girl—He is Committed for Trial.

On Friday evening at about half-past eight o'clock a grave crime would, but for timely interference, have been committed at the hotel kept by Mrs. Smith, at Indian River.

During the evening several people had been in the bar drinking, among whom was an Italian named Joseph Lallance, a man hired to cut wood at the hotel. At about eight o'clock the Italian, in company with several others, went into a room and one of the party called for a drink. A daughter of Mrs. Smith answered the call. She filled the order, with the exception of that of the Italian, who

ASKED FOR A GLASS OF BEER.

The girl, no doubt thinking that the Italian had plenty of drink, refused to give him any. He grew very angry at the refusal, but was determined to have his drink. He borrowed ten cents from one of the party and went to the bar, got his glass of beer, brought it in and returned the extra five cents. While sitting at his beer he remarked, "That girl no like me, I kill her before I get my boots off." Those sitting with him paid no attention to what he said. The Italian said, other than joining in a general laugh. But Lallance did not, though considerably under the influence of liquor, for get what he looked on as partially shown by the waitress. He went out to the yard and tried to better in the kitchen door. Failing in this he went around to the front door, and entered. Those inside of the house had heard the racket. One of the party armed himself with a chair and tried to intercept the Italian when entering, but the latter pushed by and ran toward the stairway, axe in hand, to reach the girl who was at that time playing on an organ in the parlor. Perfectly enraged he ran onward and got half way up the stairs before he was caught and dragged down. He was overpowered by several persons and the axe was torn from his grasp. When disarmed he was released. But STILL INTENT ON HIS EVIL DESIGN he rushed for a second time to get upstairs. This time he was again caught and rather roughly handled. It now became apparent that if something was not done there would be serious results. A messenger was sent to Westwood for Mr. John Doherty, County Constable, who arrived at Indian River and at about one o'clock on Saturday morning. On Saturday Lallance was brought before Messrs. T. Bizard and John Breckenridge, Justices of Peace, who after taking the evidence committed him for trial. The evidence taken forwarded to the County Crown Attorney this morning and the prisoner, in charge of Constable Doherty, was brought up by the morning train on the Canadian Pacific Railway and placed in goal.

RETRIEVED THE AXE.

THE BICYCLE CLUB

To the Editor of Review.

DEAR SIR,—Will you kindly allow me a small space in your paper to make a few remarks regarding a letter written to the Review but published in Saturday's Freeman, signed A. K. Ames, Captain of P. B. C. C., accusing the Review of printing an unauthorized and highly colored report of the proceedings of the bicycle meeting on Thursday evening of last week. Mr. editor, your reporter made to my knowledge an attempt to see our secretary, but failed in seeing him, and the secretary also failed to send a report of the meeting. I may say that what information was given him was evidently given in good faith. The report did not say and did not infer that we were suffering any grievance from our connection with the P. B. C. C. Association. It merely stated that there were a lot of rules and regulations in the association that the Bicycle Club could do without, or something to that effect. I believe the report was a very fair one. I think most of the boys will wish before long that they had never left the P. B. C. C. I am not the only one that has concluded that the only Bicycle Club Mr. Ames would be able to manage would be one composed of himself and his wheel, where he could be President, Captain, Lieutenant, Secretary and whisper in all in one.

When Mr. Ames wishes to publish another letter, would be so kind as to look into the facts of the case and be more careful about plunging into print if he wants the esteem and friendship of his fellow bicyclists and admirers of the sport.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, for the space you have allowed me, I remain, Yours truly, A. WHELFMAN.

Peterborough, March 27, 1886.

WHICH IS RIGHT?

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—"The Blues" say that Riel was a patriot and a hero. "Blake" says he was insane. Now it is evident that if Riel was insane he could neither be a patriot nor a hero; and if he was the latter, he could not be insane.

Blake and the Blues ought to compare notes. Yours, R.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Salvation Army.
Full particulars as to the Salvation Army case will be found in another column.

Sacred Concert.
A sacred concert, "For His Soldiers," by the United Methodist John Farmer, will be rendered by a chorus of thirty voices at St. Luke's school, 400 Ashbyham, Wednesday, March 24th, at 8 p.m. Tickets 25 cents.

Wanted.
A good machinist, one accustomed to the tailoring trade. To a competent hand steady work and good wages will be given. Apply to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

Carpet and House Furnishings.
The Carpet and House Furnishings' Room in the Golden Lion is being thoroughly overhauled and when completed will be one of the most commodious in the city. A visit to this department solicited by R. FAIR.

South Ward School.
Mr. John Stirling, the new head teacher for the South Ward School, who succeeds Mr. Jones, commenced his duties today. Mr. Stirling will have ample scope here to teach the young idea how to shoot; and it is to be hoped that this large school will receive an increased impetus under his government.

Personal.
Mr. P. Baekerville, M. P. P., representing the city of Ottawa, is in town on a visit to friends.

Mr. W. Delaney has returned home after having successfully passed his second year's examinations at McGill University, Montreal. Mr. Delaney is studying for the medical profession.

Andrew McNeil claims that he carries the largest, cheapest and best assorted stock of White and Colored Shirts in town. Give him a trial.

The Revival.
The evangelistic service at St. Paul's Church held last night was largely attended, the church being well filled. The evangelist discoursed with his usual vigor. At the conclusion of the service about thirty people stood up to testify. So far there have been about two hundred and fifty conversions made. The meetings will continue this week.

A Fine Animal.
In a notice published last week of a bull, belonging to Mr. W. Collins, of North Monaghan, an error crept in. The animal was only two years, or exactly 723 days old, when it was weighed on the market, and its weight was 1,305 lbs. This showed an average daily gain of 2.08 lbs. It might be mentioned, in this connection, that the highest average gain at the Model Farm shown in a recent report was in the case of an animal 733 days old, which weighed 1,445 lbs., an average daily gain of 1.97 lbs.

Bradburn's Opera House.
A fine sparkling comedy, with an irresistible vein of humor, so sparkling and bright as to cause a ripple of merriment to pervade the entire house, was the picture presented by the Egbert Dramatic Company at the Opera House on Tuesday evening. The play was "Engaged," a farcical, satirical burlesque by W. G. Gilbert, the celebrated author of "Mikado," "Pirates," "Pirates of Penzance," &c., and was well placed upon the stage by the fine acting of Mr. Edgbert as Chivalier Hill, Mr. Ellis as August McAllister, Miss Kate Gifford as Belinda, and Miss May Ellworth as Maggie. The costuming of the piece deserves special mention, and we feel confident in saying the longer the Egberts remain with us the more they will grow in favor. The company is strong and well balanced, and should receive the patronage of our best people. To-night the great French drama, "Two Orphans," with a powerful cast, will be presented. There should be a full house. Tomorrow (Thursday) night—great comedy bill—Byron's celebrated and beautiful play which ran 1500 nights in London, England, entitled "Our Boys." This play is admirably put on the boards by the Egberts and should receive the patronage it justly deserves.

THE SALVATION ARMY

THE OFFICERS CHARGED BY CAPTAIN COOPER WITH COMMITTING A NAUFRAGE.

The Magistrate and Chief Act Very leniently, but the Army Refuse to compromise Judgment Reserved.

This morning at the Police Court eight officers of the Salvation Army, Bertha Smith, Captain, Minnie Leadley, Cadet, John Bacon, Isaac York, Geo. Boyler, Henry Bacon, John Howland, bandmen, and W. J. Sloan, Marshall, were charged by Capt. Cooper with having created a disturbance in the streets by screaming, etc., contrary to the statute.

At shortly after ten o'clock the Army marched to the Police Court singing and playing their musical instruments. They filed into the courtroom which was already full. A passage way was made in the crowd and they made their way to the front. When they came to a stop all knelt to pray. After other cases were disposed of the Magistrate called the prisoners by name and read the charge.

The Magistrate—Are you guilty or not guilty?

Capt. SMITH—Guilty.

The Magistrate—Guilty of what?

Capt. SMITH—Guilty of walking on the street.

The Magistrate—That is not the charge.

Are you guilty of the charge as it is laid?

Capt. SMITH—No, sir.

The Magistrate—Are you ready for your trial?

Capt. SMITH—Yes, sir.

The Magistrate—Now I will read to you the law on this matter. Then if you want to reconsider your position you are at liberty to do so, and perhaps in the future you will adopt a different course of procedure. If you do it will be a great relief to the court and perhaps a benefit to yourselves. This information, I have no doubt, is simply brought by the Chief of Police in the discharge of his duty as a preserver of the peace in the community, and to enforce those laws which are made by the people for mutual protection and enjoyment. He is simply doing his duty to the people at large, and I am sure any of your body do not intend to make a wilful violation of the law binding upon you as members of this community. It may be through ignorance of the duty you owe to the community that you are here to-day. You may be enjoying practices which you think you have a right to enjoy and that doing so you are doing no injury to the community. When I have read the law you may possibly reconsider your position. If you do it will please both the Chief of Police and myself. He has no desire of prosecuting this action to the end if you choose to reconsider your position as to agree to abate the nuisance. Now there is an act respecting vagrants. (Laughter from the salvationists.) It is a very wide law, passed in order to keep people from being inconvenienced and accommodated in the enjoyment of their rights by unscrupulous persons.

The Magistrate read the law, the substance of which is as follows:—"All persons causing disturbance in the streets and highways by screaming, swearing, or singing, or being drunk, or impeding or incommodating peaceable passengers, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and be punished by imprisonment in any goal or place of confinement other than the penitentiary for a term not exceeding six months and with or without hard labor, or by a fine of not exceeding $50, or by both, such fine and imprisonment being at the discretion of the Magistrate or Justice of the Peace."

The Magistrate continued—It may be that you may think that through breaking the letter, you have not offended against the spirit of this law. But now that you know that at least you have broken the law, which it is the duty of the Chief of Police to enforce, you may under take to abate what he has been bound to take notice of, and in the future so conduct yourselves as not to make yourselves liable to the punishment for offence against this law.

The Captain—We cannot give up our marching. We will obey the laws of God; not the laws of man.

The Magistrate—Well, I am here to enforce the laws of man.

The Captain (interrupting)—I understand that.

The Magistrate (continuing)—And our laws are based in the laws of God. I am not aware of any law of God which instructs you to march up and down street jostling people and frightening horses. Your conscience may tell you to do it and your judgment may do so; but people's judgments are frequently erroneous.

The Captain—Sometimes.

The Magistrate again asked the prisoners to reconsider their position. If they would undertake to abate in some degree the noise made in their marches, the charge would be withdrawn. To this request they all replied in the negative, and asked that the trial be proceeded with.

Capt. COOPER, Chief of Police, sworn, said that on Monday night he saw a number of people marching along the street. They were carrying torches, drums, etc., and were shouting and singing. He understood that they were a detachment of the Salvation Army. They were marching along the sidewalk in such a manner as to force those who were on the outside into the doorways along the street. He requested them several times to leave the sidewalk and go into the street. This they refused to do. He heard the Captain make use of the expression, "Fire another volley!" when he spoke to them about leaving the sidewalk.

Mr. EDWARDS, Town Solicitor—What was the result of this order?

Capt. COOPER—Numerous shrieks followed from the processionists.

Mr. EDWARDS—Who is the captain?

The Magistrate—I want to know what this "volley" means.

Capt. COOPER—It was, so far as I could make out, the shrieking of ballistahs by the captain followed by the same shout all along the ranks. Capt. Cooper continuing said that ladies were driven from the sidewalks. The procession certainly interfered with peaceable passengers. He first spoke to the marshal who appeared willing to go to the street. The marshal went in the head of the ranks but after consultation the procession did not leave. He then went to the standard bearer, Charles Bacon.

A VOICE—That's not my name.

Capt. COOPER—What is your name?

The NAME VOICE—Charles Henry Bacon.

The Magistrate—Never mind, Charles Bacon will do you. (Laughter) (par) Officers Polgeon and Adams Order! Order!

Capt. COOPER said that the standard bearer also refused to leave the sidewalk. Following this request came another volley followed by cries of derision, and laughter from Captain Bertha Smith, who seemed to be greatly tickled by the whole proceedings.

In conclusion Capt. Cooper explained that he had called upon Miss Smith on Tuesday morning, and told her that it was with great reluctance that action would be taken. He tried to effect a compromise with her, by allowing the army to parade the streets as long as they ceased beating drums, etc., when they saw horses getting frightened, and tried to get her to desist from beating the drums and tambourines and blowing the horns on Sundays. He pointed out to her that it was wrong, and urged her in a Christian spirit to meet the citizens half way. To all of these requests she replied that she would obey the laws of God rather than those of man. He further expostulated, telling her that at all times the police were ready to assist and protect them, but the Army would have to keep the laws of the land. She replied that when God gave her grace He also had given her determination. Himself and Constable Adams, who accompanied him, then quitted her presence.

In questioning Capt. Cooper the prisoners contended that they marched in single file.

The Magistrate—Now before this goes any further I would say a word. I know you people are good citizens and do not intentionally want to do wrong. But does it not appear plain to your judgments that taking possession of the sidewalk night after night, and even the streets, and parading up and down with torches and music is something that ought to be done only with the permission of the rest of the people with whom you live? When the people make a law with regard to such things they had a perfect right to do it. And God tells you to obey the laws of the land you live in.

The Captain contended that they only walked on the sidewalk in muddy weather, and when marching on the sidewalk took up as little room as possible. They could not stop the march.

The Magistrate pointed out that the Chief did not want to stop the parade, but simply to put an end to the unnecessary noise on week days and a cessation altogether on Sundays.

Mr. EDWARDS urged the officers to reconsider their actions. It would be a pity if no arrangement could be effected. Many people were complaining of the inordinate noise made by the Army.

The Magistrate—It looks as if you are determined to pose as martyrs. I will adjourn this case for a week to give you an opportunity to think over this matter. I do not want to even have the appearance of fighting against people who serve God.

The Captain—It is very kind of you; but our decision at the end of the week will be just as it is now.

The Magistrate—Well, I have done all I can do. I wish you had counsel here to advise you.

The Captain—We do not need any. We always get our advice from God. We are willing to take whatever we get from you.

The Magistrate—I look for guidance from the same place as you do. I wish I had the confidence in your judgment that I have in your honesty.

The case was then adjourned to 10 o'clock on Friday.

Police Constables, Wm. Cumming, John McKee, Wm. Menzies, M. C. O'Neill, W. H. Wrighton and Geo. Ball were all called on to give testimony for the prosecution. The evidence was largely corroborative of that of the Chief. Some testified that horses had been frightened by Army processions.

Judgment was reserved till the 31st of March.

The Army marched away from the Court singing accompanied by cornet and flute playing.

OUR LEAD MINES

From the great cry of the metal interest on this continent has an article showing that the over-production of lead of recent years has been converted into a deficiency, as it says:—

"Since the middle of last year, the lead has shown an improvement from about 3.60 and 3.75 cents to 4.90 and 5 cents, which it has recently reached. The rise has not been uninterrupted, nor has it been as sudden as the upward rush in 1879 from 2.87 to 3.50 cents, but it has been brought about by circumstances far less dependent upon speculation. Early in 1885 it became evident that unless unforeseen events occurred, there would be a decline in the production of the country."

This from the great cry of the metal interest and full explanation to show how this deficiency has arisen and its extent. It says:—

"This would indicate that the falling off in the yield of the American mines was not less than 10,000 tons in 1885 as compared with 1884. That deficiency has practically been made up from stocks now reduced to a comparatively low point, and we stand before the problem not whether, but how much lead we will have to draw from foreign countries to fill the gap between supply and demand. The latter questionably calls for at least 135,000 to 140,000 tons, and it may go beyond the latter figure if there is any general revival of business."

Our contemporary shows how the silver-lead ore are becoming exhausted, and consequently the output of lead. It holds that only the working of fresh mines, under the stimulus of high prices, can supply the demand. It adds:—

"In the meantime a part of the supply must come from abroad, and henceforth quotations from the other side will possess an interest for us which they have not had for years past. The markets have been hardening there of late, and sales have been made impossible under 4.95 and 5 cents, when only a week or two since small lots were placed at 4.75 cents."

This state of the lead market should attract attention to our extensive and rich ores of that metal in this district. Capitalists might well turn their attention to developing these resources, for a most profitable result is evidently to be obtained. For a deficiency of the supply of lead from the former sources on this continent, this deficiency being from mining and not merely transitory causes, the men who are far-sighted enough to develop the lead mines in this country may expect to reap a rich reward.

The leading organ of the Rielites in Ontario, having a great dislike for all who assisted in putting down the insurrection of its friends in the Northwest, quotes with approval some scurrilous remarks of a Rielite Journal in Montreal with reference to Sir A. Caron. One specimen is as follows:—

"They sent him to banquet at Winnipeg with drunken blackguards, and so soil his office by frequenting with huns on the spree."

Sir A. Caron has won the gratitude of all true Canadians by his able services as Minister of Militia and he is not likely to suffer in public estimation through such vile abuse from the Montreal Press even when endorsed by the Toronto Globe. The loyal men of Winnipeg will know how to estimate such brutal attacks upon them by the Rielite press.

Mr. COSTE, a French Canadian of Essex county, Ontario, recently speaking at a Conservative Association at Bradford, thus described Gaspard Pascaud's utterances at public meetings in his country:—

"That man said in my hearing that the volunteers of this Province were murderers, assassins and insensate of women. He accused General Middleton of being a horse thief, and said that General Crozier—Major Crozier he meant—had started the war by firing on the halfbreeds."

And yet this man Pascaud is chosen by Mr. Mowat as a public official and the recipient of the money of the loyal men of Ontario.

Mr. BLAKE has no blame for his client Riel offering to sell and desert his fellow rebels for the sum of $35,000, because the money was to be used against the Canadian Government. But Mr. Blake is not nice in such matters, as he himself purchased the treachery of a Minister sitting at the Council Board to bribe and desert his colleagues. That was at the time when the Rielite leader was trading in Scott's death, as he now is in Riel's.

The leader of the Rielites urges that Riel should not have been hanged, but only imprisoned for life. That really means that the rebel and murderer should have been imprisoned till Mr. Blake came into power and was able to procure him a pardon.

GENERAL MITCHELL did his duty as commander of the forces that suppressed the North West insurrection, so he is honored with a column of slander by the organ of the Rielites in Toronto.

The Coldest Spot on Earth.

Many feet in three latitudes quite comfortable in reading of the cold registered at Werkhousak, in Siberia. At the late meeting of the St. Petersburg Academy of Sciences, it was stated that the mean temperature of Werkhousak, during January, 1885, was sixty-two degrees below zero, Fahrenheit, below zero, and the lowest reading of the thermometer was ninety degrees four minutes below zero. This is the lowest minimum temperature ever recorded on the globe, under circumstances which make the record entirely reliable, and is probably lower than would even be recorded at the north pole. The Werkhousak observations also show that the great cause of refrigeration on the continent is not due to the movement of polar air over them, but to the radiation and loss of heat by the soil itself under an atmosphere of extremely low absolute humidity.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

THE THIRD SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT.

New Parliament Buildings—Halliburton County—Liquor Licenses—Compensation to Workmen—The Franchise—Game Laws.

TUESDAY, March 23.—Mr. Fraser made his statement regarding the new Parliament buildings. He reviewed the failure of the competitive scheme for plans, as Mr. Waite, of Buffalo, who had been consulted, reported against the plans. He explained the delays and said they had thought the safest and most expeditious way of proceeding was to entrust the work to a competent architect, and, owing to Mr. Waite's eminence as an expert, and his previous knowledge of the whole matter, he was selected, upon the agreement that he should be paid 5 per cent. upon the total cost of $750,000, the advertisement for tenders to issue not later than the first of May next. The work was expected to commence a couple of months later.

Mr. MERRITT admitted that it would be undesirable for him to reopen a question that had already been decided by the house, but he wished to state that he had not receded from the position formally taken by him. He criticized the plan the Government had adopted for proceeding with the work.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met on Monday, 15th March. All the members present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Mayor introduced a by-law to establish a new school section in the township of Ottonabee, and after its several readings it was passed. Samuel R. Price was appointed to call the first school meeting for the election of trustees in the newly formed school section, No. 17. David D. Henderson was authorized to purchase a road scraper for his road division, and was allowed two days statute labor for a tile drain made across the road at his place. The W. 4 of lots No. 22, 23, 24 and 25 in the 5th con., and the K 4 of said lots in the 6th con., were formed into a new road division, to be known as road division No. 51. The W. 4 of lots No. 29, 30, 31 and 32 in the 6th con., and the E. 4 of said lots in the 7th con., were formed into a new road division, to be known as road division No. 52. The W. 4 of lots No. 31 and 32 in the 8th con. were taken from road division No. 26 and added to road division No. 27. The Treasurer was directed to pay the following sums, viz., to Toronto General Hospital, for keep of Suck, $12 40; to Alexander Living for repairing road scraper, $1. The Council adjourned until the 9th of April next.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.
 SHOOTING MATCH.—A return match took place on Friday between Lakefield and Young's Point, which was won by Lakefield by four points.

A CLOSE VOTE.—The vote on the market square by-law was taken on Monday and was lost by the small majority of two votes. The opponents of this measure worked hard for their victory, but the majority was very much smaller than they anticipated. The total number of votes polled was one hundred and twelve, so there must have been over forty voters who did not express their opinion for or against the by-law.

NEW MILL.—The new flour mill is very nearly completed and a trial run will be made in a few days to ascertain if every thing is satisfactory before taking the mill over from the contractors.

THE TRAIN SERVICE.—The Grand Trunk officials have decided to give Lakefield an improved train service this summer. I understand that a train will leave Peterborough about eight in the morning and return from here about ten o'clock. The mid day train will be done away with and the mails will come up by a train that will arrive here about five in the afternoon and return to town at seven thirty. By this service Lakefield people will be able to go to Peterborough in the morning, make their purchases and get home in the cool of the evening. The railway officials are to be congratulated on the latest change, though possibly it may not meet the views of every one, and it is to be hoped that this improved train service will become an established fact, as last spring we were promised very much the same change, but for some reason it was dropped by the railway.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Lot.
The Town Treasurer's sale of property for taxes was held on Thursday. Several water lots situated on the western side of George street between Rink and Wolfe streets, together with one or two involving a disputed title, were offered. The lots were all bought in. The amount realized was about $175.00.

Mr. Schiverson going to Lindsay.
The Lindsay Post says:—
The ministers of the town have invited Rev. F. Schiverson, evangelist of Brooklyn, N. Y., to hold a series of evangelistic meetings here, beginning on the 4th of April. In view of his coming union meetings will be held in the churches during three or four nights of next week. Mr. Schiverson's services have been blessed in Peterborough and other places, and it is to be hoped they may be equally successful here.

A Dying Case.
A case deserving charity was brought before the Mayor on Wednesday night. A man had walked all the way from Toronto look for work when reaching Peterborough he was still out of employment. His wife came by train at noon on Wednesday, but he had no money to provide lodging for her. Application was made to the Mayor and quarters at a hotel were provided. The man and woman are both respectable, honest looking persons.

Stoney Lake Island.
The Dominion Government has undertaken the work of completing the survey of the islands in Stoney Lake, under the direction of the Indian Lands Department. All the islands in the lake north of the township of Dumfries, and east of the township of Barlegh, are to be surveyed. As all the traverse lines will have to be taken by astronomical observations, the survey will take the better part of six months. We believe that some of the islands in the lake have been submerged by the raising of the dam in connection with the work on the Trent Valley Canal, and as all these will have to be shown on the plan, Mr. T. R. Hewson, D. L. S., to whom the Government has entrusted this work will have his hands full for the summer at least. The Government also want information as to the physical conditions of each island; whether they are wooded, if so, what kind of wood; or rocky; or having soil upon them. In 1854-55 thirty-eight of these islands were surveyed.

Charged Her Mind.
On Wednesday, at shortly before noon, a woman appeared at the Police Station and laid an information against another woman for larceny. A search warrant was issued and P. C. Adams, accompanied by the informant, proceeded to investigate matters. The officer went to the house in question, found the articles mentioned, and brought the woman charged with the theft, together with the articles alleged to have been stolen, to the station. The articles, it seemed, were of very trifling value, being odd bits of ribbon, etc. The two families had lived in the same house and when one left these bits of ornaments were left behind. The prisoner, arrived at the station in charge of P. C. Adams, with a babe in her arms. When in the station she wept bitterly, stating that she was quite innocent of the charge. Capt. Cooper, on getting assurances of her appearance at the court, liberated her, allowing her to return to her home. This morning, however, though she kept her word by appearing at court, it was quite unnecessary for her to do so. The informant, it seemed, repeated of her hasty action. She withdrew the charge and paid the costs.

A Case.
Sixty pairs of Men's Oxford Shoes, our own make at $2.25 at JOHNSTON CARR'S.

Wanted.
A good machinist, one accustomed to the tailoring trade. To a competent hand steady work and good wages will be given. Apply to ANDREW McNELL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

Eulogistic.
In speaking of a very successful concert held in Perth on St. Patrick's Day, under the auspices of St. John's Church, of that town, the Perth Express says:—
"Miss L. Bagley, of Peterborough, who possesses a sweet and well-trained voice, rendered a heavy encore, and we hope it will not be her last appearance at a Perth concert."

To the Ladies.
Miss Delaney has just received a large assortment of dress goods in a great variety of new shades, with the latest and trimmings to match. Having determined to make a special feature in the future of this branch of her business, she calls especial attention to these goods, which will be found exceptionally cheap. Miss Delaney is also making a special of ladies' and children's underwear, a department which has long been wanted in Peterborough. Her millinery department is also complete.

Thoroughbred Stock.
Messrs. T. R. Bullock and Wm. McGarry, of Leamington, have been visiting the stock raisers in this vicinity with a view of purchasing cattle for their stock farm. They have made some heavy purchases in different parts of the country. The result of their visit here has been the buying of Mr. Wm. Collins' fine two-year-old Durham bull, "Vermont 2nd," for the sum of $300. Messrs. Bullock and McGarry say that all the cattle they have seen on their buying tour they have seen nothing to equal "Vermont 2nd." This speaks well for Mr. Collins as a stock raiser.

For a real stylish and well fitting pair of Pants try ANDREW McNELL, George street.

Big Up! Big Up!
That giddy thing called "Gentle Spring" is getting somewhat bolder; she snaps her eyes and loudly cries to Winter who doth hold her, "See here, old chap, get off my lap," and gives him the cold shoulder. This is the season when the farmers are busy in the maple wood manufacturing the toothsome, when the small boy goes boating in the cellar, and when anybody, who has any style about them, takes their buggy and wagon, the worse for lying dormant throughout the winter, to the carriage-maker's shop and gets it repaired and newly glossed with preserving paint. Messrs. Fitzgerald & Stanger, who have won so much popularity in their business during the past few years, are now ready to undertake jobs of this kind. For the next month or so they will make a specialty of this branch of the business. All who require new buggies, neat, stylish and durable, should not fail to ask for quotations at Fitzgerald & Stanger's.

Our Boys.
The Opera House was well filled on Thursday night to see the presentation of the popular comedy, "Our Boys," by the Egbert Dramatic Company, and it is safe to say, there were none who were not delighted with it. The characters of "Our Boys," Talbot Champneys and Chas. Middlewick, were in capable hands, those of H. C. Clemens and T. J. Morgan. Mary Malone was impersonated by Miss Kate Glenford, and Violet by Miss Mary Ellsworth. Sir Geoffrey Champneys, represented by Mr. H. A. Ellis, was the most pompous gentleman imaginable, while even the appearance of the burly form of Parkyn Middlewick (Mr. T. F. Egbert) was a signal for suppressed laughter. Others who took part did credit to themselves. Altogether the performance was a highly successful one, as have, indeed, been all those given by the Egbert Dramatic Company here. No doubt there will be a large attendance to see "Monte Cristo," which will be produced to-night with special scenery.

An Improvement.
Mr. E. C. Hill has effected a great improvement in Bradburn's Opera House, in the way of providing illumination and ventilation. Engaged by the Peterborough Gas Company he has placed in position a powerful gasolier, hanging from the centre of the hall. The gasolier is an ornament to the hall, it being elaborately embellished by brass mountings, which form a rim around the octagonal porcelain reflector. The light is supplied by thirty-one gas jets. By an ingenious method the gas can be turned on or off at leisure, by simply turning the meter tap behind the scenes. A pilot jet in the gasolier is previously lighted, when a full glare of light is required the pipe which supplies the circular row of jets is flooded with gas from the separate meter, and, catching the blaze from the pilot light, the whole thirty are lit up in an instant. This is not the greatest improvement which Mr. Hill's deft hands have made. Knowing that if some method were not provided for carrying off the excess heat from the gasolier that the ceiling would be tarnished, he suggested the idea of putting in a ventilator. Carle blende was given and Mr. Hill has now neatly finished this long needed adjunct to the comfort of theatre-goers. The ventilator, screened by wire net, leads from directly above the gasolier. Over the ceiling it is enclosed by a dome of sheet iron. From the top of this dome a pipe ten inches in diameter carries off the heat from the gasolier, as well as the respirations from a crowded house. The draft passing through this pipe is quite stiff. The device cannot fail to effect a great relief when the house is packed with people. Mr. Hill has also seen that an unnecessary heat will be wasted. By simply pulling a string behind the scenes a damper is closed in the ventilator pipe, and the draught is shut off. Thus the hall can be warmed as quickly as before, while the patrons will not suffer from suffocation when a large assemblage is gathered together in the hall.

ENTERTAINMENT.—A social in aid of the Methodist Sunday School was held in the Town Hall (Omn Hall), Lakehurst, on Friday evening, March 19th. Mr. Elliott, the chairman, filled his position with competency, and two other gentlemen performed very well the role of a woman. Dialogues were given on the following subjects:—"Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," "How old Joe died," "Dancing," and "B. idal Wint-cup," a tableau entitled "Women's Rights," rendered by the Messrs. Weir, Elliott, and Young, and a recitation by Mr. Thos. McFadden. The singing consisted of songs by Miss Young, of Blairton—"The old Farm," a song by Master John McFadden, Miss Martha Adams—"Prize, Ma'am won't you give me something." The infant class opened the entertainment with a very appropriate piece. And last, but not least, we are bound to mention the services rendered by the Indian choir who took their part well throughout the whole entertainment and contributed in a great degree to its success in rendering the just appreciation of the audience. The proceeds resulting from the fee charged amounted to $16.
NEW SCHOOL DESKS.—The new desks for school No. 2, which their secretary-treasurer ordered of W. The seats are made of maple slats, with sufficient incline to render them very comfortable. We must express our thanks to the company for efficient manner in which they filled our order.

REGULAR ATTENDANCE.—We are pleased to know that out of the 57 names of pupils registered No. 2's Creek school there was an average attendance last week of 48.

THE FARM AND GARDEN.

Hereford cattle.

We have been giving illustrations and descriptions of the different breeds of cattle, from time to time, that the readers of this column may know what are the standard breeds, and what they are useful for. We shall continue this until all the main strains of blood known have appeared in our agricultural department.

This week we present a picture of a fine Hereford bull. The Hereford cattle get their name from the county in England in which they originated. They are the finest fat beef cattle of England. They and the Devon are the oldest known breeds of domesticated cattle.

Their flesh is evenly distributed in streaks of red and white of the fat and lean. They are the nearest solid beef, without waste, of any bovine in existence. Nature seems even to have grudgingly lent her desire to make meat of them. They have been bred to beef for centuries, and the animal in the picture shows the result. There is less waste in them for beef than in the short horns. They are not great milkers in themselves, but when crossed with our native cows make useful dairy or farm animals. Crossed with short horns, they would make very fine general purpose cattle.

HEREFORD BULL.

The Herefords were introduced into this country half a century or more ago, and they are now scattered into most parts of it. Wherever you see a dark red cow with a white face and a white stripe down the back, that cow has Hereford blood. They are patient, good-natured animals, and the steers make valuable oxen, are popular in the west and make a greatly improving cross with the wild Texas cattle. They are one of the best breeds for this purpose. The Herefords are regular show cattle at western exhibitions, and take many prizes. There is really no more valuable beef animal than they. In our illustration the bull's deep brick-red descends in a solid weight of beef well up to the ground.

How to Take Off a Hide.

In taking off a hide or calfskin never cut the throat crosswise in the least. Split the skin from the brisket to the tail, and from the brisket to the jaw, cut around each leg to the hoof. Split the hind leg from the hoof up directly over the gambrel, and the forward legs in the front, directly over the knee, to the top of the brisket bone. This leaves the hide, or skin, then in the proper shape for skinning.

Skin the head and legs carefully, to avoid cutting them, then, commencing at the head, draw or flat off the skin without any further use of the knife, thereby avoiding the holes and cuts that almost spoil so many calfskins. Some farmers use a hair side which is off the hairy skin, and others use a horse; but one or two men can do it a great deal more quickly and easily.

When taken off, lay the hide or skin flat on the floor in a cool place, where the sun cannot shine upon it, and cover it with salt—rather fine salt being better than too coarse salt. Do not roll it up, but let it remain in the salt until you take off another; then place that one upon the other, salting freely as before, and so on until you get enough to make quite a pile; then commence another pile in the same manner. Do not be afraid to use salt freely; what the skins do not require will shake off and can be used again.

If you prefer to dry out your skins before salting them be sure that they are thoroughly covered with salt before drying them, and then that they are thoroughly dried before being baled up for shipment.

Never dry out a skin without having it salted as described, to preserve it from moths and other insects on the hair side which are liable to occur if the skins are not properly salted before being dried out.

If your skins remain on hand very long after being dried out, before delivery to the tanner, even if you salt them, watch them carefully to detect any indications of moths or worms on the hair side, and if any are discovered have the skins vigorously whipped with a stick so often that they shall be wholly eradicated from the entire lot of skins, as they often work serious injury in a very short time.—Leather Review.

Formula for Cotton Compost.

Dr. Charles W. Dabney, of the North Carolina experiment station, gives the following formula for the best home-made cotton fertilizer:

	Pounds.	Cuba.
acid phosphate, at $20 per ton.	25	1.0
lime, at $15 per ton.	25	1.0
bone meal, at $10 per ton.	25	1.0
stable manure, at $10 per ton.	25	1.0
One ton.	100	4.0

Or, if a more concentrated manure is desired, use 800 pounds of acid phosphate and 600 pounds of lime.

Put down, best under shelter, or so that the heap will not be leached by layers of manure or earth, a layer of cotton seed well soaked in a solution of kailite, a layer of acid phosphate, manure or straw again, etc. The heap should be thoroughly moist, but not drip. Cover over with earth, which it does not heat too much, and pour more water in the top of it if it does. Let the heap be six or eight weeks. Then cut down across the layers and chop together. Can use, according to desire, 500 to 2,000 pounds per acre.

Sulfur Flower Beds.

In small villa gardens, where any variety in the common arrangement is acceptable, the little circular flower bed sunk in concrete form to the lowest possible central pool, instead of being raised in the usual convex mound, has a very good effect. For the little pool of nothing better offers a small tub, or a piece sunk in the ground, answers excellently—of any size that may be liked—a couple of feet across, and about ten inches or a foot in depth, is a convenient measurement.

With a little care the plants, and a pebbles or small stones, will be seen, and the appearance of a natural spring; the small quantity of water is useful as being always at hand, warmed, and aired for special needs; whilst the constant emptying and refilling, easily managed by a few buckets of water, keeps the tin pool in order.

The slight sunk position, with the roots of the plants, and the plants themselves, are perfectly, and give a picturesque bit of natural grouping, which is always attractive in itself, and with care it is always except in the case of winter, bright with some flowers.

Crocuses and hyacinths of different kinds, first with flowers and then with foliage, look well among the stones, in the double circle, in the most effective and permanent plant, hardly ever seen, new daisies, new lilies, crocuses, and other flowers, and the plants themselves, are perfectly, and give a picturesque bit of natural grouping, which is always attractive in itself, and with care it is always except in the case of winter, bright with some flowers.

As the brown tint of the withering leaves of the bulbs is not as cynical as the new growths of rock, they may be allowed to pass quietly away, and any bright temporary power given by the side remains the spot. But however it may be arranged, the little sunk bed is usually a favorite spot with visitors, and a great convenience to its amateur owners.—London Gardeners' Chronicle.

Farm Animals in the United States. The last United States agricultural report contains a list of the farm animals of the country.

The interest in horse breeding is increasing, and a small number of horses begins to be shipped abroad. Norman, Percheron, Clydesdale and the English Shire or cart horse are the breeds most imported. The report says there is little need of new blood in thoroughbred or racing stock. The number of horses in the country, in spite of the march of steam, electrical and other new motors, has increased by over 500,000. Cows have increased 390,000 over last year. The increase in other cattle is still larger. The sheep industry has suffered greatly, and is now passing through a period of deep depression. Sheep have decreased 2,000,000. Swine have increased nearly 1,000,000. All farm animals, except sheep, have increased in number.

All farm animals have decreased in value. The decline has been going on three years. Horses and mules have gone down 3 per cent, cattle 8 per cent, sheep 11 per cent, pigs 15 per cent. In two years, although all farm animals, except sheep, have increased in number, their aggregate value has gone down over $100,000,000. Still, it is to be remembered that the real value, the animals themselves, with their meat, hides, bones and muscles are all there, just as much as they ever were, and their services to man go just as far as if their money price was twice as high.

Crops at This Date.

The winter wheat crop still continues, generally, in a favorable condition; the usual March freezing and thawing has not developed any wide spread or serious damage. Ground generally in good condition. Cotton crop still very largely in hands of producers. Winter packing season over. Decrease in weight and quality of hogs.

Potatoes from Seed.

We have mentioned that it would be an interesting experiment for the farm boys and girls to save some of the seed in a potato ball, when they ripen in the fall, and plant them, and see the kinds of potato that will be produced. These will be different from the parent potatoes, and different from each other as well.

The seed should be sown in boxes in the window, or under glass. The best way is to put them in flower pots, scattering them lightly and thinly upon rich soil. Sprinkle finely pulverized earth upon them till they are covered an eighth of an inch deep. The seeds are so light and fine that watering the earth in the ordinary way will wash the covering off them. The best way, therefore, to water them is to plunge the pot in which they are planted into a vessel filled with water till it comes nearly to the top of the pot. Water will thus soak through the porous earthenware to moisten the soil. When the earth in the pot becomes damp the seeds have had a sufficient drink. This is to be done when they are first planted. Cover each pot with a piece of glass, set it in the window, and leave it until the seeds sprout. Then raise the glass gradually, the first day a little, the next a little more, and then take it off altogether. The plants are the smallest things at first. But as they become stronger and the danger of frost is gone, set them out in a warm, finely powdered, rich soil.

"What legend for a cold?" is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagar's Pectoral Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung balm. Sold by all druggists.

In Good Repute.—James McMurdoch, writing from Kinross, says:—"I, R. H. A., am remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in the locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

An unknown man jumped off the ferry boat, Victoria while on her last trip from Windsor to Detroit on Thursday night, and was drowned, notwithstanding the efforts made to rescue him.

"Burns and Scalds."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

A Kingsbury, Que., dispatch says: Out of 25 children attending the local school, only two put in an appearance on Monday morning, all the others being laid up with measles.

The Harrow-in-Furness election, by which Duncan (Radical) was returned to the present house of commons over Schukler (Conservative) by a majority of 548 in a total vote of 507, has been adjudged void on the ground of illegal electorship practices.

Judge Taylor, of Winnipeg, has been commissioned to enquire into and report upon the difficulties between Stipendiary Magistrate Travis and the people of Calgary, N.W.T. In the meantime Mr. Travis will not exercise his judicial functions.

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful rheumatic attacks, inflammation and accidental injuries. Such a remedy in best form is Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no one remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universally and frequently required as Hagar's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and aches, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters is taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

Field Lightning. All sufferers from that terrible torment, Neuralgia, can be made happy in one moment by a single application of Field Lightning. It is a rubric on painful parts, and without using any drastic medicine day after day with little or no result. Field Lightning is an ointment of a different kind, and is only 10 cents per bottle at John MacFarlane's drug store.

Advice to Mothers. Mrs. Widdow's Sore Throat Syrup should always be kept in every household. It is a sure cure for all cases of sore throat, and for all other ailments.

A WORD FOR "A" BATTERY

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I desire to call your attention to an extract from the Globe, which appeared in an issue of your paper last week, and like most of the articles of that paper, it is very unjust and one-sided.

The article to which I refer stated that a party of Midlanders recovered the body of Gunner Phillips from where it had been left by the permanent artillery. The statement, as far as it goes, is correct, but the writer forgets to mention the fact that the Midlanders did not recover the body at the time "A" Battery retired, but some hours after, when the fire in that direction had slackened considerably. Now, I think it is very unjust to mention the fact that the Midlanders did not recover the body at the time "A" Battery retired, but some hours after, when the fire in that direction had slackened considerably.

KILLED IN A QUARRY.

A FARMER IN THE PRIME OF LIFE STRUCK TO THE EARTH.

He survived but Half an Hour—A Wife and One Child Left Behind—A Terrible Occurrence.

On Saturday forenoon at about twenty minutes to twelve o'clock a fatal accident occurred in the Warsaw quarry of such a nature as to cause a thrill of horror throughout the community.

James R. Kidd, a farmer living about two miles below the village, in preparation of setting his billing apparatus for sugar making, wanted some stone to build an arch. He came to Warsaw in the forenoon and drove up to the quarry, which is situated about a mile north from the village. A lad named Roland Calder, about seven years old, accompanied him. The stone was selected and Mr. Kidd hitched his team on it to haul it to the derrick and load it on his sleigh. While DRAGGING IT ALONG the stone caught between two others. Mr. Kidd took up a handspike to pry the other stones away, and succeeded, removing one of them. He was about to start his horse again when the stone which he pried out recanted, and hit the handspike while falling over. The other end of the handspike, sent up with tremendous force, struck Mr. Kidd.

ON THE BACK PART OF THE HEAD, the stone caught between two others. Mr. Kidd took up a handspike to pry the other stones away, and succeeded, removing one of them. He was about to start his horse again when the stone which he pried out recanted, and hit the handspike while falling over. The other end of the handspike, sent up with tremendous force, struck Mr. Kidd.

just above the neck. He fell instantly. In a minute after he rose to his feet and staggered about half a dozen yards towards where the boy was standing, his eyes starting from their sockets and his face wearing an expression of unnatural wildness. Suddenly his arms drew in as if in cramps and he fell forward on the rock.

THE TERRIFIED BOY ran to where Mr. Alfred Saunders was chopping in a wood near by, telling him what had happened. Mr. Saunders hurried into the quarry to find the injured man still breathing but very faintly, but before anything could be done the breath and life had fled. Mr. Saunders BROUGHT THE CORPSE to the village, where a messenger was despatched to bear the unhappy news to the widow of about half an hour. Shortly after he was followed by Mr. Saunders, who took the corpse to the house. The poor wife, when told of the accident, would not believe it, and it was not till her husband's corpse was brought there she could realize the terrible reality.

THE LATE JAMES R. KIDD was a farmer of about 35 years of age, the picture of health and strength, popular throughout the community for his unvaried good nature. He was a brother of the present Warlen of the county, Mr. A. R. Kidd. The blow to the family was a sad one, especially so to the young widow and one child.

WORK.

The Blessing of Work and the Reward from Rightly Directed Effort.

On Sunday morning in the Baptist Church, Murray street, the Rev. A. H. Munro preached a sermon on work and its reward. He took his text from Proverbs, xiv, 23—"In all work there is profit." After explaining the difference between work and toil, the justice with which mankind are compelled to accept the latter and the positive blessing that such a state of things should be, the preacher proceeded to take up the different phases of his discourse. He pointed out that the worker soon became fond of his work. These following entirely opposite avocations realized the truth of this and wondered that it was so. The hunter looked at the student and wondered that he could sit at musty books while there was fresh, bracing forest air to breathe; the student, looked at the hunter and wondered that he engaged in such a laborious and dangerous trade. Yet, doubtless both found the beginning of their work irksome enough. The retired merchant longs for the counter, the teacher for his school and the preacher for his pulpit. And then he learned to love that for which he worked. This was true of higher and noble things right down to the miser, who loves his gold, gazing his eyes gazing at it. It was true with the mother. Though heaven implanted a great amount of love in her heart, still when laboring and toiling for years for her child she learned to love it all the more. Some people there were who wanted to know how to get the love for Christ in their hearts. He could tell them how. It was simply by working for Christ that love for Christ would be created. The more work that was done for Christ the more love for Christ would grow in the heart of the worker.

Then the worker had faith in his work. Look at the poor mechanic who toiled in poverty and want for years to invent the spinning machine. He had faith in his work. Look at Columbus! The morning before the cry of "land" was heard he was the only one in the ship that believed the voyage would be brought to a successful termination. People had unbounded faith in the things of this world, but how few there were who had faith in the things of God.

The worker becomes attached to his work. When a political contest was about to come off the party leaders were always anxious to get the undecided ones to work on their side. This was the surest way of securing his vote as well as his influence. It was just so in relation to Christian work. If a person will only work for God he is all right. But people grow lax, fall away, and their own utterances are occasionally separated from their lives from God. They were not snatching their own pathway down to hell as well as by their idleness, dragging others with them.

"In all labor there is profit." There was a harvest to every sowing, and in nearly every case the harvest was immeasurably greater than the worker can expect. He, the preacher, verily believed that if Columbus could have looked down through the ages and seen what a stupendous good he was doing for mankind he would have fallen dead in astonishment. So it was in the spiritual work. We cannot tell what great good will come from well-directed labor in striving to bring souls to Christ. There was work in this field for all. There might be few Spurgeons and Halls, but there were many other Spurgeons, Halls, and Halls waiting to be raised up. The mountains were comparatively few; but in the lowly valleys there was work for all.

"MADRE E HIJO"

What Does It Mean?

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH

RESIGNATIONS ACCEPTED.

LONDON, March 27.—[By the telegraph.]—The resignation of Mr. Chamberlain and Mr. Gladstone's Cabinet and that of the Queen has accepted the resignations of both.

THE BELGIAN STRIKE.

BRUSSELS, March 27.—The damage done to property by the strikers at Charleroi alone already amounts to $2,500,000. The strikers have threatened to destroy the gas works which supply the city with light. Strong reinforcements of troops have been sent to help to protect the city. Lieut. General Van der Smissen has been sent to Charleroi to take command of the troops being assembled there to quell the rioting.

SCENE IN THE REICHSTAG.

VIENNA, March 27.—In the Reichstag, yesterday, during the debate on the budget, Herr Scharf accused the Government of systematic corruption. Count Tasso replied with great upbraiding. Herr Heinrich, a German Bohemian member, tried to speak in favor of the Government, but was hooted by the Opposition. Other Bohemian members left the house until Herr Heinrich had concluded his speech.

SIR CHARLES DILKE.

LONDON, March 28.—Sir Charles Dilke's attempt to re-enter public life, by his speech at Chelsea, and the resulting inquiry of Mr. Wilson in the house of commons as to the effect of the decision in his divorce proceedings, are likely to give rise to a full discussion of the case. Several members have expressed a desire to give notice of motions of inquiry as to the exact position occupied by Sir Charles before the law. The object of all this criticism continues to be resolved coldly by his former associates. He is in speaking terms now with but few persons in consequence.

THE RIOTS IN BELGIUM.

Women Forced to the Front and Fired on by the Soldiers.

BRUSSELS, March 28.—Despatches from Charleroi say that there has been further rioting in that town, resulting in the killing of several persons and the wounding of many others. The rioters at Jumez, upon the approaching of the troops sent to disperse them, placed 200 women in the front ranks. The troops opened fire and many of the women were wounded. The strike is extending to Namur. Additional troops have been called from Brussels to quell the disorders.

Later advices from Charleroi report that the town is calmer and that there will probably be no further riotous demonstrations by the strikers as a body. The strikers are destitute and are compelled to beg for food. The men are desperate and threaten personal violence if their demands are not supplied. A number of men will go to work to-morrow. They will be armed with weapons which will defend themselves in case of an attack by strikers.

Hermitage With Cowboys.

FORT ELLIOTT, Tex., March 26.—For some time the cowboys on the "L. S." ranch, near Tucson, have been accused of "maverlocking" cattle. On March 20, four horses owned by a friend of L. E. Woodruff, a bartender in Tucson, disappeared, and the "L. S." ranch cowboys were accused of appropriating them, but they strenuously denied the accusation. After midnight on the 21st the inhabitants of the town were aroused by a

HOW THEY BOYCOTT

Methods Employed by the Knights of Labor to Bring their Boycott to Terms

The boycott is an institution that is little understood by the general public, which knows that a refusal to buy goods from an obnoxious firm is one of its chief characters but does not understand its true power. This power is understood by the Knights of Labor and is fast becoming familiar to a large number of manufacturers in this city as well as in the east.

A year ago, when the system was first introduced and its use threatened by the workmen, capitalists laughed at it. "It is an admission," they said, "that we make and sell goods cheaper than our competitors who employ union labor, and people will buy our goods if they can procure them cheaper than the goods made by others. Even the Knights," they said, "will not pay more for the goods made by a union shop than for goods made by us which will answer every purpose at a much lower price."

These manufacturers even thought that the boycott at once would be a much excellent advertisement, showing the public where they could buy the cheapest goods. They did not reckon on the chivalry of the knights, they did not calculate on the number of workmen who belonged to the secret order and who were willing to forego the pleasure of life in order to pay their fellow-men a just price for their goods. A few months ago they laughed at labor organization, now they seek to capitulate to the late object of their mirth.

A knight of labor last evening showed a reporter the method of conducting a boycott and gave him some idea of the immense pressure which could be brought to bear with it. In the United States there are over 6,000 assemblies of the knights of labor. A low estimate of the average membership of the assemblies would be 300 men; consequently there are upwards of 1,800,000 men in this country pledged to support any movement ordered by the executive committee. A boycott is a strike of the pocket; it is the use of the power which they bring their grievances before the assembly to which they belong; the executive committee of the assembly investigates the alleged wrong and, if they are deemed worthy of support, reports the matter to the district assembly, which endeavors to settle the matter with the employer. Should they be unsuccessful a boycott is ordered and money is printed and sent to each assembly in the country. The boycott is also published in the official paper of the knights, together with the trademarks and description of the goods which are under the boycott.

The knights are kept well informed of the progress of the boycott. If a case of goods is shipped to a country dealer the fact is known to them and the knights in that town are immediately notified. They call on the consignee and request him to send the goods back, under penalty of losing their custom and that of their friends. In a large majority of cases the goods are shipped back to the manufacturer, changed C. O. D., and the boycott in that town is established. In case the dealer refuses to send the goods back the knights draw their trade and endeavor to induce their friends to do the same. Should their request to their friends not be complied with the boycott is enforced on those who continue to purchase of the obnoxious dealer. Supporting him to be a shoe dealer, the grocer who continues to trade with him is boycotted and his competitor receives the patronage of the knights. The offending dealer will find a decrease in his sales. The non-union workmen may still purchase his goods from the offending firm, but he will be well advised to be cautious. His wife and children are avoided by the wives and children of all union men, and he is virtually sent to Coventry.

This, in short, is the manner in which the boycott is operated, and its success has been a signal that the knights of labor all over the country are beginning to see how they can successfully combat with capital and make their power felt over a much larger territory than that covered by any monopoly in existence—Chicago News.

THE DIKE CASE AGAIN

A Question in the House of Commons—An Impassioned Scene

NEW YORK, March 27.—The Herald's London special says: In the Commons, last night, Mr. J. Wilson, member for Yorkshire, noted for being a social purser, asked Attorney General Russell whether in a recent suit in a divorce court (here he turned towards Sir Charles Dike who sat behind the Treasury bench), it was decided that the evidence upon which the respondent was found guilty of adultery was not receivable as against the co-respondent; whether in cases of conspiracy it had been decided that evidence receivable against one prisoner, was receivable also against another prisoner, jointly charged with the offence; whether it had been decided that where two persons are jointly charged with a conspiracy both must be found guilty or both acquitted; and whether he was prepared to take steps with a view to making the law in evidence in cases of adultery similar to the law in evidence in cases of conspiracy.

During these words Sir Charles looked perplexed and worried. Lady Dike being in the gallery.

Sir Charles Russell defended the adultery rule, and denied the applicability of conspiracy in reference to it, and said: "As at present, I see no reason to suggest any alterations in the rules of evidence on the point referred to."

There was a painful silence in the House, which was broken by some words from the Liberals, when Sir Charles, still pale, but preserving the command of his voice, said, addressing Speaker Peel: "Sir, I wish, having received your permission to do so, to ask a question in relation to the indulgence of the House with regard to the question; but it cannot be taken as referring to a case in which I was recently concerned. I wish, Sir, to ask the House of Commons to consider the honor of a member who has just put the question that if he thinks it right that the matter should be mentioned in the House he would raise it in a form which would enable me in some way to meet it in the House."

Mr. Wilson made no sign. Afterwards he told reporters that he considered the challenge and would move an amendment to lay before the House evidence covering any further alleged case to the Crawford-Dike controversy.

CORRUPTION AT GOTHAM

How the new York City Aldermen Were Bought

NEW YORK, March 26.—At a meeting of the New York county anti-monopoly league last evening (Gaden, the chairman of the committee to investigate the Broadway railroad affair, made a practical report supplemented by Dr. Zager. The latter said that for months prior to the investigation by the State Senate committee he had detected full-fledged aldermen. The detectives report that $25,000 to $30,000 had been paid to corrupt aldermen. The money was paid by Billy Maloney, in a room in the board of the city. Each corruptible alderman was brought in alone and given a drink and an envelope. One alderman was so greedy that he took two drinks and two packages of the "bottle." Whereafter the alderman to whom the second package belonged followed him up and took him by the shirt until the package was recovered. One alderman wanted $100,000 for his vote, but offered to take $50,000, and was finally left out altogether. The committee had a defective following up Maloney, but had not succeeded in finding him.

The arrest of Maloney also alarmed the other aldermen of the board of 1894 who voted for the Broadway railroad. It is said that some of them were so alarmed that they were ready to sell their votes. A story is current that a statement in writing signed by one of the aldermen who advocated the franchise, on his death bed, has been handed to Dr. Zager. It is said that the statement contained a history of the Broadway deal, giving names and other facts which will be sufficient to connect all the "bottle" aldermen and other persons backing the railroad.

FOR THE BOYS AND GIRLS

A Queer Collector.

You see his picture here. He is not an odd money gatherer. There was an association of locomotive engineers employed upon the London and Great Western railway. It was formed for mutual help in case of accident, sickness and adversity. A noble dog, who belonged to a comrade who died in the line of his duty, became the pet and protégé of the society, and was made useful in collecting for the widows and orphans' fund in the way shown by the engraving. He was allowed to travel upon all trains along the line, was everywhere welcome, and a favorite.

THE SOCIETY'S AGENT

He knew where to go, and the best trains to take when the little treasure box became unaccountably heavy. He knew, too, how to guard his treasure and to whom he could rightfully apply for relief from his burden. So the fund grew under his collectorship. He was indeed the watch dog of the treasury, and there is no record of his having been molested in his journeying, though he often carried a tempting load of shillings, sixpences and pennies, and everybody knew he was faithful to his charge, and that he would be vigorous in its defense.

A Strawberry Bed.

This new fashioned strawberry bed is very pretty and useful too. It is simply made. Get an old barrel of any kind and saw it up and down in every state. Make them large enough to set strawberry plants into without crowding or pinching them.

BARREL STRAWBERRY BED.

Set some plants in the earth at the top of the barrel, and one in each of the holes. Roll the barrel into a sunny spot, and your strawberry bed is made. It can be turned around once in a while, so that all sides can get the sun equally. Two or three barrels of plants like this would supply a small family with berries. They will be novel and ornamental and useful in small yards where there is not room for a large bed upon the ground. An other advantage of this plan is that the berries must be picked by hand, and the water in the earth or by having it splashed upon them by the rain. Try a barrel bed this spring, young people. It will not bear this year, but it will grow and do beautifully next spring. The barrel will need occasional watering to keep the plants from drying out. The strawberry plants should be fifteen inches apart.

Boys Who Learned to Work.

Governor Palmer, of Illinois, was a country blacksmith once, and began his political career as a constable in Macoupin county. A circuit judge in the central part of Illinois was once a tailor. Thomas Horne, a rich and eminent lawyer of Illinois, was once a bookbinder. Erasmus Corning, of New York, was too lame to do hard labor, and commenced as a shop boy in Albany. When he applied for employment first he was asked: "Why, my boy, what can you do?" "Can do what I am bid," was the answer that secured him a place. Senator Wilson, of Massachusetts, was a shoemaker. Thurston West was a canal boat driver. Ex-Governor Stone, of Iowa, was a cabinet maker, which trade the late Stephen A. Douglas also worked at in his youth. Large numbers of men of prominence now living have risen from humble life by dint of industry, without which talent is as useless as a gold coin on a barren island. Rich folks make men bright, and it does not always depend on the kind of work you have to do whether you rise or not. It depends on how you do it. It is just as good for girls as for boys, too.

FREE TRADE THEORIES.

THE Brockville Recorder has been studying and imbibing the theories of Mr. Henry George. At least it gives to its readers, in an editorial, ideas of that free trade theorist on the balance of trade question. Mr. George's writings on protection are entertaining chiefly because they show how cleverly a question may be argued from a wrong standpoint, and how plausibly sophistical theories may be explained. The Recorder states its opinions in this way:—

"Where people exchange commodities, the motive of each party to the trade is to get what to him is more valuable than what he gives. The more he gets and the less he gives for it, the greater is his profit in the transaction. What he gets represents imports, what he gives represents exports."

So that, according to this theory, the more a country imports and the less it exports the richer it will become, and

"The idea of a country enriching itself by making bad bargains, by giving away more value than one gets in exchange, is too absurd for people of a sane to entertain. Yet it is the idea which the present Government has been trying to instill into the minds of the people of Canada since 1878."

That accounts for the Recorder accepting the theories of Henry George. It is given a chance to try a shot at the National Policy and to say that the people of Canada are not a people of sense.

The Recorder not only states its opinion, but, to make it plain to the commonest intellect, uses an illustration from every day life. It is as follows:—

"Suppose a merchant has an opportunity to exchange 10 yards of cotton for 5 dozen eggs. He might persuade the farmer with whom he trades to accept 15 or 20 yards of cotton for the 5 dozen eggs, or to give only 3 dozen of eggs for the 10 yards of cotton, and thus he would increase the exports from his store without increasing the imports, but the turning of the balance of trade so largely in his favor would not favorably affect his rating by the commercial agencies."

So, you see, according to this theory and illustration, a country should endeavor to increase its imports in order to enrich itself, and any people who do not try to import largely are not a people of sense. Ergo, the National Policy is a fraud and the people of Canada are fools. Free trade had said it.

The illustration used is a misleading one. The merchant, who only buys and sells, does not stand in the same position as a country which produces and must sustain its people by its products. The position of a farmer would better illustrate the position of a country. He has a certain amount of land, which is capable of producing a certain quantity of grain and other articles, and will produce them if the necessary labor is expended upon it. The farmer, if he is wise, will try to raise on his farm all that is capable of producing, and if he neglects to do so, thus compelling himself to purchase from others what he might have produced, he will not enrich himself as he could have done. The business of the farmer is to produce all he can, to dispose of his surplus products of his farm and to purchase as little as he can consistently with his necessities and comfort. When he sells any of the products of his farm he is in right getting as much as he can in exchange for it, but if he neglects to produce all he can and purchases more than the commodities he sells will pay for, he will become poor, for he must either truck up his capital to meet the balance or go to debt for it. If he produces largely, and is thus enabled to have products to sell which will more than pay for what is necessary for him to purchase, he will become rich.

If a country or community produces largely it does well. If it neglects to produce, and is forced to import more than its surplus products will pay for, it will become bankrupt. If it imports that which it can produce it helps another country and enriches its own opportunities. A country is rich in proportion to the vastness of its resources, and it is prosperous in proportion to the extent to which it utilizes those resources.

Everything that is imported from another country has to be paid for by a portion of the labor of its inhabitants. All labor that is expended and properly applied in a country increases the value of its productions, and the country is to that extent better off; but if it imports what it might produce, it gives to another country the benefit of the labor used in producing or manufacturing it. The more demand there is for labor, and the larger the employed population, the better for the country.

The duty of a government is, therefore, to encourage its people to produce and to discourage them from importing. The National Policy is a wise measure and the people of Canada show wisdom in maintaining it.

ANDREW MCNEIL claims that he carries the largest, cheapest and best assorted stock of White and Colored Shirts in town. Give him a trial.

TAKE YOUR CHOICE.

ONE must read R. Fair papers to understand all about the motion moved by Mr. Landry on the Riel question. Some of them say that the Government caused it to be moved in the hope that the Reformers would all vote against it, and thus silence the Riel agitation, while others declare that they had it moved in the hope that all Reformers would vote for it, and thus wreck the party in Ontario! This shows that they are not agreed on the matter. But the Ottawa Free Press states that all, for in the same column it says that the Government "caused the resolution to be moved, believing that all the English speaking Liberals would not vote against it" and also that the Government "hoped to have been sustained by a narrow majority and so given a pretext by which it could force a general election upon the Riel issue." These statements are, of course, inconsistent, but that seems to trouble some of these papers very little. The fact is that the resolution was moved by a "bulter" and was opposed by the Government with all its strength.

TUESDAY, March 30.—George Lipsett was charged by J. Morrissey with having committed a breach of the Liquor License Act by selling spirituous liquor on Sunday last. The defendant pleaded guilty. Judgment was not given.

LASCENT.

J. Morrissey charged George Lipsett, jr., and Arthur Lipsett, two lads of about 8 and 12 years of age respectively, with having feloniously taken, stolen and carried away a sum of money, the property of the complainant. The prisoners pleaded not guilty.

The complainant says that he came from the shanties with $32. He spent $10 of it and had $22 and odd change when he went to Lipsett's Hotel on Sunday last. He stood at the bar and treated George Lipsett, jr., James Swanson, and himself. Mr. Lipsett went out, but his two boys remained. One was at his right hand side and the other behind the bar. He took his pocketbook out of his hip pocket to pay for another drink, and, as he shoved it in his right hand coat pocket, he thought himself, saying, "I guess I have enough to pay for that drink without busting a bill." With that he took some silver out of his pocket and paid for the drink. A few minutes after when he turned to go he felt for his pocket book and it was gone. He charged the boys with the theft but got no satisfaction.

The defence put in and endeavored to prove that the complainant had been under the influence of liquor at the time and that his memory was but to be trusted. The case was adjourned till to-morrow.

Mr. J. O'Meara for the complainant; Mr. E. A. Peck for the prisoners.

The first lot of spring ties to be found in Peterborough just opened out at ASHLEY MCNEIL'S, George street.

Liberated.
Mr. Hammill was liberated from goal on Monday night on bail furnished by his father and uncle, Messrs. John and Thomas Hammill, of the township of Hope, each at $500, and the prisoner at $1,000.

Sacred concert.
A sacred oratorio, "Christ and His Soldiers," by the noted musician, John Farmer, will be rendered by a chorus of thirty voices at St. Luke's school room, Ashburnham, Wednesday, March 31st, at 8 p.m. Tickets 25 cents.

Notes to Parents.
I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than the cost. Men, now is the time to get your boys' boots. All kinds of boots selling less than cost to make room for hand-made goods. JOHNSON CAREY.

Real Estate.
Messrs. Bryson and Delaney, the real estate agents, whose headquarters are opposite the Oriental Hotel, offer a big bargain in three houses and lots. The houses are substantially built of brick and are situated in good localities. The lots contain a quarter of an acre each. Price $800 each; terms to suit purchaser. These properties, they say, are as cheap as dirt at the price.

"MADRE E. HUIO."—What does it mean?
Miss Delaney wishes to announce to her lady friends that she has just returned from her second trip to Toronto, where she has made a selection from the latest novelties. Miss Delaney has thus the very newest fashions, and this she intends to keep up. She invites immediate inspection, and especially calls attention to the particularly low prices at which she is offering some of the choicest goods this spring.

People and Events.
Mr. Fred. Barker, who recently came to Peterborough as teacher of music, has had his room over Hartley's music store handsomely decorated. The ceiling is elegantly hung in two enriched panels, neatly bordered, and bearing diamond centre pieces. The walls are hung with pictures of different kinds and the furniture has been considerably added to. Mr. T. Billings did the paper hanging.

Messrs. Bryson & Delaney, who recently opened a real estate office on Hunter street, report business booming. Now that the town is so rapidly growing and so many transfers are being made in real estate there is ample room for such a live firm as this.

Mr. Wm. McCulloch, harness maker, Hunter street, has fallen into line with many other business men and has given his shop a thorough overhauling, making it very neat and airy and pretty. A new hardwood floor has been laid; the walls and ceiling have been handsomely decorated, and a new ash frame case, about fifteen feet long reaching from the floor to the ceiling has been added. Mr. Beavie did the carpentering work, and Mr. S. Martin the decorating.

A great improvement has been effected in the Bell open office. The partition of the end of the former store has been pulled down and the open office now occupies the whole of the store and basement and saving machine. The country has been refurnished with paint and a copy office has been fitted up at the rear of the store.

Chamberlain's Famous Kidney Beans. Chamberlain, London, etc., will be served at every all hours.

THE PARSON ON THE TICKET.

Some sensation caused by the Prayer of the Blind Chaplain of Congress.

On Monday, the Rev. Mr. Milburn, the blind chaplain of the United States House of Representatives, in his opening prayer, indulged in a fling at the gambling and speculative practices of some members of the Federal Legislature, framing his petition as follows:—

We beseech Thee, Almighty God, help the people of this country to learn that money gained otherwise than as Thou commandest, by the sweat of the face, as the fair and honest wage of honorable, manly work of brain or hand, is gained by theft, no matter how we name the stealing; that money is never converted into wealth unless it comes to be the product of our toils and lifts us above the level of the animal, lifting us to the grasp of life, elevating our hearts to manly aspirations, making us kindly with our kind, patient to God's laws and reverent to ourselves. Had the land, we beseech Thee, of all gamblers, whether they gamble with dice or cards or chips, or with wheat or stocks, or wares or cotton. Deliver us from the influence and power of robbers, who, enticing their victims to boards of trade and stock exchanges and bucket shops, make their practice of plunder "honest and lawful." Enlighten our intelligence with Thy truth; sweeten and deepen our humanity with Thy love; quicken our piety with Thy spirit, and may Jesus Christ become more and more the master and ruler of our lives and characters and thoughts. We pray through his hallowed name, Amen.

On motion of Mr. Butterworth, of Ohio, seconded by Mr. Weaver, of Iowa, the prayer was ordered to be inserted in the Record. Especial notice to the fact that there was formally a "kick" in the private lobby of the Senate. Its removal (possibly to one of the secret rooms of the basement) was a serious grievance to some senators, who derived a great deal of comfort from the ease with which they could study the votes of their votes a half hour previously on the stock market as reflected from Wall street.

THE GRIEVANCES OF THE HALF-BREDS.

Now that the word "grievances" is taken such a prominent place in the vocabulary of the Boaters and their new Liberal allies would it not be well to consider exactly what they mean by it? The half-breeds are said to have rebelled on account of their grievances, and the impression has gone abroad that they were greatly oppressed and tyrannized over, but in all the discussions of the question no case of injustice or oppression has been advanced by any of the speakers or writers on the question. The people of the Dominion will not be satisfied with vague charges of Government tyranny and neglect. They will require definite statements. Which one of the half-breeds was treated with injustice? Was any one of them dispossessed of his farm? Did they have to pay higher taxes than their white neighbors? These are the questions that the people would like to have answered. Mere repetition of the word "grievances" will not convince any thinking man. If there were "grievances" sufficient to justify the shooting down of Canadian volunteers, the scolding of Indians to measure innocent settlers and defenceless French Canadian priests, the people ought to know exactly what they were. The fact is that half-breeds, French Canadian, Irish Canadian, Scotch Canadian, English Canadian, and in fact Canadians of whatever origin, were all upon the same footing in the Northwest Territories. It is true that the Government patronized the pretensions of the half-breeds and tried to exempt them from their demands. But what were their demands? Did they ask to be placed on terms of equality with other Canadians? No, they insisted that they were entitled to peculiar privileges. They wished to be treated as a superior race on a plane above all other Canadians. They were subject to the same regulations as the white settlers and they wished to be exempted from them. A half-breed and a French Canadian settler side by side in the Northwest Territory had exactly the same privileges. They could each obtain one hundred and sixty acres of land by performing settlement duties in the regular way, and they could pre-empt as much more. But the half-breeds thought he was superior to the French Canadian settler. He wanted the same privileges granted to the French Canadian and scrip for 240 acres of land besides. The Northwest is mostly a prairie, and the Government recognizes the necessity of preserving the little timber there was framed regulations restricting the wasteful cutting of trees. The half-breeds thought that he should be exempted from these regulations and allowed to cut and hack as he pleased. It is about the most conspicuous grievance of the half-breeds was that the Government would not treat him better than the French Canadian neighbor. The French Canadians of this province have been framed regulations restricting the wasteful cutting of trees. THE P. A. A. ASSOCIATION

THE ANNUAL MEETING HELD—HIGHLY SATISFACTORY REPORTS.

All debts incurred last year for permanent improvements paid—A balance in hand.

On Monday night the first annual meeting of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association was held in the Young Men's Conservative Club room. The attendance was large and the meeting a very enthusiastic one.

THE PRESIDENT'S ADDRESS.

At the hour of eight o'clock Dr. HERNIMAN, the President, took the chair and called the meeting to order. He gave his report and then he said to call the first annual meeting of the Association for the transaction of business. He thought that it would be a fair saying that this young Association had scored a great success during the first year of its existence. Last year there were 150 members on the roll and the total receipts amounted to $773. He felt sure from the outlook that there would be an equal number of members this year. No doubt the Association accomplished much last year, but there were still abundant scope for future operations. A considerable amount of money had been spent on permanent improvements that would not need to be spent this year; thus a large part of the receipts could be diverted in other channels. It had cost for new grand stand and fencing the sum of $185, and to lay a cinder track, $115. Other minor expenditures had been made. This year, however, the Association would be able to furnish the clubs with more complete outfit. He would recommend the presentation of medals for foot racing and bicycle riding, as this was a satisfactory way to encourage those sports, and also certain prizes to be decided on afterwards, to other clubs. He thought that much had been done in this way last year towards fostering amateur sports. Baseball, he said, didn't succeed very well last year. Some of the club did not think they could get along with the Association. A club was formed and they went to the Riverbank Park. The Association, being an amateur organization, were not in a position to engage professionals for pitching and catching. The Cricket Club, though not winning many matches, had the satisfaction of playing with some of the best clubs in the country. He promised that this year the Cricket Club would be placed on a sound financial footing, a useful thing if success were aimed at.

On resuming his seat the President was loudly applauded.

SECRETARY'S REPORT.

Mr. John E. Hammond, Hon. Secretary, read his report as follows:—

To the President, Directors and Members of the P. A. A. A.

GENTLEMEN,—In making this, the first annual report of the P. A. A. A., I have much pleasure in congratulating you on the rapid strides the Association has made since its formation last year, beginning, as we did, at the bottom of the ladder, we have slowly but surely worked ourselves up to the top, and I am proud to say that at the present time we stand second to none in Ontario. Last April at an informal meeting the great question was raised, should we form an "Athletic Association" or not? and it was deemed advisable to try. A few of us, a small number of the leading citizens and athletes in town, met and met with such success that we determined to add a public meeting, which was well attended. At that time it was decided to form an Athletic Association (now so well known as the P. A. A. A.) and the following clubs all amalgamated, viz., Cricket, Football, Base Ball, Bicycle, Lawn Tennis, Snow Shoe, and Tow-roping. We agreed at that meeting that meeting lady patronage, as President, president, and directors. The choice of President fell on Dr. Geo. Burnham, and well and worthily he has filled that position. His untiring energy in a great way secured the success of the Association. James N. Riley was appointed secretary of the grounds, and was also employed as professional. Certainly great credit is due to him for the way in which the grounds are kept. The old cricket ground was used by the Association, and we were a little more than a mile away from the city, and on the directors visiting them it was seen at a glance that we had no burden in hand to make them suitable for our purpose. As many of our members were enthusiastic knights of the wheel, and others were anxious to train for foot races, it was deemed necessary to lay down a cinder path for their special benefit. This was done, and was in order by the 24th of May. The path was proposed by competent advice to be one of the best in Ontario. The first thing we did was to pull down the old shed and put up a new and substantial one, with, though, as at present, we do not doubt in course of time to be improved. We also found the old ground sadly in need of repair, and it had to be done. There were lots of things that ought to have been done, but we came to the conclusion that we would try and keep within bounds, as some of our old members were in a long way behind. I trust that by the Treasurer's report you shall have a very large deficit. The money shown by the committee appointed by the directors was less and paid, which was a great relief to the President.

Mr. A. McNeil, and I was glad to see that a large number of members sported them. During the season we held two "athletic meetings" in which some of the events were open to all amateurs, while the rest were open only to members of the Association. For these events medals, cups, &c., were given. These sports were fairly attended. There were also fortnightly sports held for members of the Association, for which medals were given. I will now pass on to the different sports. Cricket should first on the list, and I am glad to say that it was patronized by most of the members. Certainly I must say that Nelly White was a splendid wicket, and advantage of it was taken by the members to practice daily. In fact many of the residents in Canada I have not seen so much interest taken in the game, both old and young.

all taking great interest in it. I must just add that it gave me great pleasure to see the enthusiastic way in which the "junior members" practiced, and I hope they will stick to it all this season, as we all know that it takes practice to make perfect. During the season practice matches were held every Saturday afternoon, and they were always well attended and had the desired effect of greatly improving the fielding, which was proved in the match versus Montreal. It is to be hoped that these matches will be continued during the season, and that all members will make it a point to attend them, so that we may have the opportunity of putting a first class eleven in the field. With regard to foreign matches our record is not very good, but nevertheless we played some very nice matches. I regret that I am not able to give the analysis of the batting and bowling of the names of all the foreign matches played, as one of the score books has not been returned to me, and I can find no trace of it. We found it very hard to get a team to go away from home, but in the last we put our children together and sent them a team worthy of Peterborough, and try and carry every thing before us. It could be done if we only practice. I might suggest that we join the Eastern Association this year. I prefer, and there are teams coming from England and Australia to play this year, and also that there will be some American teams over here, and I am quite sure that we can send a worthy representative from this club. I think it also desirable to write to different clubs and arrange dates for matches, so that we can advertise them in the different papers, which will prevent other clubs in town clashing with our arrangements. With regard to football, I can say very little about it. I believe the club only played one match, viz., Ottawa, which was lost. Toronto was to have played us, but failed to turn up at the last moment. But any information that they hear of them, let them know on this branch of the Association I must leave to Mr. Cooper, who was secretary of that division. We now come to baseball. Unfortunately, very early in the season a fire occurred and director who took great interest in this branch, was removed from the town. I refer to Mr. Cusbin, of the Bank of Commerce, but nevertheless a great number went in heart and soul for the game, and a great many interesting games were played amongst members and created a great deal of amusement to those looking on. Of course a great many players were a little verdant at the game, but for all that they went into it with a will, and this year no doubt we shall be able to turn out a first class team. I must just remark that the club was started in town, and that the manager, Mr. Reeves, interviewed me as regards the use of our grounds. I explained to him our rules and requested him to use his influence with his men to join our Association, but it seems they did not care to join as they were going to engage professionals to play for them, and they then asked me again on what terms they could have the use of our ground. I at once summoned a meeting of the directors, and we decided that it would be simply out of the question to let them have our grounds, as they were in the most of the time. Quite a number of members availed themselves of the cinder path for practicing on the bicycle, and I think you would have to go a long way before you would find a more convenient track to practice on, and I have no doubt that this year a large number of knights of the wheel will avail themselves of the great advantage that we will have of using our track. At all sports we always had bicycle races, four medals were given and I believe though the season a great many members used to ride out in the country. We now come to lawn tennis. This popular game was greatly enjoyed by all members, the Association having procured two nets and the necessary furniture. During the season we had, I think, three lawn tennis matches, which were largely patronized by the ladies, who all seemed to enjoy themselves. It is to be hoped that we shall be able to do the same this year, and that we will meet with equal success. Last, but not least, comes the winter sports, snow shoeing and tobogganing. With regard to the Snow Shoe Club we had a few pleasant trips, and were entertained by friends of the Association at the end of them. A large number of the members had their own snow shoe and skis, and the colors of the Association, through the kindness of Mr. Edwards, were allowed to have a toboggan slide on his premises and through the exertions of some of the directors and members a capital slide was made and some pleasant evenings were spent on it there. I now briefly refer to a few by-laws in connection with the Association. In the first place only full members and life members are eligible for election as directors to be a full member, paying the sum of $5.00 per annum which makes up a number of every branch of the Association and also entitles you to free admission to the grounds at all times. A life member, paying the sum of $50.00 is entitled to all privileges of the Association for life, secondly no member is entitled to vote for directors unless he is a full or life member of the Association, thirdly every branch they may represent; thirdly a motion was passed on 15th June last, setting forth that any director abstaining himself from a meeting of the board twice in succession without a reasonable excuse should be required to resign. I would like to state strongly to all members who should be elected as directors not to accept office unless they feel that they can attend to the duties as it makes it very hard for four or five members to manage the affairs of so large an institution by themselves. The thanks of the Association are due to the ladies for the way in which they have helped us in providing refreshments on the occasion of foreign clubs visiting us, they not only sent us refreshments but also waited on us, and on more than one occasion their presence was commented very highly upon by the visitors. Whichever the subject I might mention that Mrs. Nelly White of the caterer helped us in a great measure by making up the dishes without any remuneration, and I might suggest that some time be given her as her husband has been laid up most of the winter. In conclusion I have to thank the President, Treasurer and Directors for the way they have assisted me in my duties and I trust that whoever may be appointed my successor will have some such assistance that I had.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Mr. A. St. A. Smith presented a detailed statement of all expenses and outlays during the season. The statement showed the total receipts during the season to be $773.00 and a total outlay of $712.00. The statement was hailed with satisfaction, especially that part which showed a balance of $61.00 in the bank.

The statement was received and referred to the auditors, Messrs. R. W. Grubbs and F. E. Bell.

VOTE OF THANKS.

Mr. Arthur Stevenson, said that their was one matter which he wished to bring before the meeting before the election of officers was proceeded with, and that was to move a vote of thanks to be tendered to those of the association who so kindly took part in the entertainment which was held a short time ago in the Opera House and lent their valuable aid in carrying it to a successful issue. Also to the ladies who so nobly co-operated. He would move that the secretary write to each of those who took part thanking them on behalf of the association.

Mr. F. E. R. Cooper seconded the motion which was carried decisively.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The officers were elected as follows:—

PATRON.—The Rev. V. Clement, Judge

Weller, Gen. A. Cox and Dr. Tennant.

PROTECTOR.—Mrs. Hamilton, Mrs. G. Burnham, Mrs. O'Sullivan, and Mrs. Lewis.

HON. PRESIDENT.—Dr. Burnham.

HON. VICE-PRESIDENT.—Mr. R. A. Morrow.

TREASURER.—Mr. A. St. A. Smith.

DIRECTORS.—Messrs. H. A. Hammond, J. E. Long, J. Morris, R. B. Rogers, F. E. Bell, A. Stevenson, G. Grubbs and A. G. Quinn.

Dr. Burnham, the President, Mr. J. E. Hammond, Secretary, Mr. A. St. A. Smith, re-elected Treasurer against his opponents, and Mr. G. A. Lawford, who retired from the directors, each made short neat speeches becoming to the occasion.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the acknowledging of Mrs. J. N. Riley's services to the Association. A prize of $15 was made up in ten minutes, which will, it might be remarked, be considerably augmented by other members of the Association.

The meeting then adjourned.

POLICE COURT

VAGRANCY.

WEDNESDAY, March 31.—The girl who was charged with vagrancy a few days ago, and who gave her name as Nettie Simmons, again appeared before the court this morning to receive the judgment of His Worship. It appeared from information received at the Police Station that her name was not Nettie Simmons, but Emma Clarke, an abandoned young woman from Stirling. She had been frequently convicted at Kellewell and had served a term in the Mercer Reformatory. When interrogated by the Magistrate she said she was willing to go home. She was allowed to go, P. C. Pidgeon being deputed to see that she went out of town on the first train.

LIQUOR CASE.

John Swanson and J. Morrison were charged by Geo. Lipsett with having committed a violation of the recent amendment to the Liquor License Act by selling liquor on Sunday last. All pleaded guilty and were fined $20 and costs each.

SALVATION ARMY.

Judgment was given in the Salvation Army case, particulars of which will be found in another column of this issue.

STEALING A WATCH.

John Edwards charged by Teddy Sediment with having stolen a watch from him, again faced the court. Teddy had not been able to find any trace of the watch since the first hearing of the case and had no further evidence to submit.

Mr. J. O'Meara, appearing for the prisoner, submitted that the evidence was not conclusive. The Magistrate held that the evidence was of such a character as to fix a grave suspicion on Edwards. However, he had the benefit of the doubt and was discharged.

ROBERT V. LITSETT.

The case of Morrison vs. Lipsett, adjourned from yesterday, was finally disposed of after about an hour and a half's hearing. Four additional witnesses were called but no evidence was forthcoming sufficient to fix the guilt on either of the boys. In fact, as the Magistrate said, Swanson was equally liable with the boys. The case was stolen from Morrison in the hotel and there were only three present, one of those three had the money, but which it was the evidence did not show. The case was dismissed.

High Water.

The water in the creek rose suddenly this forenoon and a freshet was threatened. But it seems to have gained its height, and it does not seem to be a serious damage may be looked for. At Simcoe Street, however, one of the main plates of the bridge has been torn away by the huge cakes of ice that passed down and it was but with considerable difficulty that the cross beams that rested on the plate were still three feet lower than the maximum height last year.

Wash-Out.

A wash-out occurred on the line of the Grand Trunk railway this afternoon about a mile and a half south of Peterborough, creating a break about twelve feet long. When the extent of the injury was ascertained a construction train was sent to make repairs. The line is now open, the only delay caused being that of holding over the noon train a few hours.

Health.

Complaints are already coming to the Medical Health Officer against persons who have not cleaned up their yards, and it is quite probable that the Magistrate will have some cases of this kind during the next few days. Prospective owners should make it a point to at once have their yards and back premises cleaned up.

ANDREW MCNEIL claims that he carries the largest, cheapest and best assorted stock of Whites and Colored Shirts in town. Give him a trial.

MORE EFFIGY BURNING.

The Liberals Determined to Make a Political Platform of It.

The effigy burning business is again in the ascendency. All the French members of Parliament who voted against the Landry motion are to undergo the indignity, and the ball is to be opened to-night in all the parishes of the country of St. Maurice, where Dr. Desaulniers will be the first victim. Other counties will follow suit during the week. In addition to this it was rumored in political circles this morning that the agitation was about to be re-opened in the province first with a view of denouncing as traitors the French Canadian members who had voted with the Government on the Landry motion, secondly to thank the English Liberals who had supported the measure, and thirdly for the purpose of influencing the voters at the general elections next year in favor of the Liberals.

"It is true," answered Mr. L. O. David to a Star reporter's enquiry, "that we are going to hold more riot meetings here and throughout the province. I am working at the matter now organizing for them. The idea is to criticize the French members who have voted against the Landry motion and to defeat them next year."

"How about such men as Mr. Alderic Guimet, M. P. for Laval?"

"Oh, we consider that he is just as bad as the rest. He has voted with the Opposition to save himself with his constituents and now, of course, he will hurry back to the treasury bench. There are others of his stamp, but they will be unmasked before the end of the season. We are waiting to see how they will vote on the other questions. Our position is clear. We have the courage of our convictions. We have no personal interest at stake and we want all other parties to declare themselves in the same open manner."

The victory in Drummond and Arthursville has imbued the Liberals with renewed energy and courage, and they appear perfectly sanguine of being able to sweep the province at the next elections. A meeting of the friends of the party was held at St. Vincent de Paul on Saturday for the purpose of selecting a candidate for the county of Laval against the present member, Mr. P. E. Lablanc, M. P. P., who it is understood has refused to sign the Champs de Mars resolutions.

A leading member of the Opposition in the Quebec House stated to the writer this morning that the Government would be forced to adopt the riot resolutions at the approaching session of the Legislature. The riot question was still paramount to every other issue in the Province, and every French Canadian member who ignored or who who-probed the movement would find himself left out in the cold. One of the first acts of the opposition would be to draw up a series of resolutions condemning the execution, and the Government would have at once to join in or on the subject. The speaker said he knew that fact, but he would not do so himself in a quinary and was now discussing how they were to get out of the difficulty.—Montreal Star, March 29.

"MAURICE E. HUGO."—What does it mean?

STILL SPREADING

The Trouble in Belgium—Conflict With the Little Guard.

BRUSSELS, March 30.—Lately, the leader of the Socialists, has been arrested. It has been proved that the riots are due to political causes. Of ninety persons arrested here, one-half are civil convicts of the worst kind. The entire reserve force has been called out, thus increasing the army to 62,000 men.

The strikers are spreading in the coal mining district of Brinnee, and the authorities there are apprehensive of grave excesses on the part of the dissatisfied workmen. The miners in the district of the province of Liège are employed only five days in the week. The strikers at the quarries near Tournay have had a conflict with the civil guard, in which many persons were wounded. A fresh riot occurred between the rioters and the infantry at Carnieres, in which two persons were killed and many wounded. The workmen in the cloth factory at Verviers have just struck a day, and are employed only five days in the week.

BERLIN, March 30.—The riots in Belgium have as yet had no disturbing effect upon the workmen in Germany.

Defective Information.

A bright-eyed little girl of nine years was on board a Kansas Pacific train, bound for Denver. She had never before been beyond the limit of her Eastern home, and manifested unusual interest in all she saw. The wide plains and the prairie dogs attracted her, but she was most anxious to see a genuine specimen of that purring Western product—a cowboy.

The train was waiting at a station in Kansas when the longed-for cowboy appeared. He was a typical specimen of the breed—leather breechings, red flannel shirt, a belt filled with knives and pistols and a desperate looking character generally.

"There is a cowboy for you," whispered a gentleman to the little girl.

"What's that?" she asked in unfeigned surprise and evident disappointment. "Why, I always thought a cowboy was part boy and part cow."—Detroit Free Press.

An Ancient Gibelet.

There was placed on exhibition in the windows of the Windsor Record office on Wednesday an old time gibelet, which was dug up by a party of workmen near Sandwich the day before. The ancient instrument of punishment is covered with rust, but in a good state of preservation. It consists of a straight rod about five feet in length and four inches of varying size. The top of the rod was for the neck and the bottom end for the feet. At the lower end was two small rings in which the feet rested. It was formerly the cheerful custom to place the unfortunate wretch who was to be punished in the stocks, chain his hands and feet, swing him from some convenient place and leave him to starve to death and rot. It is supposed that the gibelet was last used about 100 years ago.

A Frightful Memory.

There is a woman in the Chicago post-office whose employment is to correct misdirected letters. Her brain is a business directory of the United States, and she knows where to locate every firm of any sort of prominence. If a clerk calls out a misdirected letter as "Smith, Jones & Co., Chicago," she will very often indicate the correct address, as Leavitt, Milwaukee, or Springfield, Mass., without taking her attention from the work she is engaged in. Lying her term of service once 200,000 misdirected letters have been saved from the dead letter office.—Springfield Union.

A Strike Devoted Inevitable.

LONDON, Ont., March 29.—Unless the Grand Trunk Company restores the full out of wages to the employers of the mechanical and other departments of the southern division, a general strike is inevitable. At a meeting here on Saturday, the employers decided unanimously that they

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1886.

MR. GLADSTONE'S DIFFICULTIES.
MR. GLADSTONE will, apparently, have to stand almost alone and face opposition from various sources when he introduces his proposals regarding the Government of Ireland. The three principal divisions of the politicians have been supposed to be the Conservatives, the Whigs and the Radicals, and Lord Hartington and Mr. Chamberlain were looked upon as the leaders of the Whig and Radical sections, which, united under Mr. Gladstone's leadership, was known as the Liberal party. When Lord Hartington was not included in the Government recently formed by Mr. Gladstone people thought that he would rely on the Radicals for support, and now Mr. Chamberlain has resigned. Mr. Trevelyan has gone with him out of the Cabinet, and other members of the Government, including Mr. Collins, the Radical who moved the motion which ousted the Salisbury Cabinet, are expected to resign. With the leaders of the Whigs and of the Radicals not supporting him, and the full strength of the Conservatives arrayed against him, the Premier's chances of carrying his measures appear to be small. If he does succeed, there must be a large portion of the Liberal party which is neither Whig nor Radical, but only Liberal. The courage of the political captain who does not flinch although he lacks the co-operation of his chief lieutenants must be great, but his courage may be greater than his power.

If the Cabinet is defeated another general election appears to be certain to follow. Then there will be a Liberal party appealing to the electors on many different lines, and party leaders fighting against the opinions of the leaders whom they have worked with all along, while electors will have to be shrewd indeed to understand why all the divisions have occurred. The Conservatives will show a solid front, but the divisions in the ranks of the Liberal party, which are their weakness in the House, might be their strength at the polls. Canadians will watch with interest the outcome of the present political complications in the Imperial Parliament.

CRIMINAL JUSTICE.
An able exponent of the doctrines of the "National Liberal" party thus expresses its opinion regarding the punishment of criminals: "So far as the arrest, trial and sentencing of criminals are concerned, we are not disposed to quarrel seriously with the Government, but they do believe that with the passing of the sentence the law is sufficiently vindicated, and that common justice as well as national interest dictated that the sentence ought not to have been carried out."
This method of dealing with criminals would be no expense in each case as the present plan is, because if the law was sufficiently vindicated by the passing of the sentence all the expenditure now incurred through maintaining central prisons and penitentiaries would be saved, and even the expense of arresting and trying criminals would not be so great, for they would hardly be so anxious to keep out of the way of officers of the law when they knew that the passing of the sentence would be all the punishment they would receive. At the same time, it is possible that the increase in crime, the sense of lawlessness and the general degradation of society that would follow would make this proposed method even more expensive in the end than the present one. On the whole, we incline to the opinion that it would not be advisable to discontinue the present system of criminal punishment until a plan is suggested that has more to commend it than the one proposed. To be serious, most people will say that if Riel's arrest, trial and sentence were just, there is no case at all for a serious quarrel with the Government in connection with the matter.

REVIEWS.
CANADIAN METHODIST MAGAZINE.—In the Canadian Methodist Magazine for April Mr. T. Moore's charming articles on "Woodland and Beyond," maintain their fascination of vivid description and exquisite illustration. A striking series of engravings accompanies a paper by the Editor on "Landmarks in History." They will attract much attention. Mr. John Macdonald contributes a chapter of "Lovers from the Portfolio of a Merchant," giving graphic sketches of the strange variety of characters with whom he comes in contact. Much humor is developed in the narrative. The Rev. H. F. Blagden writes an able and discriminating review of the life and work of the celebrated William Wilberforce. An article of much interest, in connection with the development of our Northwest Territories, is Mr. J. Macdonald's review of the paper on Hudson Bay, "The Mediterranean of Canada." A valuable chapter on the Gospel of St. John, by Canon Farrar, is of special interest, as the Sunday schools of Christendom are just entering on the study of that book. Dr. Laing concludes his trenchant criticism of certain theories on the Millennium. The story of "Jan Veder's Wife" grows in tragic interest. The Editor discusses labor and capital, makes adjustments, etc. A number of Easter poems, and an exquisite "Singing of Carols" by "Christ Crowned with Thorns," are also given.

Cardinal's Fancifulness.
Quebec, March 30.—Katherine's preparation for the grand coronation will be attended by the installation of Cardinal Taché. The cost of the festival, it is said, exceeds $10,000. The Calais d'Economie of this city has authorized $1000 towards the object of a similar coronation of $1000 coronation from Rev. Mr. Fournier, one of St. Anne de la Pointe. It is reported that a whole carriage will be presented to the coronation by an ex-Lieut. Governor, who will fully $1000, to be given to Judge J. T. Macdonald, brother of the Cardinal. Col. Laing was at work in the various parts of the city taking up subscriptions, for the cost of the coronation, and all report gratifying success.

Accident on Wilket Harbor.
Quebec, March 30.—Elder Marcotte and his wife, who have watched the result of experiments of this class for many years, and have also seen many instances of it. I have no doubt in my mind that the experiments were properly sheltered by overgrown windmills, crossing every here and there, farm property would be worth one-fourth more for agricultural purposes than much of it is at present.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at 10 cents a week.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

NOT TO HIS CREDIT.
The "Globe" has been analyzing Mr. Blake's great speech on the Riel issue, but the public have been far more successful in analyzing Mr. Blake. The investigation has not been much to his credit.—London Free Press.

CAPABLE OF ANY MEANNESS.
The London Advertiser is not above trying to make political capital out of Sir John Macdonald's serious illness. It says, "The members of the House on both sides are asking what has become of the Premier? As he has not been in his place for nearly a fortnight, nor do we hear any reason assigned for his absence." In saying this the Advertiser either displays "useful ignorance" of what is going on at Ottawa or deliberately misrepresents.—Montreal Star (Indep.).

BLAKE'S LEADERSHIP.
The election (in Drummond and Arthabaska) show that the province of Quebec has cast off its Conservative allegiance, and that to-day it is preparing to rally under the provincial leadership of Mr. Blake, and under the Dominion leadership of Mr. Blake, of the National Liberal party.—Ottawa Free Press (Reform.).

THE C. P. R.
Mr. George H. Ham, who acted as special correspondent to the Mail during the Rebellion in the Northwest, and who knows perhaps as much about the Northwest and its affairs as any other man in Canada, says he believes the Canadian Pacific Railroad is one of the best equipped and will soon be one of the best paying roads on the North American Continent.—Whitby Chronicle (Reform.).

A MORIBUND JOURNAL.
The Globe has about finished its downward course. Its record on the whole Riel matter has been one of dishonesty, lack of patriotism, anxiety and readiness to do anything however disreputable provided it tended to injure the government and further its own party. It traded the feelings of race, it was ready to barter with the French Canadians, it kept itself clear up to the day of execution so that it might raise either the shouts of the volunteers that had been killed or build a platform on his scaffold if Riel were hanged. In all this disreputable course it dragged Mr. Blake and sought to mix him up in its doings. And yet twenty-three liberals had the courage to vote in the House different from the course of the Globe. The exigencies of the party demanded no such disreputable tactics as it displayed. George Brown would have taken no such foolish, no such dishonorable course, and Brown reformers from one end of the province to the other could have heard yesterday denouncing the foolish policy of its present conduct.—Toronto World (Indep.).

OF SOME USE.
Orator Mills is a handy person to have about the House. He affords much relief to the members during a debate. When he gets up to speak the listeners go out and take a rest.—Hamilton Spectator.

RIEL SHAMMING.
In the course of his powerful and brilliant speech, Mr. Chapleau dealt a severe blow at the insanity plea in Riel's case. He read a letter from Dr. Pervault, of the Longue Point asylum stating that during his incarceration Riel was merely shamming; and also one to the same effect from another physician competent to speak on the subject.—Toronto Mail.

DOES NOT LIKE REFORM.
Mr. Mowat is not a Liberal-Conservative; but he is the most conservative little rascal in the Dominion. During the late session of his little Parliament—which, by the way, is said to have closed—his attitude upon every proposition that in the slightest degree smelt of reform.—Windsor Spectator.

CLUMSY FORGERIES.
The telegrams published in the London Advertiser, purporting to have been sent from Sir John Macdonald to Sir John Macdonald at the time of the Winnipeg banquet, with a view of influencing the action of the Government in the Riel case, turn out, as was expected, to be clumsy forgeries. A very complete exposure of the whole matter was made by Sir Adolphe in the House of Commons on Thursday, and further evidence given of the extremities to which the Liberal will go in order to secure a party advantage.—Winnipeg Manitoba.

MR. BLAKE'S DEGRADATION.
No Canadian government which has Edward Blake and men like him in opposition will be so foolish as to allow the law to be carried out against a criminal who has powerful friends, unless that government has an enormous majority in the House or is not afraid of defeat. This is one effect of the degradation of the man who is known in the records as the Honorable Edward Blake.—St. John Sun.

HOW IT LOOKS FROM YORK STATE.
The great Liberal leader, the Hon. Edward Blake, who by the division of yesterday's early morning. It may cost him the command of the Grit forces, and it is not unusual that several of his colleagues are quite willing to step into his shoes.—Pacific Observer.

JEALOUS MR. MOWAT.
There is nothing which better illustrates Mr. Mowat's narrow-mindedness than his jealousy of the members of the opposition, especially Mr. Macdonald. The Premier is jealous of the wit of his last any member of the Opposition should get credit for introducing a good measure in the House. Whenever any Conservative introduces a measure likely to be popular with the people, Mr. Mowat calls upon his subalterns to vote it down.

VALUE OF LINES OF EVERGREENS.
To the Editor of the Review.
Sir.—As spring will soon be here, will you allow me to suggest to your farming readers the importance of devoting a few days to planting windbreaks. The portions of forest retained where the country was cleared are rapidly fading away. In some parts of Ontario, indeed, it has been very difficult to preserve them as they blow down, and when this difficulty does not exist, they are largely drawn upon yearly, either for fuel or to obtain more land for the plough, so that in a few years the forest of the farm land in Ontario will be destitute of shelter, and will suffer all the evils which have resulted in other regions from the same cause.

The rows of deciduous trees which are being planted here and there will be very valuable; but there is not one planted, as yet, where there should be twenty. It is a subject upon which very soon forest itself upon the minds of our people; and there are two suggestions relative to it. The first is to begin before shelter is needed; trees take time to grow. The next is, why not grow trees which are of use in winter, when shelter is most needed from the wind and cold? Deciduous trees are of little use, the evergreens are much.

All through the country there are to be had, in unused fields, or the borders of woods, numbers of young evergreens—pine, spruce, or cedar. If these will answer—the last for the damper ground—the two first for the dry. All ground for trees, however, is the better for drainage. If quantities of these young trees were transplanted this spring, either directly into lines along the exposed sides of farms, or if very small into the garden to transplant again next spring, it would be the most paying work ever done on most farms.

The best time to transplant evergreens is the first week in June, but it can also be done very well in early spring. The most successful planting I have known was 750 trees, four feet tall, transplanted when in spring, the ground was still frozen, and the trees were as good as dead when they were planted. Only four were lost. Smaller trees, of course, were not so early planted. In Massachusetts, last year, I saw them, six inches high, being planted by the thousand. As to distance apart, all will do, from a foot to six feet. Close planting is best, they can be transplanted afterwards.

I have, let me say, obtained opinions and evidence on this subject from many practical men, who have watched the result of experiments of this class for many years, and have also seen many instances myself. I have no doubt in my mind that the experiments were properly sheltered by overgrown windmills, crossing every here and there, farm property would be worth one-fourth more for agricultural purposes than much of it is at present.

Yours, etc.,

THE RIELLE RISING

How Reformers Fostered Rebellion—The Time Had Come to Strike.
The Government has submitted to Parliament letters and papers of a private nature which they had in their possession. Among them is a letter dated June 18th, 1884, and addressed to Geo. Purvis, of Brandon, secretary of the Farmer's union. It runs:—

"Dear Sir,—I think there has not been since the commencement of the agitation a better time to strike than the present. Everything seems ripe for it. I am certain even-oughts of the people of Winnipeg are in favor of me and I am certain four or five hundred good men will accomplish our object without any difficulty whatever. The fact of the matter is this, we have nothing to resist us. The military here is nothing more than a pack of boys, and we have easy access to the store room. We had a small meeting to-night, and the parties present were unanimous in favor of making a strike at once. Now I think that if we delay we will only be losing ground and the thing will never be accomplished. I would like to know the position of men who can be got from the country to assist in the scheme."

"Yours, faithfully,"
"A. H. HOWE."

DISTRICT INTELLIGENCE

LAKEFIELD

From Our Own Correspondent.

PRESENTATION.—On Tuesday evening, March 27th, the members of the choir and a few of the members of the Presbyterian Church waited on Mr. G. R. Shields at his residence prior to the departure for the N. B. trip. A very warm evening was spent, during the course of which the following address was presented, accompanied with a handsome Bible, hymnal and music.

THE M. R. R. Shields.
 DEAR FRIEND, The members of the choir and a few of the friends of the congregation, having of your intention to make in the West your future home, feel that they cannot let the occasion pass without in some way showing their respect and affection for you, while the growth of a quarter of a century spent in our midst, and in a variety of capacities, will minister as a source of pleasure, at the event of your departure, or in the various offices of the church, your uniformly straightforward character has won the esteem of all.

We beg of you, therefore, to accept the accompanying hymn and Bible, as a token of our esteem, a token, although small in value, yet dear to us, the kindest wishes for an abundant measure of prosperity in your new home, and when you think of former privileges and the Christian associations of Lakefield, you may the more gratefully sing the songs of Zion, signed on behalf of the members of the choir, DAVID SMITH.

Mr. Graham read the address and Mr. Smith made the presentation. Mr. Shields, on rising to reply, stated that he was completely taken by surprise, was entirely unexpected, and he expressed his thanks to those who had so kindly made him so useful and valuable a present, and that he would use them to the honor and glory of God. They would also bring the people of Lakefield to his remembrance, not that that would be required to do so, but after would always have a warm place in his heart. After these remarks, he read a hymn, the Rev. J. McEwen, the pastor, read the 103rd Psalm and offered up a prayer. Refreshments were then served around by the ladies, and a pleasant evening was brought to a close by singing "Auld Lang Syne."

MARKET BY-LAW.—It is the intention, I believe, of the supporters of the market square by-law to take the necessary steps to have the late election declared void, owing to several bad votes having been polled.

HORSE DOWNED.—Messrs. R. & G. Strickland had the misfortune to lose a horse through the ice on Tuesday. While crossing Lovelock Lake the team broke through. With the help of Mr. Wade, Mr. Louches, and others of the Trent Valley Works, one horse was rescued, but the other and the wagon went to the bottom.

ILL.—I regret to state that Mr. Joseph Nelson is very ill with inflammation of the lungs. The medical men hold out very little hopes of recovery.

THE NEW MILL.—Mr. Donald McLean expects to begin running the Trent Valley Four Mill in a few days. He is getting in large quantities of wheat.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met pursuant to adjournment on March 1st. All the members were present, the Rev. in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. A by-law to divide the township into four wards was read and confirmed. To appoint overseers of highways, pound keepers and fence viewers for the current year passed its several readings and was signed and sealed. After reading the auditor's report the Council instructed the clerk to have 100 copies of the same printed for distribution. On motion of Mr. Middleton, seconded by Mr. Fitzgerald, the sum of $2,500 was appropriated to the repair of the roads, and the following provisions: To township division No. 1, $400; No. 2, $300; No. 3, $400; No. 4, $300; and No. 5, $250. The Council then adjourned till March 15th.

A FLOOD EXERCISE.—The Council met pursuant to adjournment on March 25th. All the members were present, the Rev. in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. A by-law to divide the township into four wards was read and confirmed. To appoint overseers of highways, pound keepers and fence viewers for the current year passed its several readings and was signed and sealed. "MURDER E. HIO."—What does it mean?

SHEEP STOLEN.—A most barefaced robbery was committed in Westward, on Tuesday night, or Wednesday morning last week, when some persons or persons entered Mr. Wm. Sarg's barn yard and carried off eight sheep. No trace of the animals have been discovered.

ORBITARY.—Death has been busy in our midst during the past week, and three households mourn the loss of members. On Thursday, Mrs. Wm. English died at the advanced age of 89 years. Mr. Isabella Gentile, who for some time past has been in delicate health, died on Saturday, aged 51 years, and lastly Mr. Thomas Bawden after a short illness, succumbed to an attack of Typhoid fever on Monday, aged 30 years.

THROUGH THE ICE.—Mr. James Elington had rather an unpleasant experience while attempting to cross Lake, from Birdville to the Algonquin, with a horse and cutter last Friday. When about a mile from the shore the horse broke through the ice, and had the accident not been seen by the workmen at the mill, who went with a horse to render assistance, the animal would have been drowned. As it was, a considerable effort was experienced, and before the animal could be obtained, the animal broke through a second and a third time. Two of the men who were assisting also broke in, fortunately all got safely ashore pretty well discombed.—Star.

COUNCIL MEETING.—The Council met pursuant to adjournment on Monday, March 1st. All the members were present. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The auditor's report of the treasurer's accounts of 1885 was received and adopted. One hundred copies were ordered to be printed and left at the Review office for such rate-payers as may desire copies. A communication was received from trustees of St. N. S. No. 1, regarding alterations in certain school sections. No action taken. A resolution was adopted, on motion of Mr. Brown, seconded by Mr. Johnston, providing that the interest as well as the principal of drainage disbursements, issued under By-Law No. 32, be paid annually, so that at the end of 15 years the principal will have been paid in full. A by-law regarding assessment of highways, pound-keepers and fence viewers, passed its second readings and was signed and sealed. The Rev. was appointed a delegate on the Trent Valley Chamber of Commerce to Ottawa. The full minutes were read.

SCIENCE AND PROGRESS

MAKING PLATE GLASS WITH GAS FUEL.

The utilization of natural gas as fuel has wrought a revolution in glass making.

American glass will no doubt speedily be able to compete with the best French and German plate glass, which it has never done heretofore. Abroad, where the best glass is made, several factories have abandoned coal and taken up the use of manufactured gas as a fuel. The sulphur in the best and purest of coal blurs and coats the glass with patches, while if smoke comes in contact with it in the soft state a permanent stain is caused. Besides that, with the coal fuel, in spite of the best of care, ashes, dust and solid particles from the furnace were certain now and then to get into the molten glass and make a flaw. Gas fuel has done away with all that. It has given Pittsburgh an advantage over the rest of the country that she has been slow to utilize. Before the natural gas fuel discovery there were some large glass factories elsewhere in the country. Pittsburgh, since that discovery, has made glass so much better and cheaper than they could that they found themselves forced to "go to Pittsburgh or go to pieces."

Several have already removed to the city of natural gas. At some of the Pittsburgh factories a plate of glass 60x24 inches can now be turned out. The illustration shows that part of the process called "blowing." The sticky, molten mass is literally blown into shape by the breath.

It is announced that Messrs. Appert, of Clichy, France, have discovered a process that will make glass blowing by the mouth unnecessary. Many attempts have been made to get rid of this painful process in the operations of glass making, but to this day, in every bottle house, may be seen half-dressed men, with their cheeks hanging limp in folds, the result of years of glass blowing by the mouth. Cases have been known in which men's cheeks have been worn so thin that they have actually cracked, and it is a common sight in a bottle house to see the blowers at work, with their thin cheeks puffing out like the fingers of a glove.

The furnace is heated by the gas. Into it is set a fire-brick pot. A round opening, such as you see in the picture, gives access to the pot. In the pot the materials which the glass are put, to be fused all night. They consist of 100 parts of sand, 30 parts lime, 40 parts alkali, and some pulverized charcoal. To melt an intense heat, like that of a volcano, which will melt these hard materials together. A glass furnace is the hottest place known to man.

The materials are brought to the molten state. Then they are skimmed to get the refuse off. Next the workman plunges a long wrought-iron tube with a wooden handle and mouthpiece into the white hot mass. Part of it adheres to the end of the pipe. He rolls it around, takes it out until it is completely dry, and then plunges the pipe into the pot again. More glass is there, until at length there is a ball on the end of the tube weighing many pounds. For a plate of glass as large as the one mentioned a ball of the molten material weighing over thirty pounds is required. It needs a very strong man to lift and manipulate this weight. When he gets a red hot ball of glass large enough, he reaches into the pot, and with a wet wooden mallet turns it about until it is pear-shaped.

At length the first man hands the pipe with the red hot ball at the end to the blower. He blows gently into it, turning it constantly by the wheel. It presently becomes the shape of a huge bottle without any neck to speak of. You see in the picture the blower at his task. When the mass runs too much to the lower end he must lift it in the air till it runs back to the upper end. This requires great strength. The picture shows how it is done. The bottle is five feet long by this time and a foot and a half across. The next step is to blow out the bottom of the bottle and make an open-ended cylinder of it. The workman bends his pipe and puts his hand over the opening. The air expands in the heat, and the next moment he bears a little pop. The air has blown the bottom mass to the end of the blower. He blows gently into it, turning it constantly by the wheel. It presently becomes the shape of a huge bottle without any neck to speak of. You see in the picture the blower at his task. When the mass runs too much to the lower end he must lift it in the air till it runs back to the upper end. This requires great strength. The picture shows how it is done. The workman bends his pipe and puts his hand over the opening. The air expands in the heat, and the next moment he bears a little pop. The air has blown the bottom mass to the end of the blower. He blows gently into it, turning it constantly by the wheel. It presently becomes the shape of a huge bottle without any neck to speak of. You see in the picture the blower at his task. When the mass runs too much to the lower end he must lift it in the air till it runs back to the upper end. This requires great strength. The picture shows how it is done. The bottle is five feet long by this time and a foot and a half across. The next step is to blow out the bottom of the bottle and make an open-ended cylinder of it. Cooper with the forgery of bank bills, was brought before the Police Court at his preliminary trial on Saturday afternoon at two o'clock. The court room was densely packed with people and the gallery was filled with well.

Mr. R. E. Wood, County Crown Attorney, appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. A. P. Fournelle, Q. C., for the prisoner.

The Magistrate read the charge and the prisoner pleaded not guilty.

Capt. Cooper, Chief of Police, was the first witness called. He briefly stated what has already appeared in the local papers. On March 30th he received a telegram (the production of this telegram in court together with a number of received despatches, Mr. Fournelle objected) on the strength of which he arrested the prisoner. Hammill and P. C. Adams, went to the gallery and made a search of the place. The prisoner was somewhat surprised when told of object of the search, but made no objection to the search being proceeded with. When witness was engaged in searching the cash drawers P. C. Adams brought him a stamp which was found in a back room on a shelf. Witness asked prisoner if this stamp was used in the photograph business, to which question prisoner replied that it was not and that he did not know what it was used for.

Mr. Fournelle objected to have anything that the prisoner said go in as evidence, unless in the case of the prisoner being previously properly warned.

The objection was noted.

The witness continued, stating that he called prisoner's attention to the ink which P. C. Adams also found and asked him if he knew anything about them. He replied that he did not. He had seen the stamp before; Ball had brought it from home about four months ago. He did not know what it was used for, but never got any satisfaction. The same night witness and P. C. Adams searched prisoner's house, but found no suspicious articles. The next morning one of the constables brought in more ink. Witness asked prisoner if he used this kind of ink in his business, and the prisoner replied that he did. He also used glycerine. Another search was made the following morning, but nothing was found of a suspicious nature until to-day. The prisoner Ball told officer Flaxton where to find the other forged notes, also the negative from which they were photographed, and a small box of glycerine. Officer Flaxton brought the negative to witness this morning. The negative showed a bank of Toronto $5 bill, Peterborough branch, without a number and the date of issue 1880. He had before seen the counterfeit bill produced. He got it in a letter from the County Crown Attorney of the County of Simcoe. He had compared the bill with the negative, and it seemed to be taken from the negative with the exception of the red press of the number.

By request the prisoner drew out a plan of the room in the gallery.

Witness continuing, cross questioned by Mr. Fournelle, said that the prisoner did not seem unnecessarily hurried when arrested. Prisoner was arrested at about 11 p.m. on Friday. He was taken to his house and afterward conducted to a cell. He was kept there till Saturday afternoon when he was taken to goal. He could not say whether the forgery was photographed or not.

P. C. ADAMS sworn, said:—Have heard evidence of Chief of Police; have a personal knowledge of the searching; found the die produced in the printing room; it was on a shelf in which there were a lot of negatives; one of the constables handed me the bottle of red ink the next morning, while we were searching the premises. Cross-examined. Was present on Friday afternoon when the search was made; did not see the bottle of red ink then, made a rough search that afternoon; there was no apparent intention of concealing it; the number in the stamp is the same now as when I discovered it; it is not the same number as that on the bill.

P. C. MCGILL, sworn, said:—Found the box produced in a drawer, on Friday afternoon, the 25th, in the reception room in the prisoners' gallery; do not remember about the bottle of red ink; gave the box to P. C. Adams; had two parcels; one was the white box and do not remember what the other was; found them together in the same drawer; there were several drawers.

P. C. FIDDER, sworn, said:—Saw these stamps in the prisoners' gallery; they were on a shelf in the finishing room; P. C. Adams found them in my presence; first seen the bottle of red ink in the police office.

GEORGE FLAXTON, sworn, said:—Am Sheriff's officer in the County of Simcoe; brought the prisoner Ball from Barrie goal to give evidence; saw negative produced this morning in the prisoners' gallery; the prisoner Ball found it; Ball wanted to change some clothes; he put his fingers under a shelf on a stand and pulled out the negative; the space between the shelf and the floor was about an inch and a half; the negative was wrapped in a newspaper; the one produced, dated May 24th, looks like it.

JOHN BALL, was sworn.

The Magistrate told Ball that he was not bound to give evidence that would criminate himself, but that any evidence he gave would be taken down and might be used against him.

BALL—I am 26 years old; lived in Caven before I came to Peterborough. My father is a farmer, and I lived with him until about two years ago; lived in Peterborough since, except for a few months I was home; was photographing in Peterborough, doing business with the prisoner Hammill, my father was the partner with Hammill; am not an expert photographer, but was learning; Mr. Hammill was the expert; worked with Hammill three weeks in Millbrook and worked about two months in a tent taking ambrotypes; took some photographs in a tent but not many. I did the printing in Peterborough. Printing does not require much skill, there are harder parts of the business than that. Mr. Hammill did the artistic parts of the trade.

Mr. Hammill made the negative that that bill was taken off about a month or six weeks ago. The negative was made, I think, on Sunday. I wasn't there that day. On Monday morning I went to the dark room the first thing when I got to the gallery. I got there before Mr. Hammill arrived at the gallery. I saw the negative there. I recognised this negative to be the one I saw on that morning. I know it by the broken corner and re-touching. Mr. Hammill did the re-touching. It is done well. I could not do it nearly so well.

I saw Mr. Hammill pick out of a roll the best bill that he got from the bank. It was a five dollar Bank of Toronto bill, Peterborough branch. He said that if it was washed up good it would make a good negative. He washed the bill then with soap and water. I saw him wash it. The washing cleaned the bill, making it look brighter, showing more contrast between the white and colored parts. He cleaned it at the water tap with his hands. This was a week before I came in and found the negative. I saw nothing further from the time Mr. Hammill cleaned the bill until the morning I came in and saw the negative. We had been talking about a week before about counterfeiting. Mr. Hammill introduced the conversation. The object, so far as I was concerned, was to make money. Mr. Hammill said that he had been poor long enough and that he was going to try some scheme to make money. He said that he could make the bills so that they could not be detected except at the bank, saying that he had made them before. Mr. Hammill got all the stuff to make the bills. He procured the paper in Salisbury's, so he told me, and ten cents worth of blue ink from the Times printing office. I don't know whether he got the red ink at the Examiner office or not. He said he was going to get it there. He brought both inks to the gallery. I suppose, perhaps, he didn't know whether or not he could get this kind of ink in the stationery. He used the red ink for putting on the numbers and the blue ink for putting on the word "Peterborough." "Peterborough" was photographed and made dark by blue ink put on by the brush.

Mr. WOOD (presenting a stamp)—Did you ever see this thing before?

Witness—I belong to my people at home. We tried to use it but it would not work. I don't know how many bills were made, but I took twenty with me. Mr. Hammill and I both finished the bills, which were all five. I went up to Orillia to attend the room, which were held on Tuesday and Wednesday, passing the bills there. When I commenced to assist him the first bills were already made. I took with me the first batch made by Mr. Hammill, and some that were subsequently made. There were several printed but not tooed. They were left in a drawer in a stand in room No. 8 according to diagram. This was the drawer I directed the police to. Between the time he brought the blue ink I had no communication with the Times office until the present. Water colors were put on some of the bills but when the glycerine was put on the colors were brown, but through. He then thought that this would not do, afterwards using printer's ink. Mr. Hammill brought the red ink into the gallery, saying that it was for the purpose of printing on the numbers. I never saw red ink used in photography for anything in the business. I saw only the one bottle of red ink there. The glycerine was put on the bills to make them soft. Glycerine is not used, so far as I know, in the business. Neither are the other inks used in photography. I am under arrest at present for passing three bills, and I have pleaded guilty to the charge. I simply intend to tell the truth, not for the purpose of turning Queen's evidence. I have nothing against Mr. Hammill. No representations have been made to me to induce me to tell the truth in this matter, and I do not expect to get my sentence shortened on account of my telling the truth. I never liked to try to pass the bill, but Mr. Hammill secured me that there was no danger, if I didn't stop too long in one place. I got rid of the bills by going into shops and buying small articles.

T. M. POTTER, sworn, said:—There were no employees in the gallery for the last two months but Mr. Hammill and myself. I did not dismiss the girl apprenticed. She left of her own accord. Last December I dismissed a girl whom we had been paying. The reason this girl was discharged was because we could not afford to pay the wages. Neither of us liked to discharge the girl, but finally I discharged her. I did not board at Mr. Hammill's since coming to Peterborough. I was not taking views for three months during the summer. I canvassed for photographic work when the days were not suitable for taking views. I was not a success at canvassing. I do not like an easy living. I did not leave of the time when away taking views. I did not furnish a room at the gallery for the purpose of being enabled to make these bills. I did not think of such a thing when I furnished the room at the gallery. The girl had left about a month before I furnished the room there. The red and blue inks were used for no other purpose so far as I know but to color the bills. Printer's ink is used for mounting picture frames. We had some broken frames. One was mended with ink. The ink was not got for the purpose of mounting the picture frames. I went to the news book work but I didn't buy any. I did not try to buy. I didn't intend to buy any when I went there. I printed some bills from that negative, about ten I think. I printed them shortly after the negative was made. Mr. Hammill printed his bills nearly all in the retouching room, under a board. I printed mine in the printing room. I did none of the re-touching. I can't retouch a negative—I have practiced retouching, I don't understand how to do everything perfectly, but I know the process. It is harder to make that five dollar bill than you think. I think I could make one now that I have had the practice, but I could not make the negative. All of the bills were not printed from this negative. There were two negatives made. I think the other one was destroyed. The stamp I brought from here was not used in making the bills. I bought it in the first instance for the purpose of printing the name of the firm on photographs. I don't know how many bills were printed all together. We were printing until we printed all the paper Mr. Hammill got. I did some of the toning. I don't know more than one or two. I haven't done very much at toning.

Mr. Hammill did not allow me to do much at it. All my experience in photographing is three weeks I spent with Mr. Hammill in Millbrook and the time I stayed in Peterborough. Last summer I was taking views for about 3 months. The first conversation I had with Mr. Hammill took place about a month or six weeks ago. I don't remember exactly how the conversation was brought about. I did not introduce the subject of making these bills. I am pretty positive I did not suggest the idea. The firm was not hard up, but the firm would have been if I had drawn out my share. The only object in manufacturing these bills was for the purpose of making money. After talking quite a while Mr. Hammill left, saying that he was going to get the bill to make the negative from. Mr. Hammill drew about forty dollars from the bank. He showed the bills to me, and we both scanned them over to find the best one. The bills were then deposited in the till, and after a few days Mr. Hammill put them in the back again. Last fall when we were talking about selling out I took some picture frames and put them in my trunk. I did not tell Mr. Hammill about it. I put the picture frames under my clothes in the trunk. At Orillia I was arrested by a constable. I don't know at whose instance I was arrested. I passed seven or eight bills at Orillia. When the constable arrested me I did not tell him that Hammill was the guilty man. The day after I was arrested I told some official that Hammill was the guilty man. I was arrested in a hotel in Orillia—the Russell House. I pleaded guilty when brought up the same day of my arrest, but up till that time I said nothing about Hammill. After I was sent back to the lockup the officials picked Hammill's guilt out of me. That officials and several others came into my cell at noon on Thursday. The official asked if I had a partner. I said had. They wanted to know if he had anything to do with it. I did not say anything about it for quite a while. He said that it would be a good deal better for me if I told the truth about the whole affair. I didn't want to deny Hammill's implication, but I did not want to tell of it. It was in consequence of what the official said to me that I proceeded to tell about Hammill. I told him then that we were both guilty or words to that effect. I told him about what Hammill did. He then went out saying that he knew some one else was in the scrape. I told the Turkey at Barrie that Hammill made the negative. I told the Turkey exactly what I said here to-day. False told Mr. Flaxton. I think I told Mr. Flaxton that there were two negatives. The Turkey at Barrie did not tell me to make a clean breast of it. I told him that I had pleaded guilty and was going to tell the truth. He then said it would be better for me. I didn't understand by that that I was going to get a lighter punishment. I understood that the punishment would be lighter, but not in this world. It has stuck my mind in some ways that I would not be placed so long in penitentiary, if I told the truth but not by telling on Hammill. I colored some bills once on Sunday on one occasion. Mr. Hammill was there the same day, doing the same work. The negative was retouched about two weeks after it was made. Some bills had been printed before it was retouched. Only one or two were printed. Mr. Hammill did the retouching. I don't think I could do as good retouching as was put on the bills. The retouching was not completed before several bills were printed. None of these bills were used. I am not sure which negative I found when I came in on the Monday morning. At about eight o'clock I went into the dark room and found the negatives—there were two negatives. I think Mr. Hammill burnt the other negative. Mr. Hammill told me he was going to burn it. I told Mr. Hammill where I put the negative after the bills were printed.

To Mr. WOOD—I did not know where Mr. Hammill got the little other than what he told me. I do not know what he did with them after he took them from the till. My trunk was left open part of the time and was locked part of the time.

To Mr. POTTER—The paper was common unruled writing paper.

To Mr. WOOD—I got the money to go away with from the till in the gallery. I did not make an entry in the cash book. Mr. Hammill knew I took the money. I showed it to him. I took five dollars.

F. J. JAMISON, sworn, said:—I know the prisoner. He came to me for red ink one evening. I gave him some on a piece of paper. I am foreman in the Examiner office. The ink produced is ordinary red ink such as printers use. It was the ordinary printer's ink I gave him.

To Mr. POTTER—I don't know whether this is the shade of red ink I gave him. The letters on the stamp are smaller than impressions on the bill.

S. DEVLIN, sworn, said:—I am employed in the Times office. I could not swear whether the prisoner asked me for ink or not. A boy came up stairs and told me that a man wanted to see me. This was about a fortnight ago. I gave ten cents worth of blue ink to the man. I would not swear that it was the prisoner who asked me for the ink. He was only in the room a few minutes.

CAMRICK FLELL, sworn, said:—I am employed in the Review office. I know the prisoner by sight. He came into the Review office about ten days or two weeks ago. He asked me for some blue ink. He gave me a small bottle, and asked for blue printer's ink. I went out in the press room for it. They said they had not any open. I told him that I could not give him any and he went away.

Q. B. SPENCE, sworn, said:—I am a photographer residing in Peterborough engaged in the photography business. I have been in the business nearly twenty years. I have had a large experience. I don't know that there is any photographer in Peterborough who has as long an experience in the business as I have. This ink is not used in photography. Glycerine is used in photography. I wouldn't swear whether this ink is photographed or not. I never saw a photographed bill before. It is not a reproduction of the negative, so far as I am able to judge. The bill is similar to the negative live in many respects, but I do not think it was taken from that negative.

Mr. F. J. JAMISON recalled, sworn, said:—Hammill & Ball were customers of mine. It is customary to give small quantities of ink to customers in this way. Printer's ink is used on stamps.

JAMES LITTLE, sworn, said:—I have been in the photograph business. I sold out my business to Hammill & Ball. It was twelve years in the business. I never knew of printer's ink being used in photographing.

To Mr. POTTER—Inks might be used in a photograph gallery for the purpose of stamping or mending frames. I would not consider it a remarkable thing to find these inks in a photograph gallery. I do not know how this color ink was used. It looks like water coloring. I would not swear that this is a photographed bill.

CHARLES MCGILL, sworn, said:—I am the manager of the Ontario Bank here. This bill is a forged one. There is no doubt about it. I can tell it in a dozen different ways. One of the signatures is not written. There is a blurred appearance about it. The vignette is poorly done. It is a poor attempt of counterfeiting. It might do well enough for the country. The paper is the worst part of it.

The Clerk offered to take evidence for the defence but Mr. Fournelle declined to offer more. The Magistrate then committed the prisoner for trial, leaving the acceptance of bail to the discretion of the County Judge.

"What does it mean?"

THE NEW TOWN BUILDINGS.

Good as Far as They Go but Not Enough of Them.

The remodeling of the Town buildings on the corner of Simcoe and Water streets, which began last fall, has been finished. The Council Chamber was used for the first time on Monday night and the Police Court for the first time this morning.

In O. C. bar, of 1885, Mr. T. Rutherford, to whom was awarded the contract for remodeling the buildings, commenced operations. The old flat roof was first taken off and the wall of the main building on the corner was raised about eight feet, and mounted by a galvanized iron roof with a slated mansard. The main building with the building west of it, is used as two offices, while the Police department occupies the new building with has been erected to the south of the main building, in Water street.

The Clerk's office and Tax Collectors' office are both situated on the ground floor. The Clerk's office is the apartment formerly used by the Bank of Toronto. It is a roomy place well lighted, and fitted with suitable office furniture. To the right of the entrance is the Mayor's office, a very little room. It is fitted with a coal grate, walnut desk, chairs and set, and the floor is covered with B. wood carpet. The walls are hung with tablets of green paper, and a pretty gas stand furnishes the evening light. Just south of the Mayor's office and of the Clerk's office is a very good vault, immediately, conveniently arranged. At the rear of the Clerk's office is a narrow winding stair case leading to the Council chamber above. Struggling up this ladder brings the stranger to the Council Chamber, a bright, neatly furnished room, 37x27. The ceiling is about twenty feet from the floor, and from the side of the room, as may be imagined, it gives one quite a "lifted" impression. The woodwork is all oak stained. The woodwork consists of columns rising two on every wall, spined with iron-wooded bands; a paneled wainscot and the Mayor's desk. The latter stands out from the southern wall, overshadowed by a paneled dais of wood, supported with brackets, each ornamented with a pendant. The desk itself is plainly finished, being painted like the rest of the woodwork. Back of the desk is a little carpeted platform on which stands the mayor's chair of state, which has by way of back-ground a dais of decorative fields of crimson silk. Immediately in front of the Mayor's desk are the Councilors' desks and chairs, arranged in semi hexagonal form, in the centre of which is the Clerk's desk. The press representatives tables are stuck away in a corner, not as they should be placed, immediately in front of the Mayor's or Clerk's desk. But on account of a cramped room this cannot be done, and consequently it is very hard to hear what is going on. The second arrangement has not been attended to. The floor has been covered with Linoleum, an old cloth fabric of glove like softness and of a very pretty pattern, imported by Messrs. Hall, Jones & Co., from England. It is very handsome and nice to walk on, but it is not what is wanted for a public hall. It is all res-carpet, and not even can the wainscoting and the plain seat cushions that fill the seats at the end of the hall make up for the deficiencies produced by this covering of the floor. Even the Councilors at long opposite each other have to duck up their heads to hear what each other says. Behind the Councilors' chairs of the representatives of No. 2 and 3 wards, runs an oak railing, dividing the room into two. North from this railing is six or seven tiers of seating seats enough to hold about seventy-five people. A cornice of plain plaster of Paris joins the ceiling and the undecorated walls. The light is obtained in the day time from seven twelve foot windows and at night from twelve luminous mounds assisted by an electric lamp.

The Council Chamber and the Police Court are connected by a doorway. But the Chamber is not reached at by a by entrance. The main entrance leads from Simcoe street. A four foot broad stair-case brings you to a landing, on the left of which is the office of the Chief of Police. This is a comfortable room, warmly carpeted and lighted by a gas-lamp. To the left is a committee room. Then right ahead, up a short flight of stairs covered with matting, and you look in through the glass doors and see the Mayor's maroon chair, the crimson dais and all the rest.

To the left of the main stairway; before coming to the landing, an arch has been burrowed through the wall. This leads directly into the firemen's reception room. On the flat above a suite of bed rooms have been for provincial firemen, who, when the rooms are "filled," will occupy the apartments in turn, so that each night a number of firemen will be ready at hand. Coming down the main entrance again and turning to the right when the stairs are reached, the Collector's office is arrived at. There is ample room here as in the Clerk's office, and both the Clerk and the Collector have every reason to feel satisfied with the accommodation provided for them.

Around the corner in a building newly erected, built of red brick, two stories high with a cottage roof, is the Police department. The first flat is occupied by the station, facing Water street, and the cells. The three cells are suitably arranged. There is ample sleeping room and the doors are heavy double battened ones. There is a men's cell, a women's cell and a straggling cell, the latter being especially provided with beds, bars, etc. The windows are all fitted with iron bars. Up stairs is the police court, a room 27x30. There is nothing specially noticeable about the room excepting the ventilation, which is provided for with a vengeance. A large circular ventilation in the centre of the room sucks the current from six apertures in the walls, which may, of course, be closed when required.

To sum up, the new town offices are all right—convenient, convenient and simple, but the Council Chamber and the Police Court are, as a Councilor remarked on Monday night, "Good, so far as they go, but not enough of them."

Mr. Rutherford has done his work in a very thorough manner, and has made the best of the room, and the architect, Mr. Behr, has used all economy in planning, and considering what he had to work on, has made an admirable job of it. The steam heating apparatus, supplied by Messrs. McAndrew & Noble, has been found to work very satisfactorily, and the close-lid window blinds furnished by Mr. E. Green for several of the offices are ornamental as well as useful.

The cost of the remodeling, together with the furnishing, will be about $5,400.

PROBABILITIES.

The weather probabilities for this day, for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North-east, shifting to north-west winds, cloudy weather, with snow and rain, clearing again to-night.

Grape Vines.

Too much wood is ordinarily left on a grape vine in pruning. For small vineyards and garden grapes the pruning shown in the illustrations is very valuable. The canes are trained to wire or wooden trellises, and every part of the vine that reaches the sun. It will be easy to extend the same system by crosspieces and a frame overhead, thus making a green and grateful arbor of shelter from the sun in hot weather.

To begin such a grape garden, drive a strong stake in the ground where each plant is to be set. Strong growing varieties of grape, like the Concord, should have the plants set nine feet apart. Dip the lower end of the stakes into coal tar to protect them. Set one vine having roots about twelve inches long at each stake. It should have three or four buds. Rub away all these except the strongest ones.

FIG. 1. FIG. 2.

You will then have a single cane to grow. At the end of the first season it will look like FIG. 1. The next spring cut this cane down to three or four buds. If it has grown as much as three feet this time have two buds. At the end of the second season there will be two canes, as in FIG. 2. The beginning of the third season the vine will be ready to train upon the trellis. FIG. 3 shows a vine six years old. Let just two canes grow every year, one upon each side. This is called the arm system of grape pruning.

FIG. 3.

Mr. E. Williams, a well-known grape grower, says the objection to this system of training is that the arms are liable to be broken off after they have stretched out to great length. He suggests that a wire run along the trellis six inches above the bottom one will remedy this. Tie the shoots to it. Pruning should be done in the fall. The method is this: Every year cut away all the arm made that season except the branch nearest the main trunk. Bend this around, tie it to the wire and shorten it back to five or six buds. It in turn becomes the main arm. In FIG. 3 the cross marks upon each upright branch show where to prune. Cut the branches away to this.

Planting may be done either in the fall or spring.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, APRIL 9, 1886.

WHOLESALE SLANDERERS

The Riellites under the leadership of Mr. Blake do not seem to be content with retaining the advocacy of rebellion and murder as the sole plank in their platform. They carry out this policy by statements of supposed facts, coupling them with insinuations of corruption. Thus they represent applications for limits as the same thing as the corrupt granting of the limits, though the grants do not equal 1 in 10 of the applications, and there is not the slightest evidence of corruption in any case.

Mr. J. D. Edgar, the personal representative of Mr. Blake, is now doing the dirty work for which the Riellite leader placed his tool in his pocket constituency. Without bringing any absolutely direct charge, Mr. Edgar insinuates that Mr. Bowell corruptly granted and Mr. Jamieson corruptly obtained special favors for the Colonization Company in which he had bought stock. There is no reason why Mr. Jamieson should not take stock in any legal company; there is no reason why Mr. Bowell and his colleagues should exclude from participation in Mr. Macdonald's project of colonization companies any man or men who conform to the regulations. But the insinuation is made that it must have been a corrupt transaction, though the only shadow of reason given for such a surmise is that Mr. Jamieson is Mr. Bowell's son-in-law. So according to the Riellite ethics no lady who is so unlucky as to be the daughter of a Cabinet Minister can marry unless her husband will consent to be stigmatized as a person unfit to own land in Canada under the Canadian laws applicable to all. Such warfare upon women is a style of opposition just suited to the talismen of Mr. Blake's parliamentary lackey.

There is one point that is especially noticeable in Mr. Edgar's (or Mr. Blake's) jumble of innocent truths, deliberate falsehoods and base insinuations. It is evident that the author of this work of imagination has introduced everything conceivable that could be made apparent to reflect upon Conservative management. We all know how the Riellite organs have ascribed the rebellion of their friends and associates to the eviction of half-breeds by the Prince Albert Colonization Company. That such evictions have not been included in the motion—that even the grant of half-breed lands has not been mentioned in the charge is a clear proof that Mr. Edgar, as scrupulous as he is, did not dare to bring forward in Parliament, where it would at once be answered, the favorite calumny on which the Riellites have traded.

The fact is also left in discreet oblivion that the chief officers of the company were Reformers, and therefore if Mr. Edgar's vile insinuations had any foundation they would be in the unfavorable position of paying an associate to induce him to corrupt the Administration for the personal benefit of these Reformers.

In default of any policy except the advocacy of rebellion the Riellites may adopt wholesale slander but it will not aid them with the people of Canada.

"We extend our congratulations to the chief divo officer of Peterborough. From the local papers we learn that Mr. Worsley has now a new plush covered chair on which to sit when presiding over the destinies of that famous burg. Rising behind the lines of the newspaper comments we were almost led to believe that the Mayor's seat had hitherto been the soft side of a plank."—Belleville Advertiser.

The Ontario case altogether too much between the lines. At the same time we acknowledge that Peterborough does not profess to be an aristocratic as the City of the Bay. It gives its attention more to business than to show. By the way, it is true that the office of the Mayor of Belleville is located in the second story of the big building on the downtown lands of the city, so that he can occasionally get inside of it by means of a yacht and a window in the tower!

The London Advertiser says:—
 "The population of the Northwest Territories is just one quarter the number of people Sir John said would go thither in one season. Was Sir John crazy, or what?"

Sir John is tolerably keen sighted, but he is not a prophet, and he could not tell that the Riellites would have intended immigrants not to go to the Northwest, or that they would subsequently raise a rebellion. For a time the Riellites were partially successful in their policy of keeping the Northwest for the half-breeds and Indians.

An Important Lumber Case.
 In this important case, in which Mr. Donald Guthrie, Q. C., of Guelph, and the other defendants were charged with misrepresenting the business which the company was formed to take over in order to induce subscriptions for stock, the Supreme Court of Canada recently gave a unanimous judgment affirming the judgment of the Court of Appeal and of Mr. Justice Ferguson in favor of the defendants, dismissing the action. Mr. Justice Gwynne wrote the principal opinion, and the concluding sentence of it was as follows:—

"Now, having read with the greatest care every particle of the evidence, and having given the best consideration I could to the arguments of the learned counsel for the appellants, as delivered orally before me, and as expanded at large in his printed lecture, I feel compelled to say that in my opinion the defendants are not only free from any just imputation of the gross fraud with which they are charged in the statement of claim, but they are equally free from any suspicion of dishonesty or fraud or of any other reprehensible conduct in the business of the company, and that they prepared that document with an honest intention of fairly representing according to their knowledge the condition of the business for the taking over of which the company was proposed to be incorporated, and that they bona fide believed to be every statement made in the prospectus, both as to the condition of the business in which they were engaged, and as to the prospects of the proposed company, of which, I think, they have given in addition to their evidence upon all the issues the strongest possible proof by having taken among themselves $10,000, or more than 50 per cent. of the preference stock issued by the company. And I must add that the fact that the plaintiffs in this case voted for the defendants as directors of the company after they had made the investigations in which they acquired all the information upon which they based their action, and caused them to be brought, seems to me to show that the plaintiffs themselves do not believe the defendants to be guilty of the fraud now imputed to them, the charges as to many of which appear in the examinations of the plaintiffs to be one thing and the result of the plaintiffs was required to state to the court that they believed the defendants to be honest and to be free from any fraud or dishonesty."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE NORTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Premier Recovering—Volunteers' Scrip—Cape Breton Coal—Bogus Matter.

WEDNESDAY, April 7.—A number of petitions were presented to exempt beer, wine, &c., from the Scott Act.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD.
 Sir HECTOR LANGEVIN read amidst loud cheers a letter from Sir John Macdonald's doctor giving a very favorable report of the improvement of the Premier's health.

THE FRANCHISE ACT.
 Mr. THOMPSON, in reply to Sir Richard Cartwright, said the Franchise Act would probably be amended, but he could not yet give the particulars.

C. F. E. LANDER.
 Mr. WHITE, in reply to Sir R. Cartwright, said the C. F. E. lands, as soon as they were sold, became subject to taxation and the municipalities should see to this.

VOLUNTEER'S SCRIP.
 Mr. WHITE, in reply to Mr. Ives, said the Rocky Mountain Rangers had obtained land certificates and scrip as volunteers.

CAPE BRETON COAL.
 Mr. POPE, in reply to Mr. McDougall (Cape Breton), promised that the Government would do everything in their power to facilitate the building of a railroad through Cape Breton in view of the great importance of the coal trade.

OLEOMARGERINE.
 Mr. TAYLOR moved in favor of legislation for regulating the manufacture of oleomargarine and other substitutes for butter, as unduly competing with our dairy interest. He applauded the Government imposing customs and extra duties on these bogus butters.

Mr. FORTER thought a private bill was unnecessary in view of the action of the Government. He advocated oleomargarine.

Dr. SPOULES condemned oleomargarine from a medical point of view. It should be not regulated but prohibited.

Mr. CARTER advocated protection for the dairymen.

Mr. HICKEY thought the dairymen could hold their own, but dangerous ingredients should be prohibited.

Mr. McGUIRE and Mr. ALLEN were in favor of the resolution.

Mr. GILMORE opposed it in the interest of free trade and of the working classes in towns.

Mr. MILLA characteristically accused the Government of favoring the manufacturer by an import duty, though he ignored the imposition of an excise duty. He waited the Minister's views.

Mr. CARTER thought the motion might be withdrawn and the matter left in the hands of the Government. The Island Revenue would see that no deleterious ingredients were permitted.

Mr. CARLINO said the Government had carefully considered the matter, and would do what was requisite.

Mr. TAYLOR withdrew his motion and the debate was adjourned.

ANNUNTIATION.
 Sir A. CARON, in reply to Mr. Casey, said the annunciation used in the Northwest was very good according to Gen. Middleton and other officers. Some was made in England and some in Quebec, and they would soon have Canadian annunciation equal to any in the world.

MARITIME COURT OF ONTARIO.
 Mr. ALLEN's bill as to the Maritime Court of Ontario adding to its jurisdiction liens for building, equipping, repairing and for material was considered in committee.

Mr. THOMPSON opposed it as making different laws for different Provinces to erect public improvements. He said it was in favor of one class of creditors, viz., dry dock owners.

Some members supported the bill, but Mr. ALLEN admitted that it was prepared by the Owen Sound Dry Dock Company, and the Committee rose without reporting progress by a vote of 65 to 32.

"MADRE E. HIO."—What does it mean?

MCCURRY & Co. have three million feet of logs boomed on Lake Joseph, Ont.

There are 17,000,000 feet of logs in the North river, Lovering, Ont., which is greater than at any previous season.

The talk is that the Menominee river drivers will this spring be paid $2.50 a day, an advance over last year's wages of 50 cents to $1 a day.

This Michigan vessel men are endeavoring to form a combination for the purpose of delaying the shipping of lumber until they can regard as a remunerative price for freight has been offered.

W. WOODBART, a lad 17 years of age, had one of his hands taken off by a circular saw in Atchewan's wood-working shop in Toronto on April 4th. The wounded boy was taken to the general hospital, where the injured member was amputated.

The annual report of the Board of Trade, of Toronto, states the exports of the forest products from that port for 1885 to have been valued at $256,123. The principal items were 13,898,000 feet of plank, boards and joists, valued at $245,183.

Exports of lumber and coal from Puget Sound ports, B. C., are growing. The lumber exports for February were 10,000,000 feet valued at $200,000; the coal exported aggregated 30,000 tons, valued at $117,000. Steamships carried away oats, wheat and other produce, valued at $30,000.

The institution of Arbor Day was a new departure in Ontario schools last year. It seems to have been as successful as could reasonably be expected the first year. The total number of trees planted was 26,648 in 24 counties. Simcoe leading the list with 3,598. Westwater coming next with 2,700, and Middlesex next with 2,100. All the others planted less than 2,000; the metropolitan county of York having only a petty 1,200 to show.

A DISPATCH from Ottawa says that it is expected that a larger number of men than usual will be employed this season in the Chaudiere lumber mills. The outlook on every side is regarded with satisfaction, and a demand for lumber from several new centers is expected. The cut, it is also believed, will be in the neighborhood of 300,000,000 feet. Prices are somewhat firmer and a further improvement is confidently expected.

Oiling Wood.
 Wagon makers or repairers can save their stock from rotting by oiling with linseed oil. Singletrees, doubletrees, neck-yokes, spokes and cross-bars that are of white hickory and are kept in stock for a year or more will be eaten by worms if not kept in a dark place or otherwise protected. Coal and kerosene oil are good also, and the expense of applying is but little. Linseed oil is preferable, as it acts to some extent as a wood filler, filling the pores and thus adding the painting which follows in the proper place. A boy can take a rag dipped in the oil and go over a large number of pieces in a day's time, or a val one and long enough to admit of several coats at a time, and put where they can drip for one or two minutes. The expense of this is much less than those who have not had the experience might imagine, and far less than the loss of stock by worms. Some manufacturers oil all their white hickory stock before shipping.—Ill.

PRICE TWO CENTS

Written for the Review.

IN MEMORY

OF VIOLET MAUD, ONLY DAUGHTER OF MR. AND MRS. JAS. STURM.

Dear friends, you have been called to part
With one you love most dear;
But God can heal the broken heart
And dry the mother's tear.

Now little Maudie is called away.
You think it hard to bear
To have her taken, when so young,
From your parental care.

But she was spared earth's bitter cup.
For, oh! our God is love;
The little lamb he only took Safe to the fold above.

When Maudie on her death bed lay,
You watched her fleeting breath,
And thought how very hard it was
To give her up in death.

Scarcely three years of her young life
To you earth were given,
But God transplants the brightest flowers
To bloom for aye in heaven.

And often in your lonely hours,
You see her dress and hair,
And gaze upon her once loved toys
And weep for she is not there.

You miss her from your home so dear
When gathered round your hearth;
You listen, still her voice you hear
Amidst your household mirth.

You gaze upon her vacant chair,
Her form you seem to see,
You start to find she is not there,
Yet joy, that she is free.

But she has crossed the River first
And gained the heavenly shore,
O! may you one day meet her there,
Where parting is no more.

LUMBER IN ALASKA.

The Alaska, of Sitka, Alaska, in its issue of February 27th, remarked as follows:

The lumber question, unless Congress gives us at once some legislation which will authorize the purchase of timber lands, or timber, in Alaska, is going to be a very serious one, and produce much trouble in the immediate future.

Let me here mention the fact that a great deal of building work is now being done, but for the fact that there is no lumber at all on hand. There can be no doubt that a large influx of population will commence next month; indeed the tide has already begun to set in. It is certain that works looking to the thorough development, and continued operation of several ledges which have thus far been worked only to the amount of the necessary annual assessment labor, and designed by the ledge owners, will be commenced as soon as the material can be got together. Every year adds something to the known placer area of the territory. All this steady growth of the mining enterprises carries with it a corresponding increase in all kinds of business used for growing country, and there is no article of lumber in the territory which is more felt than lumber. It seems indeed hard that the facilities which might be so easily made available here, to the rapid opening up of the country, should be denied to the people, and that the lumber should remain still a monopoly not only of the people of the government which owns it, but of the loss and detriment which such monopoly carries with it. Honesty is the best policy, and the United States would be enjoying a happy realization of the truth of the proverb in the income from Alaska, if it would but try its application to the development of the territory, by the simple accordance of just and equal laws with those enjoyed by all the people elsewhere.

The Seattle Chronicle, of a late date, had the following:

By a recent order of the interior department saw mills in Alaska are not permitted to cut logs and manufacture the same into lumber, except for the personal use of the proprietors of the saw mills. The order is based on the fact that there are no land laws in that territory, and no person can acquire ownership of real property. The only person who has title to real estate are a few Russians who owned land in Sitka at the time of the transfer of the territory to the United States. Of course the transfer did not deprive them of the title to their land. The effect of the order has been to close the saw mills in Alaska. The largest was located at Wrangell and had a cutting capacity of about 20,000 feet a day; another was near Sitka, with a capacity of 8,000 a day. The five mills had a total capacity of 50,000 feet a day when in full operation. There is at present considerable demand for lumber in Alaska, particularly at Juneau City, where a cargo of 500,000 feet would be snapped up in double quick time at $25 to $30 a thousand. There is a considerable influx of prospectors and miners into the country, which will cause an increased demand for lumber. The shipment of lumber there, at least for a time, would undoubtedly be exceedingly profitable. The sailing vessel on her return trip, could put in at Glacier Bay and load with magnificent ice cut from one of the natural wonders of the earth—a great glacier breaking off by small degrees and falling into the sea. This ice could be cut and sold at handsome rates in the markets of Victoria, Seattle and Portland, where natural, thick, pure ice is an unknown thing.

MORE TROUBLE BREWING

See the Missouri Pacific and Other Gould Roads.

ST. LOUIS, April 12.—More trouble is brewing for the Missouri Pacific and other Gould roads. The discharge of twenty-three Missouri Pacific firemen, who refused to go out with their engines when asked not to do so by the Knights of Labor, is being investigated by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, and it is possible that the action of Superintendent Kerrigan will result in bringing the Missouri Pacific into an antagonism with another powerful organization. The firemen's Brotherhood has about 15,000 members, and there are 1,800 Brotherhood firemen in the Missouri Pacific Railway service.

Miners in St. Clair and Madison counties will be out this week, excepting perhaps the men employed in the machine mines.

Four hundred and fifty operators on the Illinois and St. Louis and Pittsburgh Railroad have struck, and it is expected more will strike about the 15th of the month to assist the Knights in their struggle.

Scranton, Pa., April 12.—The prospects are now more favorable for a speedy termination of the south-western strike. Messrs. Gould and Hoxie have been in constant communication for several days endeavoring to arrange a plan of settlement.

New York, April 12.—The Labor Union yesterday adopted resolutions denouncing Jay Gould for refusing to treat with the representatives of the workmen, and appointing a committee to prepare a plan for erecting a general boycott upon Gould.

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC

The Cadby extradition case is to go before the supreme court.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

The safe in the office of Le Monde in Montreal was opened on Friday night and $25 stolen.

Hamilton has a dog which leaped from a window 40 feet high to the street below, and was not hurt in the least.

A NOVELTY OF GREAT VALUE.—Probably the most prolific source of chronic ill is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Yet taken in time it is positively curable. Burdock Blood Bitters has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. It troubles with indigestion try it.

W. A. Black, of Richwood, N. S., while loading a revolver, accidentally shot his son in the groin. It is feared the wound will prove fatal.

MURRAY & LAMMANS FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lamman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

On the night of April 6th, the speaker of the Newfoundland House of Assembly was attacked by unknown rowdies, and roughly handled.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

H. Chaff, of Big Point, while taking down a shot gun from a rack, accidentally received the contents of a barrel in one of his hands, necessitating amputation.

Owing to a dispute between the lessees of the road and the contractors, the opening of the Northern and Pacific Junction railway may be deferred till the 1st Nov.

A delugation waited upon the Minister of the Interior and asked for a lease of some land near the Rocky Mountains upon which they propose to establish a hog ranch.

William Adair, a young man belonging to St. Mary's, has been committed for trial on a charge of criminal assault on the person of Widow McGuire, 70 years of age.

IN GOOD REPUTE.—James McDermoch, writing from Kinsale, says:—"I R. K. is a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

Mrs. and Misses Habbits of Guy street, Montreal, have fallen heirs to a large fortune through the death of the widow of the late General Sutherland of Craig's court, London.

"BURNS AND SCALDS."—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

The three Chinamen who made a murder assault on Mrs. Bulger at Hope, B. C., have been captured. They are the ring-leaders of a gang, who have been living two years by murder and plunder in isolated districts of the province.

Such a remedy is best found in Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

St. Luke's Concert.
The next entertainment at St. Luke's school room, Abbotsford, will be given on Monday, April 19th, at 8 p.m. Admission, ten cents. Program as usual.

Morrow, Tierney & Co.
Messrs. Morrow, Tierney & Co., the grocers, offer choice lines in wines and liquors from now till May 1st at greatly reduced prices. Their stock of family groceries is large and varied. Ask for prices.

Notes to Parents.
I have 50 pairs of Boys' Lace Boots that will be sold less than any other place. Now is the time to get your boys' boots. All kinds of boots selling here at cut prices. Ask for hand-made boots. JOHNSTON CAREY.

The First Twelve.
In commenting on Friday on the probable formation of this season's first twelve two names were inadvertently left out, those of Tierney and Traynor. The former is one of the old stock and has distinguished himself on many a well fought contest by his Ross Mackenzie throws. The latter did good duty as goal keeper when the championship was won back from the Checkers last fall.

Roller Rink Re-opening.
The Lanes roller rink was re-opened on Tuesday evening. The attendance was fairly large, there being about one hundred and fifty on the floor. The manager has not yet made arrangements for a band of music, but he will do so at once. Roller skating bids fair to again become a popular amusement during the summer.

We are now showing the largest and best assorted stock of spring and summer Dress goods we have ever shown. You can buy a good stuff Dress at the Golden Lion from 75c up. Try our Miss Gilmour for your spring wrap or Dolman. Fit guaranteed. R. FAIR.

A Trot.
A matched trot will, it is probable, be one of the events at the Driving Park Queen's Birthday celebration. Negotiations have been going on for some time between Messrs. J. J. Daly and Martin Connors to match Fannie B. and Clara C., respectively. The matter has not come to a focus as yet.

Williamson and Bird.
Arrangements are in progress for matching M. Bird, the Peterborough runner, against A. Williamson, of Onondaga. Williamson, as most sports are aware, has been off the path ever since he was defeated by Hamley, of Port Hope, in the Driving Park here two years ago. He is said to have taken advantage of his long rest and is now in the best of trim. Williamson's brother, Mr. Am. Elliott, says he is willing to make a match with Bird, or his backers, three quarters of a mile, to be run in the Driving Park on the 24th of May. It is understood that communications have passed between the two parties and that the match will be made.

The Market.
The business done at the market this morning was light. The movement of grain was almost suspended; a few loads only of hay were offered, and the supply of general produce was meagre. Maple syrup was the specialty. This commodity was well represented, selling off at from $1.20 to $1.30 per gallon. Butter has taken a sudden jump in price. Ordinary rolls brought 30 cents per pound and the choice article in prime condition even as high as 35 cents per pound. The price of eggs remain the same, from 11 to 12 cents per dozen. The supply of meat and fowl was light and ordinary prices ruled.

Beautiful Spring Underclothing.
A beautiful line of Spring Underclothing just opened out at ANDREW MCNEIL'S, George street.

Depends on Circumstances.
Whether the improvements in the Horticultural Gardens will be continued during the summer or not, the officers of the society say, will all depend on circumstances. In the first place more funds must be forthcoming, and the people see that is forthcoming further operations will be suspended, and the $75,000 grant from the County Council, will be expended in keeping the lower part in order. I sufficient funds are available the upper part of the grounds will be taken in hand and beautified. The matter of what the season's programme will be will be decided on at the meeting to be held in the Council Chamber on Monday past. This is an important meeting and should be largely attended.

POLICE COURT.

FIGHTING.
WEDNESDAY, April 14.—Wm. Brandon, Michael Larue, James Clegg and R. Pym were charged by P. C. Adams with having committed a breach of the peace by fighting in a public place. Clegg, the only one of the defendants present, pleaded not guilty.

Mr. MORRIS, sworn, said that he was at the Queen's hotel on Monday night. He went to the yard and saw Brandon and Pym fighting. He did not know how the fight arose. Brandon was on the top of Pym's head.

Wm. NATHAN, sworn, said that he was at the Queen's hotel on Monday night. When he got there the first row was over. The first thing he saw was Brandon striking Clegg. There was considerable loud talk. This took place inside of the house, at about 10.30 p.m. Clegg did not seem to be in liquor, and to all appearance was defending himself from Brandon's blows. He saw Billy Simpson hit a man and knock him down because he would not go out.

THE MAGISTRATE.—I suppose that is bar-room etiquette knock a man down if he won't go out. A fine of $5 and costs was imposed in Brandon's case and the other cases were adjourned till to-morrow.

Nicholas Dodd was charged by P. C. Adams with having been drunk and disorderly. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was fined $5 or ten days in gaol.

Passengers and Freight.
There is a large amount of freight now moving over the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, and the passenger business is also picking up considerably.

Personal.
Mr. H. H. Smith, Dominion Land Commissioner, Winnipeg, is in Ottawa. He is the guest of the Hon. Thomas White.

Mr. J. Frith Jeffers, of London, was in town yesterday renewing old friendships.

It Might be Remembered.
—That the Riverside Park is flooded.
—That the Ontario appears to be new at its maximum height.

—That Inspector Wilson has put a relay of men at scraping George street.
—That Magistrate Dumbie seems to have revised the drunk fine schedule.

—That perhaps that was to make up for the Mayor's leniency yesterday.
—That sports are waking from their dormant state.

—That challenges will soon be in vogue.
—That the spring poetry season has also set in.

—That one local paper seems to be badly struck, or stuck, on the music of the Bell.
—That those favored with invitations to Mr. Parker's piano recitals only wish that they would come oftener.

—That last night's recital will probably be the last of the season.
—That "Maggie's" many friends have been paying their "tribute of a sigh" this last day or two.

—That Mr. Elliott is being besieged with offers of condolences on the loss.
—That some have suggested the idea of writing a history of the life of the old canine pet.

—That the deceased has had his day.
—That Mr. Parker is now engaged in preparation for the presentation of the Cantata, "The Widow of Nain," which will be given early in June.

—That the lambeth lamp did good service on the corner of George and Hunter streets last night.
—That last night was one of the nights when Luna should have come out; but she didn't, and the streets were in darkness, except at the corner of Hunter and George.

Piano Recital.
Mr. J. S. Parker's neat and comfortable instruction rooms, Lynch's block, was filled with invited guests on Tuesday evening, the occasion of his second private piano recital. The evening was most delightfully spent by those assembled, and Mr. Parker is to be complimented on the success of the recital. Neatly printed programmes were distributed at the door, thus giving the assembly a forecast of what was in store. At a few minutes past eight the recital commenced. It was opened with a piano duet by Miss R. per and Mr. Parker. "Allegro from 1st Symphony," Beethoven, which, though a selection requiring rapid and, at the same time, careful manipulation, was given with ease and grace. The many points of nicety were brought out, and the effects were managed with good taste. Mr. C. H. Geale filled No. 2 in the programme very acceptably by singing "Last Night," a charming low baritone solo. Mr. Geale's improvement in both voice and style is quite apparent. No. 3 was a piano solo by Miss A. Hall, "The Flying Fish," Gounod. It was rendered impressively. The piece served well to bring out Miss Hall's capabilities as a pianist, requiring as it does both rapid and exceeding delicacy of touch. No. 4 contrasted strongly with No. 3, awakening the assembly from the meditative mood into which it seemed to have fallen. The bright, sparkling gallop, "Kasseler," McErg, was rendered by Miss Mackerras and Mr. Parker with much pliancy and brilliant dash. A solo by Mr. Parker followed, from Mendelssohn's "Songs Without Words."

The two last numbers of the list part were filled by piano duets by Miss Hall and Mr. Parker, "Pearls of the Ocean," Mors and Miss Davidson and Mr. Parker, "Joyous Home." Both duets were pleasingly given. "La Chasse Infernale," a piano duet, opened the second part. It was given by Mrs. Grey and Mr. Parker in characteristic good style. Miss Dugan sang "Three Tokens," Parker, a pretty song with a charming air. Miss Stevens sang "The Geronimo," Adams clearly and sweetly. "March" Thompson, another piano duet was given by Mrs. Grey and Mr. Parker. Miss Carey and Miss Davidson are both little girls who are making good progress in the art-circus. The recital closed with "God Save the Queen."

New York Stocks.
Over Cox & Co's Wires.
New York, April 14.—The feeling at uptown resorts last evening was decidedly milder as to the probable course of today's market. The more prominent room traders were generally bearish and were taking lower prices for a time. It was thought that the short interest had been materially increased, but no special activity was looked for. Conservatives thought that in the absence of any unfavorable news the market would be a narrow one, for the present, as bull leaders show little disposition to advance prices. Parties identified with the Gould-Conover line express the opinion that the movement on Monday was to test the market and that the ease with which prices were advanced is an evidence that bears are not inclined to sell at the current price. It was reported that the Gould-Conover party had sold out their long stocks and had changed their position, but this was not generally believed. Mr. Cusumack and Carver were together during the afternoon. The former was quoted as saying that he was doing very little, but he did not talk as bearish as usual. The activity on the Union Pacific was attributed to a number of matched orders said to have come from the exchange place people. The bulls claim that the market is in a healthier condition now for an advance than for some days past, that yesterday's decline shook out weak holders, and that the stocks are in stronger hands. They say that there is a large short interest in the market for Chicago and Boston parties, upon which prices can be advanced. Buying yesterday was said to be very good and large purchases by Moore & Schley were regarded as significant.

The Independents.
"Bruce," the Boston correspondent of the Montreal Star, in speaking of the prospects of the Independent Lacrosse club this season refers to two old members of the P. L. C., C. LeBrun and J. Joyal. Of the former he says: "LeBrun of Peterborough, Ont., has seen service with the Peterborough in 1885, with the Boston one year, and now plays his third season with the Independents."

"Joyal," of Peterborough, played with the Peterboroughs in 1885. This is his first season here but he comes to us with the record of being the best defence man in Upper Canada. "Joyal," who will play cover point with the Independents, he says, weighs 175 and is 21 years of age, and LeBrun, an assistant home, 165 pound in weight and 21 years of age.

Johnston Carey is now offering a line of bright kid button boots at $1.50 per pair, 34-in. Soles our own make $2.25, soles others $2.50. 60 pair boys 3 and 4 fine lace boots at less than cost. Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for all disorders, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Beware of cheap imitations. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind.

THURSDAY, APRIL 15, 1886.

THE LATE MR. T. D. BELCHER, C.E.

By the untimely death after a prolonged illness of the late Mr. Thomas Deaves Belcher, C.E., a great public loss has been sustained. He was born at Cork, Ireland, in 1847, being the fourth son of the late Samuel Belcher, architect, of that city. He graduated at Queen's University, in Cork. Subsequently he studied under the late Peter Ellis, C.E., Liverpool, and after practicing his profession as a civil engineer, more especially the hydraulic branch, in Ireland and England, he came to this country in 1872, and took up his residence in Peterborough. In 1873 he was appointed Chief Engineer and Superintendent of the Newcastle District and Trent waters, and he performed the onerous duties of this position with indefatigable zeal and great skill. No man did more than Mr. Belcher to revive the old project of opening up the Trent Valley navigation from the Georgian Bay to the Bay of Quinte, and no man did more to promote and further its progress after it had been thus revived. This is saying much, for many others have worked hard and usefully in the same cause, but it is only doing Mr. Belcher justice to place him at their head. From the time when the frustration of the endeavor to yield these works to the Provincial Administration for destruction awoke renewed interest in the plan, Mr. Belcher worked incessantly at it, sparing neither his time, his talents, nor his purse. There can be little doubt indeed that his continuous exertions, so unremitting that for many years his vacations amounted to less than a month in all, shortened his life by bringing on the illness that has proved fatal. But in spite of all remonstrances from friends, who saw that he was suffering from prolonged overwork, he refused to leave his post. That the Trent Valley Canal is now a public work in progress, and with the pledge of continuous construction all completed, is greatly due to this self-sacrifice on his part. Mr. Belcher was twice married, first to Miss Aletha B. Macdonald, second daughter of the late Lieut.-Gen. John Macdonald, and sister of Mrs. J. K. Belcher and Mrs. J. E. Hammond. She died in 1876, but only child not surviving her. His second marriage was to Miss M. Kennin, youngest daughter of Mr. Kennin, of New York. He leaves a widow but no children surviving him. Mr. T. D. Belcher was an attached member of the Church of England and Ireland. He belonged to the Masonic fraternity, being a member of Cortland Lodge, Peterborough. In politics he was a Conservative, but he never let party feelings interfere with his public duties. His death occurred at his residence, Beverley street, Toronto, on Monday, April 12, and was not unexpected, little hope of his recovery having been held out by his medical advisers for some time past. His widow and other relatives have the sincere sympathy of the community, which has indeed also sustained a heavy loss. He remains were conveyed from Toronto to Peterborough to the residence of his brother, Mr. J. E. Belcher, and were taken thence for interment in the Little Lake Cemetery. The pall-bearers were Messrs. C. H. Sheffield, H. O. Rogers, R. B. Rogers, Hon. R. Hamilton, R. A. Morrow, and T. A. Hay. He was followed to the grave by a number of his relatives and by many others desirous of paying this last token of respect to his memory.

Simcoe and Ingersoll, where he remained ten years. He purchased the Belwood property in Ashburnham, where he resided for the last ten years. Mr. Mills was an active Magistrate; he sat in the Municipal Councils of the Town of Peterborough and the Village of Ashburnham, taking a prominent part in municipal and other public questions. He was a member of the Church of England. In politics he was Conservative, of very liberal views. Mr. Mills was ill for some months, and never rallied after the death of his daughter in February. He leaves a widow and four daughters, and the family has unusual claims on sympathy, being thus left without a head. The funeral will take place on Sunday afternoon at 3.30 from the family residence, the place of interment being the Little Lake Cemetery.

Steam Boat Arrival.
The steamer Pearl arrived this morning at the Locks having come up the river from Faucher's Point. This is the first arrival of the season. Capt. Faucher says there is a strong current and very high water but the Pearl made good headway against it. She will make occasional trips for the remainder of the month.

Fire at Faucher's Point.
On Wednesday morning about two o'clock fire was discovered in the barn belonging to the Hotel at Faucher's Point. Nothing could be done to check the flames, but they were prevented from spreading to the other buildings. A portion of the contents was removed, but a buggy, sleigh, cutter and some other property were consumed. The loss is covered by insurance.

Who Pays the Costs?
A report has gained circulation to the effect that the town would be called on to pay the costs in the Whiteman bigamy case. Mr. Wood, the County Crown Attorney, states that the town will not be called on to pay one cent. The preliminary costs will be paid by the informant, the constables will be paid by the Crown, and if Whiteman is committed for trial the Crown will bear all expenses of the assize trial. The reason the case was tried in Peterborough is because the crime was committed in Peterborough. Whiteman married the alleged second wife here about five years ago.

"MADE E. HUGO."—What does it mean

It might be remarked —That the place of business will be reinforced this season with nine new stores at least.

—That the Riverside Park would be a first rate course for a boat race just now.

—That the Driving Park Association have booked their Queen's Birthday celebration programme.

—That the Amateur Athletic Association will probably make their announcement in a few days.

—That Fleischmann & Co. are having lots of visitors.

—That scores of fair ones are deep in the mysteries of the fine cookery.

Dangerous Practice.
At nine o'clock this morning quite a sensation was caused in the Royal Oak Hotel, Hunter street. Mrs. Pope, a boarder at the hotel, was engaged in combing one of her children's hair. She sat near a window facing southward. Suddenly a crash was heard and the next moment a bullet struck her on the breast. Fortunately, however, the force of the missile was well spent, and, failing to pierce the lady's clothing, it dropped harmless to the floor. Mrs. Pope, as may be imagined, was very much frightened at her narrow escape. The proprietor of the hotel, Mr. Wilson, instituted search to find out where the bullet proceeded from, but while looking around the yard in the rear another of the square lead bullets struck against a shed. There was no report given off. It is likely that some one was indulging in air gun practice. If the proprietor of the hotel finds out who the guilty person is who amused himself in such a dangerous practice he will institute proceedings.

Death of an Historic Character.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, April 14.—Samuel Calahan, a pioneer in this section and one of Cleveland's wealthiest citizens, died to-day at the age of 78. He came to this city in the early part of 1813, when there were but fifty people in this place, and had lived here ever since that time. He was connected with the Herald in its early days. Mr. Calahan was born at East George, Canada. His father was a British officer and warm friend of General Proctor. The deceased remembered Tecumseh well, as the old chieflain carried him about the fort on his shoulders. He was at the battle of the Thames when Tecumseh fell.

Fitch-in Near Ottawa.

OTTAWA, April 14.—A pitch-in occurred on the line of the Canada Atlantic Railway this morning by which the engine of a freight train was derailed and a passenger car and two freight cars of the mixed train were badly damaged. The accident happened on account of the engine of the first train breaking down, and the freight train was so close that the driver of the second train ran into the obstruction almost as soon as he "leapt it." The line was blocked for six hours. There was no one injured.

Small-Pox Epidemic.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 14.—There is a serious outbreak of small-pox at Canis, White county. The disease was introduced by a tramp. Three deaths have occurred. One new case was reported yesterday, and it is feared that there are others in the surrounding country.

THE BOODLE ALDERMEN.

Arrest of ten of the Men-Charged With Accepting Bribes.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Aldermen John O'Neil, Harry L. Sayles and McCabe and Thomas Cleary, Michael Duffy, Louis Wendel, Ludolph Fullgraf, Arthur J. McQuade, Thomas Salois and Patrick Farley, members of the Board of Aldermen of 1884, were arrested this morning on the charge of accepting bribes for their votes on the Broadway railroad franchise question. Thomas Cleary is a member of the present Board of Aldermen. Fifteen of the twenty-two boodle aldermen are now in the clutches of the law, three under indictment, two are probably State witnesses and ten awaiting their trial. Of the remaining eight, DeLoey and Dempsey have left the jurisdiction of the Court. Of the alleged bribe givers only one, Mr. Richmond, has fallen into the Inspector's trap, but it is expected that others will soon be called to join him. Keenan and Billy Maloney, who are also wanted, are, however, gone.

IRELAND.

Of the 56,205 persons who emigrated from Ireland in 1885, 49,535 went to the United States, while Australia received 3,887, Canada 2,170, and New Zealand 429.

At Avellan, near Farmoy, two balliffs were attacked in the house of a tenant by a large number of men, and compelled to eat all the writs in their possession.

A QUESTION likely soon to come to the fore in the practicability of tunnelling between England and Ireland. At one point the distance is under twenty-two miles.

LORD ABERDEEN insists on daily service at the chapel of the Castle in Dublin, which has caused much comment. There has been much furnishing up of prayer books and presiding of ceremonial among the Castle officials since the order was made public.

The first boat of the Monarch line of steamers will call at Galway on the 8th of May next, on its way to New York. It will be followed by another on the 22nd of June, and then it is contemplated to have a regular fortnightly service between Galway and New York.

LORD KENMARE, one of the largest landowners in Kerry, and whose splendid seat looks out upon the lakes of Killarney, had his income so reduced that he now gets absolutely no rents at all, and is obliged to live entirely upon his salary as Lord Chamberlain. One result of this is that, instead of inhabiting, as he was wont to do, a handsome house in Belgrave square, he has taken a small house in Tite street, Chelsea.

An extraordinary scene was witnessed in Dublin lately. Rosini, an acrobat from Ginnett's circus, undertook to walk faster upon a mile than a Katharine tramcar going to its ordinary course along Stephen's Green. He proceeded upon still a twenty feet high, got ahead of the car, and kept his place till opposite the College of Surgeons, when, one of the mules coming in contact with an obstacle in the crowded roadway, he fell and was somewhat hurt. The race was for a wager of £20.

A TEST and case of cannibalism, fatal in its results, occurred at Ballyhaunis, resulting in the death of a young man named Finnegan, a National school teacher, residing at Aghacore. He was transacting business in the town during the day, and on his way home at night it appears that he diverted himself of his clothing, and roamed about for a considerable time, meeting some persons, who fled from him in terror. On a search being made by his friends, his body was found a few mornings later in a field adjoining the town, and about half a mile from where his clothes were found.

THE POOR RELIGIOUS

The Religious are discomfited and their leading organ in Toronto wails with anguish because the truth has been told about them. Of course it was all right for the Globe and its friends to denounce the Canadian authorities, executive, judicial, parliamentary and military, as murderers because they brought to justice a rebel and murderous rebel, but it seems according to the coalition with the Globe scaffold as its platform that the rebels and their advocates should not receive even a discouraging word from the loyal men of Canada. Dreadful are the lamentations of the Globe at its friends and allies being righteously denounced for vilifying the supporters of justice, for making a martyr hero of a rebel and murderer, and for endeavoring to crawl into power over the corpse of a criminal. Loyal men may be abused according to the Kidnapper, but not a whisper must be heard against rebels and their sympathizers. But the Globe surpasses even itself when it defends Mr. Laurier, whom it praises as one "than whom a more loyal and chivalrous gentleman does not live." Who would recognize in this description the self-confessed rebel, the would be slayer of our brave and loyal troops, the perjurer false to his oath to his Queen and country? Who it should recognize in it the rebellious, murderous, perjured Laurier, that foul blot on the Canadian Privy Council, that disgrace to the Parliament of the Dominion? And we are told too by the Globe that Mr. Edward Blake is traduced through of stainless greatness, profound intellect and serene soul. How could any one remain stainless who plotted with the rebels, who was hand and glove with Laurier, who also shouldered to shoulder with him, the two voting in common in favour of murder and rebellion in the hope that such baseness may lead them to place.

The Religious may howl, their Toronto organ may wail, but as long as they defend crime and denounce justice and loyalty they may expect to hear the truth in plain words, and to hear it too from members of their own party, whom they have driven from their contaminated ranks.

Nothing could be more clearly established than the guilt, unless it might be the fear, of the Dominion Government when it voted down the motion made by Mr. M. C. Cameron declaring that Mr. Blake can prove that such documents are in the hands of the government as would show that they are guilty of mismanaging Northwest affairs, and asking that a select committee be appointed to enquire into the allegations, with power to send for papers, persons, and records, and to examine witnesses on oath. If they are not guilty, why refuse investigation?—London Advertiser.

Of course, it must be perfectly clear to the Advertiser that if the Government were not guilty they would vote for the motion of the West Huron Religious declaring that they were guilty; their people possessed of clearer vision, and common sense, will still believe that, being not guilty, they did right to vote against a motion which declared they were guilty.

In its efforts to bolster up Mr. Blake's tool, Mr. J. D. Edgar, in his attacks upon Mr. Cameron, White, Bowell and Jamieson, the chief Religious organ shows little regard for the truth. It cannot even be consistent in its misrepresentations, its reporter and the writer of its Ottawa notes flatly contradicting each other as to an important statement by Mr. White to the Committee.

STRIKES RETURN TO WORK

Resumption of Operations Expected in a few Days—Other Labor Troubles.

St. Louis, April 13.—The whole force of strikers of the St. Louis Transfer Company, consistent of protection by the militia from the militia, have returned to their old places. Most of the roads now have full crews of switch and engines, and it is expected the resumption of operations in a few days of the roads will be complete.

St. Louis, April 13.—Grand Master Sergeant of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen, continued his investigation into the grievances of his discharged men on the Gould system, and last night found himself prepared to say that the grievances would all be relieved and there was no probability of a strike of firemen.

Milwaukee, April 13.—The Bakers' Union has demanded a reduction of the hours of labor and an increase in wages, which the masters say will increase the cost of baking 40 per cent.

ALBANY, N. Y., April 13.—The strike of journeyman carpenters concluded this morning, the strikers getting their demands.

DOWN IN OLD KENTUCKY

Three Sensational Murders Committed within a Week.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 13.—Information reached here to-day of three sensational murders in Bell county during the past week. Eliza Saylor married a sister of Mr. Shell. The couple quarrelled and the woman deserted him. The husband went to search for his wife, accompanied by young Shell, his brother, and found her in a Pierrille hiding in a smoke house. Saylor forced her to go with him, and as they started away, Shell shot Saylor three times, mortally wounding him. Saylor was one of the men who murdered William Harkins and his daughter about a year ago. In the second murder Harry Furrow killed a man named Lewis. The third one occurred on Clear Creek. A number of countrymen gathered at a house, and after engaged in a drunken frolic got into a general fight. When the words of the battle cleared away, both Goodie was found dead, and Wm. Daugherty, who it is thought killed Goodie, was dashed on the floor with one eye shot out and his nose shot off.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

An Intercolonial Railway Branch—The Terrence System—Second Readings—A Marine Railway—Steamship.

THE SCOTT ACT.
 TUESDAY, April 13.—Mr. Jamieson presented petitions from temperance and religious bodies in reference to liquor legislation.

A NOVA SCOTIA RAILWAY.
 Mr. POPE moved the third reading of the bill respecting the extension of the Intercolonial Railway from Stellarton to Pictou.

Mr. VAIL thought there were other places where railway facilities were more necessary, and moved in amendment that the construction of this branch be deferred until the other places were supplied.

Mr. TUPPER urged the importance of the proposed branch. It would make the Intercolonial service more efficient and dispense with a dangerous ferry.

A point of order raised by Sir Richard Cartwright having been settled, Mr. WOODWORTH said that other roads deserved attention, but he could not support the amendment.

The amendment was lost by a vote of 51 to 107, and the bill was read the third time.

THE NORTHWEST.
 Mr. THOMPSON's bill to give, in relation to the titles of land, faculty of power, and to simplify dealings in land in the Northwest, was read the second time.

INTERPRETATION ACT.
 The bill to further amend the Interpretation Act was on motion of Mr. POPE, read the second time.

FINES AND FORFEITURES.
 The bill respecting the applications of fines and forfeitures was read the second time.

SUMMARY PROCEEDINGS.
 Mr. THOMPSON's bill to remove technical irregularities from the summary proceedings before justices and other magistrates was read the second time.

CAPE RACE LIGHTHOUSE.
 The resolution on the subject of the transfer of the Cape Race lighthouse to Canada was considered in committee, and reported. A bill on the subject was introduced.

MARINE RAILWAY.
 Mr. POPE moved the House into committee to consider the resolution extending for five years the term during which a subsidy may be granted to the Chicago Marine Transport Company.

Mr. MITCHELL ridiculed the scheme, but said he would vote for the motion.

Mr. HACKETT believed it would confer a vast benefit on all parts of Canada, and would enable vessels for Toronto, Ottawa and Montreal to reach Boston without going out to sea.

Mr. WOOD and Mr. THOMPSON supported the scheme.

Mr. MITCHELL made some further remarks.

Mr. GILLMAN considered the expenditure foolish.

Mr. WOODWORTH questioned the advisability of the scheme.

Mr. MITCHELL rose again, but was called to order. The resolution passed through committee.

INLAND REVENUE.
 Mr. COTTEGAN's resolutions providing for amending to the Inland Revenue Act were on motion in committee.

On the clause requiring manufacturers of oleomargarine to be licensed.

Mr. DESJARDIS denounced oleomargarine as a rotten and dangerous compound, and thought a commission should be issued to enquire into the subject.

Mr. JACKSON said that Parliament should not tax oleomargarine. He found it good and supplied it to his employees.

Mr. TATTON supported the resolutions in the interest of farmers.

Mr. INVINA doubted whether United States oleomargarine was worse than some Ontario butter.

After further discussion the resolution was reported and a bill introduced.

The House adjourned at 12.30 a.m.

"MURDER E. HUGO."—What does it mean?

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.

FIRE.—A fire occurred on Saturday which might have been a very serious matter for the village. Soon after noon the roof of the house occupied by Mr. Dinwoodie was discovered in flames, plenty of assistance was at once on hand, and after a hard struggle the fire was put out, but not before the roof was burned through in several places. Mr. Dinwoodie's furniture was damaged by the heavy removal of water, one carpet being burnt. It is said the fire originated from a spark from Mr. Chapman's factory and it is some satisfaction to see that Mr. Chapman has heightened his smoke stack and put on an arrester. Had the fire had its origin more of a start the chances are that the principal part of the village would have been swept away, and it is to be hoped that the loss escape will lead to some steps being taken towards establishing fire protection. Mr. Dinwoodie wishes to return sincere thanks for the assistance given by neighbors, and for the kind hospitality they extended to him and his family.

RAID.—A meeting was held in the Council room last Friday evening for the purpose of making arrangements towards establishing a brass band in the village. A committee was selected to take the necessary steps, and to solicit contributions. It is gratifying to learn that a hundred dollars has already been subscribed.

NEW MILL.—The following few particulars of the new Flour Mill here may be of interest to the farming community in the vicinity. The mill consists of a basement and three floors. In the basement are two water wheels giving 80 horse power. One wheel drives the main shaft and the other the chopping stones. On the first floor are 12 sets of E. P. Allen & Co.'s style "B" noiseless roller mills, 1 power pecker, 2 hand peckers and 1 set Gurney & Wain's bushel scales. On the second floor three of T. G. Smith & Co.'s No. 1 middling purifiers, one No. 1 branch machine, one No. 1 wheat plasher, as butting reels and six "scalpers." On the third floor are "separators," two of T. G. Smith & Co.'s centrifugal reels No. 3. There are twenty-one stands of elevators and the capacity of the mill is seventy-five barrels a day. Mr. McLennan may congratulate himself on the fact that he has one of the best appointed mills in this section of the country and it is to be hoped that he will meet with the support and success he deserves.

PERSONAL.—Mr. and Mrs. Hilliard and Miss Barker have arrived home from England.

HIGH WATER.—The river is nearly as high as it was at its height last spring, and from all accounts it will be much higher yet.

Wanted.

It would be a great convenience to the public generally if the directors of the Little Lake Cemetery would have a telephone placed at the caretaker's office. It is a source of inconvenience to people to walk such a distance, especially in spring and fall when the streets are almost impassable.

Orangemen.

The west Peterboro' Orangemen met in a solemn convocation in the George street hall on Wednesday afternoon. The session lasted from one o'clock till five. The only matter of public importance decided upon was that the Orangemen of this district agreed to celebrate the 12th of July in the City of Belleville. It is probable that a monster demonstration will be held in Peterborough next year.

Wedding Bells.

On Tuesday the marriage of Mr. John W. Minors, book-keeper at Hall's wholesale biscuit and confectionery works, to Miss Gertrude E. Brentnall, only daughter of Mr. H. E. Brentnall, of Oakley, Mich., was celebrated. The marriage ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's uncle, the Rev. K. C. Chapman, Beamsville, Ontario, the Rev. Mr. Chapman officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Minors arrived home on Wednesday evening. When arriving at their residence they were greeted by friends with the usual felicitations. Among the presents was one, a very handsome one, from the employees of the works. It consisted of a beautiful, large gilt framed mirror.

Begot.

Mr. Thomas Beavis, the well known Local License Inspector, etc., is a regular attendant at the Police Court sitting at. He stations himself on the stairs leading to the Council Chamber at five minutes past ten o'clock every morning and blinks out over the noble army of loafers that wad up the stairs at that hour. Mr. Beavis is a method of a philosopher. After contemplating the vacant look on the assembled crowd this morning he came down from his perch and whispered to the reporters that he thought it would be a good idea to form the loafers into a street sweeping corps. If they were capably trained on the back streets he felt sure they would render Inspector Wilson good service. Mr. Beavis is right.

Driving Park.

At a meeting of the Directors of the Driving Park Association held this morning it was unanimously decided to offer prizes to be competed for in trotting, running and hurdle races. It was decided to offer the following purses:—
TROTTING RACE (open to the four counties)—
Mile heat, best 3 out of 5—purses $100.00; 1st, $60.00; 2nd, $25.00; 3rd, $15.00.
HURDLE RACE—Mile heat, best 2 out of 3—purses $50.00; 1st, $30.00; 2nd, $15.00; 3rd, $5.00.

HURDLE RACE—Half mile heat, best 3 out of 5—purses $55.00; 1st, $15.00; 2nd, $10.00.
In addition to these events a matched race will be contested between trotters owned by Messrs. John Ellis, of Fessenden Falls, and W. Deabar, of Kilmount. The match was made at the Fessenden Falls ice meet. It being decided to trot it in the Peterborough Driving Park on May 24th. It is also probable that there will be some matched foot races contested. For particulars look out for posters which will be issued in a few days.

Styles for 1886.

Ladies call on Prof. Dorenwend of Toronto at Phelan's Hotel on Wednesday or Thursday, April 21 and 22, and procure a nice head dress of the latest style. For two days only.

The P. E. C.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Boat Club will be held in the boat house on Friday evening at eight o'clock. A big turnout wanted. All who are interested in boating are invited to attend.

Information Wanted.

We want to call particular attention to the advertisement for information as to Sarah Jane Elliott who left Dummer about 10 years ago. It would be a kindness for our contemporaries and others to circulate this notice as her father Mr. John Elliott, of Hall's Glen is blind and of slender means.

GENTLEMEN who have lost their hair, and who are in need of a Wig or Toupee, will find it to their advantage to call on Prof. Dorenwend and see his fine styles of Hair Goods. He makes a specialty of gentle goods, and he manufactures the light, most durable and most natural looking articles in Canada. He is a thorough master of his profession, and can please every one. He will be at Phelan's Hotel for two days only, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21 and 22. Circumstances will not permit him to stay any longer, don't miss this opportunity of procuring a Wig or Toupee.

At the request of the Mayor.
Prof. Dorenwend, the well known and enterprising Hair Goods Artist, of the Paris Hair Works, Toronto, has made arrangements to be in Peterborough at Phelan's Hotel for two days, Wednesday and Thursday, April 21 and 22, in order to give those who could not see him on his last visit, a chance to procure what they require in this line. The Prof. is so well known in Peterborough, that it is unnecessary to say much concerning him and his goods, save that, he is honest and upright in his dealings, and tries to satisfy every one who patronizes him, and that his goods are the best in America, and are all that he represents them to be.

Mr. Bogue has the contract.

The Belleville Intelligencer of Wednesday says:—
"The Building Committee of St. Michael's Church met yesterday afternoon. Bishop Cleary and architect Connolly aided them in their consideration of the various tenders offered. The contracts were let as follows:—
Carpenter work, Ald. Haddy, $6,000.
Masonry, Mr. Jas. Bogue, Peterborough, $22,800. This includes wheel windows and a new tracery. Falsburg, Mr. A. Wensley, $225. The contracts for plastering and glazing have not been awarded. Mr. Dolan tendered for plastering. Mr. Lang for glazing. The Committee decided to allow the old church to stand until the new building is erected. The building site chosen is just south of the old church. The aggregate amount of the tenders is $30,770."

The figures given in Mr. Bogue's contract do not include the full height of the spire and some other extras. The new church will no doubt be a handsome one, and in Mr. Bogue's hands the work will be well done.

Personal.

At the election of benchers in Toronto Tuesday Mr. Adam Hudspeth, Q. C., Lindsay, stood seventh on the list of the chosen candidates. There were thirty benchers elected.

Mr. H. A. Hammond, of this town, has been elected a committee man of the Ontario Cricket Association.

Mr. Harry Emerson, formerly of the Examiner staff, is in town renewing his many old acquaintances here. Since leaving the paper Mr. Emerson has entered into an important contract—a life contract. She is with him and will accompany him to Ottawa after spending a few days here. The Review extends congratulations.

Mr. Fred. Cameron of Peterborough, who is studying for the profession of Civil Engineer, has passed his preliminary examination in Toronto.

The London Advertiser contains the following:—
"In the absence of Dr. Nerrinder, who has been in town visiting in Detroit for a week past, Miss Hurley, the assistant organist, presided at the organ, and conducted the musical services at St. Peter's Cathedral on Sunday both morning and evening. Father Kennedy celebrated mass at 10.30 a.m., Bishop Walsh delivering the sermon. The musical portion of the services was as usual, first-class, and displayed to good advantage Miss Hurley's musical abilities."

Building.

The prospects of a prosperous building season in Peterborough this year are very bright. During last year and the year before church architecture formed a prominent part in the season's operations. This year church building will, in a large measure, be discontinued this season. The restoration of St. Peter's Cathedral will be continued. St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, will be somewhat altered and improved, and there is talk of putting on the spire on the George Street Methodist Church. These, however, will form all that will be done in church building during the season. There will, however, be some important contracts carried out. The building of the new post office will be commenced in a short time, and possibly the new Inland Revenue office will be built this year. Mr. Geo. A. Cox intends to build a block of buildings on the corner of George and Charlotte streets. The plans show five stories on the first flat facing George street, with second and third flats in connection with them. There will be no office, the upper flats being left for storage purposes. Mr. Cox also intends to build next to the new post office. He will erect another three story block of buildings there, similar in design to that to be built on the corner of George and Charlotte streets. This block will consist of four stories. A large amount of building is a small way is going on in every quarter of the town. Several of the contractors say that already they have enough to keep them building during the whole season.

Chamberlain's Parquet Dining Room, Suppers, Luncheons, etc., will be served in a suite at all hours.

POLICE COURT

FIGHTING.

THURSDAY, April 14.—The breach of the peace case adjourned from yesterday was heard. Clegg was the only witness who appeared. He said that all he did was to defend himself against Brandon's blows. He did not see Pym or Larone fighting. Clegg, Pim and Larone were discharged.

Look out.

Look out for the sale of useful and fancy articles in St. Andrew's Church school room on the 3rd of May. Particulars later.

The Dilemma Change her Mind.

Mrs. Culdough writes to the Review directing attention to a paragraph which appeared in its columns, headed "Changed her Mind," in reference to a larceny case. As she says, the costs were paid by the defendant, not by the complainant.

Johnston Carey is now offering a line of bright kid button boots at $1.50 per pair, Men's Shoes our own make $2.25, sewed shoes $2.50, 60 pair boys 3 and 4 size lace boots at less than cost. A call will convince you that he can sell cheaper than any other shoemaker in town for he manufactures his own goods.

The Dove Cot Empty.

Another nest of "doves" have taken sudden flight from town. They lived in a house on Smithtown hill for the last couple of months, but when they found that the police were on their track they vacated the premises and shipped out for Toronto. They left, bag and baggage, yesterday afternoon.

The Simcoe Street Bridge.

The portion of the Simcoe street bridge which was carried off by the spring freshet has been replaced, and the sidewalk is again thrown across. The main plate has been put in position, and the cross beams will probably rest on it till the next freshet comes, when another $100 or more will be asked for its repair.

MELDRUM, DAVIDSON & CO.

THEIR LARGE, NEW, WELL EQUIPPED FLOUR MILL IN OPERATION.

An Important Addition to Peterborough's Flouring Mills—Another Big Industry on the Mohawk River.

Messrs. Meldrum, Davidson and Co.'s, new patent process flour mill, situated on the Dickson race, or Mill street, commenced regular work yesterday.

The mill is situated just north of Brodie's, Warden mill, on the site of the old Clegg mill, and is one of the most complete, and if not the most complete, flouring mill in Midland District. Everything about the place is convenient as well as thorough. It is 90x40, a frame building, and is four stories high. It is fitted throughout by Grey's patent gradual reduction process. To attempt a detailed description of process in full would occupy too much space; but a fair idea of the intricacies of the machinery may be obtained from a general description, taken together with the fact that the grain, from the time it is put into the receiving hopper till it comes out of the pecker, travels

ABOUT THREE MILES.

The cleaning process, however, may be more fully described. When this cleaning process is compared with that in vogue a few years ago its thoroughness is even more remarkable. Then the wheat was sent to a smuttermen, and then dumped into the hopper; now the wheat passes through five different cleaning machines, and before it enters the first break rolls it is thoroughly divested of any mixture of spurious matter, and each wheat berry is polished till the skin fairly shines. First of all, the farmer stands on his wagon or sleigh in front of the mill and empties his wheat from the bags down a chute. A weigh hopper receives it and the grain is weighed. After this it is sent aloft in elevator to the sifter, which takes out most of the coarse rubbish. It comes down into the magnet hopper. This is the second cleaning process.

THE SET OF MAGNETS

Extract any pieces of iron or steel that may be in the grain. The grain then passes down to the first set. By means of a Standard Wheat Separator, fitted with a series of graded sieves, the oats, or other coarse grains are extracted. The refuse taken out of the wheat, here, is remarkably free from the wheat itself. Scarcely a grain of wheat can be seen. It is given over to a Korth Cooke Machine, which takes out all coarse and broken bits of grain. This machine consists mainly of an indented cylinder, nine feet long and two feet in diameter. The cylinder revolves slowly on an incline. The minute indentations catch the coarse while the wheat berries pass on and out at the end. Revolving, the cylinder lifts the coarse until it falls into a conveyor. The wheat meantime has passed on and is going through a Eureka Smelter. The barrel of this machine is about four feet in diameter, inside of which the dust is beaten from the wheat by iron blades revolving on arms extending from a vertical shaft. At the same time by means of strong suction power the

and the wheat is almost free from dust when it passes into the Monarch Brushing, Polishing and Finishing machine. This machine is similar to the smuttermen, the principal difference being that the arms are fitted with brushes instead of blades. When the wheat comes out of this it is entirely free from all kinds of dirt. The wheat is then lifted by elevators to the second set, where fourteen sets of rolls are ranged along in one row. The wheat, after passing through the first break roll, is slowly cracked. It is sent to a bolt where all of the four made is taken out and then the residue comes back to go through the second roll, and so on till it passes through six rolls. By that time the middlings, bran, and farina are separated, the latter passing on for further reduction and the former two passing to the middlings purifier and bran duster respectively, and then to the bran and middlings receptacles.

The farina passes then through the first, second and third germ rolls being sent each at each reduction to the bolts where the flattened germ is bolted out and the former returns pure to the first, second, third and fourth middlings rolls, and finally a scrub roll, the last of the fourteen. During this latter process the residue, instead of being sent to bolts, goes through a series of aspirators and middlings purifiers.

The flour now passes along through elevators to the bins and is taken from them by the packers. There are three packers, two for shipping work and one for custom work. The three bins hold each 100 barrels of flour, and the bran and shorts receptacles each hold two car loads.

The motive power is had from water wheels set in a flume to the south side of the mill. A shaft leads in, forming a junction with a horizontal shaft which drives the cleaning apparatus. In the centre of this shaft a core wheel attached to the main vertical shaft takes the power to drive the whole upper machinery. During its progress upward this shaft is tasked with belts and cog wheels but when on the third and fourth belts it is joined by a perfect

MADE OF REVOLVED COG WHEELS, those driving the bolts. These form a figure much like a slender tree, there being no fewer than 120 wheels attached to the shaft on these two flats. Further over on the fourth flat another chest of bolts are driven by twenty-two additional wheels. There are in all 12 ordinary bolts, three centrifugal reels, four purifiers, and one aspirator—these constitute the separating machinery.

An important piece of machinery is on the fourth flat, that of three dust collectors. These curiously constructed and very useful machines suck up all dust arising from the purifiers, and conduct it into a place of safe keeping.

THE GRANARY.

The storage department is very conveniently constructed. It consists in all of twenty-two bins, each holding one thousand bushels. The bins are each a perfect square; eleven are situated on the fourth flat and eleven on the third flat, directly below. The granary is divided off from the other part of the mill, so that no dust accumulates. By means of a dial situated on the receiving flat the spouts above may be turned so as to discharge into any bin desired, without the bother of having to walk up to the top.

NOTES.

The chopping department will still be retained. Messrs. H. T. Clay and son put in and superintended the setting up of all the machinery, and it is satisfactory to know that the mill started off without a single hitch.

Messrs. Meldrum, Davidson & Co. have introduced a machine to test wheat. By means of it the exact weight per bushel can be told in a moment.

A handsome office is to be fitted up in the mill shortly.

The rollers are to be encased in a long glass case.

The capacity of the mill is 150 barrels of flour per day.

A SHORT LINE FROM MONTREAL.

Tenders Asked For—From Toronto to Montreal in Ten Hours.

MONTREAL, April 15.—Tenders are advertised for to-day for the short line on the Ontario and Quebec from Smith's Falls to Montreal, and the town is full of contractors anxious for the work, which extends about 120 miles. It will be built this summer and before Christmas. The journey from Toronto to Montreal will be done in less than ten hours. The contract will be let on May 15th.

THE WILLIAMSON-BIRD RACE.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—Your issue of the 14th contained a paragraph in reference to a proposed three quarter mile race between A. Williamson, of Oshawa, and myself. It seems to me that Mr. Williamson's backer is very anxious to get on that race with me, knowing, as he does, that that is not my distance. I will, however, accommodate Mr. Williamson through his backer with a from one to ten mile race at from $25 to $50 a side, terms of agreement to be made hereafter.

Yours, etc.,

M. BIRD.

She Could not Afford to do it.

"Didn't you see Flora Flammery, Bile? That was she that just went by with St. Bernard."

"Of course I saw her."

"Why, what's the matter? I thought you were friends yet."

"So we are, my dear child, but I cannot afford to speak on the street to a girl who wears a blue gown with a brown dog. It would be too absurd, don't you think so yourself?"

Suing a Government.

ST. JOHN, N.B., April 15.—Sir William Whitway has instituted law proceedings against the Newfoundland Government for $20,000 alleged to be due him as compensation for services rendered at the Halifax Fishery Commission. Sir William has already been paid $8,000, and he was knighted a short time after the award was announced.

EARL GRANVILLE'S VIEWS.

LONDON, April 15.—Earl Granville delivered an address before the National Liberal Club last evening. He said that a year ago he favored a large measure of local government for Ireland but public opinion on the question was then unripe. His opinion had been more influenced by Earl Spencer than by Mr. Gladstone. The former considered it imperative either to grant the fullest home rule or to adopt coercive measures.

CHURCHILL AGAIN.

LONDON, April 15.—Lord Randolph Churchill, speaking at the Beaconsfield Club last evening, said that Mr. Gladstone's scheme meant the absolute repeal of the union. The Irish problem was insoluble. He urged the application to Ireland of the principles of common sense, common sense, patience and perseverance, which had made England great and prosperous.

STILL PREPARING FOR WAR.

ATHENS, April 15.—Premier Delassanis stated in the chamber that the Government was continuing the policy of preparing for war.

THE CABINET DIVIDED.

LONDON, April 15.—It is stated that the Cabinet is divided on the question of allowing Irish representation in the House of Commons, and that Mr. Morley and Sir William Vernon Harcourt favor the exclusion of the Irish members.

AGAINST HOME RULE.

GLASGOW, April 15.—A full meeting of the opponents of Mr. Gladstone's policy was held in the City Hall last evening. Frequent interruptions were caused by disorderly persons. Dr. Haughey, of Belfast, the leader of the Presbyterians of that city, made a speech in which he said that he wanted Mr. Gladstone's measure rejected with contempt and scorn. It was the most unworkable, grotesque and mischievous proposal that had ever emanated from the brain of a statesman, sane or insane. Dr. Vernon White, of London, said that if Ireland got Home Rule there would be civil war, which might also result from the rejection of Mr. Gladstone's measure. If the worst came the Irish Loyals, like their forefathers, would not be afraid to fight and die for Christ, the Crown and Covenant. Resolutions were adopted in favor of upholding the union and opposing Mr. Gladstone's bill.

THE HALF-BREED CLAIMS

It is now being claimed that the Mackenzie Government endeavored to settle the matter of the claims of Northwest half-breed to land scrip, and it is argued that a commissioner was appointed for that purpose, which was so successful that the Minister (of the Interior, we presume) wrote to His Grace Archbishop Tache expressing pleasure at the progress being made. The commission, it is stated, was issued in May, 1875, and if an earnest effort was made much could have been done before September, 1878. But the Mackenzie Government was not in earnest in the matter, and they did not allow the commissioners such liberty of action as would result in settling the question with the half-breeds. In March, 1877, Mr. Matthew Ryan, one of the commissioners, wrote asking whether it was the intention of the Department that he should put himself in communication with half-breed claimants by visiting the localities in which they resided, or that he should act in their behalf as they might casually come before him in the course of his discharge of his ministerial duties. "If the latter is the intention," Mr. Ryan wrote, "I fear that that no early practical good can be effected;" and he added, "my apprehension is, that to trust to the coincidence of our thus meeting would be to defer the investigation indefinitely, and ultimately to cause many of the half-breeds and others in the territory the loss of the benefits intended for them by law." The Hon. David Mills settled this point by saying, "It is not necessary to look up parties who have claims; if they care for their interests, they will themselves come forward and establish their claims." So that by Mr. Mills' decision the settlement of the matter was postponed indefinitely. In view of the course pursued by the Reform Government, and of the fact that a large majority of those claiming scrip had no right to it, many of them having before received all that were entitled to, the present Government cannot be charged by the Reform Opposition with seriously neglecting their duty in the matter.

NOT VOTING MACHINES

The ever mendacious correspondent of the Globe at Ottawa announces that Messrs. Hilliard and Parham have gone over to the Opposition, because they voted with the minority in favour of Mr. Cameron's bill to amend the law of evidence. We do not expect our members to be mere voting machines, but to exercise their judgment on questions submitted to the House. Neither do we expect them to understand that Conservative members are honest men, and as such, like the majority of Reform members, vote that black is white, and rebellion laudable, if it can aid their party to obtain office.

The Port Hope Guide makes a petty attempt to convert the Review of inconsistency, but the Guide will have considerable difficulty in finding in any newspaper a more glaring case of inconsistency than the following extracts show. Before Riel was executed the Port Hope Guide said:—

"It has come to a pretty pass indeed when a red-handed rebel can thus snap his fingers at the law."
 After the execution had taken place the same paper said:—

"It has come to a pretty pass indeed that in the noontide glare of the nineteenth century political offenders must suffer death if they dare to assert their just rights."
 It has come to a pretty pass indeed when the Port Hope Guide poses as a champion of consistency.

Mr. Edgar is not making headway with his fishing expedition. His witnesses have proved that Mr. John White and Mr. Jamieson did not obtain exceptional privileges, but no more than another business man could have obtained; that they could not even obtain an extension of time for payments; and that they did not sell any political influence. Mr. Edgar makes the mistake of judging other men by himself.

It is said that Mr. Blake's prospects of gaining office have been shipped over the Canadian Pacific Railway and sunk in the sea of mountains in British Columbia.

No Commutation.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Mr. Frye's resolution was yesterday brought to a vote and agreed to—yeas 33, nays 10. The resolution declares it to be the sense of the Senate that Congress should not provide for any joint commission to consider and settle the fisheries question.

The Oregon Breaks in Two.
 NEW YORK, April 14.—A diver reports that the steamer Oregon is broken in two from bottom on the side on which she was struck. The side is bulged in. The boat appears as if it might have been made by the crown of the anchor.

The Ontario Government proposes to expend $30,000 in erecting barns, stables, farm offices, carpenter's shop, blacksmith's shop, implement shed and experimental dairy, during the present season to replace the buildings burned at the Model Farm at Oranville last year.

AMONG the appropriations made for the improvement of streams, for the driving of timber, during the recent session of the Ontario Government, was one for $2,750 to meet one-half the cost of reconstructing dam across Burnt river at Kilmorie.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Indians—Spurning Honors from the Queen—Two to Make a Treaty—The Law of Evidence.

WEDNESDAY, April 14.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

DRUGGISTS.
 Mr. Hickey introduced a bill from the Senate as to druggists.

INDIAN PATENTS.
 Sir H. LANGRISH introduced a bill to facilitate the issue of patents for Indian lands, assimilating them to other patents.

FISHERIES IN MANITOBA.
 Mr. FOSTER, in reply to Mr. Royal, described the steps taken to protect the fisheries in Manitoba.

COLONIAL EXHIBITION.
 Mr. WHITE, in reply to Mr. Holton, said four of the Geological Survey staff had been sent to England in connection with the Colonial and Indian Exhibition.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.
 Mr. CHAPMAN, in reply to Mr. McIntyre, said a communication had been received from the Imperial authorities as to the Prince Edward Island terms of union.

INDIAN FISHERMEN.
 Sir H. LANGRISH, in reply to Mr. O'Brien, and others said there was no intention to encroach upon the rights of the Indian fishermen in Lake Huron. Enquiry should be made as to the complaints and their full rights would be given them.

THE RIELITES.
 Mr. MILLS obtained an order for papers as to a Regina trial.

HONORS FROM THE QUEEN.
 Mr. EDGAR moved for a return as to titles, honors and decorations given by the Queen in connection with the Fenian Raid, the Waplesy Red River Expedition and the recent Northwest rebellion. As a republican he sneered at such royal honors and inquired our loyal volunteers by claiming that they participated in his sentiments.

Sir A. CARON thought Mr. Edgar need not be afraid of being pained by having to refuse such honors. Unfortunately the Queen has not consulted Mr. Edgar, but no doubt she would do so after reading his speech. One who made heroes of rebels naturally objected to rewards for the suppression of the rebellion. The honors given were well deserved and were highly valued. He could not tell what further honors Her Majesty might bestow.

Mr. CAULY would have liked to have seen further recognition of the services of those who defended the country at Pigeon Hill. The honor for the suppression of the recent rebellion had been gallantly earned.

Sir R. CARSWRIGHT rebuked Mr. Edgar for sneering at decorations bestowed by our Sovereign, and said they were properly valued. He thought additional rewards of this nature might well be granted for the suppression of the Northwest rebellion. He believed this feeling was general, and it might be communicated to Her Majesty.

TREATIES WITH SPAIN.

Mr. VAIL moved for papers as to the treaty between Spain and the United States, which, he said, placed Canadians at a disadvantage.

Mr. McLELLAN said endeavors had been made to obtain an equally favorable treaty, but there must be two parties to a treaty, and Spain had as yet not consented.

C. P. R. BONDS.

Sir H. LANGRISH, in reply to Mr. Gault, said they had no official report that the subscription list for $20,000,000 of C. P. R. Bonds had been closed a day earlier than announced because the amount had been subscribed three times over.

SELECTION.

Mr. CHARLTON's bill for the punishment of seduction was read a third time.

ICE MOLES.

Mr. ROBERTSON's bill as to unguarded ice holes was read a second time.

CARRIERS BY LAND.

Mr. McCABRY's bill as to carriers by land was withdrawn, on the understanding that the subject would be referred to in the intended commission.

THE LAW OF EVIDENCE.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) moved the second reading of his bill to enable a prisoner, or the wife or husband of a prisoner, to testify for the defence.

Mr. THOMPSON (Antigonish) agreed with the principle of the bill, but thought it would be well to await the legislation now proposed in the Imperial Parliament.

Mr. CAMERON objected to this delay. The bill was negatived by 80 to 57, a number of Conservatives voting with the minority.

KEENE.

MEMORIAL SERVICE.—A memorial service in honor of the late Jno. B. Gough was held in the Methodist Church here on Sunday afternoon last under the patronage of the W. C. T. U. Several addresses were delivered, and the singing by the choir was very fine.

FRANCHISE ACT.—Both parties have been working hard to get on all names possible. Our Reform friends have not been very successful either as to numbers or correctness of filling in the forms.

THE RECENT SHOOTING ACCIDENT.—Mrs. L. is doing nicely.

SCOTT ACT.—A meeting was held lately to carry out the above act. We anticipate a considerable amusement for some parties after the last proof.

NEW RESIDENT.—Mr. Jno. Soles has purchased a house and lot on the south side of Main street from Mr. W. Kenwick and has moved in this week.

REMOVAL.—We are sorry to announce that Mr. Theo. Walker, of Wilfrid, intends to leave for Oregon, where Mr. Wm. West, his father-in-law, now resides. Mr. Walker advises all his goods for sale on Thursday, April 22nd, at 1 p. m.

LANG.—Our northern suburb has been rather unkindly of late. The Rev. Mr. Sedgwick has at last decided to submit to it no longer. No alcoholic liquor is allowed to be sold in Lang.

A Loyalist Meeting.
 LONDON, April 14.—The Loyal Patriotic Union meeting was attended by an immense audience. Eul. Cowper presided. Lord Hartington moved that Mr. Gladstone's proposals would prove disastrous to both countries. Lord Salisbury moved that a petition embodying the sentiments of the meeting be presented to Parliament. Mr. Gochon seconded both motions and they were unanimously carried.

Two Very Galas.
 LONDON, April 14.—In the by-election at Ipswich Lord Dalrymple and Lord Elcho, both Conservatives, were elected for the seats formerly held by Messrs. H. W. West and James Collings, Liberals.

NILE VOYAGEURS' MEDALS.

The Sovereign's Recognition of the Services of the Canadians.

The Queen has been graciously pleased to grant a medal to those Canadian voyageurs who took part in the Nile expedition, and there is, in addition, a clasp for the action of Kirbekar. The Peterborough contingent can obtain their medals by making application to Col. H. C. Rogers at the Peterborough post office. We understand that Mr. Sidney Blade was entitled to the additional honor for Kirbekar, but, if so, his clasp does not appear to have arrived. The gratification felt at this well-deserved mark of royal appreciation of the services of some of our fellow-townsmen will be sadly clouded by the thought that two of their number did not survive to receive this honour, but succumbed to the perils and hardships of the expedition. Their relations will have the melancholy satisfaction of receiving the medals they earned with their lives.

The medal is a very handsome one of solid silver, larger than a dollar piece. On the obverse is an excellent profile portrait of Her Majesty, crowned and draped, which is surrounded with the inscription, "Victoria Regina et Imperatrix." The reverse bears a sphinx with the word "Egypt" above it. Around it is the name of the recipient, his rank, number, and the contingent to which he belonged. On a clasp is the inscription, "The Nile, 1884-85." The ribbon is of royal blue and white in vertical stripes.

The following is the official communication to Col. H. C. Rogers:—

OTTAWA, 15th April, 1886.

Sir,—With the sanction of the Honorable the Postmaster-General, I have transmitted to you by express (insured) a packet of medals which have been sent by the Secretary of State for War, London, to his Excellency the Governor-General, for distribution to the men of the late Canadian voyageur expedition to Egypt.

I also forward a list of the names of men enrolled in your district who, being entitled to receive a medal, have been notified by public advertisement to make personal application at your office for the same.

In making the distribution the main point to be established will be the identity of the applicants, and therefore any who are not personally known to yourself must produce some person, whose evidence you may consider worthy of credit, to certify to their identity before you part with the medals they claim.

I shall be obliged by your returning to me the enclosed list as soon as the issue is completed, or (as it is possible that some of the men may and will for some time be absent in the woods) by your sending me a memorandum of the progress made with the issue on 1st June.

With regard to the medal granted to the deceased voyageur, No. 350, J. Faulkner, and to the deceased list as soon as the issue is completed, or (as it is possible that some of the men may and will for some time be absent in the woods) by your sending me a memorandum of the progress made with the issue on 1st June.

I have the honor to be, Sir, Your obedient servant,

H. C. ROGERS, Esq., Military Secretary, Postmaster, Peterborough.

The following list was enclosed:—

348 A. Anderson 356 A. Bradshaw

349 T. Hanson 357 J. Sherlock

350 J. Faulkner 358 P. Pringle

351 M. Matheson 359 J. Welch

352 J. Mowry 360 J. Gormap

353 W. Lowry 361 S. Blade

354 A. Ross 362 J. White

355 W. Harris

These medals are ready for delivery on personal application to Col. H. C. Rogers.

GENTLEMEN who have lost their hair, and who are in need of a Wig or Toupee, will find it to their advantage to call on Prof. Lorenwood and see his fine styles of Hair Goods. POLICE COURT.

LARCENY.

SATURDAY, April 17.—The larceny case, adjourned from yesterday, was heard, His Worship the Magistrate presiding.

The first witness called was the informant, Geo. Waters. Sworn, he said:—I was at Roddy's hotel on the night of the 15th of April. I was at the hotel during the afternoon. I treated several times at the bar. I had three five dollar bills and $2 in silver. I put the money in my pants pocket. I went to bed that night. Roddy showed me to my room. I was not drunk. I took off my clothes and went to bed. In the morning Roddy came to my room and told me to get up. I said that I was in no hurry to get up. He said "get up and look at your pants, a friend has been in your room." I got up and said "who the deuce was it? I have no friend here." I got up and felt my pants pocket and found that my money was taken. There was only three bags, a check and a five cent piece left. Roddy then said "come down, we must find out who it is for he has gone through you" adding that he knew who it was. I dressed and went downstairs. Roddy and I went and found the prisoner on the street corner. I told him that if he would give the rest of the money back I would not prosecute. He denied that he knew anything of my money. I never saw the prisoner before till I saw him on the corner.

The prisoner, Thos. Myres, who, it may be said, did the cross-questioning in very creditable style, stood up, spread out his hands on the desk and looked at the witness. In answer to the questions put the witness said that he had never seen the prisoner before; that the prisoner did not pull off his boots that night; that he was not drunk; that he didn't ask the prisoner to take him home to Roddy's when they were both at the hotel; that Roddy did not order them both out at 12 o'clock that night.

R. N. Roddy testified that he showed Waters to bed that night. He followed the prisoner upstairs and found him in Waters' room. When he ordered Myres out of the room he refused to go, saying that he was just seeing a friend to bed, and when asked the name of the friend replied, "Oh that'll be all right in the morning." He then ordered the prisoner out.

Cross-examined by the prisoner, he said:—I was not drunk. I did not go into Waters' room that night after I put you out. I did not break the glass in the window. Waters says that he broke it himself.

Several more witnesses were called, most of whom gave corroborative evidence. J. Farley swore that the prisoner and Waters were walking up and down the sidewalk that evening talking to each other. At the close of the trial the prisoner stated that as he was going down the hall that night Waters came out from his room and said, "Where am I going to sleep?" He replied that he (Waters) had just come out of that room. Waters then said, "Say nothing about it. Don't expose me." He showed Waters back to his room, and took off his boots, coat and vest, and Waters got into bed. Just as he was going out he met Roddy.

Here Waters jumped off his seat, walked briskly over to the Magistrate and, as he shook his index finger, said, "Every word of that is false. I never saw the man."

The Magistrate replied that it seemed from the circumstances of the case that it was as likely as not he would not have much recollection of the prisoner. He dismissed the case, stating that no evidence had been given against the prisoner.

Their Arbor Day.
The church members attending St. Peter's Cathedral will hold their arbor day next Wednesday, when the people from town and county will join in beautifying the Separate School grounds. Trees will be planted and the grounds will be levelled and ornamented. When these pretty grounds are ornamented in the proposed manner they will doubtless look exceedingly handsome. It is probable that a series of open air socials will be held in the grounds during the summer.

The Sawdust Question.
The following is the decision of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries on this subject. It is to be hoped that it will result, if frankly accepted and faithfully carried out by both parties in producing a feeling of harmony between the representatives of the different interests affected by it. A meeting of the Anti-Sawdust Association will be held at the Mechanics Institute on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock to consider the proposal of the Minister:—

"The fact has, in opinion, been established that the rivers in question are filling up and navigation is being impeded. The Anti-Sawdust Association, respecting the complaint, presented their views with much moderation, while the mill owners have expressed their willingness to do all in their power to remedy the evil complained of. It certainly would be a serious matter to stop the milling industry.

"After a careful review of all the circumstances, I would suggest that the owners of saw-mills on the Otonabee River, express in writing to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries their willingness to keep all mill-refuse from falling into the river, from their respective mills, and also, all dust except that which may unavoidably fall into the Pitman Hole, so called, when the saw or saws are working; and that this Department send an Officer, from time to time, as may be deemed necessary, to see the proposed arrangement is faithfully carried out.

"I would further suggest that the Anti-Sawdust Association do address the Minister, accepting on its part, the arrangement referred to, and that the Association and its members shall agree to abstain from any attempt to enforce the requirements of the Fisheries or other Acts, bearing upon this question, so long as the arrangement referred to is carried out by the mill-owners in good faith."

It is a fact that can be verified everywhere that West's Cough Syrup is the only compound known to science, that can relieve the acute and chronic stages of Cough, Asthma, Bronchitis, and all Throat and Lung difficulties. Sold by J. D. Tully, Druggist. Price 25 cents, and 50 cents, and $1.00 per bottle.

LIBERALS DISHEARTENED.

LONDON, April 16.—The absence of modifications of the Home Rule Bill disheartens the Liberals, and a movement is on foot to obtain Mr. Gladstone's assent to the introduction of a motion asking the House of Commons, before the second reading of the bill, to accept a resolution simply affirming the necessity of establishing a legislative assembly in Dublin.

A LIBERAL MEETING.

LONDON, April 16.—Lord Spencer, Mr. John Morley and Mr. Joseph Cowan will address a meeting of the supporters of Mr. Gladstone's Irish policy at Newcastle on Wednesday next.

QUARANTINE.

ALEXANDRIA, April 16.—A quarantine of 7 days has been ordered against all arrivals from Brindisi, France and Vienna.

THE CZAR AND THE NIHILISTS.

LONDON, April 16.—It is said the Czar has given up the idea of visiting Odessa on account of the threats of Nihilists.

A FURTHER PARTITION OF FRANCE.

LONDON, April 16.—Prince Bismarck is credited with saying that the disruption of the British Empire may necessitate a further partition of France, and interest will be centred in the powers in the adoption of measures to suppress the social democracy.

CHOLERA IN EUROPE.

PARIS, April 16.—The development of cholera at Brindisi causes alarm in France, particularly along the Italian frontier. Precautions of the most stringent kind are being instituted to prevent the scourge from invading France.

SANITARY.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—Allow me again to call attention to the following clauses in the Public Health Act:—

"All wells in this municipality which are in use shall be cleaned out before the 1st day of July in each year, and in case the Board of Health certifies that any well should be filled up, such well should be forthwith filled up by the owner of the premises."

"Privy vaults, cess-pools or reservoirs shall be cleaned out once a year on or before the 15th day of May, and from the 15th day of May to the first day of November in each year they shall be thoroughly disinfected by adding to the contents of the vault, cesspool or reservoir, once a month, not less than two pounds of sulphate of copper, dissolved in two pails of water, or other suitable disinfectant."

"All putrid and decaying animal or vegetable matter must be removed from all cellars, buildings, outbuildings and yards on or before the 15th day of May in each year."

"Every household and every hotel and restaurant keeper or other person shall dispose of all garbage of which he is responsible either by burning the same or by placing it in a properly covered receptacle, and shall house off the contents of which shall between the 15th day of May and the 1st day of November, be regularly removed as often as twice a week."

"Between the 15th day of May and the 1st day of November, no brigs shall be kept within the limits of this municipality except in pens 70 feet from any house, with floors kept free from standing water and regularly cleaned and disinfected."

As warm weather has come on early this year, no time should be lost in putting everything in good sanitary condition. It should be remembered that although the 15th of May is the limit, nuisance at any time of the year are prohibited. It seems necessary to mention this, as a good many complaints are coming in.

Yours, &c., J. CLARKE.

HANDSOME IT WAS

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—The Examiner of last evening contains a descriptive notice of Messrs. Morrow, Tieney & Co.'s delivery wagon, which it correctly says is "one of the handsomest in town," but it mistakenly says that it was built by Messrs. Fitzgerald & Sons. The wagon was built by Messrs. Rusk & Elliott, 1886, and was the business chassis of Messrs. Morrow, Tieney & Co., it was delivered to them on the 15th of April, and it was built by Rusk & Elliott, 1886,

A committee was appointed to consider the matter and final decision was postponed for a week. The churches of Peterborough have found the Association to be a valuable auxiliary, and so doubt the Lindsay churches would have the same experience if one was organized there.

It will be 50x70 feet, three stories high, and will have a mansard roof. A stone foundation will appear above the ground on which will rest the brick structure.

A Social Gathering.

The new members of the George Street Methodist Church were entertained on Friday evening, in the Sunday School room, to a social tea. The room was filled with the new members and the officers of the church and teachers of the Sunday school. A very pleasant time was spent for a couple of hours in social intercourse. The choir sang two anthems, and Mrs. Daly sang a solo and a second one in response to an encore. The Rev. G. H. Davis gave a short address on the progress of the church. The meeting was concluded at about ten o'clock by the pastor, the Rev. I. Tovell, pronouncing the benediction.

Boating Club.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Boat Club was held in the boat house on Friday evening, the President, Mr. R. E. Wood, in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed. The Secretary read the Secretary's and Treasurer's reports showing that the receipts of the club were $131.60 during last year, and that the disbursements during the year amounted to $98.60, thus leaving a balance in hand of $33.00. The officers were elected as follows:—

Messrs. McNeil and Keady were elected representatives to the High Court which will be held in Chatham on the second Tuesday in June. The Recording Secretary's books now show a membership list comprising 150 names, a list larger than any other court in Canada, and the number of members is being increased at each meeting. Financially, also, the court is in a very prosperous condition.

Chamberlain's Parlor Dining Rooms. Suppers, Lamb chops, etc., will be served at a cost at all hours.

Fat Cattle.

There was an exhibit of cattle on the market square this morning which strangely suggested the close proximity of Easter. Three butchers exhibited droves, Messrs. R. Wainwright, John J. Howden and Harry Winch. Each drove was enclosed by a crowded ring of spectators, and a butcher's boy held up an ensign to show who each squad belonged to. Mr. Harry Winch's cattle were very much admired, they being a neat lot, snugly built, and rolling fat. There were eighteen in all. Among Mr. Wainwright's drove were especially noticeable a fine grey ox, fed by Mr. C. D. Moore, of Smith. It is coming 4 years old, and tipped the beam at 1,780 pounds. There was also a pair of five year old steers in Mr. Wainwright's drove that weighed together 3,210 pounds, one weighing 1,700 and the other 1,510. They were fed by Mr. J. Fitzgerald, of Smith.

GLADSTONE TO REST.

LONDON, April 17.—Mr. Gladstone has arranged to leave London to-morrow and go to Harwarden, where he expects to remain two weeks.

A BAIT FOR CHAMBERLAIN.

LONDON, April 17.—Mr. Herbert Gladstone, speaking at St. Pancras last night, said the House would see a way to support the Government, which was certain to do everything possible to meet his views.

IRISH HOME RULE.

The subject discussed in the Quebec Legislature—A Motion Carried.

In the Quebec Provincial Legislature on Friday the following motion was moved by Mr. McCarthey, of Quebec, and seconded by Mr. McShane, of Montreal:—"Whereas the right of self-government is sacred to the Canadian people, and whereas they believe the who from actual experience that constitutional government brings strength, peace, union and prestige to the nation. Be it resolved that this House, always accessible to everything tending to the greater welfare, progress and happiness of our glorious nation, desires to record its warm appreciation and great pleasure of the intention of the Imperial Parliament to pass legislation to give a local government to Ireland. That the House, regarding with great satisfaction and sympathy the noble efforts of the Right Hon. Mr. Gladstone to peacefully solve the problem of Home Rule in Ireland, without disintegrating the Empire. Resolved that the Speaker of this House be directed to communicate a copy of its resolution to the Right Hon. W. E. Gladstone, Prime Minister of England." Mr. Asselin moved the following amendment, recorded by Dr. Metel: "That while waiting for the Irish and the speed in their efforts to obtain their just rights from the English Government, and trusting that they will soon obtain the sacred right of self-government, yet we believe that this Legislature has no right to interfere in the matter." The amendment was lost, after a long debate, by a vote of 9 to 37, and the motion carried. The members sang "God Save the Queen" as the Legislature adjourned.

A Silly Man.

Under the above heading, the Montreal Star publishes the following from its Toronto correspondent:—Toronto, April 17.—The News publishes what purports to be a farewell address by Sir John Macdonald, announcing his retirement from political life. The address occupies five columns, and is alleged to have been telegraphed from Ottawa last night by "Pica," a gossip writer on the News. Unfortunately for "Pica," he admits, in another part of the paper, that he was in Toronto yesterday, and called on an interview with a prominent Knight of Labor. How the correspondent happened to be in two places, so far distant, at the same time, he does not seem to care, which is one feature that stamps the address as a bogus one. Another stupid blunder made in connecting the occasional story is to make Sir John open the amendment was lost, after a long debate, by a vote of 9 to 37, and the motion carried. The members sang "God Save the Queen" as the Legislature adjourned.

Newcomer Waterlogged.

New York, April 19.—The French steamer Dupuy Delorme, from New Orleans for Havre, is anchored here with seven feet of water in her hold. Her cargo is much damaged. The water is gaining rapidly. The steamer is valued at $250,000.

Greece's Warlike Attitude.

CHICAGO, April 17.—What is excited on a decline of comings, and a despatch saying that Greece has assumed a very warlike attitude.

MADRE E' HUGO CHAMBERLAIN.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. C. Davis & Sons, Montreal & Toronto.

THE DICKSON COMPANY BY-LAW.

The Full Text of the Judgment of Justice O'Connor Quashing It.

The Ontario law reports, part 4, vol. x. (1885), give the full text of the judgment of Mr. Justice O'Connor, rendered in December 20th, 1885, quashing an exemption by-law passed by the town of Peterborough, generally known as the Dickson Company by-law. On account of the interest taken in the matter, and its importance, the judgment will still be of interest, and we give it in full, as follows:—

"O'Connor, J.—I think the by-law must be quashed. I shall advert only to the two principal objections raised by the order nisi.

"The Municipal Institutions Act of 1883, as amended by the Act, 47 Vic. ch. 32, sec. 8, (O.) gives 'every municipal' council by a two-thirds vote of the members thereof power of exempting any manufacturing establishment, 'in whole or in part, from taxation for any period not longer than two years, &c.

"The by-law in question recites that the Dickson Company of Peterborough have acquired the several water privileges in the river Otonabee, of which a general local description is given, and intend to develop the said water privileges by erecting thereon factories of different descriptions, and it is advisable in the interests of the town that the privileges, immunities and exemptions hereinafter mentioned should be granted to the said company.

"It further recites that the total assessment of the several water privileges, as acquired by the said company, and the lands in connection therewith, amounted to the sum of $50,000.

"The by-law then enacts: 1. The aggregate assessment of the said several properties of the said company should be and remain during the period of ten years from the first day of January next, the sum of $50,000; and the assessor or assessors from time to time of the said town, and are hereby authorized and required to assess the said several properties at such sums respectively, so that the aggregate of the several amounts thereof shall not exceed $50,000, notwithstanding the erection thereon of any building, or the placing in any of the buildings erected, or that may hereafter be erected thereon, of any machinery; provided however that the immunities hereby granted shall not apply to any part of the said property which shall be used for any purpose other than that of manufacturing during the time it is being used for such other purpose.

"This is certainly not a by-law to exempt 'any manufacturing establishment' 'in whole or in part from taxation'; and in any opinion, it is in no proper sense a by-law under section 368 of the Act referred to.

"It does not purport to deal with 'manufacturing establishments' at all; nor does it directly exempt any property from taxation in whole or in part. It completely confounds assessment with taxation, if exemption from taxation in whole or in part was what was intended, which is by no means clear.

"The expressed aim of the by-law is to grant certain immunities and exemptions in respect of the water privileges mentioned in the recital, by directing and requiring the assessor or assessors to assess those privileges at $50,000, so that they may be rated at that sum for ten years, however they may be improved. But no manufacturing establishment is thereon now, nor is the company bound in any way to erect or place any thereon, yet the property is to remain assessed at the ten years, though it may greatly increase in value.

"Besides, how extremely easy it would be to evade the ostensible purpose of the by-law by erecting a small manufacturing establishment on the property, and then use the whole or part of it for other purposes ostensibly in connection with the manufacturing establishment.

"It is unnecessary, however, to stray into considerations of this kind. The by-law is, palpably, a by-law under the 368th section, or any other section of the municipal law of Ontario.

"But there is a still more serious objection to this by-law, a objection founded on public policy and morality.

"The Council, by the by-law, undertake to direct and control the assessor or assessors for a period of ten years, and to require—in fact to compel them—to assess the several properties of which the whole property of the Dickson Company is composed, of which it may hereafter be composed, so that the aggregate of the several amounts shall not exceed $50,000, notwithstanding the erection thereon of any buildings, or the placing in any building erected, or that may here

THE CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

It may be, and is undoubtedly true that the primary objects of the road have been to connect the various Provinces of the Dominion, and open up her vast and fertile tracts of country to settlement and production; but if Canada had only these objects to depend on it would be questionable whether the enormous expense of so vast an undertaking would be ever remunerative or warrantable under the most exaggerated ideas of prospective growth either in population or trade. When, however, in addition to these considerations, which are the chief, if not the only ones, the other various American Pacific lines of railway can rely upon, there comes to be added the grand national and Imperial idea for a continuous all-British line of transportation around the world, of which the Canada Pacific railway is to form the main connecting link, then all doubts as to the warrant for its creation, and as to the unquestionable guarantee for its almost incalculable prospective remuneration, will kick the beam in the scale of pure financial reasoning or vanish like the mist of a midnight dream of apprehension in the morning.

"It is an axiom in science that a chain is no stronger than its weakest link. The truth of the same principle holds good as to the connecting links that hold a nation together. If England should rely solely upon the Suez Canal, which the sinking of a single ship therein could effectually blockade, the tenure of her Asiatic and other Eastern Colonial possessions would be held by a slender thread, and the vast sources for her wealth of commerce, both present and prospective, would be liable to evaporation. It is not for that that she has grided the globe with guns, the sea with ships, and the whole world with the products of her labor. The Canadian Pacific railway not only completes but connects her national chain of communication which almost any human combination would find it difficult if not impossible, to sever. The attempt, however, would prove like the terrible shock of the most highly-charged galvanic battery to the reckless grasp of an uncalculating hand.

These may not, without justice, be said to be mere ideas. Give us facts. It is a well-known fact, as has been authoritatively announced, that it is the intention of the directors of the Canadian Pacific Railway to place a line of fast steamers to ply between those countries and various ports of India, Australia and New Zealand. The early direct connection by steamer between British Columbia and those last named islands of the Pacific is also part of the Canadian Pacific Railway's programme.

Up till very recently the site for the western terminus of the Pacific has not been made public knowledge. Within the past week, however, it is announced that the Canadian Pacific road has definitely selected the head of Burrard Inlet as the site for the western terminus. The port will be called Vancouver, and the construction of wharves and railway stations commenced forthwith. The track will be extended by the end of June next, twenty miles from Port Moody to Vancouver—the terminal port.

By or before that time it is expected that their line of steamers to Japan and China will be placed on the ocean route.

A recent despatch from Ottawa, by the correspondent of a leading Chicago journal, states that "The reason why the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, of San Francisco, manifested so much anxiety to conclude an arrangement with the Canadian Pacific railway for connecting the lines of the latter with San Francisco has leaked out, and, in consequence, ex-Governor Perkins' recent visit to Vice-President Van Horn, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, at Montreal, has a wider significance."

"It turns out that the Pacific Mail Steamship Company, which Mr. Perkins represents, receives a very large share of its earnings from the British Government for carrying the English mails; and that the company was not content with this, but that it sought to secure a monopoly of the transport of all English mail matter, now sent by way of San Francisco to Japan, China, and the New Zealand and the Australian Colonies, to go by the all-British route.

The same correspondent learned from a leading member of the House of Commons at Ottawa—Hon. J. C. Abbott—who is the chief solicitor of the Canadian Pacific Railway, that one of the most important measures to be submitted to the House of Commons in the House of Commons is the scheme settled upon by British and Dominion Governments and the Canadian Pacific Railway for a continuous all-British line of transportation from Great Britain via Montreal and Vancouver to Japan, China, New Zealand, Australia and the East Indies—a measure which must greatly change the course of trans-Pacific and trans-Continental trade. He adds:

"Latest reports from San Francisco indicate that the mercantile community are greatly agitated over the possible results of the new arrangements."

I referred previously to the advantage which the more northerly position of the Canadian Pacific Railway gave it in a shorter distance from ocean to ocean over other and more southerly lines; but this land distance, so valued, is nothing as compared with the ocean distance. The route by the water portion of the route of communication between Europe and Asia via the Canadian road over that between those continents via New York and San Francisco.

Vancouver, the Pacific terminus, is 400 or 500 miles nearer Japan than San Francisco; and the Atlantic terminus (as yet unfixed upon, but which must necessarily be in Nova Scotia), will be about the same distance nearer England than New York, as Vancouver is nearer Asia than San Francisco; so that we have nearly two thousand miles of ocean voyage saved in favor of the Canadian route. This in the transportation of cargoes of less means a great deal more than the mere saving of time and expense, for, as every one knows, the ocean voyage is more or less destructive of the fine flavor and quality of tea—the chief reason why they are so carefully rescued in tin to keep out the saline effluvia of the sea water. The overland transport of tea from China into Russia is the chief reason for the superior quality of the tea drunk in the latter country over every other out of China. Hence from both these causes—the great shortening of the sea distance in transportation, and consequent lessening of expense, with the additional superiority preserved in the commodity—the Canadian ocean and land line may yet carry all the importations of tea for the United States and America as well as for Great Britain and Europe.

While treating of the probable through international traffic over the Canadian route, I would by no means undervalue the great traffic which its opening will necessarily and naturally create. To say nothing of the vast agricultural products, lumber, coal and other minerals, the as yet almost unutilized wealth with which the Canadian Pacific coast now teems—a wealth not generally known—will add a source of riches to their fisheries as great, if not greater, than that which the Dominion now possesses on her Atlantic shores. The islands of the Pacific coast of British Columbia abound with salmon, cod of several species, anchovy, sardines, dog-fish, sturgeon, shark, sometimes weigh 1,000 pounds, herring, whiting, trout, oysters, clams, and halibut. Whales are plentiful off the coast, and on the islands that fringe it (fur seals are found in abundance).

I have stated that the port for the Atlantic terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway has not yet been publicly announced. And I may add that, although its present arrangements with the International Railway, from Quebec to Halifax, connect it with the Atlantic at that port, its own shorter and more direct line from Montreal to such seaboard is not yet completed. When finished, as it soon will be, the distance between the two oceans, by rail, will be very considerably diminished. The great project now in hand by the Canadian Pacific Railway is the new gigantic railway bridge, across the St. Lawrence, which the company are building at Lachine—a work of equal magnitude with the Victoria bridge, of the Grand Trunk Railway at Montreal. It is expected that the entire work will be completed in the spring of 1887.

It is stated that the bridge proper will be composed of three 80-foot deck spans, and eight spans of 248 feet each, two flanking spans of 279 feet each, four channel spans of 408 feet each, making the total length of the river portion of the bridge 3,500 feet. The steel for the Victoria bridge, of the Grand Trunk Railway at Montreal, is being imported from Scotland, and the bridge, when completed, will be one of the finest in the world. The trains of the Canadian Pacific will pass over it to the seaboard, and its traffic thus be rendered independent of the Grand Trunk.

There is a very general belief, especially in that city itself, that Halifax, Nova Scotia, will become the Atlantic terminus of this gigantic railway. But the tendency of the age is to reach its prospective, a very wide and dangerous strait of the sea, from currents and ice in winter, has to be crossed by ferry—for the expense of a bridge would be as colossal as the structure itself—and even when reached, Louisbourg, as a winter port, is for many weeks (sometimes months) of that season closed to navigation by fields of packed and drift ice extending for miles around the entrance to its harbour, which itself is often solidly frozen up.

On the north-easterly point of Nova Scotia is, however, a harbour as if created by Nature herself especially for this purpose, which is the nearest available port on the continent of America to that of Europe. It is the harbour of Whitehaven, pronounced by Admiral Bayfield, R. N., "to be the best harbour on the whole Atlantic American coast," as it is, so he says, "the nearest available one to Europe."

Admiral, then Captain, Bayfield—the author of the famous Admiralty chart—was commissioned by the British Government, many years ago, to survey the harbours of Halifax and Whitehaven, and report on their respective merits. He did so, and gave to Whitehaven the most unqualified preference. It is nearer Europe by 160 miles than Halifax is, thus saving that distance of dangerous coast navigation. It has the boldest and deepest water in its three magnificent entrances, and is immediately accessible from the sea, requiring but a mile or two of pilotage, while Halifax requires over twenty, and is surrounded by many dangerous sunken rocks and reefs, as its many tales of wrecks can testify. Whitehaven has never been known to be obstructed by ice, while Halifax harbour has been often frozen over, and the fog that its entrance are so proverbial as to make it dreaded by mariners. For facilities in coaling, Whitehaven has almost in the midst of the coal-fields of Nova Scotia and Cape Breton, and its expenses in other respects as a great ocean entrepot would be nearly nil.

However fast and magnificent are many of the lines of the Pacific, for merchandise that now cross the sea, there are some respects in which, I believe, the ocean passenger traffic will, before many years, undergo a complete change—that is, in separating the passenger and mail traffic from the freight.

The colossal bulks of 8,000 or 10,000 tons must be filled with freight or they eat their heads off, besides the danger any loss of speed from being too heavily handicapped. The sure and business passenger and mail traffic from the sea, requiring but a mile or two of pilotage, while Halifax requires over twenty, and is surrounded by many dangerous sunken rocks and reefs, as its many tales of wrecks can testify. Whitehaven has never been known to be obstructed by ice, while Halifax harbour has been often frozen over, and the fog that its entrance are so proverbial as to make it dreaded by mariners. MR. MCLELLAN assented to a proposal by Mr.

The Rev. T. A. Haslam, of Montreal, is now visiting our town to present the claim of the Protestant Church missions to the French Canadian, commonly known as the Sabrevois missions. He has the written commendation of the Bishop of Montreal, President of the Committee, and the support of the other prelates of Canada. Grey Eagle on the Turf Again.

Mr. A. P. Morgan's trotter, Grey Eagle, that has been laboring under a prolonged illness, is once more ready to measure his length under the wire. He has been laid up ever since last fall, and until six weeks ago, when Dr. Stephenson took his case in hand, all treatment failed to restore him to good health. About six weeks ago, however, Dr. Stephenson was given charge, and the proprietor has great pleasure in announcing that Grey Eagle is now as sound as ever he was. Dr. Stephenson is to be congratulated on his success, not only in this case, but in a number of equally hard ones he has taken hold of since coming to Peterborough. No doubt he will soon gain for himself in Peterborough the reputation he held in Cobourg, that of being a first class veterinary surgeon.

MADRE E' HUGO CHAGAS.—Sass Perfector, 15a, Pine, 10a, S. Davis & Sons' new brand. They speak for themselves.

WHY AND WHEREFORE.

Staff Capt. Eddie Vickers the Reason for Strange Proceedings.

Monday was the first anniversary of the Salvation Army's attack on Peterborough. The event was celebrated by a banquet in the Opera House. At from five till half past seven o'clock a social was held in the old Arcade Billiard room, in which a large number assembled.

At eight o'clock the Army came in from a march, and entered the Opera House. About fifty soldiers and officers took seats on the platform. Officers from Lindsay, Millbrook, Omemee, Port Hope, and other places, were present.

Staff Captain Eddie conducted the meeting. In his opening address he said that a great many people imagined the Army enclosed themselves in a latitude of bigotry. They thought that the army held itself right and everybody else wrong. He did not know that the Salvation Army held any such views. He believed that they were just as good people outside of the Army as there were in its ranks. Right he also believed that the people of the Salvation Army were good people. Some people asked why the Salvation Army did not baptize, why they did not christen. The Salvation Army was now just twenty-one years old, just coming of age. Perhaps it would be better able to judge when it cut its wisdom teeth. But some believed that the baptism was not performed in the proper way unless the candidates were immersed; others avowed that sprinkling was the right method. The Salvation Army was neutral; they gave the children to God, even as Hannah gave Samuel. Then people said you have no communion table; why don't you have communion tables? The speaker explained in the early years of the Army that they did have a communion table. But there were so many reformed drunkards in their ranks that it was not safe to let them get a taste of the old spirit. Many had gone back by simply tasting the wine at the communion table. More songs followed, interspersed by a few words by several of the officers.

The Rev. Mr. Davis spoke a few words commending the work of the Army and expressing hope that they would have even more success in the future.

The christening of a child in accordance with Army rites was there performed. The father and mother came up and, placing their babies in the arms of the captain, each stood at his side. The soldiers on both platform and in the hall stood for a moment and then all knelt when the Staff Captain prayed over the babe. Staff Captain Eddie then named the child in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost, kissed it and returned it to its mother. The father of the child spoke. He said if he had millions of little ones he would give them all to God. But as it was, he thanked God for giving him two. He had personally experienced salvation and he hoped that the same would be in store for his children. The mother also spoke a few words. Though not a member of the Salvation Army she was in sympathy with it and its work.

The meeting closed with singing and prayer.

Obituary.

On Monday at about noon Edmund Chamberlain, a man who for fifty-four years has watched the growth of Peterborough, answered to death's roll call, being stricken down by apoplexy without a moment's warning. He had been somewhat ill for several months, but not to that extent to keep him from attending to his affairs. The deceased was 76 years of age, being born in the year 1810 in the town of Pakey, Wiltshire, England. In 1837 he came out with his uncle to Canada and settled in Peterborough. He was a carpenter by trade; a young man anxious to make his mark, and being willing to work for no man but the community service and personally profited by it. He took the contract of building the Court House and gaol; also the present Protestant Home, and erected many private dwellings. Subsequently he was engaged as superintendent of the Government works at the Locks at Peterborough, and the slides at Renay's Falls and Middle Falls on the river Trent. In the year 1840 he married Rebecca Whitefield, of Peterborough, who raised a family of seven children, Elizabeth, Rebecca, Edmund, Margaret, who preceded their father to the grave, and James, Mrs. Robinson and Mr. H. C. Wisch, who survive him. His wife has been dead many years. The deceased was one of the pioneers who sat around the first Council Board of the town of Peterborough, and was also one of the members of the Town Trust appointed by Government. He continued to represent the old No. 3 Ward for a long term. He was a man of many sharp singularities of character; but his word was as good as his bond, and his business was conducted by his bluff good nature and generosity. By honest dealings he amassed wealth in the prime of life, and for many years has enjoyed the fruits of his labor in quiet retirement at his residence in the township of North Monaghan, just outside of the town limits. In politics he was a Conservative, and in religion a member of the Church of England.

The funeral will take place to-morrow at 11 o'clock.

POLICE COURT

PROFANE LANGUAGE.

TUESDAY, April 19.—Eliwyn Thompson was charged by P. C. McIntyre with having been guilty of having used profane language in a public place. The prisoner pleaded guilty and was assessed $2 or ten days in gaol.

The court adjourned for an hour.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.

At eleven o'clock the court sat. Wm. Johnson, Inspector of Weights and Measures for the Belleville district, charged Wm. Lang, of Springfield, with having refused to produce certain weighing scales when requested to do so. He pleaded not guilty.

It appeared from the evidence that Assistant Inspector Irwin had had a conversation with him and had requested him to bring in his scales. A month elapsed and no scales were produced. The defendant acknowledged that he weighed meat on the scales previous to bringing it to market, but weighed the meat again before delivering it to the purchasers.

Mr. W. A. STRATTON, who appeared for the defendant, claimed that the defendant did not know who Mr. Irwin was, as that gentleman had not introduced himself in his official capacity. And, furthermore, that it was a matter likely to be forgotten or overlooked.

The MAGISTRATE ruled that the defendant should have produced the scales when requested to do so, for it was not the business of Government officials to run all over the country for such matters. If he forgot he should be taught not to forget again. But it was more for the warning of other offenders that he imposed a heavy penalty. He wanted the people to understand that the requests of the Inspectors must be complied with. He fined the defendant $10 and costs.

Mr. A. E. Fick appeared for the complainant. A similar case was brought up, but the wrong man had been summoned. The case was dismissed. Mr. C. W. Sowers appeared for the defendant.

HANDSOME IT IS.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir—In your issue of Saturday last we observed a communication of local advertisement, we knew not what, wherein Porter Bros. mistakenly imagine that we are anxious to build up our business on their reputation. A reputation they certainly have, but not such an one that we envy.

Wherever inserted in descriptive notice of the right question, responsibility for the two words "any" and "all" is to be called to Porter Bros.

"It is the business of a town since it was re-planted, re-located and varied, and we accept the responsibility of Porter Bros. It reflects credit on Mr. W. W. Wing, than whom there is no better man, we believe, outside the city. In the production of a great picture, the power of the press does not get credit for the painting of a great picture. Porter Bros. say that they are determined to lead, not follow. But it is a well known scientific axiom that the fountain cannot run higher than its source. We have no desire to lead, say credit that is not our due, and we make the above explanation to show that we are willing to stand on our merits.

Yours, &c.

A Pavilion.

Mr. H. Calcutt says it is the intention of the directors of the Riverside Park Association to construct a large pavilion in the grounds during this summer. It will be used, he says, by the patrons of the park and by excursionists who come with their lunch. The pavilion will be pleasantly situated overlooking the river and a considerable part of the town. Stores will be put up so that hot water may be furnished. A platform for dancing will also be erected.

Teigmann Septette Club.

Speaking of the above organization who are to appear in the Opera House, Peterborough, on Wednesday, the 28th of April, the Collingwood Bulletin of Nov. 5th, 1885, says:—

"A large and select audience greeted the Teigmann Septette Club at the opera house last Tuesday evening. The music of the talented family was something superior to anything of the kind ever before given in Collingwood. Little Loretta T. carried the house by storm. Her violin solo was simply wonderful. Mr. Chas. Kelly, our own popular tenor, now in connection with the Teigmann Club, sang a number of his layette songs, and during his rendition of 'Committed to the Deep' he held the audience spell bound, and his conclusion was greeted with a perfect storm of applause."

The late Frederick A. Campbell, of Nassau was buried with Orange ceremonial on Tuesday afternoon. The N. A. S. members, a number of No. 80, 49 and the True Blues attended. The imposing procession was headed by the Fire Brigade Band.

MADRE E' HINO CHIGARS.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. C. Davis & Sons, Montreal & Toronto.

Arbor Day.

Though the day has been brilliant hot the tree planting in the Separate School grounds has gone briskly on, under the supervision of the Rev. Father Conway. A twelve foot avenue all the way around the grounds was laid out this forenoon and the trees which came from the country parishoners—all fine young maples—were planted this afternoon. During the summer the Parish Priest intends to have the grounds levelled off. When this is done, and when the avenue of maples enclose the old grotesque pines the Separate School grounds, will be one of the prettiest little parks in the province.

It May be Remarkable.

—That it is likely that the hats worn this summer will be higher.

—That three hatmakers were observed in solemn conference this forenoon.

—That a canoe race was held in the Riverside Park yesterday.

—That there is now a Riverside Loecore Club, Riverside Baseball Club, Riverside Gun Club.

—That it wouldn't be a bad idea to organize a Riverside canoe club and a Riverside Swimming club.

—That the Court of Chancery opened at the Court House this afternoon, Chancellor Byrd presiding.

—That the pick and shovel brigade are hard at work in the Separate School grounds to-day.

—The school closed last evening for the Easter week holidays.

The Brown Memorial.

The Brown Memorial Committee find that, after having received liberal contributions, they are still $100 short in the cost of building the memorial they wish in commemoration of the service given by the late Capt. Brown in the North-West. The plans drawn by Mr. J. E. Belcher show a beautiful monument. The limestone base is seven feet long, upon which rises the memorial, 11 1/2 feet high, 4 feet broad, and 2 1/2 feet deep. On the front of the memorial, above the base, are two granite pillars supporting an arch, and within the recess of this arch a bronze lion's head stands out, from the mouth of which pours the water. The arch is flanked on each side by vertical tablets with pinnacles. Above the arch there are appropriate inscriptions. Still higher there is a depressed cone, with centre ornamentation of four foil and teardrop filling. The columns at each side are crowned with conical capitals and the centre by a carved apex stone. The sides and rear of the fountain are handsomely ornamented. It is proposed to ask the Town Council to make good the deficiency, and give the fountain for use in one of the public parks.

MADRE E' HINO CHIGARS.—Sizes Perfector, 150, Pins, 10c, S. Davis & Sons' new brand. They speak for themselves.

Seen and Heard.

One morning this week a certain druggist's clerk, whose duty it is to open the shop, dragged his weary form down George street at half past eight o'clock. He had been up late the night before and was awfully tired. As he approached the shop his countenance was seen to brighten up, his eye kindled, and his dejected looks to flee. A piece of crumpled paper tied with a piece of white ribbon hung from the door latch. He was just beginning to rejoice with himself that he was in for a holiday; but alas! On closer examination he found these words inscribed below the fluttering piece of crumpled paper: "He is not dead, but asleep." Then he knew that the line was meant for him.

A most cruel piece of "tag" play was perpetrated on a respectable citizen yesterday afternoon. A group were standing in front of a newspaper office watching the slow progress of a funeral. The gentleman with the silk stockings had passed and seemed to have fallen into reflections. He was so much absorbed that he did not feel a bill, labelled "Love's Request," being pinned to his back. After the funeral went by he left the group and strode away, leaving the number of the latter fairly blown away with laughter. Oh, it was cruel.

At the conclusion of the preliminary examination in connection with the Whitman Mearns case at the Police Court this morning the Magistrate remarked that the witnesses would not be required until the Assize sittings. No doubt, he said, the Judge would then make an order for the payment of their expenses, but at present he could not do so. Heretofore old Mr. Yeomans, the father of the first wife, a gentleman with a shock of grey hair, a flowing whisker and shrewd little eyes stood up and said with resignation: "Well you might as well keep us here and feed us till the court comes off, for I haven't a cent to take me home."

Capt. Cooper remarked that the court of assize sat in October. After some hesitation the old gentleman submitted into his chair.

The Professor is well known in Peterborough, that it is unnecessary to say much concerning him and his goods, save that, he is honest and upright in his dealings, and tries to satisfy every one who patronizes him, and that his goods are the best in America, and are all that he represents them to be.

ASHBURNHAM COUNCIL.

A Special Meeting—A Report of the Committee Done at it.

A special meeting of the Ashburnham Council was held on Monday evening. There were present: The Reeve and Councillors Calcutt, Craig and Faint.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

A number of communications were read, and accounts ordered to be paid.

Moved by Councillor CALCUTT, seconded by Councillor CRAIG.—That the Council regret to learn of the death of William Mills Esq., J.P., a member of the Council, and desire to express their sympathy with the widow and family in their bereavement, and that the clerk send a copy of this resolution to Mrs. Mills.—Carried.

Moved by Councillor CALCUTT, seconded by Councillor CRAIG.—That this Council be a Street and Bridge Committee, and that the clerk to all accounts in connection with Streets and Bridges, before payment is made.—Carried.

Councillor Faint spoke regarding the diverting of the channel of two creeks running through the village which, he claimed, would more than compensate for the outlay by the amount of property that would be rendered suitable for building purposes.

Moved by Councillor CRAIG, seconded by Councillor CALCUTT.—That Councillor Faint secure the services of an engineer to take the levels of the creek and the land near by and get estimates of the probable cost of diverting the creek above Clifton street and deepening the old creek and to ascertain which method is the most suitable and that a public meeting be called to consider the matter.—Carried.

A number of applications for sidewalk came in, which were all referred to the Street Inspector with power to act.

A by-law was passed authorizing the borrowing of $1,000 to meet current expenses. The meeting then adjourned.

THE WHIG SECEDEES.

LONDON, April 20.—The Daily News complained that the Whig seceders are playing in to the hands of the Conservatives, and are taking the lead in the attack on Mr. Gladstone's Irish Bill. The News especially regrets Lord Hartington's decision to offer a motion against the second reading of the Home Rule Bill. "The Conservatives," the News adds, "have shown the astuteness of Darwin."

The discovery of the instantaneous process of taking photographs has been quickly followed in the medical world by a perfect and instantaneous remedy for all acute aches and pains, as Neuralgia, Toothache, Rheumatism, etc. This valuable remedy is called Fluid Lightning, and is sold at 25 cents a bottle by John McKee, druggist.

THE WILLIAMSON-BIRD RACE.

To the Editor of the Review.
Sir,—In looking over your columns a few days ago I was very much surprised to see a challenge from Mr. M. Bird, offering to run a Williamson race of from one to ten miles, knowing that we would accommodate him with a one mile dash at any time. If Mr. Bird or backers will meet me at the Grand Central I will make a match to be run on 24th May for any amount they wish from $50 to $100 a side. Now, if they mean business, let them show up and we will have no trouble arranging a match. Yours,
A. W. ELLIOTT.

KEENE

From Our Own Correspondent.
ACCIDENT.—While driving to church on Sunday morning, a horse ran into Mrs. David McNeven's buggy and upset it. Mrs. McNeven had her right arm broken and a bruise on her left temple, but is doing well. The rig was badly wrecked.

ROADS.—The roads are in a fearful condition with bogs, &c., everywhere. We hope that the new pathmaster, Messrs. A. Brice and J. Geo. Frost, will do good work in the village this year.

LACROSSE CLUB.—The Lacrosse Club of Keweenaw was reorganized on Monday night last. The following officers were elected:—
Hos. President—Dr. Shaw.
President—Geo. Dickson.
Vice President—Wm. McCrea.
Secretary—Geo. K. Mark.
Captain—R. J. Stewart.
Committee—Messrs. A. Dickson, M. W. J. Geo. Campbell and Wm. McCrea.

The club has a large number of new members and nearly all the old ones practice will begin as soon as the ground is dry enough. The selection of field captain and some other matters were left over until next Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Drug Store, when all who are interested in the game are cordially invited to be present.

LAKEFIELD.

From Our Own Correspondent.
HEAVY.—Mr. R. C. Strickland's thoroughbred short horn bull "Tweedie," three years old, was weighed the other day and tipped the scales at 2,113 lbs.

THE MARKET BY-LAW.—His Honor Judge Weller sat in the Council Chamber on Friday for the purpose of investigating the vote on the Market Square By-law, and decided that the vote taken must stand, as there was no law to govern a case of this kind, and recommended that a mandamus be applied for to the court to a higher court. Mr. A. P. Pomeroy, Q.C., appeared for the complainant, and Mr. Dumble on the other side. Each side paid their own costs.

THE ARMY.—The Salvation Army still continues to disturb the quiet of our Sundays. If they would but keep their religious fervor for their barracks it would be appreciated by those who like a peaceful day of rest.

NEW SHOP.—Mr. Carveth has begun the foundation for the new brick shop he intends to erect on his lot next the post office. Mr. Carveth is to be congratulated on his enterprise, and the village on the improvement which will be made to Queen street.

HIGH WATER.—The water still continues to rise at the rate of nearly two inches a day, and is already some inches higher than the maximum height of last spring. The ice is not out of Clear Lake yet and is not expected to go before the end of the present week, so we may look for higher water yet.

LOOS BROKE LOOSE.—On Friday a boom of logs belonging to Mr. George Hilliard broke loose in the lake. Luckily they were snubbed before they got down to the Point.

Gladstone's Will.

LONDON, April 20.—Mr. Gladstone has called his acknowledgment of the receipt of the resolutions adopted by the Quebec Assembly on the 18th inst. He has also called the following letter:—"I am deeply gratified at the resolutions adopted by your honorable body. It is my belief that the people of England who have partial responsibility for the old misdeeds of the British Government and the people of Scotland, who have really none, will both agree in the same and liberal views entertained by the Quebec Assembly."

ALBERT, B. C., wants a saw mill to provide lumber for the settlers.

MANY LIVES LOST.

A Reservoir Dam Gives Way With Disastrous Results.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., April 20.—A terrible accident occurred at East Lee, causing loss of life and much damage to property. At six o'clock this morning the village of East Lee was inundated and devastated by the breaking away of a dam a half mile from the village. About two and one-half miles from the village, a half a dozen paper mills situated on the stream received the first news of the accident when the flood came pouring down the streets with the water from four to six feet deep, and branding with it trees, portions of houses, barns, fences, wagons and every form of movable property. The people fled to the slope of the valley along which the torrent was pouring, and saw their houses moved and toppled about like chips in a river. Much stock besides property is lost. The explorers found the bodies of six persons, and are searching for others. The scene is one of terrible desolation and the town of Lee is wild with excitement.

LATTS.—News just received from East Lee flood says nine bodies have been recovered and it is expected several more will be found. The bodies recovered and identified are those of Mr. White and wife and two young daughters, Mr. King and wife, and King's son and his wife. Eleven bodies have so far been found, and three persons who were living in the track of the flood are missing.

THE RIEL MATTER AGAIN.

To Come up in the Quebec Legislature—Notice of Motion Given.

The Riel matter is to come up in the Quebec Legislature. Mr. Garneau has given notice of the following motion:—"That the members of this House, without wishing to interfere in questions which are not within the scope of Provincial Legislatures, deem it their duty, nevertheless, to take advantage of their being assembled together to give a more public and solemn expression to the regret and sorrow which the people of this province, whom they are elected to represent, universally manifested on the occasion of the deplorable execution of Louis Riel, which execution was carried into effect even after the recommendation of the jury to mercy and in despite of all the reasons in favor, from a humane point of view, of a commutation of the sentence." This, however, does not seem to suit Mr. Turcotte, and he has given notice of following resolution:—"Whereas the habits, both French and English, for a long time past had grievances that gave rise to the political offence for which the late Louis Riel has been executed; and whereas, civilized nations are opposed to capital punishment for political offences; considering, especially, that the fact of Riel having been recommended to the mercy of the Court by jurymen belonging to a race and creed different from his own, to whom the State had entrusted his trial, made it the duty of the Government to exercise clemency towards him; considering, therefore, that the day has become imperative; considering further the fact that Riel had surrendered at the request of General Middleton, and that it is evident that the Government has made of this execution a simple subject of calculation for election purposes, that it has committed how many seats would be won by hanging Riel, and how many would be lost by a policy of clemency and justice; that finally with a view of giving effect thereto it has authorized him to the hatred of fanatics, thereby allowing them to stir up against one another the different races which in this country live together under the protection of the British flag. Resolved, that in so executing Louis Riel on the 16th of November, 1885, the Government of St. John A. Macdonald was guilty of an act of inhumanity and of cruelty unworthy of a civilized nation, and deserves the condemnation of all the friends of right and justice, without distinction of race or creed."

PROTECTION OF FORESTS.

The Forestry Commission of New York, at a recent meeting in Albany, adopted some rules and regulations for the protection of the forests from destruction from fire. They are as follows:—

FIRST.—All persons having occasion to burn a fallow or start a fire in any old chopping, wild slash, bush or berry lot, swamp, "viale," or beaver meadow, for the purpose of clearing or improving, shall give five days' notice of such intention to the nearest Fire Warden, Forester, or agent of the Forest Commission. He shall also give notice to any neighbors who may have fields or woodlands adjacent, and liable to injury, at least one day previous to the setting of such fires. Such fires will be permitted only when the wind is favorable, and competent persons must remain on guard until the fire is completely extinguished on the surface and in the "duff."

SECOND.—All hunters, fishermen, loggers, guides, bursters and others lighting fires, in or near the forest for cooking, warmth, insect smudges, or other purposes, must clear away all combustible material from within six feet of the fire, and such fallow timber as lies in the vicinity of the camp must also be cut for fire wood before any green standing timber is cut for that purpose.

THIRD.—Smokers are cautioned in regard to fires arising from any carelessness of theirs, and their attention is called to the penalty for negligence in causing fires. Parents and teachers are respectfully requested to instruct children to avoid lighting fires in the forests or exposed places.

FOURTH.—Felling standing trees of their bark for covering camps or shanties is hereby prohibited. For such purposes the tree must be felled, and all the available bark removed therefrom before another tree is cut down. The trees thus cut down must be utilized for firewood, and such fallow timber as lies in the vicinity of the camp must also be cut for fire wood before any green standing timber is cut for that purpose.

The Colonial Exhibition.

LONDON, April 20.—The Queen will open the Indian and Colonial Exhibition on May 4. A special train will be run from London to the exhibition, and Sir Arthur Sullivan will conduct the music, which has been specially composed for the occasion.

MADRE E HUGO CHIEFS, try them, exceptionally fine. Superior to any imported cigars in the market.

A BRITISH REVERSE.

LONDON, April 21.—Advice from Mandalay says that the British expedition sent against the Kachayen tribe has been compelled to retreat. The rebels, in an overwhelming force, made a desperate attack on the British, charging into a battery of mountain guns and driving the expedition back. Reinforcements for the expedition have been ordered from Mandalay. The rebels have captured the big game station. They bound the garrison with cords and massacred twenty-three persons.

CONFLICT HOURLY EXPECTED.

LONDON, April 21.—A conflict on the Greek frontier is hourly expected. Greeks have assumed a very provoking attitude, which has had the effect of making the Turks furious.

MANDALAY IN FLAMES.

LONDON, April 21.—A despatch from Mandalay says:—"To-day being the Burmese New Year, fifty followers of the myezinging price set fire to this city in several places at 4 o'clock in the morning. Hundreds of houses have been burned. The Treasury post office and smaller buildings within the palace enclosure have been destroyed. The main buildings of the palace are uninjured. One third of the walled city has been destroyed. Troops pursued and captured several incendiaries. Mr. Devine, an English military apothecary, was killed. A number of encounters took place outside the city with 300 of the Prince's followers, several of whom were killed and many were wounded on both sides."

FIRE AT HIS BOX.

A Farmer Committed at the Aylmer Assizes for Attempting to Kill.

Robert Robertson, of Blackriver, was brought before Mr. Fletcher Warren, J.P., of Chelmsford, on the 12th inst., charged with shooting at his son, William H. Robertson, with intent to kill. The evidence showed that four shots were fired, one taking effect in the fleshy part of the leg above the knee. The trouble arose through a family dispute and the son selling grain contrary to his father's wishes. It appears that the young man bought his father's farm some time ago and has made two payments on the same. The father held a mortgage on the property for $100, and lately an arrangement was made between the father and son, whereby the former was to reside with the latter for the rest of his natural lifetime. Afterwards the son decided to turn over the property to his father, except the grain stock and implements, which originally belonged to him. It was when the son attempted to remove the grain that the father became violent with passion and showed his stern objection by the use of the revolver. He was arrested at the instance of his son and was also charged with threatening to shoot a man named Crighton, who purchased the grain. The father admitted at the trial that he had his son so scared as soon as he did, he (the father) would have finished him. He was committed to jail at Aylmer to stand trial at the next assizes.—Pembroke Standard.

PORT HOPE.

THE NORMAN.—The steamer Norman Capt. Geo. Crawford, arrived on Sunday afternoon from her winter quarters at Kingston, and was welcomed by a large number of residents, who had been tempted by the beautiful sunshiny day to wander down the wharf. The steamer has been here, and refitted until she is as fresh and bright as new paint and untarnished burnishing can make her. The crew is the old one with a few changes. Porter Hooper, it will be regretted by his many friends here, is not on board this year. The Norman made her first trip of the season on Monday, and took on board a quantity of passengers.

SCHWARTZ'S FIFTH MEETING.—The announced meeting that evangelist Schwartz would open a series of evangelistic meetings in Port Hope in the Opera House on Sunday evening drew immense crowds, and before the doors were opened the sidewalks and streets within two blocks were jammed with people from all denominations eager to hear him. When the doors were thrown open the crush to gain ingress was terrible, and the Opera House was soon crowded to its utmost capacity. The Rev. Messrs. Leary, Mitchell, Trotter and Cleland were on the platform and took part in the meeting. The singing was led by outcasts from most of the church choirs in town. The all powerful currency was to see Schwartz and hear the gifted evangelist speak. The preliminary proceedings over he rose to address the audience. He spoke with unusual intensity and fervor and his plain, homely truths, clothed in language strong in the vehemence, searched out the flaws in the armor of his hearers and struck home to their convictions. The infection of his voice is rapid and ever changing, and holds the never flagging attention of his hearers.—Times.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. Alfred Lent, head miller in Mr. H. Barrett's patent roller flour mill, got his arm caught in the roller belt on Wednesday afternoon. The flesh was torn from the arm and the bone was broken in two places. Dr. Powers and Dr. Sauter attended to the sufferer.

Cost of War.

The frightful increase in the cost of war during the past thirty years was very ably shown in the House of Commons recently. The Duke of Wellington was the most powerful ship in the navy of 1855. The total cost of its cannon ready for action was only $143,000, while the cost of cannon and all warlike stores carried on board did not exceed $85,000. The Beowulf, just added to the British fleet, is armed with cannon costing $705,000, and the cannon and other warlike stores on this vessel cost $1,085,000. To pay a charge from the largest cannon on the Duke of Wellington cost under $5, while a charge from the Beowulf's 110-ton gun costs $768. This charge consists of 500 pounds of powder, costing $350, and a steel shot weighing $400. The silk cloth in which the powder is held costs more than the entire charge of one of the Duke of Wellington's heaviest cannon.—N. Y. Telegram.

A Curious Name.

Possibly there is no stranger baptismal name than one which may be seen in Camberwell churchyard on an old tombstone which is sacred to the memory of a certain Mr. Titchener. There is a tradition, and I believe a well founded one, to the effect that, at the christening of Mr. Titchener, the god-parents were unable to agree upon a name for the child. One suggested one name, and another exclaimed, "Oh, no," and suggested another; and this kind of thing went on for so long that at last the officiating clergyman, declaring that in spite of themselves the sponsors had come to a unanimous decision, baptised the victim Oso. The inscription on Oso Titchener's grave reads one who plainly reads to the effect that, from the public footpath which crosses the churchyard.—T. B. B.

PIONEER METHODISTS

THEIR ENTRY INTO THE WILDERNESS OF CANADA.

Their Many Trials and Hardships. Their Work and Their Successes—The History of Old the Christian Church.

There are results of their labor which concern us as a Christian denomination, and there are results which concern all Canadian Christians, and all Canadian patriots.

Their frequent visits encouraged the scattered, lonely settlers, who in their backwoods isolation were cheered by the sight of men who had been to the front and could bring the news. The itinerant thus helped settlement and they helped it also by making the country better known.

Their promoted intelligence. They were men of the people and yet more intelligent than the people, and their frequent visits and conversations must have done much to stimulate thought, to promote a desire for knowledge, and to give life and to make and diminish the Sabbath breaking, profanity and drunkenness which were rife. David Duchin used to tell any slandering persons with whom he stayed that they had better clean up or next time he would bring a dish-cloth along. In 1857 there were only two papers in Upper Canada and they were issued only weekly. The Methodist preachers carried books in their saddle bags and scattered them among their people, and perhaps the Methodist people of those times became thus better acquainted with the standard Methodist authors than we are now. The Christian Guardian was started in 1829 by the self-denying subscription of a conference of poor ministers. In 1832 the Upper Canada Academy was established, and in 1842 was chartered as Victoria University, the first University in the Province actually in operation. Everywhere the Methodist preachers exerted an influence in favor of education. And when at last the country wanted a man to develop its school system, and plant a school in every section, it was one of the pioneer Methodist itinerants who was found fittest for the work and the name of the truly illustrious Dr. Ryerson is to-day treasured not only by Methodists but by all Canadians.

POLITICAL RESULTS

even have flowed from the work of the early preachers. They first broke in upon the stagnation of state-churchmen in the Province. The bitterness with which they were regarded may be seen in the interview in 1806 between a Methodist minister in Montreal and a Church of England minister, concerning their mutual Protestant work in that Catholic city. "You and I," said he, "are the only Protestants in this place. I would be glad of a conversation with you about the interests of religion." "You, indeed," was the Churchman's reply, "I would rather encounter Roman Catholics than such as you dissenters. No! get out of my sight!" And this hatred was backed by all sorts of legal disabilities. The good work of the itinerants won them the respect of the country. Dr. Ryerson's incisive pen was more powerful than the sword, and the struggle for liberty and equality which has swept away all distinctions and left this land to men of all nationalities and creeds a fair field and no favor owed much of its success to the sturdy men who thundered out the gospel in the backwoods 50 years ago.

All such results were but incidental, however valuable. The direct and the grand success lay in the salvation of souls and the growth of the church. Never was there such a harvest of souls since the first Christian century as during the first 100 years of Methodism. And in these spiritual blessings our church in Canada shared richly. City, town, village and country, rich and poor, all felt the hallowed influence. In 1791 the first Methodist preacher was stationed in Canada. A few preachers followed one another. In 1800 a district was formed. In 1834 the Canada Conference of the M. E. Church was formed, and by that date, after little more than 30 years labor there were over 7,000 Methodists in the country. In 1828 we became a separate church independent of England and the United States. In 1835 we became united with the Wesleyan M. E. Church of England. Since then a split took place, and the late Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada went off upon a prosperous career of its own. In the year 1840 the union with the E. M. Church was dissolved, to be renewed in 1847. In 1874 the Methodist Church of the Province joined their fortunes with those of the West, the Wesleyans and the New Connection united, and the Methodist Church of Canada began its history. In 1884 the final union of the Methodist Church of Canada, the Methodist Episcopal Church in Canada, the Primitive Methodist Church and the Bible Christian Church in Canada, formed our present Methodist Church. There have been controversies, negotiations, heart-burnings, but through all God has not soiled His work to lag. To-day (1886) the Methodist of Canada numbers 1,900 ministers, 4,300 local preachers, 185,000 members, and (consecrated of 1881) a Methodist population of 743,000. In adherents and in members we are the foremost Protestant church in the Dominion. With all imperfection, yet there does thro' through our connection a spirit of love, of zeal, of liberality, and as we look back it must be with gratitude; as we look forward it must be with hope. Under God, who gives the increase, we owe a large heritage of civil and religious liberty, and a large heritage of spiritual prosperity, to the early Methodist preachers. "Thy laborer—what is our duty?"

OUR DUTY—TO FOLLOW IN THEIR STEPS AND CARE ON THEIR WORK.

It would be a sad thing if we were merely to boast of their work and do nothing ourselves. Follow their faith. Only as we keep up the parity of our church can we keep up its power. There are many causes of the success of the early preachers. This was the main cause, their faith in God and man.

Following their energy. They worked as if something depended on it as if there were some to be saved. And so let us. They were missionaries. Let us keep up our church always as a missionary church. For even as the Roman empire was a declining empire when it withdrew its troops from its remote dominions, so that Christian church is in the decline which comes to be liberal, enterprising, and aggressive. Follow their

FLEXIBILITY OF METHODISM.

If there is any lesson to be learned from early Methodism it is this, that if you can not succeed in one way you must try another, and that all methods must be adopted, changed, modified to suit the requirements of the people and the time. The gospel is the same. But we need now a better educated class of ministers to bring it to bear upon better educated people gathered in large and handsome churches in great cities and in thriving towns from rich and elegant homes. The gospel is the same even though we hail it from a new and better version of the Bible and seek it consecrated in hymns which our fathers did not know. The gospel is the same. But let us adopt every legitimate device to get that same gospel into the hearts of men, and to build up the church of God. In their faith, energy, liberality let us follow them—Soldiers will fight better because they see the regimental flag waving before them with the same of many victories on its folds.

Learn what you may of the heroic work of the founders of our church, cherish their memory, appreciate the grand church which in God's Providence they founded for you, and work in their spirit for God and us.

MAKE THEIR OLD AGE HAPPY.

Most of the heroes of our early history have gone up triumphantly from the battle field, and are crowned with everlasting rest. Some who labored 50 years ago still linger in our midst. One after another goes, leaving such testimony as mainly Bishop James of the M. E. Church in the United States whose last breath was, "I am not disappointed." Those who followed these veterans did much the same sort of work. Many in the newer and poorer parts of the Dominion, are treading in their footsteps now amid similar privation, poverty, and thank God, success. Such men in their old age have a claim on the generosity of the church. Many of the people to whom they ministered have prospered. Most of them are in old age dependent on the Superannuated Fund. As the great military nations provide comfortable quarters for their aged veterans, as France rears the noble pile of the Hotel des Invalides for the aged soldiers, so should the Christian Church generously provide for the old age of its worn out ministers. Their home is on high, and their reward. But we can help them on towards it, and smooth the pathway for their tottering limbs. We can help to make it light for them at evening time. The painter Turner, when about to die, was wheeled to the window, the blind was pulled up higher than he might gaze upon the sun, which he had loved, reward, and so delighted to rest upon the canvas. And so he died, with the rich golden sunlight full upon his face. So let us pull up the blind for our aged ministers, and they shall not shiver in the gloom of care and poverty, but shall look in the warm sunlight of the gratitude, the love, and the liberality of a generation for whose benefit they lived and labored, and who have entered into their labors.

The exuberance and lameness of spring time are indications of the sluggish action of the blood, overloaded with carbonaceous accumulations by the use of heating food in winter. This condition may be remedied by the use of Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the best blood purifier known.

Lewis N. Jakes broke into a store at Highgate two nights ago and stole a quantity of clothing which he expressed to Windsor. On Monday he called at the express office to get the parcel and was arrested.

A SOURCE OF GREAT TROUBLE.—Probably the most potent source of chronic illness is indigestion or dyspepsia, causing unhealthy blood. Burdock Blood-Bitters has cured some of the worst cases known, even of 15 years' duration. It troubles with indigestion try it.

Charles Jackson, of Windsor, has disappeared from his home, so has the pretty servant maid named Ella Weber.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no cure remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universal and frequently required as Hagar's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colds, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and aches, pains, lameness and removal of all kinds, when internally and externally used.

MURRAY & LANSBURY FLORIDA WATER.—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs. Lansbury & Hagar, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true Florida Water. All other so-called Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

All our exchanges report that the fall wheat has come through the winter capably. With the warm weather of the past few days vigorous re-vegetation has set in, and everything thus far points to a heavy crop this season.

Why will you suffer when 25 cents will buy a bottle of West's Pain King and one dose will cure the worst case of colic or cramp and a few doses will cure summer complaint, dysentery, diarrhoea or flux. Go to J. D. Tully's and purchase a bottle without delay.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

What is good for a cold? In a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will allow our advice and try Hagar's Peppermint Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Sold by all druggists.

IN GOOD REPUTE.—James McAndrew, writing from Kinross, says:—"B. R. H. is a remedy for diseases of the blood, liver, and kidneys, has an excellent reputation in this locality. I have used it, and speak from experience as well as observation. It is the only medicine I want, and I advise others afflicted to try it."

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidental injuries. Such a remedy is best found in Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

"STRENGTH AND CALM"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in any way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

of danger by the condition of your blood, as shown in pimples, blotches, boils, or discolorations of the skin; or by a feeling of languor, induced, perhaps, by inactivity of the stomach, liver, and kidneys, you should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla. It will renew and invigorate your blood, and cause the vital organs to properly perform their functions. If you suffer from Rheumatism, or Neuralgia, a few bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla will relieve and cure you. Alice Kendall, 218 Tremont-st., Boston, Mass., writes: "I have been troubled with Neuralgia, pains in the side, and weakness, and have found great relief from Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and from any other remedy. J. C. Tolman, St. Merrimack-st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "In no other remedy have I ever found such a happy relief from Rheumatism as in sarsaparilla." It infuses new life into the blood, and imparts vitality and strength. Being highly concentrated, it is the most economical blood purifier.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

Sold by all druggists. Price $1; six bottles for $5.

Forearmed

with Ayer's Sarsaparilla, there need be no fear of Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Salt Rheum, Pterter, Eczema, Catarrh, Liver troubles, or any of the diseases arising from impure blood. The blood of Dr. Garwood, Big Springs, Ohio, writes: "Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been used in my family for a number of years. I was constantly suffering from Dyspepsia, but Ayer's Sarsaparilla effected a permanent cure. Seven years ago my wife was troubled with Colic: two bottles of Ayer's Sarsaparilla cured her, and she has never had any return of the disease. I have found great relief from Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and from any other remedy. J. C. Tolman, St. Merrimack-st., Lowell, Mass., writes: "In no other remedy have I ever found such a happy relief from Rheumatism as in and am a well man to-day." Be sure and get Ayer's Sarsaparilla, the most thorough and effective blood purifier. The best is the cheapest.

GRADUATION EXERCISES

FOURTEEN PUPILS AT THE PETERBOROUGH BUSINESS COLLEGE

Graduate at the End of the First Term—

Diplomas Given, Prizes Awarded—Addresses.

On the 27th day of July last the Peterborough Business College was opened here by Mr. J. Bannell Sawyer. At first the attendance was small, very small, there being but one pupil in attendance on the opening day. But as the merits of the Institution became known, the number of students increased until about one hundred and forty were in regular attendance. The college has certainly had marked success.

About a week ago the night students closed their first term, to be followed on Thursday evening in like manner by the day students.

At eight o'clock the graduating class and a considerable number of other students assembled in the well appointed theory and practice room. At that hour the chair was occupied by Mr. Sawyer, Principal of the college, who apologized for the unavoidable absence of Mr. Geo. A. Corbett, Mr. Sawyer there were present: the Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist Church, Mr. D. W. Dumble, Police Magistrate, Mr. James Stratton, Inspector of Public Schools, and Dr. Fife.

The PRINCIPAL opened the evening's exercises by making a few remarks. He referred to the hard work of the last three weeks, in anticipation of the examinations, and assured the graduates that he felt just as anxious when receiving the papers for examination as they did when giving them in. He had been looking forward to this evening with increasing interest and anxiety ever since the 27th of July last, when the College was opened, and he was glad to see that the pupils were so successful. He proceeded to point out the uses of a Business College. It was an institution supplying a connecting link between the high school or public school and the business world. The work that should be done in a business college was that which could not be done in a public or high school. These schools were preparatory institutions for the business college. He attributed the success of the Peterborough Business College in a large measure to the material it had to work upon—pupils who had attended high or public schools, some even having 3rd and 2nd class certificates. But those who had not had preliminary education could find what they wanted in a business college. Here special attention was given to that class of pupils. If a pupil was deficient in English and good in mathematics he would be put in a lower class in English and a higher class in mathematics; and besides he could receive personal instruction in any branch he desired. He agreed with business men that business was learned in business life; but he maintained that a firm ground work was laid by taking a course in a commercial college. The young man and young woman went to a business man prepared to enter into work. They were trained in commercial and mental arithmetic, book-keeping, letter writing, copying, bookbinding, typewriting, shorthand, stock taking and numerous other branches. These were all taught in a truly practical manner—a manner that would enable the graduate to step out of the college and into the affairs of life. What the graduate learned in college was worth years of business experience. It was his aim to make the college more complete than ever, and to endeavor to make it in course of time a perfect little business world.

A PAPER.

Miss Ella Smith read a very interesting paper on "Panic."

AWARDING DIPLOMAS.

The awarding of diplomas was the proceeded with, the following being successful candidates: A. H. Stratton, H. G. Webster, M. H. McWilliams, Thos. Walsh, G. R. Powell, Thos. Elmshurst, J. G. Clarke, Miss D. L. Smith, W. J. Whitton, Robt. Hicks, P. J. O'Neil, Robt. A. Smith, Miss Mamie Stapleton (typewriting, 35 words per minute), Albion Clarke (short hand, 80 words per minute. One month in attendance.)

All of the above graduated in finance, except the two last mentioned. The financial course includes book-keeping, business forms, correspondence, spelling, practical grammar, commercial law, penmanship, commercial arithmetic, mental arithmetic, bank book-keeping, business practice, package marking, foreign exchange, and advertising.

AN ADDRESS.

The Rev. F. H. WALLACE addressed the assembly on the subject of the elements of true manhood. He urged first the absolute necessity of learning how to do something; to be of use to the community and to help in the work of the world. Every young man should have some higher aim than to simply shine in society, to have polished manners, to be perfect in his speech and immaculate in his dress. Manners and refinement were excellent things, but alone they were of very small moment in the great business of life. He pointed out that all young men should strive hard to learn how to resist temptations and stand fast to sound principles. Many young men of brilliant attainments had gone down to degradation just on account of their allowing themselves to be led away. He laid special stress on the value of pluck and perseverance. These two qualities were, in connection with wisdom and discretion, in themselves elements of success. Lastly, he urged the young men to be faithful to God; to let the influence of God's word extend over his business as well as his private life; to do right at all times.

DISTRIBUTION OF PRIZES.

Special prizes consisting of handsomely bound volumes of different kinds were now distributed as follows for proficiency in special subjects:—Business Tack, A. H. Stratton; Penmanship, Thos. Elmshurst; Mathematics, Miss C. H. Smith; Advertising, Harry Webster; Commercial Law, M. H. McWilliams; Practical English, P. J. O'Neil; General Proficiency, W. J. Whitton. (In Commercial Law W. J. Whitton, T. Elmshurst and M. H. McWilliams averaged 89 per cent. The latter took 90 per cent. and won the prize.)

ADDRESSES.

Mr. D. W. Dumble made a short speech highly praising the work done by the college. When Mr. Sawyer came to Peterborough first he was confident that if the college was established it would thrive; and so it had. The college was an institution of great usefulness. It did a work that neither the High or Public schools could do. Besides all the branches of study taught, this college instilled qualities, valuable qualities—those of accuracy and thoroughness. He pointed out that these were of incalculable value to business men. Many a man had been ruined by simply neglecting to see where he stood until it was too late.

Mr. STRATTON gave a short address. He complimented the Peterborough Business College on the success it had attained since its establishment here. It indeed supplied a want that could be supplied by no other school. He urged those who were now leaving the college to exercise wisdom and judgment in selecting a business, but after having selected it to strive for success with all their might. He was pleased to see that ladies were here taking advantage of the opportunities offered by the College. He thought that every young woman should have a business education. Having it, she would have something to fall back on in a case of emergency, and in any case she would be the better able to discharge her business duties of life.

Dr. FIFE briefly added his congratulations, complimenting Mr. Sawyer on the large graduating class, and on the general successful work of the institution. He wished the retiring students success in their various walks of life, and the College continued prosperity.

Mr. WHITTON, on behalf of the graduates, read a farewell address.

The PRINCIPAL requested the graduating class to meet him at nine o'clock the next morning in his private office, where, he said, he would bid them farewell.

The proceedings concluded by the singing of "God Save the Queen."

Land Notice.

Two land slides occurred on the Grand Trunk Railway west of Peterborough within the last few days, resulting in the temporary suspension of traffic. The line is now clear.

Church Opening.

The new St. Andrew's Church will (D.V.) be opened for public service on Sunday, the 2nd May next, when the services will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Brantford, and the Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, of Toronto. On the Monday evening following the service will be held in the Sabbath school room at 6 p. m., and addresses will be delivered in the church thereafter by Dr. Cochrane, and several of the local clergymen and others.

Revising Officers' Court.

A Revising Officers' Court was held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, on Thursday, to revise the preliminary voters' list of the Village of Ashburnham and the Township of Ottonabee.

The names of twenty-six Conservatives and twelve Reformers were added to the Ashburnham list, and the names of thirty-eight Conservatives and thirty-six Reformers to the Ottonabee list. This completes the revision of the East Riding lists.

HIGH COURT OF JUSTICE.

CHANCELLOR BOYD PRESIDES OVER THE CHANCERY DIVISION.

A Light and Competent Important

Doct. The Dublin settlement cases

Other suits.

The Chancery Division of the High Court of Justice opened at the Court House on Wednesday, His Lordship, Chancellor Boyd presiding.

The bar was represented by Messrs. Chas. Munn, Q. C., G. T. Blacklock, and T. Clark, Toronto; S. Munn, Belleville, and Messrs. A. P. Pousette, Q. C., D. W. Dumble, E. B. Edwards, C. C. D. W. Sawyer, Jas. H. Henry, E. B. Stone, and W. A. Stratton, Peterborough.

The cases heard were as follows:—

DOBBIN VS. DOBBIN.—This action was brought by Elizabeth Ann Dobbin, claiming an account of partnership alleged to have been entered into between the late W. F. Dobbin, son of the defendant, and the defendant herein. The defendant and his late son had worked certain lands together since 1876 until the death of the son, 16th August, 1884. The widow, the plaintiff, brings the action to compel the defendant to render an account of all the partnership transactions. The action was dismissed with costs.—Pousette, Q. C., for plaintiff; Dumble for defendant.

DOBBIN VS. DOBBIN.—This action was brought by Elizabeth Ann Dobbin, against the defendant, John Dobbin, to recover her dower in the hands of the late W. F. Dobbin, free from claims by reason of mortgage made by the deceased before his marriage with the plaintiff. In the spring of 1884 the late W. F. Dobbin married the plaintiff, at that time mortgaging his farm for $1,500. The heir-at-law, the father of the late W. F. Dobbin, agreed to allot the dower on condition that the widow of his late son would pay one-third of the principal and one-third of the interest on the mortgage up till the time of maturity in 1889. The plaintiff claimed her dower free from any claims of mortgage, but acquiesced in paying one third of the interest on the mortgage until such time of maturity. Judgement was reserved.

Pousette, Q. C., for plaintiff; Dumble for defendant.

HILLIARD VS. IRWIN.—Messrs. Geo. Hilliard, T. G. Hazlett, Jas. Irwin and Dalton Uryot, all lumbermen of Peterborough, have last spring each separate booms of logs at Lakeside. The drive of the latter arrived at the Lakeside dam last, but he insisted on running his logs over without delay. In consequence of this Mr. Hilliard, whose drive arrived second, put his logs in with Mr. Irwin's. Mr. Hazlett let his logs, and the logs all went over together and ran indiscriminately as far as the Nassau mills. Here they were sorted and all the unmarked logs were put in a boom by themselves. Of these Mr. Hilliard claimed several hundred

A GLOBE INSINUATION.

The Ottawa "own correspondent" of the Toronto Globe makes an absurd attempt to insinuate that there is something wrong in certain civil servants having drawn more from the superannuation fund than they paid into it. Nothing is said of those who have paid in considerable sums and have drawn nothing out. But far worse than this is the dirty insinuation that the Dominion Premier was guilty of undue favoritism, for this can be the only object of adding to the name of Mr. H. Bernard, "Sir John Macdonald's brother-in-law." The previous day the Globe very properly censured the slander of Sir A. Caron, but it has not long continued in this righteous frame of mind. Did Lady Macdonald commit so great an offence in marrying the Premier of Canada that her feelings are not to be considered, and that they are to be wilfully hurt by the dishonest insinuation that her brother (in the Civil Service long before her marriage) was so incapable as to be underserving of the customary remuneration for his services, and that her husband is so dishonest as to give her brother more than his due. The Globe wishes the slanderous assailant of Sir A. Caron and his friends to be exposed, and it might enquire if he is not identical with its "own correspondent" at Ottawa. If he is not we will have the pain of knowing that there are two such dastardly creatures among Canadian journalists.

LONG SPEECHES.

Mr. CHARLTON, with amazing impertinence, has been denouncing long parliamentary speeches, though he and his friends are the chief offenders. This denunciation hits Mr. Blake so hard that the chief Realist organ comes to the defence of its leader. It admits that speeches are now too long, but denies that Mr. Blake or his followers are the offenders. The pages of Hansard and a yard measure will enable anyone to see for himself the falsity of this assertion. One way of checking the growing evil without unduly restricting debate, would be to enforce more rigorously the rule against reading written speeches, another nuisance for which we have to thank the bad example of Mr. Blake.

The vote of want of confidence moved by Mr. Laurier, the perjured Privy Councillor, in regard to asserted neglect by the Dominion Administration of the claims of the Halfbreeds was defeated by 105 to 64. The Globe in pretending that this is a very small majority, adds to enforce its remarks that it was notwithstanding the absence of 12 Liberal members. To take our contemporary on its own ground, the total number of members not voting was 40 so there must have been 28 Conservative absentees making a party majority of 59 in spite of the defection of the "bolters." With a majority nearer 2 to 1 than 3 to 2 an Administration is hardly moribund.

Mr. ENGAR, the personal representative and lackey of Mr. Blake, seems to stop short of perjury. In his place in the House he stated that he was credibly informed and believed certain matters which he wished investigated. Put on his oath as a witness he was compelled to admit that he had nothing but mere hearsay on which to found his false statement, and he refused to give evidence lest he should commit himself further.

The London Advertiser after a silly untruth as to the length of our reply to a paragraph in which it asked if Sir H. Langens were accounted for the $23,000 received from Sir Hugh Allan towards his election fund, says that his own impression is that the answer is "no." His impression is erroneous, for the answer is "yes."

Detained By Floods.

OTTAWA, April 21.—Up north of the Canadian Pacific an overflow of the Vease river submerged the iron for about four miles in the valley of the Vease between Sudbury and North Bay to such an extent as to prevent the progress of the three trains from Port Arthur during the past few days. On Friday night last the Atlantic express No. 4 reached the inundated district, some distance east of Markstay station. The engine ran the train through the flood for but a short distance, until he was compelled to stop, the water being fully four feet in depth, and it was with some difficulty that the fire was kept from being extinguished. The train hands for a time worked energetically, many having to wade waist deep to prevent the floating saw logs and ice from damaging the cars. Only about twelve feet of the telegraph poles were visible, and what railway employees there were lying on either side of the line, had to find more elevated quarters on the hills. Finally the train was backed down and returned to Markstay, where it was detained from Friday night until Monday morning, when the water had receded sufficiently to admit of its starting eastwards.

A Fortious Frolic.

Mary Redpath, of Kato, Ont., was crossing a long trestle bridge on the G.P.R. when a train approached. The little girl, seeing that she could not reach the end of the bridge before getting caught, let herself down between the timbers and hung suspended by her hands till the train passed over her. She was unable to raise herself up to the top of the bridge again and dropped thirty feet into two feet of mud. She was not much hurt but badly scared.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Northwest Militia—Prince Edward Island Towns—The Law of Evidence—Contagious Diseases.

WEDNESDAY, April 21.—A number of measures were advanced a stage.

PRIVILEGE.

Mr. BLAKE showed that a return as to the Northwest was printed just as it was paged by the officials, so that he had not disarranged it as had been suggested.

THE INTERCOLONIAL.

Mr. POPE, in answer to Mr. Cameron (Inverness), said negotiations were in progress for the extension of the Intercolonial to Sydney and Louisburg.

PETERBOROUGH PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

Sir H. LANGRISH, in reply to Mr. Landerkin, said that two sites had been purchased at Peterborough for public buildings, one for the post office and the other for customs, excise, &c.

NORTHWEST MILITIA.

Sir A. CARON, in reply to Mr. Watson, said it was intended to establish military organizations in the Northwest, but the details were not yet determined.

TREATIES OF COMMERCE.

Mr. McLELLAN, in reply to Mr. Edgar, said the correspondence with France and Spain as to commercial treaties could not be brought down without the consent of those countries, and, best of all, it was incomplete. The Imperial Government now consulted Canada as to whether it wished to be included in such treaties. He mentioned a number of cases, and said that in the Serbian treaty Canada was excepted by request.

MINING.

Mr. WHITE (Cardwell), in reply to Mr. Fairbank, said there would not be legislation as to mining this session, but the matter was under consideration.

RIEL'S SANITY.

Mr. LANDRY moved for correspondence with the medical commission as to Riel's sanity. Mr. BLAKE wanted the original telegram.

PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Mr. JENKINS moved for correspondence as to winter communication with Prince Edward Island, and complained that the Alert had not been put on the route.

Mr. McLELLAN complained of the insufficiency of the Northern Light.

Mr. DAVIS did not approve of sending delegates to England, believing that the Canadian Parliament would do them justice. He blamed the Marine Department and the Government for not carrying out the pledges made to the Island.

Mr. HACKETT said the late Administration had given them an unsuitable vessel. The present Administration had made honest endeavors to carry out the terms of confederation. For instance it had carried on the railway to the western edge, and had taken over and greatly improved the ice boat service.

Mr. FOSTER said the Government had done all it could to improve the service and would continue to do so.

Mr. BLAKE said the Prince Edward Island Conservatives were more exacting with the Reform administration than with the present one.

Mr. MITCHELL blamed both administrations for not carrying out the terms.

Mr. McLELLAN said much money had already been spent and the Island would find that the Government was not unkind of its intentions.

ICE BOLES.

Mr. ROBERTSON's bill as to unguarded ice boles was read a third time.

THE RAILWAY ACT.

Mr. MCCARTHY's bill to amend the Railway Act was read a third time after an unsuccessful attempt by Mr. Mulock to amend it.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.

Mr. ROBERTSON's bill to amend the law of evidence by enabling witnesses in criminal cases to affirm instead of taking an oath, was read a second time, the division being 86 to 52.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Mr. McLELLAN's bill to amend the Animal Contagious Diseases Act by allowing a larger compensation and in other respects was read a second time and passed through committee after considerable discussion.

IMPORTANT DECISION.

The Court of Appeal delivered judgment on April 20th in the case of the Queen v. The St. Catharines Milling and Lumber Company, dismissing the defendants' appeal from the judgment of Chancellor Boyd. The action is one brought by the Queen on the information of the Attorney-General of the Province of Ontario against the St. Catharines Milling and Lumber Company to have it declared that the Province of Ontario is entitled to 2,000,000 feet of pine timber cut by the defendants on property situated in the district of Algoma south of Wabiron lake and between Lake Eagle and Lake Superior, and for an injunction to restrain the defendants from trespassing on that property. The company claim title to the timber, setting up leave and license from the Dominion Government. They deny title in the Province, and contend that the land in question was formerly the property of the Indians, and was by them ceded to the Dominion in consideration of large payments of money to the tribe, and that the Indian title passed to the Dominion by purchase as well as by inherent right. Chancellor Boyd heard the case in the first instance, and found in favor of the Province, and the defendants appealed to the Court of Appeal. The four judges are now unanimous in dismissing the appeal maintaining the right of the Province to the property in question. Messrs. McCarthy, Q. C., A. R. Cressman and W. Cressman appeared for the company, and the Attorney-General of Ontario and Mr. Walter Cassels, Q. C., for the Province.

Members of the Young Men's Christian Association will say good-bye to Mr. J. A. S. Hall at the young men's meeting to-night. Mr. Hall has been one of the most active workers in the Association. All young men will be welcomed at this meeting and also at the meetings on Sunday afternoon at 4, and Sunday evening at 8.30 o'clock.

Juvenile Picnic.

One of the interesting sights on Good Friday afternoon was the march past on Ridgeway street of a procession of well-dressed and well-behaved boys and girls, between the ages of 6 and 13 years, laden with their baskets of provisions, and en route to Chamberlain's grove, where a juvenile picnic had been arranged to be held. The following are the names of the picnickers, all of whom are members of families residing in the neighborhood of Charlotte and King streets:—Boys—Gerrit King, Lionel King, Harry King, Willie Menzies, Herbie Stenson, Richard Stenson. Girls—Ruth McKee, Nellie McKee, Mary Menzies, Bella Menzies, Margery McLean, Jessie McLean, Annie Simons, Lillie Simons, Loney Goodfellow, Florence Goodfellow. On arriving at the picnic grounds it would have done Peterborough good to have seen the manner in which the executive committee went to work erecting tables, building tea, and spreading out the dainties. After enjoying themselves in a variety of innocent amusements, the picnickers returned home about six o'clock, having spent a fully afternoon.

EASTER SATURDAY.

How the Peterborough Butchers Celebrate the Day.

Butchers are a privileged class in the community, inasmuch as one day, at least, in the year, custom has set apart for their special benefit. But though Easter Saturday is the "butchers day" they are by no means the only people who come out to celebrate it. To look at the meat market this morning would be enough to satisfy anyone on that point. Crowds of people flocked to see the displays.

MR. HARRY WINCH'S stall was filled with people, examining, discriminating, to make the choice of choice selections for their tables to-morrow. A half dozen dexterous butchers wielded the trenchant knives, giving everybody just what they wanted, while others parcelled, marked and despatched the meats by express carts to their various destinations. The stall was fitly decked in front. Fine quarters of beef, webbed with fat, hung along in rows; juicy roasts and choice cuts of different sorts were displayed on tables. "Look here," said a prominent cattle driver, as he pointed to a big quarter of veal that hung near the door studded with skewers to hold the rolls of fat, "There's the finest calf that ever came into this town. I never saw the like of it." The quarter which the enthusiastic driver referred to was really an excellent piece of meat. In fact all the meats shown by Mr. Winch this Easter are of an exceedingly fine quality, comprising beef lambs, pork, mutton and all kinds of fancy meats.

Across from Mr. Winch's stall is that of MR. N. L. LANTIER. He makes a creditable display this year. His stall was well patronized with customers to-day and will doubtless attract many this evening. He has made ample preparation for the day, as will be seen from the following purchases he made to supply the wants of the public:—Mr. Geo. Campbell, of Cavan, supplied one steer and two heifers; Mr. D. D. Henderson, Otonabee, one steer; Mr. D. H. Anderson, Otonabee, two steers; Mr. John Miller, Otonabee, two steers. His sheep came from the fold of Mr. John Miller, Otonabee, and his calves were brought from Messrs. Mathers and Edmiston, of the same township. Lambs were fed for him by Mr. J. S. Clark, of Otonabee.

Up town the display is as inviting and attractive. MR. J. J. ROWDEN'S meat market is a picture of gay festivity. The whole front of the shop is decorated by pendant quarters of different meats, ornamented by little porkers on all four, calves' heads, etc., the whole being decked by little flying flags and rosettes. Mr. Rowden's many customers have already been around to take their choice, if there is any such thing in Mr. Rowden's display. Mr. Rowden has put forth an extraordinary effort this year. In cattle, Mr. Rowden purchased six prime animals from the herd of Mr. Geo. McKee, Smith. One of these, a one-year-old steer, weighed before slaughtered 1,000 pounds. He also picked out four of the best steers in the herd of Mr. Moore Sutton, Cavan, and also two steers from that of Mr. F. Mulligan, Cavan. The calves supplied were from the stock farm of Dr. Kincaid, and from the herds of Mr. C. D. Dugan, Donora, Mr. J. D. Fowler, Smith, and Mr. Wm. Best, Emily. Two spring lambs were chosen from the fold of Mr. J. McNight, of Cavan; a one fine sheep, Mr. Geo. McKee, of Smith, supplied 12 choice pigs. Mr. Rowden's display is certainly worth seeing.

MR. E. WAINWRIGHT who keeps the electric light stall, shows a markedly fine lot of meats this Easter. His little place is fairly filled to the ceiling with the choicest of meats of all kinds. Even three steers which he bought are enough to supply dozens of families with Easter beef. One, purchased from Chas. Moore of Smith, weighed 1780 pounds and two, purchased from Mr. T. E. Fitzgerald, weighed together 3,200 pounds. In veal, mutton, lamb, pork, and all fancy meats, Mr. Wainwright's display is fully up to the mark. Visit the electric light stall if you want to see a sight.

JOHN MERVIN, the Hunter street butcher, has made a good display on this, as on former occasions. He has laid in a "specially fine lot of cattle" from the most noted breeders and stock raisers in the county. Added to this, lamb, mutton, pork, sausage, special meats etc., are shown in abundance.

Good Cuts and Vest Makers wanted. Apply to: ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

Johnston Carey is now offering a line of bright kid button boots at $1.50 per pair. Men's shoes our own make $2.25, sewed shoes $2.50, 60 pair boys 3 and 4 fine lace boots at less than cost. A call will convince you that he can sell cheaper than any other shoe store in town for he manufactures his own goods.

NEW HERE. If there are any persons who need the advice or treatment of men thoroughly versed in the art of advising and healing let them bear in mind that Dr. C. A. McKee, vice-president of Dr. Kergan's world renowned Medical and Surgical Institute, will be at the Grand Central until next Tuesday night to dispense advice, free, and treatment at a reasonable price to those of either sex in need of same.

It May be Remembered. That Mayor Stevenson and Mr. Geo. Cox were in Toronto on Tuesday. That it is likely the George Street telegraph poles will come down. That P. C. McGinty sports a new hat. That the town didn't buy it either. That flowers would be an acceptable contribution to the Nichols Hospital. That most of the Business College Graduates left town to-day. It may be remarked that Baby Barriera and Wall Paper are going fast at BOUTLEY'S, and at very low prices. It would be well to see his styles and prices before buying.

EFFECTS OF A DEBAUCH.

An Old Man of Sixty-Three Years Dies from the Effects.

On Tuesday evening an old man was seen staggering along the streets of Ashburnham. He wended his way along Lake Street, southward, and for a time lay in a fence corner to, apparently, rest himself. Several noticed him but passed by, not taking any heed. The old man got up again and started to stagger along. He got to the foot of the hill facing the Little Lake. Here, in attempting to cross the line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, he tripped and fell over the high grade. Mrs. Campbell, who lives in the vicinity, saw the man fall. She called to her husband and a man named Taben, to go to his assistance. The two men went, raised the intoxicated man and sat him up, thinking that when he had time to sober off he would get up and go on his way. It was about dusk when they did this. Mr. Campbell afterwards came to town, and Mr. Taben went to his house. When Mr. Campbell returned home again, and when he had had his supper, Mrs. Campbell suggested that he had better go and see if the old man was still sitting where they left him. Mr. Campbell, who had for the time forgotten the affair, arose and went, and sure enough the old man was still on the spot where he was left, as helpless as ever.

Constable Craig was informed of the circumstances. He came down, and, borrowing a wheelbarrow, he with others assisting him lifted the old man into the barrow and wheeled him to the police station. There being no other place to put him he was taken to the cells. When Constable Craig arrived at the cells in the morning he found the old man stiffened, doubled up almost unconscious, and vomiting blood. A messenger was sent to Dr. Clarke, who came at once and, after having succeeded in bringing back consciousness, made an examination. He found that a cut had been inflicted on the head and that four ribs on the right side were broken. Enquiries were made. It was found that the old man's name was Thos. Crowley and that he lived near Downer's Corners. His sons were informed of their father's state. They came and took him home. It was learned that he died on Thursday morning.

LAST CALL.

British American Surgeons From J. D. KERGAN'S Medical and Surgical Institute.

ARE NOW AT THE

GRAND CENTRAL HOTEL

PETERBOROUGH.

Where they remain only until next Tuesday night, April 27th. Don't delay calling, it will be several weeks before they visit Peterborough again.

DR. KERGAN

Invites all who suffer from any Chronic Disease, Deformity or disease peculiar to their sex to consult the Surgeons and get their opinion and advice, which is free to all cases. Read the following letter from a lady who for years suffered from what is called "Female Complaint." The symptoms and suffering attending same are no doubt known to a considerable number of ladies both young and old in this, as in other localities.

FROM A FARMER'S WIFE Kingston British Whig.

The Editor, British Whig. Sir,—Through your columns I would like to say a word to the people of Kingston and vicinity regarding Dr. J. D. Kergan and his medical cabinet, as I see their consulting surgeons are so great to visit Kingston. I think it was on the 30th of Sept., 1885, one of Dr. Kergan's surgeons visited Braconbridge and I called to see him. After talking with him a while I felt thoroughly convinced he understood my case, and then and there I resolved to order a month's treatment, as a trial as soon as my means would permit. This I did on the 15th day of October, 1885. After using the month's medicine I felt so encouraged and improved that I immediately ordered the second supply, which, to my great joy, he compounded my cure. It seemed to me as though my complaint was a combination of all the ills peculiar to women, and I can never express in words my gratitude to Dr. Kergan for his counsel for delivering me from such misery. Respectfully yours, Mrs. Kergan's Family P. S. Dr. Kergan kindly permitted to publish a letter mailed him this day. Braconbridge, Feb. 19th, 1886.

MRS. BAILLY'S LAST LETTER.

Braconbridge, Ont., Feb. 19th, 1886. Dr. J. D. Kergan, Detroit, Mich.

Dear Doctor,—I am glad to be able to inform you that I am so much better. I feel that I cannot thank you enough for what you have done for me. I have delayed writing to you if I would remain well but I seem to be improving. Everything appeared to be against me when I commenced treatment with you. My husband was afraid to risk the money and my friends were all against it, but I felt that if you could not cure me I was no use of and after doctor trying. A year and when you came to Braconbridge I started for the place to see you. My mother laughed at me for going to see the quack, and I gave it up, but I repeated it every day and I was looking for you to come again. I made a firm resolve that I would see you if I could. I felt the whole world laughing at me, and I did see you the latter part of September, 1885. I can now tell you that you are no quack, but understand your business. My husband is also satisfied that you are not quacks but know your business and says he was prejudiced because you advertised, and because a town doctor said you were no good. But thank God I am now well able to do so; my own work is well and I am so glad to be in strength I will soon be able to do that also. And now promising to do all in my power for you. Hoping that letter may be of some use to you. You can now women who like myself listened to the quack doctors and their friends,—I am, yours very truly, Mrs. BAILLY.

We claim our method of treating diseases peculiar to men and women, is superior to any in existence because it is founded on perfect thoroughness. Canada as the United States have been greatly benefited by our permanent cure, after long and fruitless and so-called scientific but false. Our opinion and advice is free. Our services and a fair remuneration, and in return we give our patients honest and efficient treatment. Address a letter to Dr. J. D. Kergan, Corner Woodward and Brant Streets, Detroit, Mich.

SOLD.
The Cobourg, Peterborough & Marmora
Railway Disposed of as Auction.

The Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Railway and Mining Company's property was sold at Osgoode Hall, Toronto, on Wednesday, pursuant to a judgment obtained by the Bank of Toronto against the Company.

At noon Neil McLean, Chief Clerk of the Supreme Court, put up the property at auction.
The first bid offered was $25,000, the amount being gradually advanced to $30,200, Mr.
George Pearce being the buyer. The Toronto Globe and Cobourg World both state that Mr.
Pearce is from Peterborough. This is a mistake.
Mr. Pearce is not of Peterborough. The buyer is probably the brother of Mr. J. B. Pearce, of Norwood, who has been for the last number of years interested in railway ventures. But whoever the Mr. Pearce is he has made a good bargain. The property bought consists chiefly of the following:—

12 miles of railway from Cobourg to Harwood, ironed; 12 miles from Rice Lake to Peterborough, graded, one and one-half miles of which is ironed and leased to the Midland Railway; 9 miles from Peterborough to Chambliss in Chamung Lake, ironed; 9 miles from the Narrows on the Trent River to Blairton, ironed; Station premises and office furniture at Harwood, Ashburnham, Mud Lake and Blairton; Rolling stock, consisting of five broad gauge locomotives and a number of passenger, baggage, flat, ore, and other cars; machine and blacksmith's shops at Cobourg with plant and machinery; 6 acres of land at Cobourg, with frame station, office furniture, freight shed, and train warehouse, and water front; about 20,000 acres of mining lands situate in the Townships of Lake, Marmora, and Belmont, on which is situate a number of stationary engines, boilers, steam drills, and mining plant;
steamboat and barge on Rice Lake.

Railway men here estimate the property to be worth at least $150,000. Even the rails, if sold as scrap iron is worth what was paid for the whole property. There are 3 1/2 miles ironed, averaging 88 tons to the mile. This gives 2,772 tons. The rails are worth $13 per ton.

DO THEY TALK?
To the Editor of the Review.

Dear Sir,—I notice in your paper of the 23rd something about a petition from the corporation of Milton, asking the Government to be relieved from the Scott Act, after four years experience of its effect. Now, Sir, will you kindly inform me how this tallies with the assurance that we listened to from those black coated gentlemen, and quite twelve months ago. They said they came from Milton, and assured us that the Scott Act was just the very thing that made Milton a better, happier place. By stating how the story they told and the petition tallies.

You will oblige me,
SUSPICION.

Otonabee, April 26th 1886

SOCIALIST CALL TO ARMS.
In Summary Appeal to Workingmen in New York.

NEW YORK, April 23.—The following notice was published in the local organs of the Socialists, and was intended to excite a strike among the spirit of unrest prevailing in this vicinity on account of labor troubles:—
"International R. R. men's Association."
"Grand meeting of workingmen in Germania Garden, No. 93 and avenue Friday, April 23, at 8 o'clock in the evening. Programme: 'T Workingmen, the rubber capitalists are murdering your brothers. Prepare to defend yourselves. Come in large masses.'"
A socialist mass meeting of German workingmen was held here to-night. A large number of women were present. Police officers in uniform and detectives in civilian dress were accused of the hall, and a squad of fifty police was within call in case of any trouble. Harriet was made a merry address. After a scathing denunciation of capitalists and the police, reference to the present crisis, he said that the revolution in Paris in 1871 resulted because the people were disarmed, and the same was likely to happen here. They did not intend to bring a hint to the fore, but they merely proposed to hasten the revolution, and that was the reason they should arm themselves. He concluded by saying that they must work, live, fight or die, and if three present would have their names and addresses with the secretary he would see that they were furnished with arms.

THE WILSON MURDER MYSTERY.
The Perpetrator of the Crime Discovered
—Jenny's Cause of the Act.

OWEN SOUND, Ont., April 24.—Interest has been revived in the mysterious murder of Wilson by the arrest of several parties supposed to be implicated in the crime. It will be remembered that the house of James Bailey, a farmer living near Watton, was burned about a month ago, and from the ruins were taken the mutilated remains of Bailey and his hired man.
Verk us there was put forward as to the object of the crime, but no direct evidence as to the perpetrators was obtained till yesterday. A family named McCleary lived in the next house to Bailey's, and ever since the murder was committed it has been suspected that members of this family knew more about the affair than they were willing to make public. By a clever ruse of Detective Rogers, however, Ellen Mc-Cleary was induced yesterday to make a confession, in which she implicates James King, as principal and John Wilson, as accessory to the crime. It appears that King, who was formerly employed by Bailey, was a rival with the latter for the hand of Miss McCleary, and thinking Bailey was the favored suitor, he concocted his plot to get him out of the way. King and Wilson were both arrested, as were also Ellen McCleary, Charles McCleary, and a man named McCleary, who was bound to Owen Sound, where an enquiry was at once opened. Ellen McCleary was the first witness, and repeated in substance the confession made above. She also stated that both King and Bailey had threatened to kill each other. Other witnesses were examined, after which the prisoners were remanded for a week, bail being refused.

Sir Charles Dilke's name is not mentioned in RIOTS IN GLASGOW.

GLASGOW, April 24.—A collision between Orangeism and Catholicism occurred after the holding of a Loyalist meeting here yesterday. Four arrests were made. At a later hour an Orange mob attacked the Catholic chapel, which was crowded with worshippers, and smashed all the windows. The few police who were present were powerless to prevent the mob's work of destruction. The priest conducting the service in the chapel ordered the doors to be locked, and thus prevented the mob from doing further mischief.

OFFERING TO SELL.
GALWAY, April 23.—The trustees of the exclusive Times' estates near Westport have offered to turn over the lands in fee to the tenants as tenants equaling in the case of each holding twelve years' lease, the property to be sold at the present Poor Law valuation. The offer has created a sensation in Ireland.

STRIKERS IN BELGIUM.
BRUSSELS, April 23.—The strike inaugurated by the watchmakers of Grammont in East
Flanders is spreading and becoming serious.
Reinforcements of gendarmes have been summoned. The strikers barricaded the bridge over the Dender River, and from behind these obstructions made an attack with stones upon the gendarmes. A fight ensued resulting in the death of the rioters and the arrest of a large number of them.

MAD KING LUDWIG.
MUNICH, April 24.—The Princes who have been overhauling the royal accounts have convinced themselves of the utter impossibility of saving King Ludwig from bankruptcy, and have resolved to propose a regency. The King was to have left Hohenzollern on Thursday, but showed such unmistakable signs of insanity that his attendants prevented his departure. Lat-terly the King has taken to drink, and spends his days in eating and drinking brandy. Nobody dare approach him while he is at table.
Though the King is afflicted with constant insomnia, he has grown so fat and coarse that he can hardly walk, and is almost unrecognizable. He has not cut his hair for months, and looks more pitiable than the most wretched pauper in Bavaria.

CHANGED HANDS.—The Messrs. McGregor

Mr. McCleary, of Peterborough. The outfit is entirely new and was bought comparatively cheap, $1,950 being the amount paid. We wish the new proprietor every success.

DWELLING HOUSE CONTRACT.—The dwelling house of Mr. Napoleon Reynolds who resides on the Belmont road, immediately outside the corporation, was on Monday by fire on Wednesday night of last week. The fire is supposed to have been caused by a defective boiler. The con-on the building and the owner's loss will not ex-

HIGH WATER.—A portion of Cobourg street was flooded on Saturday evening last and for a time communication with Queen street was cut off. A temporary bridge was constructed and the debris of that portion of the village south of the Cove were enabled to make their Saturday night purchases without the aid of boats.
During the night the water went down several feet, and in the morning the street was passable.

B. W. & N. R. R.—The Provincial directors of the B. W. & N. R. R. met at the town Hall, Warkworth, on Tuesday afternoon of last week.
In spite of the wind and snow during the day there was a large attendance, and a great deal of interest manifested. Brighton, Warkworth, and No. 10 were well represented. It was resolved to open the stock books at once in Brighton, Warkworth, Hastings, No. 10, and at the office of a leading broker in the city of Tor-

MISREPRESENTATION.

This systematic misrepresentation of opponents carried on by the Reform press, is regarded as matters both small and important, must be disgusting to fair minded people. As showing to what extent it is indulged in we quote four separate editorial notes from one issue of a Reform paper. It says:—

"A new reason why Mowat should go has been discovered. He was in Chicago the other day and in an interview expressed himself as favorable to Mr. Gladstone's home rule scheme. For this the whole Tory pack is in full cry after him."

Passing over the alleged expression, the "Tory pack," in this quotation, we wish to point out that only two or three Conservative papers, so far as we have seen, have made any reference whatever to Mr. Mowat's opinion. It was, in fact, of so little importance that it called for no comment.

This paper also says:—
 "Hon. Mr. Jamieson admits on oath that he received an interest in the Prince Albert Colonization Co., without paying for it, and that he acted on the advice of Hon. Mr. Bowell."

Mr. J. C. Jamieson stated in his evidence before the committee that Mr. Bowell advised him not to go into the enterprise.

A third editorial note is as follows:—
 "The other day the Mail found fault with Hon. Mr. Blake because he talked too much. Now it objects that he has not opened his mouth for a week. There is no pleasing some folks."

The Mail, we believe, did not "object" to Mr. Blake not speaking frequently. There is a difference between calling attention to a circumstance and in objecting to it.

The following is the fourth editorial note:—
 "The Hamilton Spectator condemns the custom of members of Parliament intermingling themselves in companies which get grants or bounties from the government. It says the system is bad. It must be when the Spectator condemns it as practised by Tories."

The Spectator did not condemn the system "as practised by Tories." It did not say that Conservatives had so acted. It referred to the system without saying that any members had acted in that way, and yet this unscrupulous journal would have its readers believe that the Spectator condemned certain Conservative members of Parliament.

When there are so many misrepresentations in one issue of a small Reform paper, it can easily be understood what a task it would be to endeavour to point out and correct all the misrepresentations that the Reform press is guilty of, and readers of these papers should be careful as to how much of what appears in their columns they believe.

The chief Respectable organ says that Mr. Blake is "the most respected man in the country." It may be so among the Globe's friends, but in this part of the country there are many honest Reformers who feel little respect for a man who literally howled for Riel's blood when he was first guilty of rebellion and murder, but who voted to punish the Administration for allowing justice to take its course when Riel had again been guilty of rebellion and murder, acting in both cases from partisan motives, and thus making a man's life a mere counter in a game for his own advantage.

The London Advertiser joins with the Toronto Globe in condemning the slander of Sir A. Caron, and "asserts" "the Globe is saying that it is the duty of the papers that published the calumny to give the name of their informant. We would suggest that the Advertiser should also advise Mr. J. D. Edgar to give up the name of his informant on whose authority he brought slanderous charges against the Hon. Mackenzie Bowell, if, indeed, Mr. Edgar was not making a false statement in the House when he asserted that he was "credibly informed."

COMMENCEMENT OF HOSTILITIES.

The Greeks are victorious on a Bank on the Turkish Frontier.

ATHENS, April 22.—On Tuesday night Turkish advance posts attempted to surprise the Greeks who had been engaged on the previous day in erecting earthworks within what is alleged to be the neutral line. Their effort, however, was not successful, they being repulsed by the Greeks, who pursued the Turks and captured two of their guns. The Greeks then occupied three positions within Turkish territory, which the Greek Government has ordered them to evacuate.

King George is preparing to go to Thessaly, where there are 100,000 troops in readiness for the beginning of hostilities.

The Greeks and Turks exchanged shots for half an hour last evening. No harm was done on either side. The Turks retired, but were afterwards lured to occupy their former positions, it being in Turkish territory.

Hungled to Death.

WALLACEBURG, Ont., April 22.—Just before 6 o'clock to-day Jas. Hayward, a miller in Peterborough & Co's roller mill, climbed the belt for the purpose, it is supposed, of clearing a clogged conveyer belt, when his clothing caught in the complicated gearing and shafts and he was drawn to a horrible death in an instant. Both arms were torn off near the elbows and the end of the belt shaft pierced his breast, causing a terrible wound. His head was also lacerated and the chest torn from one foot. When assistance reached him his mangled and lifeless body hung suspended in the machinery.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Northwest Representation—Short cut to Hudson Bay—Montreal Floods—Bogus Bills.

WEDNESDAY, April 22.—Several bills were advanced a stage.

FLOODS AT MONTREAL.
 Sir H. LARGENT, in reply to Mr. Curran, said it was intended to have an investigation made by competent engineers as to the means of preventing floods at Montreal. The city would be expected to co-operate.

HUDSON BAY.
 Mr. FOSTER, in reply to Mr. Dawson, said they had under consideration the examination of an entrance into Hudson Bay, south of the straits, as marked on old charts.

BOGUS BILLS.
 Mr. McLELLAN, in reply to Mr. Tamm, said that steps were being taken to protect the public against counterfeit $2 bills now in circulation.

NORTHWEST MEMBERS.
 Sir JOHN MACDONALD, who was received with cordial applause, introduced a bill to give the Northwest Territory representation in Parliament, Amnabola two members, and Saskatchewan and Alberta one each. The franchise was to be the same as for the Northwest Council.

IMPERIAL LEGISLATION.
 Sir JOHN MACDONALD moved an address to the Queen for Imperial Legislation to empower the granting of representation to the Territory, the power now being restricted to the case of a new Province. These members were to have a right to vote like those from the Province.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT hoped that the principle of representation by population would be maintained.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said it would be for Parliament to deal with each case.

Mr. MURDOCK wanted the exact bill drawn and presented to the House.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD declined the presumption of drafting a bill for the Imperial Parliament. The address would state what they wished as in the resolution.

The resolution was carried and a special committee was appointed to draft the address, which was adopted.

SUPPLY.
 The House went into committee of Supply and discussed some items.

EASTER HOLIDAYS.
 The House adjourned at 6 o'clock till Tuesday, April 27.

ASSISTED IMMIGRATION.

In 1872, the Hon. Edward Blake being at that time Premier of Ontario, an Order-in-Council was passed, from which the following is an extract:—

"The Government will pay to regularly organized societies in the United Kingdom or Ontario, or to individuals, the sum of six dollars for every state adult sent to this Province, at the end of three months continuous residence in the Province."

The Ontario government at that time paid a bonus of six dollars to each state adult, that is, to each adult male, and two children were to count as one adult. Agents were instructed that 75 per cent. of the immigrants should be agricultural and ordinary laborers, and the remainder mechanics, or skilled laborers."

A pamphlet published by the Mackenzie government in 1874 said that "the emigrants sent to this Province which are, of course, of universal application, can always absorb a large number of artisans and journeymen."

In the same year an arrangement was made between Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Mowat by which the Dominion government was bound to give assisted passages to immigrants—mechanics as well as others. Not only that, but the Mackenzie government—in 1875—announced that—

"Meals are provided for immigrants of good quality at very low prices; and they are afforded gratuitously by the government to the absolutely indigent."

And not only that; it announced still further that—

"Railway tickets at the public charge, or free passages are given from Quebec to indentured immigrants to points at which the Grand Trunk railway has stations in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario. Mechanics of various descriptions, but more particularly blacksmiths, carpenters, railway navvies, shoemakers, tailors, printers, cooperages and millwrights, bricklayers, millwrights and machinists, for whom there is a demand."

Thus we see that the R-form government gave assisted passages to mechanics, gave meals to mechanics who were indigent and gave free railroad fares to mechanics after their arrival.

The present Dominion Government does not give assisted passages to mechanics, or free meals or free railway fares. The result of this change of policy is seen in the increased number of mechanics coming to Canada. In the five years ending with 1878, mechanics constituted 23 per cent. of all the adult male immigrants landing at Quebec. Since 1878, only 7 per cent. of those immigrants have been mechanics. The proportion under Reform rule was more than three times as great as it has been under Conservative rule.

And yet, in the face of these facts—facts which they cannot pretend to deny—Reformers have the unblushing effrontery to charge the present government with assisting mechanics to reach Canada. When they say that they say what they know to be false.—Hamilton Spectator.

A BEAUTIFUL NIGHT.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR.—Having had business in one of our fine business places located on the market square, my attention was called to the beautiful night that presented itself to my view in looking over the river into Ashburham. The buds on the trees were opening, and the green foliage was appearing in all its glory and beauty. But while I was gazing at the beautiful growth of nature, I was amazed and delighted with a view that I saw between the side buildings and the beautiful trees and foliage, and that was, sir, the diabolical sight of our corporation yard. While our citizens have cleaned up their yards, our town officials have allowed a public yard to lay piled with a large pile of stable dirt, carcasses, rabbit, old boards, old counters, old tin, old stove pipes, barrels, and the refuse of the winter, which is quite a disgrace to our beautiful little city. Now, if the Board of Health wants a little job, they need not go far to get one, for they can see our indifferent officials at work to do what they are paid for. It is a fine thing to be a government officer—no boss and good pay.

Much obliged, Mr. Editor, GOOD-BYE.

DIED IN THEIR CELLS.

Two Prisoners in the Lockup at Cornwall Barred to Death.

Early on Wednesday morning a fire was discovered in the lower portion of the Cornwall Town Hall. The alarm was given, and the fireman of the steam engine, who is also caretaker of the hall and lives near by, endeavored to get at the cells, where two men were confined. The torrent of smoke that rushed out prevented his entrance. With great difficulty some men made their way to the cells and got out the body of a man named John Craig. The other man in the cells was a French barber named John Louie, and his body was not enticed for fully an hour afterwards, when it was nearly smothered. The fire was put out after it had been burning about two hours. It is supposed to have been started by one of the prisoners smoking in the cells, as they were not searched previous to being placed there. There was no watchman on the premises. The Council Chamber, etc., on the ground floor are a complete wreck, and smoke, but the insurance is sufficient to cover all loss.

THE 67th ANNIVERSARY OF INDEPENDENT ODDFELLOWSHIP IN AMERICA.

The Peterborough Brethren Celebrate it by Attending Church in a Body—Sermon by the Rev. Mr. Torrance.

To-day is the sixty-seventh anniversary of the establishment of Oddfellowship on the continent of North America. The Peterborough Brethren celebrated the event by attending church in a body on Sunday evening. At half past six o'clock the members of Mount Hebron Encampment, Otonabee and Peterborough lodges, assembled and marched from the Otonabee Lodge Hall to St. Paul's Church. They occupied the front seats in the centre aisle.

The Rev. E. F. Torrance presided over the service, taking for his text, Galatians vi. 2: "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ."

There were some burdens, he said, which were upon the hearts of all every member of the human family. Different as men were from each other in some respects, they all resembled one another in being burdened.

There were to judge of some men from their outward appearance.

We might suppose that they were free from burdens of any kind; but their hearts were bowed a different tale would be told. Those who seemed in public to be the most light-hearted were sometimes in private the most gloomy and depressed. Those on whom fortune seemed to smile most brightly were often carrying about a secret sorrow which assailed their very life.

When Jesus said, "Come unto Me all ye that labor and are heavy laden and I will give you rest," he touched the instinctive feelings of mankind. The burden laid on the hearts of men were of two kinds. There were those which men must bear by himself, and there were those which might be shared with one's fellow man.

The apostle referred to the first when he said in Galatians vi. 5, "For every man shall bear his own burden," and he referred to the second when he said in the words of the text, "Bear ye one another's burdens and so fulfill the law of Christ." Man could not share with his neighbor the burden of individual responsibility or the burden of transgression.

Scripture said that none can by any means redeem his brother or gain for him a ransom for him. But there are burdens which can be shared. The apostle in his epistle to the Romans said, "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself; and in another place, "We, then, that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves," also in the words of the text, "Bear ye one another's burdens."

There were two points, he said, to which he would direct special attention. The points on which he would dwell chiefly were, (1) the ground upon which this duty of mutual burden bearing rests, and (2) the consideration of methods by which this duty may be best carried out.

The duty of mutual burden bearing was grounded in hundreds of man's in the material universe. In astronomy, the planets of the solar system are not isolated one from another, but by the law of attraction are kept in their regular orbits to perform their circles around the sun.

The stars borrow light from the sun to give forth light when he is not down. By evaporation the clouds were filled with water to replenish the earth and her streams. Not only in the material universe was the duty of mutual burden bearing to be seen, but it was also to be seen in the actions of the lower animals.

(Several instances were quoted from the Bible) Those who had carefully learned the habits of bees and ants were aware of this law among them. Among the ants especially was it noticeable. There were some that supplied the nourishment and looked after the welfare of the whole community; some built up the home and by constant and assiduous work kept it in repair; while others looked after the defenses.

But this groundwork of mutual burden bearing rested on a more firm foundation which the two points to which he referred on our own humanity—all men are a brotherhood. There is a difference in nationality, social status and intellectual attainment. The Jews regarded themselves as the chosen of God, and spoke of all Gentiles as heathen—but it was a Jew who proclaimed the universal brotherhood. The Greeks and Romans prided themselves on their civilization and their military glory—but there was one Roman who claimed all men as his brothers.

Against this groundwork was rested upon patriotism. There is no inconsistency in a special love for one's country and a general love for the human race. Jesus himself was a patriot in the truest and highest sense of the word. Daniel was a patriot and so was Paul.

The groundwork also rested on friendship. (Examples were drawn from profane and sacred history.) Lastly, the groundwork of mutual burden bearing rested on a higher ground than humanity, patriotism, a higher ground than friendship—it rested on the ground of Christian brotherhood. It is we again close bonds that in as yet other state, we are many members of one body.

The Methodists in the Order of Oddfellows, the five great methods last down were (1) visiting the sick, (2) relieving distress, (3) burying the dead, (4) educating the orphan, (5) and aiding the widow.

The members of the Christian Church might well learn of the Order in the matter of visiting the sick. Many had an idea that the minister should attend to that, to give the kindly word and sympathy. When visiting the sick not merely should the minister be there but the eyes of the faithful should be directed to look on Christ in Great Physician. In the relief of distress, and a lesson might be learned. Christian communities were too apt to feel satisfied when they had no poor in their midst, whereas in God's house the rich and poor should come together in perfect equality. He was glad to know that the society of Oddfellows had RELIEVED MUCH DISTRESS during the past year, which would have, but for them, resulted in a late-late pauper. A devout and becoming burial was the last mark of respect that could be given by fellowmen. Hence it was that men who did their country's best service were often accorded a public funeral by fellow countrymen. The burial ceremony was one which spoke powerfully to the instincts of universal man, and by the observance of this rite the Order of Oddfellows was deserving of commendation. Many passages of Scripture commended the taking of interest in the fatherless. For the want of education many orphans, left destitute, though possessed of ability were unable to exert it to advantage.

But knowledge to their eyes her ample page. Men with the eyes of heaven and no earthly trial; Child perished their noble rage. And from the genial current of the soul.

Full many a gem of purest ray serene The dark untroubled cave of ocean bear; Full many a flower is born to blush unseen, And waste its sweetness on the desert air. Some village Hamlets, some with dauntless towers The little tyrant of his fields withstood; Some uninhabited region may have been, Some unexplored Milton here may rest his head. There were orphans taken hold of by societies like these which had risen to the highest pinnacles of professional and mercantile life. Had they not been cared for and supported the world never have heard of the names of some of the great men. Aiding the widow, too, was held out in many places in the Bible. Many a poor widow with a large family of children was now engaged in struggling for life, bearing up with her heavy burden without a murmur. Who was more worthy of a assistance than one in such a state? The society that helped the widow to support her children till they were able to support her was doing a noble Christian work. They that gave help in the name of the Lord would surely reap their reward, even that it was a cup of cold water given to one of the least of God's creatures.

Closing, the preacher said: "May God bless the members of this society; May Heaven's richest blessing rest upon you; may you have joy in your own hearts, laboring under the wishes and approbation of the Lord Jesus Christ."

Anonymous Complaints.

The Medical Health Officer has of late received a number of anonymous complaints, which, when investigated, turned out to be nothing more than humbugs. He will from this time take no action in the matter of any complaint unless the name of the person complaining is signed.

Well Preserved.

To show how well the Snow apples will keep when carefully packed and properly packed we may mention that we have seen one looking as fresh as if just gathered from the tree, being one of a barrel sold to Mr. H. Bush by Mr. James Stewart last October from his orchard on the Dickson Estate.

Flour and Feed.

Mr. Geo. Ward, of Peterborough, has opened up a flour and feed store on George street, next door to Mr. E. Wainwright's butcher shop. The shop is neatly fitted up and well stocked with what should be kept in a first-class shop of the kind. No doubt Mr. Ward will receive his due share of patronage.

Mortality Statistics.

In Montreal there were 350 deaths; in Toronto, 216; in Hamilton, 65; in Ottawa, 63; in Belleville, 13.

Easter Services.

The services in St. John's and St. Luke's Churches on Sunday were largely attended. The churches and altars of both churches were beautifully decorated with flowers. In St. John's Church in the morning the Rector, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Farquhar, of Newcastle, and the Rev. Vincent Clement, administered Holy Communion to a large number of people. During the service Mr. A. F. Farnsworth sang "The King of Love my Shepherd Is," by Good. In the evening the church was again filled with people. The special music consisted of the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittis, by Tours in F, sung by the choir in an impressive manner, a solo, "Blessed be God, the Father," sung antiphonally by Miss Bush and Mrs. Henderson, and a solo by Miss Errett. "Then Didst not Leave my Soul in Hell." The closing offertory was the Hallelujah chorus. The Rector and the Rev. Mr. Farnsworth conducted the evening service. The number of communicants attending the St. Luke's Church celebration was the largest since the establishment of the church in Ashburnham. Special music was given during both morning and evening services.

Methodist Churches.

The number to whom the sacrament was administered in the George Street and Charlotte Street Methodist Churches on Easter Sunday morning was unexampled in the history of Methodism here. At the George Street Church nearly the whole body of the church was filled with communicants. The service lasted from 11 a.m. until nearly 2 p.m. The Rev. I. Tovell, assisted by the Rev. G. H. Davis, officiated. The Rev. F. H. Wallace officiated at the Charlotte Street Church.

Building.

Contractors and builders are astounded at the way work in their line is booming. It was the prevailing opinion among them last fall when the season closed that so great had been the effort during the season a re-contraction would set in this season. But so far, at least, the operations of the present season give promise to outstrip those of last season. One contractor has four contracts on his hands, and says he could get lots more if he would take them. All of the contractors, he says, have about as much as they can do.

The Children's Offering.

In November last the children in the Primary Department of the George Street Methodist Church Sunday School were given "missionary boxes" for the purpose of collecting mission funds. The children were not allowed to go "bagging," but any friend visiting their house might be asked to contribute. The boxes were returned on Sunday afternoon, when the army of little ones marched out of their class room to the general assembly room. Here their offering was received by the Superintendent of the School. The offering amounted to about $40.

Runaway.

While Mr. N. O. O'Neil was driving down Water street on Sunday evening he raised the top on his buggy. The young horse he was driving took fright at the noise and bolted. When drawn in by Mr. O'Neil the animal kicked furiously, to the alarm of Mrs. O'Neil and her child who were also in the buggy. At the corner of Water and Hunter streets several men rushed out and grabbed the horse by the head, endeavoring to quiet it. It was sometime, however, before the animal desisted. Mrs. O'Neil and child were taken out of the buggy and the horse unhitched. The buggy was badly damaged, but no one was hurt.

The Public Buildings.

The following report of a question and answer regarding the Peterborough public buildings is taken from News, the official report of the Parliamentary proceedings:—

"Mr. LANDREIN asked, Why did the Government buy the Phelps lot, on the corner of George and Charlotte streets, the Sawyers' lot, on the corner of Hunter and Water streets, for the post office site in Peterborough?"

"Mr. HASTOR LANGRISH.—The Government have purchased the Sawyers' lot, in order to build thereon the post office, which will thus be used by the town of Peterborough and the people of Ashburnham village, the two places being united by a bridge, to which the street on which the Sawyers' lot is built. The Phelps lot has been also purchased, so that the Custom House and Island Revenue office may be erected thereon, that lot being better situated for this purpose. The post office building will be a smaller building than it would have been if the Custom House and Island Revenue office had been under the same roof. The two buildings will be equal to the one, had it contained all the offices."

Johnston Carey is now offering a line of bright kid button boots at $1.50 per pair. Men's Shoes our own make $2.25, sewed shoes $2.50, 60 pair boys 3 and 4 size lace boots at less than cost. Farwell.

On Saturday evening there was a large attendance at the young men's meeting in the Y. M. C. A. rooms, when the members bade farewell to Mr. J. S. Hall, who has been for several years an active worker in the Association and who was about leaving Peterborough. The expressions of regret were many and sincere, as were also the wishes for his success and prosperity in the future.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1886.

IT WILL NOT DOWN.

AFTER the vote on the Riel question in the House of Commons, as it was presented in Mr. Leask's motion, the Globe and other organs of the Reform party in Ontario urged that the question should be allowed to rest. That is a request the Conservatives would agree to, if the Reform party as a whole would follow the line laid down by the Globe; but it is evident that the organ only intended its words to apply to Ontario and did not desire the ghost to be laid in Quebec. At any rate, the Reform party appear to be determined to make the justice of the execution of Riel the chief test in all elections in Quebec, introducing it into contests for the local legislature as well as in elections for the House of Commons. The Ottawa Free Press, the Reform organ at the capital, says:—

"The Riel issue is squarely presented to the electors in Vercheres county during the present election of a member of the Quebec legislature. Mr. Bernard, the Liberal candidate, has readily signed the Champ de Mars resolutions, while Mr. Carter, the Conservative candidate, has refused."

Exactly! The "Liberal" candidate "readily" signed the resolution declaring Riel to be a hero and a French-Canadian martyr and the Government to be murderers and hangmen for allowing the law to take its course in the case of this rebel and murderer. The issue is "squarely presented" in Vercheres, as it was in the House of Commons, and Mr. Blake, by voting with the Rielites and keeping the question before the electors in Quebec, has secured the support of the friends of the rebels for his party; but he may rest assured that the people of Ontario and the other Provinces, as well as the loyal and law-abiding citizens of Quebec, will not allow this question to be an issue only in such constituencies as Mr. Blake and his friends may choose. The eyes of the people of the Dominion are upon the Rielites; they know who the Rielites in the House of Commons are; and they will not, by any empty catch cries, be blinded to the unpatriotic and exceedingly mischievous course pursued by Mr. Blake and his assistants for the sole purpose of trying to secure office for themselves. The issue is being "squarely presented" by the Reform leaders, and it will be squarely met at the polls.

The opposition in Committee of Supply grumbled over the expenditure of three thousand odd dollars for cobblers. They did not, however, like the London Advertiser last year, insist that the amount was ten times as great as it really was. They do not utter their gross falsehoods in the House where they can be answered and refuted on the spot, but keep them for editorial and platform speeches, where their slanders may, they hope, be believed by some who do not read or hear the truth.

For some reason or other the Globe does not like judges, but this illiberalism on the part of the Rielite organ does not warrant its disgraceful editorial attack upon Chief Justice Cameron because he presided in court when damages were given against the Globe for libel. The judge's charge is published in the Globe, and does not give the slightest excuse for this ruffianly attack.

FORMING A MINISTRY

The Parliaments of the Dominion of the Home Rule Bill.

NEW YORK, April 27.—The Herald's London special says: "The World says that Mr. Parnell and his friends are so confident of success that they have already begun to constitute a ministry, which will be formed on the establishment of the Irish Parliament. The member for Cork will, of course, be Prime Minister, or, as his formal title will probably be, President of the Irish Council, and the distribution of other offices will be as follows: Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. A. A. O'Connor; Minister of the Interior, Mr. Sexton; Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Bagenal; Minister of Education, Justin McCarthy; Minister of Public Works, T. F. O'Connor; Minister of Justice, Mr. Channon; Attorney General, Mr. Healey; Solicitor General, D. Sullivan; Minister of Commerce, Mr. Harrington. It is also intended to appoint a minister who shall have charge of the relations of Ireland with the Irish in America. Probably Patrick Egan will be brought over to fill the position. John Dillon will be speaker of the new Irish Parliament. The World estimates that Mr. Chamberlain will only take with him 15 or 20 followers."

LONDON, April 27.—The Marquis of Lorne has written a letter to the Times, in which he says: "It is possible that over much weight is attached to the approval expressed by public bodies in America and Canada of Mr. Gladstone's bill. It is always politic for the two political parties in America to enlist Irish sympathy. The approval expressed of the bill is generally hardly embossed with details. The American system of Government is as far removed from a programme of autonomy for breakfast and much more for dinner, as expressed by Mr. Davis, as chalk is from cheese."

CARLETON, April 27.—The City Council has adopted a series of congratulatory resolutions and called them to Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Parnell.

Ordered Off Their Farms

ST. PAUL, Minn., April 28.—A special despatch from Fort Pierre, Dakota, says that great excitement exists there in consequence of an order issued by the interior department, ordering all merchants and residents of the Fort Pierre reservation within 30 days. This will involve a loss of $500,000. The settlers held a meeting and resolved not to move except at the point of the bayonet.

ORINIONS OF THE PRESS

WHAT'S IN A NAME.

The Parliament of Canada is coming to a pretty pass when a seer member of Parliament, named Homer, introduces a bill to incorporate the Shuswap and Okanagan railway, which is to run between Shuswap Narrows on the Shuswap and Shuswap lake to the Okanagan lake. If this goes on the House will demand extra indemnity for tear and wear of jaw.—Montreal Witness.

PAINFULLY INTOLERABLE.

Twelve months ago the Northwest rebellion was a serious matter. The memories thereof are still serious. When Mr. Eiger posed as the apologist of the rebels he was merely painful. When he sneers at the men who suppressed the rebellion he becomes intolerable.—Toronto World (Indep.).

AN OBVIOUS MORAL.

Without wishing to gloss over the misfortune of our neighbors, Canadians can very justly point out to the recent cyclone in Minnesota as a reason why our Canadian North-West should be selected as a home, in preference to the contiguous American States. Tornadoes are unknown north of the 49th parallel, while a summer never passes without some Minnesota towns being lifted up and distributed over the surrounding ten miles. The moral is obvious. Go to the Canadian North West in preference to Minnesota.—Ottawa Journal.

NO COMPLAINT THERE.

The Globe came out recently severely criticising the action of His Honor Judge Morgan as a K-y-ing legislator. The Mail replied, completely refuting all the charges of a serious character. "No one complained of Judge Morgan's acts in this riding."—Newmarket Era (Reform).

SUPERANNUATION.

The Globe's special reference to C. L. Bernard (merely because he is Sir John's brother-in-law) is particularly brutal. This gentleman was our first Deputy Minister of Justice and gave all the best years of his life to a public service, of which for many years he was the most active member. He is now hopelessly crippled and infirm. His contemporaries, Mr. E. A. Meredith, was the first Under Secretary of State, and was many years ago superannuated at the instance of the Globe's friends, then in power. Mr. Meredith is one of the best known men in the streets of Toronto, occupies several honorable positions in the business world here, and looks as if he would continue to do so for many years yet. Presumably he draws a pension from the Superannuation Fund, and nobody grudges him the dol.—Toronto World (Indep.).

ACQUITTED OF MURDER

A Case that Excited Berlin and is Still Wrapped in Mystery.

BERLIN, April 26.—The trial of John Calim Ravennus for the murder of William Jertis, was concluded at the Amster here on Saturday night. It occupied all Friday and Saturday, and created intense interest. Mr. W. H. Bowley presided for the Crown, and Mr. John King defended the prisoner. The accused is 17 years old, and the son of an English gentleman, who was once wealthy, but died poor seven years ago. His mother is a lady in reduced circumstances at Hastings in England. The accused had been hired at Wehr's farm in Waterloo township, was badly treated by Wehr, went to the States and returned to Wehr for his clothes, which he had previously left there. This was on the 8th of November last. He was seen going to and returning from the farm, was spoken to at the place by two children, and was charged with murdering on that day Jertis, a German boy, aged 15, who was hired to Wehr. The two were utter strangers to each other. Neither could speak or understand the other's language, and there was no apparent motive for the crime. The Crown theory was that Wehr was an intended victim, and that Jertis was killed first to get him out of the way when Wehr should arrive at the barn, where Jertis was killed, to feed his cattle. Jertis's body was found covered with oil on the threshold floor of the barn, killed, it was supposed, by a club. The deceased had previously said he had a mind to put Ravennus out of the barn. There was also evidence of a confession by prisoner. The defence accounted for Ravennus's whereabouts and manner of living after leaving Wehr. All this was favorable. Dr. Clarke of the Toronto asylum, and Dr. Bingham of Waterloo were called by the defence to prove that Ravennus was the victim of a secret vice and feeble minded, but not mentally diseased. Ravennus is well educated, quiet and refined looking, with large brilliant eyes and fine features. The Judge (Hon. Justice O'Connor) charged against prisoner, who was acquitted. His Lordship complimented counsel for the prisoner on his very able defence, which was all the more creditable as the service was gratuitous, from motives of charity. It proved, he said, that there were some lawyers who would discharge an onerous professional duty from higher motives than mere pecuniary reward. An acquittal was unexpected, although it is known that the jury were eleven to one soon after they retired. They were out two hours. The prisoner and his counsel were warmly congratulated. There was a great deal of excitement over the trial and the result. The case altogether was most interesting and mysterious.

A HEARTLESS SKIPPER

The Master of a Yankee Schooner Refused Aid to a Lost Yacht's Crew.

A Halifax, N. S., despatch says:—While fishing on the western banks on Thursday afternoon the schooner Uncle Sam, Captain d'Estremond, of Pabook, with a crew of twenty-one men, was found to be on fire. Immediately after the discovery volumes of flames shot up from the cabin. All hands engaged in an attempt to douse out the fire, but it rapidly increased, and as there was a keg of fifteen pounds of powder in the cabin which was liable to blow the ship to pieces at any moment the crew took to the dories and abandoned the vessel to its fate. They had hardly got clear when the explosion occurred, blowing out the stern of the ship and scattering portions of the deck in every direction. At sundown the men rowed four miles to the American schooner Bertha L. N. Peterson, of Bathurst, Maine. Captain Nathan Peterson, who refused to allow the shipwrecked men to stay on that vessel, and told them they had better seek British shelter. It was then dark, but the American captain was inexorable, and the Uncle Sam's crew then started in their dories for another shipman lying about five miles off. She was reached at midnight and found to be the schooner Eldorado, of Ladye. They were taken on board, treated kindly and brought to Halifax to-day. The Uncle Sam was worth $5,000 and insured for $3,000.

Stanley's Paraphrase.

Somebody has thought it worth while to send by cable the report that an old lady dying in England had declared herself to be the mother of Henry M. Stanley, and thus is likely to be revived all the saddest gossip touching Stanley's nationality and parentage. Stanley never disowned his parentage, but he kept it shady simply because he was at one time shallow enough to imagine that to give the Livingston adventure its greatest effect in this country it ought to be believed that the adventurous correspondent was an American. As a matter of fact he was an Englishman as roset and plain pudding could make him.—Boston Courier.

THE POTATO ROT.

The following paper has been prepared at the request of the Department of Agriculture by J. Hayes Panton, M. A., Professor of Natural History at the Agricultural College:—

The use of the microscope in the fields of scientific research has revealed much that is of importance to man. Many forms of disease, about whose origin little was known, have had much light shed upon them since this instrument was employed in their study, both among animals and plants. We find now that man is constantly assailed by invisible foes—some attacking himself and others the food which he eats. During the past summer and fall a striking example of this occurred in the prevalence of the so-called "potato rot," which has proved a great loss throughout the Province and in many parts of the United States. In the bulletin issued in November from the Bureau of Industries, we learn that the "rot" prevailed throughout the whole southern belt of the Province. In many cases one-half to three-fourths of the crop was destroyed, and in some it was not worth digging. With such disaster around us, the questions are naturally suggested, What is the cause of the "rot"? and, What remedies can be adopted?

Cause.—This disease has received a great deal of attention from botanists since the days when it became a scourge in Ireland and other parts of the British Isles, and it is now conceded to be the result of a minute fungus called Phytophthora infestans. This attacks all parts of the plant—leaves, stems and tubers. By those ignorant of the life history of this tiny parasitic plant little attention is paid to its appearance on the tops, and so harm is experienced until the potatoes are affected. But being very contagious, its presence on the leaves should be a serious matter, especially when we remember that it spreads with great rapidity. It is usually indicated by the tops presenting a blotched, brown, spotted, dead appearance. A close examination of the potatoes showing this will discover innumerable slender stems growing up out of the surface of the leaves and stems of the affected plants. These branch and small root at the ends into pale, almost minute bodies (spores), which are produced by millions. When ripe they separate from the stem and being exceedingly light pass into the atmosphere, where they are waiting about, many of them finally reaching the ground or settling upon plants. Under favorable conditions of moisture and heat the contents of a microscopic spore may push out a long minute tube, which can penetrate into any part of the potato plant and give rise to the fungus; or may separate into several distinct portions (warm spores) which burst through the skin of the tuber and become the source of the parasitic plant. The minute plant which lives in the tube and tubers is very minute, and can be seen only by the aid of the microscope. It consists of many colourless, branching, thread-like structures. These penetrate the tissues of the potato and feed upon the juices, so that it soon withers and begins to wither away. From the thread-like structures tiny stalks arise, assuming beautiful plant-like forms and bearing upon their branches the spores already referred to. They live but a short time, but the thread-like structures which remain in the tuber are capable of producing new spores. From the three-like structures tiny stalks arise, assuming beautiful plant-like forms and bearing upon their branches the spores already referred to. They live but a short time, but the thread-like structures which remain in the tuber are capable of producing new spores.

Remedies.—The "rot" usually appears about the first two weeks in August, if the weather is favorable it spreads very rapidly, for as soon as the thread-like structures which arise from the spores are introduced it immediately becomes spore-bearing. Hence the importance of examining the plants for the appearance of the brownish spots that indicate the presence of the fungus. As soon as discovered, dig the potatoes, delay will allow it to spread to the stems, and thence to the tubers. If it reaches these and damp weather comes, "rot" will certainly appear. After digging, the potatoes should be put in a cold, dry place, thus surrounding them with conditions unfavorable for the growth of the fungus, if any happens to be upon them. Growing early varieties in a cold, dry place, so that they may mature before the season arrives when this parasite is likely to affect the crop.

4. All potato stalks in affected lands should be gathered and buried, and the millions of spores which may be upon them. 5. Use none but good seed. If at all affected, reject them; and plant in well drained land. If the potatoes to be used for seed have been taken from culms where affected by the rot, they are likely to have the microscopic spores on them and escape notice. It would be best to get seed from unaffected districts. 6. It is scarcely necessary to remark that it would be injudicious to plant potatoes in the same field the following year after a visitation of the "rot," inasmuch as the ground may retain the spores of the disease. 7. Avoid planting on heavy clay soil, but prefer a light and dry soil, and the best of the fewest conditions suitable for the growth of the fungus. The nature of our climate is not so favorable for the development of this injurious fungus as that of Britain; yet as we are so much visited by it, and although scarcely viewed as a scourge, it is well that we should remember its nature and habits, and always be ready to guard against its return. As last summer was favorable for its propagation, great care should be exercised in the selection of seed this spring.

A Cotton Experiment.

PORT WORTH, Tex., April 27.—The Case of Russia has determined to introduce a new agricultural product into his domain, especially in Asiatic Russia. Some years ago Francis Vogel, formerly a citizen of San Antonio, went to Russia, and has superior business ability and American methods of improving the land attracted the attention of the Grand Duke Alexia, who even became acquainted with him. Mr. Vogel has been endeavoring to get the consent of the Czar to introduce the planting of American cotton. The Czar has consented, and has instructed the Grand Duke to lead his personal aid to Mr. Vogel. The implement used by cotton planters of the most improved American manufacture will be sent to Russia with a cargo of seed.

They Killed the Bear.

Two little fellows of the name of Burge living near Manitowish Lake, Manitowish Island, found a bear in a tree. One of them stayed to keep him in the tree, while the other went for his father and a neighbor. Mr. Burge, arrived about the same time, armed with a shot gun and butch-knife. After receiving a charge of buckshot the bear shot down the tree, and a neighbor from the tree shot him in the back of the head. Mr. Burge made him scramble up again when a second shot finished him.

William Martale and John Riley were arrested in the act of burglarizing a second hand store in London on Sunday night. Each of the fellows had three suits of clothes on, the pockets of which were filled with jewelry.

Matthew Carroll, of Hamilton, while being arrested by Chief Stewart and Constable Campbell managed to mix things so that the Chief hit Campbell two or three energetic cracks on the head before he discovered that he was not hitting Carroll.

At Elbow River, N.W.T., an Indian shot at Mr. H. Atkinson because he laughed at seeing the Indian cowered in the river from a pony's back. Two grains of buckshot entered Mr. Atkinson's shoulder. The Indian was promptly arrested by the Mounted Police.

Mrs. Richard Hall, of Victoria, B. C., was thrown out of a runaway dog cart, and her foot getting caught between the whiffletree and the body of the vehicle, she was dragged along the ground for over a mile. She only lived a few hours after being rescued.

Last week two men named Depres and Vallee, employed in taking stone out of the face of a cliff at Point Levi, were precipitated 100 feet by an avalanche of earth from the top of the cliff. Both were seriously injured; Depres, it is feared, fatally, as his skull is fractured.

At Hamilton, Henry Shaw, Frank Spencer Sutherland and George Patterson have been arrested on a charge of stabbing John Lynch, a moulder, on Saturday night, and pretty near killing him. It is possible the wounded man may yet die and the prisoners be held to answer a charge of murder.

Why will you suffer when 35 cents will buy a bottle of West's Pain King and one dose will cure the worst case of colic or cramps and a few doses will cure summer complaint, dysentery, diarrhea or flux. Go to J. D. Tully's and purchase a bottle without delay.

Still another farmer has got into the tolls charged with bigamy. His name is Isiah Sharp of North Dorchester. At the preliminary examination before the P. M. at Ingersoll both wives put in an appearance with the clergyman who tied the knot, and altogether things look pretty blue for Isiah.

"BURNS AND SCALDS"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and quickly heal the wound; it costs but twenty-five cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

HANDY TO HAVE.—Every household should have some ready remedy at hand for painful diseases, sudden attacks of inflammation and accidental injuries. Such a remedy is best found in Hagar's Yellow Oil for internal and external use. It cures rheumatism, sore throat, croup, neuralgia, lame back, sprains, bruises and burns.

Henry Handfield, eldest son of the late Hon. John Handfield Macdonald, died at Cornwall on Saturday, never having recovered from a stroke he received eight days previously when conducting a case in the Court House. He had a curative practice, and was a lawyer of ability.

THERE IS NOTHING LIKE IT.—There is no one remedy offered to suffering humanity whose use is so universal and frequently required as Hagar's Yellow Oil, for rheumatism, neuralgia, colic, sore throat, deafness, croup, lumbago and sores, pains, lameness and soreness of all kinds, when laterally and externally used.

A GREAT AWAKENING.—There is a great awakening of the sluggish organs of the human system whenever Burdock Blood Bitters are taken. It arouses the torpid liver to action, regulates the bowels and the kidneys, purifies the blood, and restores a healthy tone to the system generally.

"What is good for a cold?" is a question often asked, but seldom satisfactorily answered. We can answer to the satisfaction of all, if they will follow our advice and try Hagar's Pectoral Balm, a safe, pleasant and certain throat and lung healer. Hold by all druggists.

TUESDAY, APRIL 27.—A bill was introduced by Mr. White to enable the Government to SUPPLY.

The House went into Committee of Supply.

Mr. McMillan criticised expenditure for contingencies, and by including travelling expenses as cash hire tried to make a point. He wondered how the Minister of Militia took his spurs into a cash.

Mr. ADOLPHUS CANON exposed Mr. McMillan's trick, and added that that gentleman, when the riot was taken, needed no spur to accelerate his movements in getting out of the House to escape voting.

Mr. ROBERT CARTWRIGHT asked for information regarding the conduct of Judge Travis.

Mr. THOMPSON (Antiquary) said that complaints against Mr. Travis had been forwarded to Judge Taylor, of Manitoba, had been appointed to investigate them.

Mr. WATSON said that the people in the west required special handling.

Mr. WATSON (Ontario) protested against the inquiry and said that the people of the west were an intelligent body.

Mr. GILMORE and Irvine defended Judge

Travis.

The House adjourned at 1.40 a. m.

CARTRIDGE POWDER.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28.—SIR A. P. CANON, in replying to Mr. Mulock, said the Government down to ask for a larger vote. He (Mr. Hilliard) had every hope that when the supplementary estimates came down a larger vote would be proposed.

Mr. COCKBURN would be glad to see a million spent on the canal every year till it was completed.

Mr. WHITE (Renfrew) thought the depth of water proposed would be inadequate. He did not wish to prevent or delay the improvement of the navigation of the Trent valley canal, but as a means of water communication from the North-West, he believed the Ottawa canal would be better.

Mr. ROBERTSON (Hastings) urged the importance of the canal and hoped to see an increased sum placed in the estimates this year for the construction of the work.

Mr. FORD said he thought the delegation which came to Ottawa was satisfied that the Government was really in earnest with regard to this canal, but it was exploded to them that there were very heavy works on hand or just being completed, and the Government was not in a position to put large sums of money in the estimates as for new works on it the country had taken a rest. It came with a grace from Mr. Cook to say that the Government was not in earnest about this work. Let him contrast its position now to what it was in 1878. Then a portion of it had been handed over to the Provincial Government and a good deal of work was abandoned. The present Government had accordingly to commence anew. But as the progress of the work large sums of money had been appropriated for other undertakings, such as the Welland Canal, and on other three circumstances the Government could not be expected to go much faster than it had. With reference to the observations of Mr. White he could only say that he had no objection to have patience with him. He had no objection to have patience with him. He had no objection to have patience with him.

Mr. BLAKE asked if the Government had an estimate of the cost of this work.

Mr. FORD said they would be laid on the table. The motion passed.

PROHIBITION OF SPIRITS.

Mr. BEATT introduced a bill to amend the Act respecting Intoxicating Liquors. He said the bill proposed to give an alternative option to any municipality which had not adopted the Scott Act, to adopt an Act prohibiting the sale of spirits in their municipalities. The bill would not interfere with the Scott Act or apply to those cities or counties where the Scott Act was in force. Should the Scott Act cease its operation in any county then the bill he was introducing might take effect.

SUPERANNUATION.

Mr. McMILLAN moved for a return showing the names of superannuated officials. He condemned the superannuation system.

PRIVATE BILLS.

Several private bills were read the third time.

CONTAGIOUS DISEASES.

Mr. MULOCK moved the third reading of the bill to amend the Animal Contagious Diseases Act.

Mr. WHITE (Renfrew) introduced an amendment to provide that horses affected with glanders should come under the law.

After some discussion the amendment was lost.

LAW OF EVIDENCE.

Mr. ROBERTSON's bill for the further amendment of the law of evidence in certain cases was passed through Committee.

On the motion for the third reading Mr. Desjardins moved the six months' postponement of the bill, says 68.

The bill was read a third time and passed. The House adjourned at 10.30 p.m.

DEATH BY A FALL.

John H. Thompson, a Resident of Peterborough, killed in Toronto.

Mr. W. Brundrette, President of Lansdowne Lodge, Ross of England, here, received a telegram at 11 o'clock on Thursday night from the President of St. George's Lodge, Toronto, stating that Bro. J. H. Thompson, had succumbed to the effects of a fall, and asking that the officers here break the news to the wife and family of the deceased. Mr. Brundrette immediately made enquiries and found out the house occupied by Bro. Thompson, situated on London street, and there found four children, the eldest being a girl of seventeen years of age. Mrs. Thompson was at the Nichol's Hospital under treatment. The local lodge sent the girl to Toronto this morning, she alone of the family being apprised of the sad event. This morning Mr. Brundrette and Dr. Pearson broke the news to Mrs. Thompson, who, notwithstanding her sickness, insists on going to Toronto this evening.

It seems that the deceased, a Slater by trade, was working on a building on Robert street, Toronto, on Tuesday. The scaffolding, which was of a very flimsy character, broke away, falling Mr. Thompson fall to the ground, a distance of about twenty-five feet. He fell on his head and with such force that a hole was made in the ground several inches. He was removed to his dwelling house and afterwards to a hospital, where he expired on Thursday evening.

The deceased was a resident of Peterborough. He stated the new St. Andrew's Church, also the Canadian P. O. & R. Railway Station.

It May be Remembered.

—That the Scott Act goes into force to-morrow.

—That the totalities say they won't sell liquor.

—That the druggists have not yet taken out licenses.

—That it's likely it'll be a cold water day all round—except for such as have laid in a supply.

—That the broom drill will be repeated at the Opera House this evening.

—That there have been placed around the shade trees in front of the Police Station.

GLORYING IN THEIR SHARE

In the issue of April 27th, a considerable time after the event, the London Advertiser says:—
 "The following gentlemen who formerly supported the Government joined with the Opposition in their vote of censure upon Mr. Laurier's motion in reference to the half-breed graves: Oakes, Gaudet, Desjardins, O'Connell, Galt, Desjardins, Bergeron, Amyot, Giguere, Dupont and Mitchell. These gentlemen are not likely to support the Government on their general policy any longer. This means a weakening of the Government to the extent of ten, and the strengthening of the Opposition by the same number."
 This is an assumption that is by no means warranted by facts. The majority at least of these members have repeatedly voted with the Government both before and since the division in question, and seem far more disposed to support the "general policy" of the Administration than that of the Opposition, if indeed it can be said to have any.

Not taking the ground that these members may vote with the Opposition on some questions, and thus weaken the Government on what might prove a decisive division, even then the position is by no means so disastrous to the Administration as the Advertiser would infer. This defection, even if not counterbalanced, would still leave a very large majority, so great is the numerical support given by the representatives of the people to the Cabinet. But it would be counterbalanced, for, as we have seen, a great number of the Ontario Reformers refused to follow their leaders into their iniquitous coalition to punish the constitutional authorities of Canada for allowing justice to be done to a murderous and venal rebel.

It will be noticed that the Advertiser speaks of only ten votes as charged, though there are eleven on its list. Probably it excepts the "independent" Mr. Mitchell, and there remain the Blais "bolters," eager to avenge the death of their hero Riel. Such an omission will not add to the Opposition numbers to an operative extent and it certainly cannot strengthen them morally. Both in and out of the House honest Reformers have plainly shown their disgust at the baseness of their leaders, Messrs. Blake, Mills, Cameron, Edgar, &c., supported by the Toronto Globe, the London Advertiser and other unscrupulous journals, in banding themselves with the advocates of murder, rebellion, and blackmailing, in order that they may endeavor to crawl into power over the corpse of an executed criminal, for whose execution they were prepared to clamour even more loudly if he had been spared the just punishment of his crimes.

The Advertiser has indeed secured ten half-hearted allies, but on the other hand they have split their old parliamentary forces and they have drawn from them thousands of their former supporters in the electorate.

A GLOBE SLANDERER

An inventive "own correspondent" of the leading Revue in Ontario has been visiting St. Louis de Langens, and sends a farrago of falsehoods to his journal. In some of his misstatements he is directly contradicted by the official records. He declares that only one settler got his entries, but among those whose names he mentioned, there is one who has obtained his patent and several who got entries. He gives a pretended list of settlers in the Parish of St. Louis de Langens at the time that the lands were sold to the Prince Albert Colonization Company, and then says that his list is an answer to the question as to the names of the Metis who were deprived of the lands by the Government in favor of that Company. He does not, however, venture to name one of them as having actually been deprived of his land, for he knows that some were so deprived, the land of any settler being carefully exempted from the grant.

With these glaring falsehoods exposed, no credence can be given to his wild statements as to the Canadian officials. Being like the Globe itself an ally of thieves, murderers and rebels, he is naturally antagonistic to the lawful authorities of his country, and is not particular by what vile slander he can attack them.

A Note on the G. T. R.

MONTREAL, April 28.—The freemasons in the Grand Truck depot have struck work. It seems the Company undertook the prosecution of two workmen who were found before the Recorder this morning and dismissed this morning from the Company's service, and the others went out asking that Wilkinson be dismissed and the other two be reinstated. A deputation will wait on Mr. Wells to try and come to arrangements.

Vanity of a Canary.

The habit of the canary to sing is in any conversation that may be going on in the family circle is a reason why many refrain from hounding this cheerful little bird as a pet. A naturalist has discovered a way of remedying this difficulty. He says: "We put in our canary bird once every day a little mirror, as large as the palm of my hand, taking care that neither sun nor light should come from it, and he will look at himself for hours together with as much happiness as any young gentleman who ever saw. When we want him to stop singing we only have to take him the mirror."

DISTURBED GALICIA

Conflicts Between Landlords and Peasantry—Anarchy Prevailing.

New York, April 28.—The Standard of Carrow special says:—Galician landlords are panic-stricken by the news from the west of the province and are abandoning their estates and pouring into this city and Lemberg by hundreds. The peasants are rising in all directions, and it is feared that unless the agitation which began so strangely last week is promptly and sternly suppressed there will be a repetition of the awful scenes of 1846, when the peasantry, led by a local Jack Cade, and armed with scythes and pikes, burned, slew and ravaged like savages. The natives are ignorant and superstitious, and are easily led away by agitators, the emissaries of many of whom are suspected, despite official denials, to be Russian agents, and are tramping about from village to village and hut to hut preaching rebellion. A wave of madness seems to have swept over the districts of Gribow, Turnow and Braskow, where frenzied men, women and boys go about exhorting the peasants to rise against the landlords, who are endeavoring to persuade the Kaiser to allow them to re-establish the old feudal bond service. In many villages knots of peasants may be seen clustering open-mouthed, around some crazy visionary, who is prophesying the end of the world, and bidding them to slay and rob their oppressors. At night the vast Galician plains are studded with flickering torches, and excited groups gather in the woods eagerly commenting on the predictions. Superstition is being artfully used to fan the flame of discontent, long smoldering in West Galicia, where the peasantry are wretchedly poor and have many real grievances. The Socialists also are taking advantage of the agitation to spread their doctrines here. There have been collisions between the pandur and insurgents, several hundred of whom have been arrested. On Sunday the priests in the disturbed districts preached sermons against rebellion to reassure the peasantry as to the intentions of the Government. This had some effect for a time, but yesterday fresh risings were reported. Troops are scouring the country.

The London Chamber of Commerce offers a prize of £50 for the best essay on the subject of "Imperial Federation." The successful essay, which must be the work of one of Her Majesty's subjects, will have to formulate a practical working plan for the federation of the colonies and the mother country.

A new bridge is to be built across the Thames near the Tower of London, and proposals for constructing the lower portion of the staircases and two piers, sent in by sixteen leading firms in various parts of the country, varied from £131,344 to £224,847, a difference of nearly £100,000. The engineer and the architect varied £25,000 on their estimate of the cost of the work.

Mrs. Helen Blake, of Kensington, lately died intestate, and left a large estate which reverted to the Crown. But an unexecuted draft of her will left £2,000 each to Member of Parliament Dillwyn and The O'Connor Don, and as it was clearly the wish of the testator the money has been paid, minus $1,000 legacy duty, to the two gentlemen, neither of whom remembers ever to have seen Mrs. Helen Blake, who is presumed to have been captured by their eloquence in the House of Commons.

Workmen on the Clyde have been greatly irritated by the arrival of more than a hundred Germans from Bremen to finish the wood fittings of a large steamer being built at Glasgow.

At a meeting of the Scottish Angling Association held in Glasgow on the 4th inst., it was resolved to petition Parliament in favor of free access to all the rivers in Scotland for angling purposes.

A BARBAROUS case of arson lately happened at Lanthorn. Miss Eliza Milne, teacher of the Douglas Cottage School, was ejected from her house, and her bedridden mother, 65 years of age, removed from her bed and placed on a wicker chair by the wayside. She lay there for two hours and then expired.

A RECENT explosion occurred at Leith four miles, causing the death of three persons and injury to several others. The occurrence took place in the boiler house, which was completely wrecked, heavy blocks of stone being hurled some distance on the roadways. The bodies of a scavenger and two children were found beneath the mass of masonry in the night, and two women employed in the mill and two boys were badly scalded by the bursting of a large exhaust steam pipe. A disastrous explosion and fire occurred at the same mill about twelve years ago.

The output from the Clyde shipbuilding yards during the month of March is one of the smallest on record, and were it not for the fact that a large number of vessels lie on the stocks almost ready for launching, the state of trade might well be regarded as alarming. The vessels have left the slips, and these only total 61,000 tons, of which 23,000 tons are embodied in one vessel. The first quarter of the year is now completed, and during that period vessels of an aggregate tonnage of 55,559 tons have been launched, as against 36,316 tons in the corresponding period of last year, while in the first quarter of the years 1881 and 1883 the outputs were 63,308 tons and 53,617 tons respectively.

THERE are no detailed statistics as to the cost of execution in Ireland, but this much may be said, that Britain, to preserve the peace, needs to keep an army 20,000 strong, and as each soldier costs about £100, that roughly put means three millions a year; the armed constabulary force costs in addition £1,350,000 a year.

THE Curstons of Aberdeen, at the last Shute Hall at Dabbin Castle, desired to much perfection an Irish gig with Lord Grassard. Fordism and Shivers.
On Tuesday, May 4th, Mr. Ferdinand Shivers will deliver a lecture entitled the "Five Steps of a Drunkard," in Bradburn's Opera House. Admission free. There will be a silver collection to which all are expected to contribute.

Lacrosse.
It is time that the Lacrosse club had set about to do something. In other towns in the district the clubs are hard at work, and as challenges are held over from last year the Peterboroughs will now soon be called on to play. If practice is not put in the same story that was told at the commencement of the season last year will likely be told over again. It is probably that Burnham's Point can easily be secured until the Riverside Park is ready. Capt. Rodkins should see to the matter.

To Visit Peterborough.
During May Peterborough is to be visited by a distinguished personage, the father of the Anglo-Israel theory, Mr. Edward Hines. Mr. Hines will deliver a lecture here by which he claims to prove that the English and American people are the last tribes of Israel. He has established some seven hundred points or proof of identification of these people with the last tribes and claims as converts Queen Victoria, President Cleveland, Stanley, a great many army and navy officers, over a thousand ministers of the gospel, bishops, judges, and other great and good persons. Dr. Wild, of Toronto, and Dr. Focke, of Detroit, are both pupils of his. The lecture will doubtless create much interest here.

Exonerated.
On Tuesday evening an Investigation Committee took evidence in regard to whether Constable Craig was guilty of inhuman treatment of the late Thomas Crowley, which charge was made in the Examiner by a correspondent after reading the circumstances of the arrest published in the Review. The facts brought to light by the examination of Constable Craig and other witnesses agree in detail with the facts published in the Review, but that Committee disagreed with the Examiner's correspondent and held that Constable Craig was not in the least to blame, Constable Craig was called at 11 o'clock at night to attend to the matter. He went lantern in hand and found a man stupefied with the effects of liquor, and having upon him no marks of having suffered injury. The man was quite unable to stand or walk and Constable Craig, not having an ambulance at his command, had to adopt the best means possible of taking him to the lock up, which means was by the use of a wheelbarrow. The Committee declared that Constable Craig simply did his duty.

The Rev. I. Torrell departed for Montreal today, where he will assist in the examinations and take part in the closing exercises of the Wesleyan Theological College.

Mr. E. J. Salisbury takes charge of Messrs' Salisbury Bros' stationery store here on account of the absence of his brother, who is suffering from an attack of inflammation of the bones of his right hand.

Mr. N. A. Doss, Freight and Passenger Agent of the Santa Fe Railway, and Mr. G. D. Masfield, Traveling Agent of the same Railway, were in town to-day.

CHANGE OF REGULATION

THE LAST DAY OF THE CROOK'S ACT—THE NEW REGIME.

New the Hotelkeepers (Intend to Act—Preliminary Effects—Extraordinary Sale of Liquor—The Scott Act Association Resolves.

At twelve o'clock to-night the Canada Temperance Act, popularly known as the Scott Act, which was submitted to, and approved of, by the people of the Town and County of Peterborough last September, goes into force.

A meeting of the hotel men was held on Thursday evening at the Grand Central Hotel for the purpose of taking some united action as to how they would face the incoming act. It was unanimously resolved to abide by the law and to open their bars for the sale of temperance drinks. The hotels running omnibuses and cabs to the railway depots will impose a fee for carrying guests and baggage to and from the stations, and those having yards will also charge an admission fee for "shed room" or stabling. By this means they hope to make amends for the loss of revenue by the suspension of the sale of liquor, at the same time they look forward to the early adoption of the beer and wine clause by Parliament.

The preliminary effects of the Scott Act are already apparent. The wine and liquor stores have driven a tremendous trade during the past two weeks, increasing day by day as the time for the introduction of the Act approaches. One liquor dealer claims to have done more business during the past two weeks than in ordinary times he would do in six months. Another partner in a large store says that by to-night their whole stock will be cleared out. Clerks in the liquor stores are fairly run off their feet, and the delivery wagons are kept busy from early morning till late at night, carrying liquor in kegs and bottles to those who are laying in a supply. The same is the case with Calcutt's brewery. An unusual number of orders have been received and are being filled as rapidly as possible.

Mr. C. Lout has, to meet the requirements of the law, established a delivery office outside of the County of Peterborough, the distributing point being Stirling. To this place he will ship his ale and porter, and from thence it will be distributed where required. But Mr. Calcutt expects a large falling off in trade, one item alone, the Peterborough hotel trade, being a serious loss. To repair this gap in his revenues he intends to establish a ginger beer factory in connection with the brewery.

The Scott Act association are very reticent as to the means which they are going to adopt for the enforcement of the Act. No information is supplied to anyone outside the pale of membership to the association, as to the methods to be adopted. This silence of the Scott Act people is ominous, and seems to mean a good deal more than loud talk. At any rate the hotelmen had better stick closely to their resolution. Rumours are afloat that an extraordinary large sum has been subscribed by Scott Act people to make provisions for a strict enforcement.

The appointment of a County Magistrate has not yet been gazetted, but Mr. Dumble, as Town Magistrate, will hear all town cases until his appointment is officially announced.

Wanted, Coat and Vest Makers.
Good Coat and Vest Makers wanted. Apply to ANDREW McNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

The Boys.
Another boys' meeting will be held in the Young Men's Christian Association hall this evening, to be conducted by Mr. Wm. Gilbert. These meetings are particularly well attended, there being from thirty to forty boys present at each. This evening Mr. Gilbert will give his young hearers some glimpses of boy life in Chicago, imitating the newboys' and general vendors' mode of making sales.

Bazaar.
The bazaar still continues in Bradburn's Opera House and is being marked with much success. The hall was kept well crowded during the day. At noon the dinner tables were crowded, all enjoying the excellent repast provided by the ladies. The bazaar will close to-night. At eight o'clock this evening the "Broom drill," which was presented with so much success on Tuesday evening, will be repeated, and at the same time the bazaar will be in progress. Admission to both is only ten cents. No doubt many will go to see the novel sight. The ladies go through the drill in a really creditable manner.

Waterworks.
A large amount of work is to be done by the Peterborough Water Company this summer. The most prominent matter to be taken in hand is the fulfilling the contract with the town, which involves the laying down of three miles of main, and the stationing of thirty additional hydrants. When this work is finished the town will possess a complete means of fire extinguishing, excepting only the more isolated parts. There will then be sixty-two hydrants connected with the waterworks system. A large number of orders have come in from the districts through which the mains are to be run, and this will form an important part in the season's operations.

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. 25 cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for "Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup," and take no other kind.

$40,000 FIRE AT LINDSAY

THE MILL OF THE SCUGOG PAPER COMPANY DESTROYED.

Buildings and Machinery a Total Loss.—The Property Insured for Half Its Value.—A Lamp Explosion the Cause.

Last night (Friday) a fire started in the upper flat of the large mill owned by the Scugog Paper Mill Company at Lindsay, and in less than an hour the buildings, machinery and entire equipment were destroyed.

The mill property was very valuable, having at times during the last five years been fitted up with the most improved machinery for the manufacture of straw and rag papers and roofing felt. It was a wooden structure, strongly framed and built, with a main building four stories high, 2110x150, and wings 220x40 and 150x60 feet, of one and two stories high. The fire is said to have been started by a lamp which exploded, scattering the burning oil over the floor and over other inflammable material at hand. The employees who first saw the fire hurried downstairs forthwith, but before any assistance could be had from the lower floors the fire had spread, cutting off the means of reaching the floor where the fire was. The mill was situated on the east side of the river and too far away from the nearest hydrant to allow of any service by the water-works being given. The brigade turned out promptly, but the intense heat of the fire prevented any one from getting within some distance of it.

The mill has been running night and day since recently fitted up by the new proprietors, turning out from three to four tons of roofing felt per 24 hours. A new 180 h.p. Colless engine had just been placed in the engine room at a cost, with the necessary connections and pumps, &c., of $5,000. In the machine room was a Biddleboro, Vt., Foundry's paper machine of large capacity that cost nearly $12,000 at the manufacturer's shops.

Four large heating engines, pulp boilers, tanks, &c., made up the equipment, which with the buildings was worth over $40,000.

As the fire progressed and the flames crept over the buildings the boilers began to blow off steam. A falling beam broke the connection between the engine and boilers and for a time the roar of the escaping steam was almost deafening.

Large pieces of burning cinder as large as a tea tray were carried by the wind and distributed over the east part of the town, and for a time fears were entertained that other buildings would be fired. The hand engine was brought around and by energetic efforts some store-houses near the burning mill were saved.

There was an insurance on the property of $20,000. Arrangements were being made to light, at an early day, the mill with gas instead of lamps.

In the Van.

Meers, Porter Bros., the well known carriage makers, are verily booming business. A number of fine rigs of different kinds were sent out of their factory to-day to prominent citizens of both town and country, while their spacious warehouses are filled with rigs glistening in exquisite finish, awaiting the order for shipment, several of them having been already purchased. Meers, Porter Bros. success is marvellous, but if looked into the reasons at once appear. They keep "in fashion" and build their rigs of the very best materials procurable; two methods absolutely required to gain and hold trade. Porter's rigs are the nobbiest of the nobbiest, and are as durable as they look. Having gained the position of the foremost manufacturer of carriages and buggies in the district, they are determined to maintain that position. Any one thinking of buying any kind of a summer rig will consult their interests by going to Porter Bros., where they may be sure of getting the handsomest in the market.

FAREWELL.

Goodbye to the Crook's Act—The Successor—Incidents.

There was an unusual stir at the hotels and wholesale liquor stores on Friday night, the last night of the operation of the Crook's Act in Peterborough, for the present, at least. The bars were filled with people and the counters of the liquor stores were lined with customers during the evening and far into the night. The briskness in the business of this sort was almost enough to make one believe a crisis had suddenly struck town. Most of the bars kept open till twelve o'clock, taking one hour's grace seeing it was the last night.

Captain Cooper, and Constables Adams, Pidgeon and McGinty patrolled the streets till three o'clock this morning, but happily all was quiet, the only dispute being the actions of one rash young man who thought, perhaps, that some latitude was allowed "on such a night as this." A few minutes in the cell and he regained his possession of mind.

On Friday evening a farmer was observed driving a wagon on George street. He stopped near a little north of the post office. There were two barrels in the wagon. Councillor Yelland was in the wood yard on the west side of the street. The generous farmer made an offer. If Mr. Yelland would drive a spike in a barrel he would allow him to have a drink of beer. Mr. Yelland looked up against a pile of wood and looked at the man. P. C. Pidgeon was in sight, and as he passed the farmer made the same offer to him, but that dignified officer looked neither to the left nor to the right. A prominent member of the Salvation Army was approached, but the offer was again treated with profound disdain. The man from the country cracked his whip and drove off, wondering what use a temperance act had for such a town.

This morning all bars were cleared of denizens of liquor, and in their stead stood slender bottles of lime juice. One one bar stood a bottle of ginger ale labelled "All the rage."

Two of those partitioned baskets, worn to disrepair by long usage, were noticed outside a wholesale liquor store. A sign on them read, "Driven from home."

A wholesale liquor dealer who has been in business here for fifteen years says that he never saw such a trade done as was done on Friday.

On Friday afternoon an express wagon containing sundry kegs of beer was seen to halt in front of the civic citadel. The driver entered one office, but no claim was laid to the goods there. He tried to get into the other, but could gain no entrance. There must have been a mistake. If the driver had been carrying around "mountain dew" perhaps some suspicion might be attached, but beer—the two Scotch cannot in the least be suspected.

A Violent Convict.

JOLIET, Ill., April 29.—As the convicts were about quitting work in the penitentiary last evening, James Moore slipped up behind a convict named Wm. Rabb, while the latter was bending over a pile of water, and dealt him a terrible blow on the head with a heavy hammer, crushing his skull and knocking him senseless. The murderous convict was at once hustled to the solitary cell. Rabb was the life convict who bravely thwarted the "handful of the Wah-shah," Frank Rade, at the time Rade made his murderous assault on deputy warden McDonald, two years ago. Rabb saved the deputy's life, for which act Governor Hamilton reduced his sentence to 10 years. Moore is a notorious burglar. No cause is known for the assault.

Found on the Track.

St. Thomas, Ont., April 30.—The body of John Blain, a farm labourer, was found on the Grand Trunk Air Line track near Lawrence Station this morning, horribly mutilated. Blain had been to a dance, and it is supposed, in returning home, had taken the railroad track and was struck by a passing train.

THE REPLY OF GREECE.
VIENNA, April 30.—M. Mancos has headed to Count Kalonky the reply of the Premier, M. Deliyannis, to the effect that the ultimatum of the powers ought to be withdrawn; that Greece is willing to submit her claims to the powers for diplomatic consideration, and that Greece cannot with honor yield to dictation. He alleges, as a reason of Greece's resistance, the excited condition of the people, which he says, can be only quieted by the concession of some of their righteous claims.

EVICIONS AND OUTRAGES.
DUBLIN, April 30.—During the last three months 888 families, comprising 3,477 persons, were evicted from holdings in Ireland. During the same period 256 outrages were committed.

POLICE COURT

DISORDERLY.
SATURDAY, May 1.—The case of disorderliness adjudged from yesterday, was up again this morning. More witnesses were examined, but nothing definite was brought out. The defendant was heard but none appeared to know who went through the window.

The Magistrate said that though there was no evidence to show that there was actually a fight, there was that to prove that the four defendants were indulging in rough conduct, such as makes a disturbance. They were tambling around on the sidewalk and had smashed a window. He would let them off with a light fine, $1 and costs each.

WILSON.—But I didn't do—
The Magistrate.—You were in the row with the rest of them.

WILSON.—I'll leave it to any one of the party if I was.

The Magistrate.—Was Wilson with you?
RITCHIE explained that Wilson was as quiet as a mouse it was. They both came down from the Opera House together. He did not know where Wilson was when he was in the scuffle.

The Magistrate.—A dollar and cost each.

LATENCY.

Arthur Rutherford charged E. Courtney with having stolen thirty five feet of lumber from him. A plea of not guilty was entered.

It appeared that the complainant had purchased a lot of lumber from Mr. Courtney but when Mr. Rutherford went to measure it he claimed there was thirty five feet short. Mr. Courtney supplied the thirty five feet but he afterwards measured the pile from which it was taken and claimed that Mr. Rutherford had been given 135 feet too much. He then took back some from Mr. Rutherford's pile.

The Magistrate dismissed the case.

A Difference.

On the market square this morning two farmers sat on the ends of their wagons talking themselves in the sunshine, and philosophizing on the variety of life passing and repassing. At the elbow of each stood a bag of ruddy apples. A marketer came along and asked number one what he was selling his apples for. "One fifty a bag," was the reply. Passing on to No. 2 the marketer put the same question. "A dollar ten," No. 2 answered. "There's a disparity here," said the marketer, "your neighbor is selling his apples for $1.50 a bag, while you only ask $1.00." "Oh," dryly remarked No. 2, "he's not selling, he's asking."

A Building Burst.

On Friday afternoon a peculiar kind of accident happened in Stevenson's coal yard, Bethune street. A shed situated in the rear of the yard, built on the back by a wall three bricks thick, and on the front by inch boards supported by stout cedar posts, held two hundred and fifty tons of coal. About three o'clock a terrible crash was heard, and when the spot from which the sound came was examined it was found that the brick wall of the shed had been burst open almost from one end to the other by the sheer weight of the coal. The bricks were thrown outward with great violence, smashing down a frame shed in the next yard. The loss is estimated at $300, which, of course, is not covered by any insurance policy.

The Act in Lindsay.
The Scott Act went into force in Lindsay and Victoria County to-day. A correspondent writing from Lindsay says that there were large sales of liquor in that town on Thursday and Friday, and it was reported that one wholesale dealer disposed of $1,200 worth on Thursday. Perhaps the people of Lindsay intend to use the liquor in their bath rooms.

Mechanics Fishing.
Mr. Charles Gilchrist, fishery overseer, has received the following instructions from the Department of Marine and Fisheries, Ottawa:

A meeting of the East Riding License Commissioners was held in the Custom Office this afternoon. There were present: Messrs. Darling, Moher and Wilson. Applications were received from one grocery and liquor dealer for a druggist's license and from a grocery man for a wholesale license. Both applications were rejected. The only druggist's license for the east riding was that to Mr. W. Rutherford, druggist, of Norwood.

MADRE E' HUGO CHAGAS.—Dealers will kindly forward their orders for above brand with as little delay as possible, as our stock on hand is limited.

Still They Come.

The press is increasing in the west in number, at any rate. The latest addition that we have seen is the Southwest Manitoulin, published at Killarney, Man. It is a creditable publication, with a fair quantity of local news and considerable advertising patronage. Among its heaviest advertisers is Mr. F. F. Kirkpatrick, formerly of Peterborough, who carries on business in Killarney as a general merchant. Mr. H. A. Wallis' card as a land, loan and insurance agent, is also in the new paper.

The Bazaar.

The bazaar, which was conducted on Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, in aid of the building fund of St. John's Church, came to a close on Friday night. During the evening till nine o'clock the Opera House was visited by large numbers of people, who pronounced the display to be an excellent one. At nine o'clock the broom drill was commenced, the brigade going through some battalion drill. The spirit was both frequent and enthusiastic. During the evening Messrs. J. E. Hammond and H. A. Hammond sang their duet, "Gens d'Armes," introducing local hits in a comical manner. The performance was loudly applauded. Altogether the bazaar was quite successful, and the proceeds will make a substantial aid to the building fund.

A Magnificent Block.

The Toronto Real Estate Company, that recently purchased the Stewart House block from Mr. Geo. A. Cox, have decided to overhaul the old block and build up the vacancy on Water street. The plans, which have been prepared by Mr. John E. Belcher, and which are now in his office, show a magnificent block of buildings. The Hunter street property from Water street to the union block, will be thoroughly remodeled, so as to be in conformity with the new structure on Water street. The block will have a total length of three hundred and seven feet, six inches, a frontage of one hundred and ninety two feet on Water street and a frontage of one hundred and fifty feet six inches on Hunter street. The present Stewart House will be converted into stores. The first flat above a course of elegant fronted stores from the Union block, Hunter street, to the Mechanics Institute Building, Water street. The fronts will be all of plate glass, separated by an ornamental iron frame work. There will be nine additional stores on Water street. The second flat windows are all to be ornamented with heavy carved caps; and the third flat windows with beautifully finished archivolts. The roof will be slated mansard-one in French classic style. At the Water street terminus of the block, at the corner, and at the Hunter street terminus, high towers, elegantly finished with cresting, etc., will form the finishing touchstones on what is to be undoubtedly the largest and most beautiful block of mercantile buildings in Peterborough.

ST. ANDREWS DEDICATED

THE NEW CHURCH DEDICATED TO THE VINE YIELD.

HERMANS by the Rev. Dr. Cochran and the Rev. Dr. J. Macdonell—the Rev. Dr. Macdonell's Personal Words to the Church congregation.

The new St. Andrew's Church was dedicated on Sunday. In the morning before eleven o'clock the church was well filled, and at the hour the pulpit was ascended by Dr. Cochran, of Bradford, the Rev. Dr. J. Macdonell, of Toronto, and the pastor. All available supplemental seating accommodation was brought into use.

The pulpit and communion platforms were beautifully decorated with flowers consisting of hyacinths, full blown roses, fuchsias, and others.

On each side of the desk stood a handsome bouquet.

The service was commenced by Dr. Cochran offering up the dedicatory prayer. After the 100th psalm was given out, in which the large congregation, led by a choir of thirty-five voices, joined in full and powerful chorus.

The first lesson, from the last chapter of 1st Chronicles, was read by Dr. Cochran, and the second, from the 48th Psalm, was read by the Rev. Dr. J. Macdonell.

The sermon was preached by Dr. Cochran. He chose for his text, Malachi III, 16:17: "Then they that feared the Lord spoke often one to another, and the Lord hearkened, and heard it, and a book of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought upon his name. And they shall be mine, saith the Lord of hosts, in that day when I make up my jewels."

Though dark the night, he said, when not a solitary star shed down its beam to guide the homeless wanderer, there were still stars shining above that darkness. It was the same in the moral world. When all seemed to be darkness, when seemingly the whole world was wrapped in moral degradation, there were God-fearing Christians, men and women whose plumes beamed brightly against the sword of the Lord. It had been so with the church ever since it was established. There had been total eclipses of the sun, but there had never been a total eclipse of true religion in the world.

There had often been times of spiritual darkness, but it was invariably accompanied by a gleam of hope, which brightened into a sunrise of succeeding spiritual glory. Such was the state of the people at the time in which Malachi spoke. The Jews had returned from Babylonian captivity but had not profited by their sad experience. Moral rottenness and idleness were the characteristics of the age. But even then there were certain God-fearing ones whose holy and consistent life gained commendation.

They spoke often one to another, and amidst all the immorality sustained each other, in leading a life of purity and Godliness. The qualities were by those saints of old would have become the present generation.

THEIR CHARACTER

The preacher then led to the character of these saints. They feared the Lord, thought upon his name and spoke often one to another. Fear imparted a certain amount of knowledge of God's character and work. It produced holy fear—not that kind of fear which brought with it the idea of suffering penalty and evoking a kind of mechanical virtue, but a fear not united with awe and love. Not the fear of a vengeful God, but that inspired by the Holy Spirit in the heart of the believer. In a word, it was the kind of fear which pervaded the Christian life, and the foundation stone on which the believer built—the root from which proceeded trust and branches, i.e., love, hope and joy, and the fruit of a holy life. Well might this fear of the old testament be taken upon everyone.

"They thought upon his name." He could imagine how these people of old loved to dwell on the inspired word. Oh, how much there was in the mere title of God and Christ to call forth admiration. John the Baptist who was and is and shall be from eternity to eternity, the Unchangeable! The Infinite! Christ, the Immaculate, who while he was here over the empire, a brother to every man, was by self-sacrifice and sorrows gained for mankind life eternal. On God's name did the Old Testament saints meditate.

Well might this fear of the old testament be taken upon everyone.

THEY THOUGHT UPON HIS NAME.

tain. They thought of the many miracles which he wrought, bringing the people out of the bondage of Egypt into the land of Canaan. They strove to know of God and to understand and know His word. That very work was great strength to them studying this world. It was a great strength to the greatest men of the world to-day to know God, who were not ashamed to tell of the help intellectual as well as spiritual. It was not enough to come to church Sabbath after Sabbath, to take part in the exercises, nor to hold communion at the home beside. The word of God should be read day by day in the secret chamber. Daily reading, with an earnest desire to understand, that course we believe to grow in the spirit from day to day. Communion with God while at business—at the awl, at the bench, at the counter, or in the workshop, take her with earnest prayer in secret, would cause the child of God to grow in the spirit and to be prepared for the final call.

THEIR WORK.

The Old Testament saints spoke often one to another. In this particular the saints of old are good examples for the people of to-day. Each of us, each other, enquire after the health of each individual member of the family, discuss topics of the day, speak of the signs of the times, but their lives are sealed off from the masters of these all should be spoken about. It should not be so. It was the same in the things in this respect as it was with things of the world. Men allied closely by special objects often communed with each other as to the progress of that special work, anxiously asked how it prospered in this and that quarter. Paul and Silas, for instance, in their talks together, and together looked on the political horizon to discern new events. Why should not the same anxiety be felt for each other in this great community where the matters to engage attention are of so vastly much greater importance?

THEIR REWARD.

"And the Lord hearken'd." There was never a prayer offered up to God with fullness of heart that was not answered sooner or later. All was provided for. A Christian in the provided for her children, by acquiring the desired of each and knowing them, received accordingly; so the Lord Jesus Christ, in a like manner, through prayer, was made to know the desires of God's children and answer their cry in due season. "And they shall be mine, and I will make them my jewels." The term by which the faithful are named is significant. "Jewels." These were found after much perseverance of research, brought from the depths of darkness, ruggedness was lapped away, and the beautiful gem appeared and glittering was set in a crown of gold.

Earth knew them not, she hath no name like theirs, on all her realm of fame. Not contented with a living marble bust, Rises above the sleeper's dust. All unknown they spend their days— On their thine, all day long.

Earth knew them not, but heaven hath scoured their names on all her walls of gold. The Jasper dunes their records bear, And men and angels read them there."

Afternoon and Evening.

In the afternoon at three o'clock, though a light shower which came on at that hour might have deterred many from attending, the church was again crowded. The Rev. Dr. J. Macdonell, a former pastor of St. Andrew's, preached the sermon, taking for his text 1st Peter, II, 4:5: "To whom coming as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious; ye also, as living stones, are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer spiritual sacrifices acceptable to God by Jesus Christ."

The figure which underlined these words, he said, was not an uncommon one. It was a figure of a building rearing on a corner stone. Not only Peter, but Paul also had used the same figure more than once. The words of Peter were written to people who were, many of them, to see the destruction of the temple in Jerusalem. To this temple was succeeded by a holy beautiful house—a spiritual house. Spiritual sacrifices were to be offered up instead of prescribed lamb and doves of the old dispensation. On this corner stone was the temple. The corner stone was the life, whose life was the light of men.

In these days people were enquiring much as to the foundation on which faith rested, or on which faith seemed to rest. A central truth might be laid down. Jesus Christ is the living light of men. Who was crucified. Who lived down his life for us. Who now lives in glory, our friend and brother. If we built on this foundation we were safe. Men may incline to one set of opinions, or cling to certain truths, but be differences among men, but the only thing needed in unity was life. The corner stone was Christ and the materials needed were living stones. The materials were gathered from all quarters. It was not only the men and well shaped stones that took a place in the temple, but often very rugged ones were hewn and chiseled into form. Not only cultured people were those living stones, but also the roughest and types of humanity. Refined and cultured and social standing and all these external advantages are advantages, but a man's place in God's temple was never determined by any of these. The essential element was spiritual life. The workman who shaped the stones into symmetry were of many kinds, chiefly Christian parents. Christian parents more than all else were instrumental to turn up their children's stones in the great temple. Next in importance was the use of the pulpit. By these means, rightly used, the rugged stones were chipped off irregular blocks of stone and they were shaped into forms of symmetry.

THE MOSTER

to cement these stones together was love. Each member of the church should contribute the share of love, and, at the same time, he would receive from the universal body what he would need for spiritual growth. There had been specimens of many where the mortar of love had been applied to go away, and in efforts to sever the stones apart the stones had given away before the mortar. Each should be the fellowship in the Christian church. The members to be preserved were our bodies. Each layer of the temple was in building the next. We should be earnest in seeking out material for the next layer, earnest in polishing and forming those who are to go of with it material. If it was by human unreasonableness that this temple was to be built. In schools, in social gatherings, in the home, in the church, a sacred purity should pervade our lives, giving examples to others to live likewise.

CONCLUDING.

Concluding, the Rev. gentleman said: Dear brethren, it is with real pleasure that I take part to-day in the dedication of this beautiful house which you have built to take the place of the old one which could scarcely be called beautiful in the external sense, though remembered with feelings of love from its association with the sacred and solemn occasions in the lives of many. I remember with great joy the three or four brief years I spent among the people which formed St. Andrew's church from twenty years until sixteen years ago, and I am glad to join with you to-day in looking back over the fifty years since the old church was built, and with you in praising the God of our fathers for the goodness he has shown in many ways during those fifty years. Presbyterians, during those fifty years he has passed through a disruption and two unions and now we are in the happy position to benefit in the unity of the Presbyterian Churches in Canada. But you to-day in this congregation, and some other friends, perhaps, who are not here, can look back over the last portion of those fifty years and bless God for

A SLANDER REFUTED.

The false charges brought by Mr. Davies on the authority of an associate discharged from the employ of the Intercolonial Railway have been completely refuted by the investigation in the Public Accounts Committee. The worthy ally of the Reformers kept the stubs of passes given by agreement to newly engaged servants going to the Lobb-Arran Hotel, so as to have some apparent foundation for his slander in revenge for his ignominious dismissal for misconduct. It was proved that an account was kept of the tickets, and that the hotel paid for them all, at least four-fifths of them before the dismissal of Mr. Davies' friend; that such accommodation is usually given by railway companies to summer resorts on the ground of their promoting travel; and that the Grand Trunk was also a party to the arrangement receiving a share of the fare. What dirty work have the Reformers adopted in default of a policy!

DEPUTY MINISTERS.

It might be well to consider whether the time has not now arrived when it would be advisable to adopt the practice in the Imperial Administration of having Parliamentary Assistant or Deputy Ministers. The plan would have several obvious advantages, and would facilitate the transaction of public business.

The permanent Deputy Minister, not obtaining with the Cabinet, are necessary to preserve the continuity of Departmental routine, and to hand on that knowledge of the details of past transactions without which the ablest member of Parliament must for a time be at a loss when accepting a new portfolio. But in addition to these permanent officials, Assistant Ministers would give valuable aid to their chiefs in passing measures through Parliament. The more important departments might thus be represented in both Houses, and this would be especially useful when the Minister had his seat in the Senate. Thus authoritative explanations of measures and answers to enquiries would be facilitated in both Houses, and the introduction of Government bills in either would be rendered feasible.

These gains, with our federal constitution, it is to be desired that the varied portions of the Dominion should all be represented in the Administration, yet this should not be allowed to interfere with the choice of the most capable men. This difficulty already existing will be increased by the admission of representatives from the Territories, and our suggestion, if adopted, would provide a partial remedy. For instance Manitoba and the Territories might supply assistant Ministers of the Interior or of the Indian Department, from British Columbia or Prince Edward Island might be chosen the Assistant Minister of Marine, that is, if it were not found expedient to give either of them a Cabinet Minister. Thus the smaller Provinces and the Territories would feel that they had a voice in the Administration and that their most important interests had an influential mouthpiece. Another advantage would be that some of the younger but rising politicians would acquire by experience an aptitude for Ministerial work and would be the better prepared to take charge of portfolios should a vacancy occur in the Cabinet. There would also be such a probation, as a test for their fitness or advancement; they would be given a chance of winning their spurs.

The adoption of such a system need not entail an additional expenditure of any moment. Aspiring members would probably be willing to undertake without salary such duties, which would not be heavy except in very exceptional circumstances, for which provision might be made. They would be the more ready to do this if it were the understanding that if successful they would have preferential consideration when Cabinet positions had to be filled; that, in short, they were serving a sort of political apprenticeship. If no appointment were attached to the position, its acceptance would not entail the necessity of re-election, which, under such circumstances, might be a bar to its acceptance, and would put the electors to unnecessary trouble and expense.

A trial of this system might be made in two or three of the most important departments, and if it were found to work well, it might be extended to others as circumstances warranted.

A Family Affair.

MONTREAL, April 30.—A serious stabbing affray occurred a few nights ago. It appears Mr. Vigne, residing on Panet street, was visited on the above evening by his brother-in-law, named Beaudin, who was under the influence of liquor. Beaudin, immediately on entering attempted to pick a quarrel, but was unsuccessful. Vigne, who had been drinking also became so aggravated at the insult, that he closed with Beaudin and a fight ensued. The parties were separated, but Beaudin, watching up a large knife, darted at his brother-in-law, and before the latter could shield himself, he was stabbed twice in the leg. He was also cut on the head and sustained a deep gash in the groin. Beaudin was arrested, but trial has been postponed pending the result of Vigne's injuries.

The Last of the Gang.—New York, April 30.—Geo. Edwards, the last of the gang of forgers wanted for crooked dealing in several of the larger cities throughout the country, was arrested last night. The gang worked their schemes in many places, and were wanted in Toronto, Chicago, Kansas City and I. chport. Edwards was taken to Syracuse last night.

THE EIGHT HOUR MOVEMENT.

Thousands Quit Work in Chicago—Agitation at Different Places.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Times says: "Twenty-five thousand is a fair estimate of the number of men who quit work yesterday because their employers would not consent to eight hours work and ten hours pay. The trades most affected are the furniture manufacturers, the lumber interests and iron foundries."

NEW YORK, May 1.—A mass meeting of strikers of the eastern district was held last evening. Fiery speeches were made by the chief promoters of the strike. J. Bennett denounced the police and advised the strikers to go armed and exchange shot for shot, and closed his remarks by signifying his willingness to die a martyr in the cause of the oppressed laboring men in the world. It was resolved to continue the strike.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., May 1.—The furniture manufacturers have unanimously resolved to operate their factories on the eight hour system on the basis of eight hours' wages. They have also resolved that they will tolerate no interference as to whom they employ or how their business shall be managed.

MITCHELL, May 1.—On Sunday there will be a huge demonstration of labor organizations who are in sympathy with the eight hour movement.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The Times says that enquiry among freight handlers demonstrates that some of them are laboring under a sense of injustice. Their movements seem to depend upon what course of action will be taken elsewhere. Railroad managers agree that no concession, such as asked, is to be made.

Seven furniture manufacturers closed down their factories last night, which locks out over seven hundred men. Similar action was taken by an Austrian manufacturer of mirrors, employing one hundred men, and by the Union Wire Mattress Company, employing one hundred and to five men.

MITCHELL, May 1.—Three thousand employees of large breweries have decided to strike unless their wages were advanced. About five hundred coal heavers will quit work to-day unless the employers grant their request for increased pay. The Teamster's Union will strike in connection with the brewers.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The freight handlers of the Illinois Central R.R. have asked the company to adopt the eight hour system, with ten hours pay. They want an answer by 4 o'clock to-day. The handlers of the Louisville and New Albany, Chicago and Atlantic have made the same demand. The handlers of the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern expect to quit work to-day. They have received an informal refusal of their demand. Several packers have acceded to the eight hour demand.

Five hundred striking railroad freight hands met at the Harrison street viaduct. The crowd started for the Wabash freight yards. The men there at once began quitting work. Fifty men, unloading vessels at the Rock Island and Lake Shore docks, stopped work. The freight house men at the Fort Wayne road made a demand for eight hours, and will stop at noon unless it is conceded.

The drivers and conductors of the Erie Island line car company, have demanded a reduction in their trips without a decrease in pay. The company acceded to the demand. Two hundred men employed by the West Division street car company struck. The company allowed the men to go.

CHICAGO, May 1.—The freight handlers in the Wabash yards stopped work in a body and joined a procession, which proceeded to the Rock Island yards, where they induced all the men employed in the freight house to abandon the position. The column next visited the Louisville, New Albany, and Chic go Railways, where they were also successful in their efforts with the freight handlers. The procession, which now numbers some 2,000, is circulating around to different railways.

GOULD AND THE KNIGHTS

The Railway Magnate Bitterly Denounces the Knights of Labor.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The Times publishes an interview with Jay Gould on the labor question. He says: "There was no cause for a strike on the Missouri Pacific in March last, as everybody knows. Our men were well and promptly paid. The strike was the work of agitators, who had constituted themselves the rulers of men, and who lacked the sense to use their power with discretion."

"What, in your opinion, Mr. Gould, will be the outcome of the present spirit of discontent and agitation among working men?"

"I look for little immediate good to anybody, least of all to the working people. It gives us strikes, boycotts, intimidation and threats of disorder in a thousand forms. It seeks particularly to plunge the country into civil war. It places an embargo on everything akin to personal independence. Workingmen so far as we see them in these bands of the stamp of the Knights of Labor, are doing themselves and inestimable deal of harm. I am not opposed to the organization of labor. I am an earnest believer in the union of fellow workers. I see abundant advantages sure to accrue to a man who is banded for mutual benefit with his brother laborer. A properly organized labor must be a stronger man, a better workman, a more careful, a more thoughtful and a better citizen. I think the true mission of the labor organizations should be to properly educate their members to weed out the black sheep and provide a life insurance scheme, the benefits of which would be worth working for. I have in mind to recommend to the Missouri Pacific directors to give financial support to such an organization as soon as it can be put to working order, and our men show a disposition to enjoy the benefits of such a co-operative object."

Mr. Gould said that "strikes were useless, destructive and pernicious to the last degree. The boycott was likewise ruinous, and the men who used it were maiming their own skulls to pieces. The Knights of Labor, the apostles of both of these exalted schemes of warfare, have used their ammunition of the sort imprudently and carelessly, with no result except marked as appears in their own discomfiture. If the Knights of Labor are to survive it must be in a new form, with new methods and new aims. That organization is a stirrer up of strife, a breeder of discord, and has little in it to challenge the respect of intelligent and honest men. Their platitudes about arbitration and the like were in the mouths of the organization leaders continually; but it is a matter of declaration only. Arbitration stands second to a strike, and of the methods chosen by the order the boycott leads every scheme that has a relation to decency and justice."

A Father's Fatal Mistake.

MONTREAL, April 30.—A Mr. Childs, 81, Dominique street, had a little girl aged 17 months, suffering from a severe cold, and the child having an attack of coughing during last Wednesday night, the father arose for the purpose of administering a dose of medicine, and he unfortunately took hold of the wrong bottle and gave the child carbolic acid. Every thing possible was at once done to save the little sufferer, but to no purpose, and it died in great agony.

The Scott Estate.

At a meeting of the creditors of this estate held in the office of Mr. E. H. Hall on Tuesday, the 4th inst., a statement of its affairs was submitted by the assignee, and he was instructed to declare a final dividend of two and five-eighths cents on the dollar. This, with the previous dividend, will make a total of 17 1/2 cents on the dollar received by the creditors.

Y.M.C.A. Lineday.

One of the results of Mr. Schirren's work in Lineday was the organization of a Young Men's Christian Association. A meeting was held last evening at the close of the day meeting, and an association was formed with a membership of 104. The following are the officers: President, D. J. McLarty, M.P.P.; Vice-President, Wm. Flavelle and El. Anderson; Treasurer, Arthur Lee; Secretaries, E. McGaffey and W. J. King. They intend to open rooms at once, the furnishing of which the ladies have undertaken. Messrs. W. Craig, Jr., and J. F. Clark, of Port Hope, and George E. Williams, of Peterborough, assisted at the organization.

Scott Act Machinery.

A motion was passed at the Council meeting on Monday night instructing the police to carry out the provisions embodied in the police rules and regulations. One clause in the regulations instructs the members of the force to carry out all by-laws of the town and Provincial enactments, also the provisions of license laws. The mover evidently brought in the motion to bear on the enforcing of the Scott Act, for the chairman of the Police Supervision Committee this morning gave Captain Coyle instructions to see that the Scott Act be enforced within his jurisdiction. There is a diversity of opinion, however, whether or not the enforcement of the act comes within the police rules and regulations.

A Boring Thief.

On Monday evening a bold piece of thieving was perpetrated in the township of Otonabee. Mr. T. Slatery had been engaged during the day in cleaning up barley and wheat. The grain was left on the barn floor and in the granary near by. When Mr. Slatery went into the barn this morning he was surprised to find that all of the grain left on the floor had been removed, and going to the granary, found also that a considerable hole had been made in one of the bins. He saw the track of the wagon which bore it, and by following up the impression made on the ground, tracked the pilferers for several miles, the track leading towards Cayah. The clue was lost at a cross road. Mr. Slatery estimates his loss at $80.

PROPERTY IN PETERBOROUGH.

An instance Where a Man Quadrupled his Money in Seven Months.

Several instances have been given of late to the remarkable advances property in Peterborough is making in price. In one case a syndicate more than double their money in three years and in another, a gentleman invests in a piece of real estate and within a year sells and nets a cool $10,000.

But the palm must be awarded to Mr. John Carlisle who has, by investment in real estate, actually quadrupled his money in less than seven months. In October, 1885, Mr. Carlisle purchased a piece of property, situated on the corner of Smith and Water street, from Col. Chambliss, of Cobourg, paying therefor the sum of $750. This he cut up into thirteen lots, and sold out at from $65 to $300 each. In some cases the deeds in the first instance were not drawn out before the property had changed hands two, and in one instance three times, the buyers selling out at a nice profit. Mr. Carlisle, in selling one lot, repented the bargain, and to mend matters he bought it back, giving the seller twenty-five per cent, on the money invested.

The holders of the lots, even though the lot have changed hands at a profit several times, can now realize handsomely on their investment if they wish to sell. Mr. Carlisle holds three lots still, which he values at $200 each, at least.

Dr. Clarke, the Medical Health Officer, has received a circular from Dr. Bryon, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, in reference to the meeting of the American Health Association, which is to be held in Toronto at an early date. This meeting will be represented by delegates from every State in the American Union and from the Province of the Dominion. Peterborough is invited to send a delegate.

License Commissioners.

The License Commissioners for West Peterborough met in the office of the Chief of Police on Monday. Messrs. R. Graham T. Dolan and R. Walton, the three commissioners, were present. The newly appointed Inspector under the Crooks Act, Mr. Geo. Cochrane, was also present. Applications were received from Messrs. John Garvey, Rush Bros., Morrow, Tienery & Co., and John Cameron, for wholesale liquor licenses, and from Messrs. Ormond & Walsh, John McKee, Taylor & McDonald, J. D. Tully, Peterborough, and T. J. Bird, Lakefield, for drugstore licenses. The Inspector was instructed to inspect the premises of those asking for wholesale licenses to ascertain whether such premises met the requirements of the law, he to report on Friday.

Under the Scott Act.

Three young men entered the bar room in a leading town hotel on Monday evening, and one, who wished to treat the others, called for one bottle of soda water. He was given the pop and handed over the five cents for it, and he then asked for three glasses, which were handed to him. He poured some of the soda water into each of the glasses, and then, reaching to his hip pocket, pulled out a flask of sterner stuff, and filled them up. There was no question of "what will you have?" but the boys "took something" just as readily. The bar tender, however, protested that it was unfair to him to have three drinks taken at his bar for which he received only five cents, but "was the Scott Act, you know," and the traitor winked, the bar tender laughed and the boys "smiled."

Johnston Carey is now offering a line of bright kid button boots at $1.50 per pair, Men's Bluffs our own make $2.25 each shoe $2.50, 60 pair boys 3 and 4 fine lace boots at less than cost. A call will convince you that he can sell cheaper than any other shoe store in town for he manufactures his own goods.

Advertising.

The Councilors of Peterborough, though they shrug their shoulders when anything like railway business is talked of, show a true business spirit when a matter such as the use of printers ink is broached. The special committee appointed on Monday night to confer with Mr. Biggar in reference to advertising the town in the Exhibition Journal met this morning and decided to accept Mr. Biggar's proposal. A full description of Peterborough town and County will be inserted in the Journal, together with an impression in the memorial volume. The Journal will be printed in the exhibition buildings in London Eng., during the progress of the Colonial Exhibition and copies not sold will be distributed throughout the United Kingdom. The memorial volume will have a circulation of 10,000 copies to be sent free to all Boards of Trade, and other commercial bodies, throughout the United Kingdom and colonies, as a memento of the Exhibition. The description will take up about the size of two columns in the Review. The amount of cost of advertising in the Journal is $80, a very reasonable rate.

A Dangerous Convict at Large.

MONTREAL, May 3.—Vian, the convict who organized and led the outbreak in the St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary, escaped at about midnight last night. He was confined in the dungeon and succeeded in boring a hole under the foundation through which he crawled into the yard. Then securing a rope he climbed to the top of the wall and lowered himself.

Drowned.

WINDSOR MILLS, Que., May 1.—A sad accident occurred at Hopkins' Mill yesterday evening. A young man named Fred MacLean employed in the mill, started to take a boat across the mill pond. The boat was leaking and the young man, seemingly under the impression that it was about to sink, appeared to be seized with a panic and sprang into the water. A rescue was attempted by Mr. E. Morey, who succeeded in reaching the lad, but the current was so strong that he lost his hold and was himself carried over the dam, and through the rapids below. Mr. Morey got out of the water at the foot of the rapids, MacLean was drowned. His body was soon found. An inquest was held, and a verdict of accidental drowning returned.

AYER'S PILLS

CURE HEADACHE.

Headaches are usually induced by costiveness, indigestion, foul stomach, or other derangements of the digestive system, and may be easily cured by the use of Ayer's Pills. Mrs. Mary A. Scott, Portland, Me., writes: "I had suffered dreadfully from Sick Headache, and thought myself incurable. Disorders of the stomach caused it. Ayer's Pills cured me entirely."

CURE BILIOUSNESS.

John C. Pattison, Lowell, Me., writes: "I was attacked with Bilious Fever, which was followed by Jaundice. I was so dangerously ill, that my friends despaired of my recovery. I commenced taking Ayer's Cathartic Pills, and soon regained my customary strength and vigor. I feel certain that I owe my recovery to your invaluable Pills."

CURE INDIGESTION.

Ayer's Pills act directly on the digestive and assimilative organs, influencing healthful action, imparting strength, and eradicating disease. G. W. Moore, Walla Walla, W. T., writes: "I have suffered from Dyspepsia and Liver troubles for years past. I found no permanent relief, until I commenced taking Ayer's Pills, which have effected a complete cure."

Sold by all Druggists.

Prepared by Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass., U. S. A.

CURE RHEUMATISM.

Rheumatism is among the most painful of the disorders arising from vitiated blood and derangement of the digestive and biliary organs. Ayer's Pills relieve and cure Rheumatism when other remedies fail. S. M. Spencer, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "I was confined to my bed, with Rheumatism, three months, but after using a few boxes of Ayer's Pills, I became a well man."

CURE GOUT.

S. L. Young, Yonkers, N. Y., writes: "Recommended to me as a cure for chronic Goutiness, Ayer's Pills have relieved me not only from that trouble, but also from Gout. If every victim of the disease could heed only three words of mine, I could banish Gout from the land. Those words would be, 'Try Ayer's Pills.'"

CURE PILES.

Piles are induced by habitual constipation, debility, indigestion, or a morbid condition of the liver. A cure is best effected by the use of Ayer's Pills. John Lazarus, St. John, N. B., writes: "I was cured of the Piles by the use of Ayer's Pills. They not only cured me of that disagreeable disorder, but gave me new life and health."

THE NEW ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

A Successful Social held by the Ladies' Aid Society.

The Ladies' Aid Society of St. Andrew's

Church gave a tea in the school room of the church on Monday evening. There was a large attendance, hundreds sitting down and partaking of the bountiful repast prepared by the ladies.

After tea a meeting was held in the new church. There were on the platform Mr. Jno.

Carnegie, M.P.P., Chairman, the Rev. Dr. Cochrane, of Bradford, the Rev. A. H. Munro, of the Baptist Church, and the Rev. Alex. Bell, of St. Andrew's Church.

The meeting was opened by congregational singing, and by the Rev. Alex. Bell leading in prayer.

The CHAIRMAN, after a few remarks, called on the Rev. A. H. MUNRO, who said that the speakers would all be sure to congratulate the congregation on their new and elegant edifice, which was a credit to them and to the town.

It was, perhaps, the finest specimen of architecture in Peterborough. He agreed with Russell when he said: "Our churches should be a spirit of sacrifice. After relating the incident of the woman announcing Christ's feet, the disciple's objection and the Saviour's reply, he said it was not a question between

God's house and the poor, but between God's house and their houses. He could not understand the story that would beautify and adorn the house and leave the church bare.

He referred to the magnificence of the Jewish temple, which did everything except one thing, to discountenance idleness, and that exception was to eliminate the beauty of the temple.

Were the purple, gold and silver necessary to show the glory of God? No; but that the temple might be then an external evidence of their gratefulness to God. They needed no better sanction for making their churches beautiful, not only because of the beautiful light, but because of the happy faces around.

The question arose, Where in a few years will those people be? They will be gone. The building, no matter how long it would last, would soon fall. Science, looking at the world with a vision before us and they tell us that this world will also die. It did seem as if every thing must perish, but associated with that must be added the thought to stimulate and encourage, that nothing human ever perishes. Their words and their deeds were like living things, that plant seeds that will bring forth fruits in others.

Every spirit within, and every effort to do good, will produce an effect. They highly prized every enlargement of the means of grace among any people. They would never know the results until these earthly sanctuaries perished and they saw the imperishable sanctuary of God.

The CHAIRMAN expressed regret on account of the absence of the Rev. Mr. Wallace. He then called on the Rev. Dr. Cochrane.

Dr. COCHRANE, on coming forward, remarked that he felt it a privilege to be present at this parliamentary gathering, and related a couple of anecdotes illustrative of the way he might be called to time if he traced, traced the rules of Notice.

Chamberlain's Dining room and refreshment counter will be open on and after this date. A very fine stock of imported cigars will be disposed of at reduced rates.

New Daily Paper.
We have received a copy of the first number of the Woodstock Evening Standard. It is a six column, four page paper, very clearly and neatly printed and contains a large quantity of reading matter for the size of the paper. In fact, we would hope, for the success of the enterprise, that more space would soon be edited by the business men of Woodstock. The first number is radiant with evidences of enterprise.

Wedding Bells.
On Thursday evening last the marriage of Mr. S. Yarwood, of Picton, to Miss Elizabeth Dunbar, of Millbrook, was celebrated in St. Thomas' Church, Millbrook, the Rev. Dean Allen officiating. The bride was Miss Dunbar, sister of the bride, and Miss Elliott, while the groom was supported by Mr. W. Dunbar. The bride and bridemaids were all beautifully attired. After the ceremony the newly wedded couple repaired to the residence of the uncle of the bride, where they partook of a luxurious repast. The presents were costly and handsome, duly attesting the favor in which the bride was held in the community.

Hot Bath Way.
Those who have removed the fences in front of their lots, and those who contemplate doing so, are encouraged by the Council's action on Monday night in the passage of the new "An Act" by-law, introduced by Councillor Moore. The new by-law provides that cattle found running at large may not be impounded, but that the owners may be fined as high as $10 for the offence. The prevalence of cuts is to be in a large measure, put a stop to. Every dog running on the streets is to have a tag on. The same paid for tags will be reported to the Town Clerk and credited on the assessment roll against dog tax. As all dog tags will be registered by the Inspector, a ready means of finding a lost dog is provided. With these measures in force owners of gardens may have little fear of roaming fences. There have been quite a number of fences taken down within these last few days.

The Canadian Leader.
At the last Carnival held under the auspices of the Fire Brigade Band in the Landow's Rink a vote was taken for the presentation of a case to Sir John A. Macdonald or to the Hon. E. Blake. The result was in favour of the Premier and the handsome and costly gold headed case was appropriately inscribed and forwarded to its destination. The following acknowledgments have been received:

KAROLITZ, Ottawa, May 1st, 1886.
DEAR SIR,—I have received by the hands of Mr. H. H. M. P., the very handsome case which he tells me you charged him to present to me from the Fire Brigade Band of your town. I assure you that I receive with great pleasure this token of the confidence and esteem of the good people of Peterborough.

I shall use it often and always with the recollection of the pleasant way in which it came into my hands.

Please convey my thanks to the members of your Fire Brigade Band, and believe me, dear Sir, Yours faithfully,

JOHN A. MACDONALD,
F. W. Mills, Esq., Peterborough, Ont.

A meeting of the Boat Club was held on Tuesday evening. The attendance, considering the weather, was fairly large. Six new members were admitted to the club. Ways and means for repairing the row boats were discussed and a decision arrived at.

Runaway.

This afternoon at two o'clock a horse attached to Mr. A. Hall's delivery wagon, being prodded with some troubling which was being loaded on the wagon, bolted and ran around two or three blocks. It was caught at the corner of Hunter and Water street. The damage done was trifling.

He reported stating that the Port Hope Club and the Lindsay Club were favorable to the scheme, but the Cobourg Club was not, as it intended to play several professionals in its nine this year. Unbridge had not been heard from. An adjournment was made till Thursday evening.

Temperance Lecture.

On Tuesday evening Mr. Ferdinand Schiverson delivered his lecture, "Five Steps of the Drunkard," in Bradburn's Opera House. At half past seven o'clock, before the opening of the doors, the passageways from the door of the Opera House to the street were densely packed with people and in less than ten minutes after the opening of the doors the hall was filled in every part. Mr. Geo. A. Cox took the chair at eight o'clock. The Rev. E. F. Torrance and the Rev. A. H. Munro were also on the platform. The lecturer spoke for about two hours.

Miss GILCHRIST fashionable Dress and Mantle maker at the Golden Lion.

THE RIGHT REVEREND BISHOP JAMOT.

The Right Reverend Bishop Francis Jamot, D. D., first Bishop of the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peterborough, expired at the palace, in Peterborough, at a few minutes after four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon. On Saturday last he appeared to be enjoying good health, except that he suffered from a cold. This affection deepened into an attack of bronchitis, which disease he was subject to, and to acute bronchitis succeeded inflammation of both lungs. Medical aid was employed with no avail, for from the time he fainted on Sunday morning, he lapsed rapidly, with scarcely a rally. On Tuesday between twelve and one o'clock in the afternoon, the resident priests decided upon the administration of the sacrament of Extreme Unction, which was administered by Viceroy General Laurent, of Lindsay, assisted by the Rev. Father Conway, Parish Priest. After this a rapid sinking took place. At a few minutes past four o'clock the spirit took its flight, and the Bishop of Peterborough was dead.

The deceased was born in the Department of Creuse, France, near Lyons, on the 23rd day of June, 1828. He came to Canada and was, in the year 1853, ordained into the priesthood. He labored in the Toronto Diocese for seven years, when, in 1860, he was appointed Vicar General of the Toronto Diocese. In February 4th, 1874, he was consecrated Bishop of Sorepts and Vicar Apostolic of Northern Canada, and on the 11th of July 1882 he was translated to be first Bishop of Peterborough. The installation took place on the 21st of September 1882.

The two important events of the reign of the first Bishop of Peterborough are the restoration of St. Peter's Cathedral and the decennial pilgrimage to the Apostolic See. The first named was a cherished object of the deceased. He inaugurated and took much interest in the work, fondly looking forward to its completion this fall. He visited Rome, leaving Peterborough in November, 1883, and returned in March last. The report presented to His Holiness, the Pope, showed a satisfactory growth of the church in this district since it was erected into a diocese. The deceased commended himself to his people by his unaffected simplicity of manner, and wherever he went in his diocese he was greeted with joy. Not only was he respected by his own people, but by Protestants also.

The body of the deceased will lie in state in the Cathedral until Friday at half past ten o'clock, when the burial ceremonies will take place. The body will be interred in the crypt of the Cathedral.

A NATIONALIST OPINION.
DUBLIN, May 4.—The Evening Telegraph of Dublin, a Nationalist paper, calls the manifesto a noble utterance. It says that the Cabinet yields nothing of importance, and that Mr. Gladstone will sweep his opponents from his path.

THERE WILL BE AN ELECTION.
LONDON, May 4.—The Daily News says: Mr. Gladstone's manifesto is a stirring appeal for justice, but no more than justice to Ireland. We entertain no expectation that the Irish question will be settled until the constituencies shall have had an opportunity of passing judgment upon it.

GOLDWIN SMITH'S VIEWS.
LONDON, May 4.—Prof. Goldwin Smith writes that Mr. Gladstone's manifesto is a direct appeal to party passion for aid to dismember the empire. Neither Canadians nor the bulk of Americans sympathize with Mr. Parnell in his demands, but should the Dublin Parliament demand that Ireland be recognized as an independent power no American Government would be able to resist the politicians or the Irish vote. Moreover, Mr. Gladstone's secession principles applied to India equally with Ireland.

LORD SPENCER SPEAKS.
LONDON, May 4.—Lord Spencer, in a speech at Leeds last evening, said the Government was willing to consider any amendments to the Irish bill that may be suggested at the proper time. He believed that after the passing of the bill all parties would unite in an honest endeavor to govern Ireland properly, which would be the greatest possible blow to dynamite, extremists and inciters to crime.

THURSDAY, MAY 6, 1886.

THE BEATTY-WOODWORTH WRANGLE

SOME Opposition members and journals are endeavoring to make people believe that the Conservatives are determined to prevent any investigation into the Beatty-Woodworth dispute. The Railway Committee very properly refused to take up its time and travel out of its proper functions by enquiring into a private quarrel between individual members interested in a railway charter, because the Opposition wished to use such enquiry for the purpose of insinuating wrong-doing on the part of the Government. In fact, some Reformers have already made such insinuations, well knowing them to be false. The Northwest Central Railway Company received no special favour, and when, in connection with other projected railways in the Northwest, its land grant was made free instead of being only given to them at a reduced price, the change was made at the instance of the people of the Northwest, who urged that such inducements were necessary to secure them railway accommodation, representations in which the Opposition strenuously concurred. Thus the Government acted in no exceptional manner, but on the ground of public policy, as in similar cases. And as to the Railway Committee, its duty is to see that there are means of carrying out the charter, not to settle disputes among the promoters.

Some Reformers are now contending that there must be something wrong in members of Parliament taking part in any enterprise which receives any grant from Government, or which involves the purchase of public property. There may be arguments for making such a change in the law as to prohibit this, but on the other hand it is well worth considering whether it would be advisable in a new country like ours to prevent the chosen representatives of the people, the picked men of the community, often business men of great energy and enterprise, from taking a part in the development of the country. Certainly if the law is to be so changed it must apply to all the members, not only to Conservatives but to Reformers also. These critics appear to think it quite right that their own political friends should take part in such enterprises, while they denounce Conservatives for doing so. Such a discrimination is manifestly absurd in its unfairness. Meanwhile till the law is changed, there is no reason why members of parliament should not hold an interest in railway or mining companies or other enterprises to develop the resources of our country, even if they have to acquire public lands to carry on their operations.

But there is another aspect of the case that certainly warrants investigation. From what has been said by Messrs. Beatty and Woodworth it is plain that something is wrong. Who is to blame and to what extent, it is impossible to decide finally from their mutual recriminations, and from the statements of that not very trustworthy witness, Mr. Paw. The matter therefore should be investigated, for the honour and fair-dealing of its members concern the House as well as the country. But with this view there is a proper course to pursue, and that is not a wrangle in the Railway Committee. There should be no concealment and no shielding of any wrong done.

Mr. BLAKE, Sir R. Cartwright, Mr. Mills, and others, express their disapproval of members of the House belonging to companies which have dealings with the Government. Why did they not say so when, as members of the Maclean Administration, they changed the law to enable such companies to deal with the Government? Sir R. Cartwright is the most honest of his incoherence, for he plainly states that his principal objection is to Conservatives having such dealings.

The Kingston News does not seem to be acquainted with the personal appearances of our Provincial legislators. It publishes cuts of Messrs. A. F. Wood, of North Hastings, and S. White of North Kent, but it puts Mr. West's picture over Mr. Wood's biography and vice versa. And yet there is almost as much difference in the appearance of White and Wood as there is between black and white.

In the Committee on Privileges Mr. J. D. Edgar was asked if he had taken any means to satisfy himself that the charges he had brought were true. Mr. Edgar declined to answer this, tacitly admitting that he had made a false statement in the House, his moral guilt being just as great as if he had committed perjury.

LONDON COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

Formal opening by the Queen to-day—A brilliant spectacle.

LONDON, May 4.—The Queen formally opened the Colonial Exhibition to-day. The weather was beautiful. Crowds gathered along the route taken by Her Majesty from Buckingham Palace and greeted her with enthusiastic cheers. The main hall, in which the ceremonies were conducted, was crowded with the elite of London. A large number of foreign princes and diplomats, who attended in court dress, combined with scores of British officers present in full glittering uniforms, to make a magnificent spectacle. The Prince of Wales, the Duke of Edinburgh, Prince Henry of Battenberg and his wife, the Princess Beatrice, and the Crown Prince of Prussia, who were followed by Lord Hartington, the Marquis of Salisbury, the Earl of Derby and as well as other distinguished persons. Mr. Gladstone was not present.

TRENT VALLEY CANAL

The Speeches of Messrs. Burnham and Hilliard in the House.

We republish from Herald full reports of the speeches made by Messrs. Burnham and Hilliard during the discussion on the Trent Valley Canal in the House of Commons on April 28th.

Mr. HILLIARD. I regret that the hon. member for East Simcoe (Mr. Cook) should throw any doubts on the Trent Valley Scheme. He should certainly have expressed himself on the subject before this late day. He should be prepared to-day to show the advantages of the scheme—to show that though it may accommodate only small vessels, it is a land-locked system of navigation, through which freight can be carried more cheaply from the waters of Lake Superior and Lake Huron to Montreal than it can be by the Welland Canal route. We have in this route almost a perfect canal, and one that is perfectly practicable. There are no great excavations to be made; it runs through a country which is almost a plain from end to end and the distance is navigable with the exception of about sixty miles, which can be cut through at a nominal cost. I did not understand whether the hon. gentleman said that the work would cost $9,000,000, or whether that was the estimate of the engineer he quoted. But we have the report of Mr. Stark, one of the most practical engineers of the country, based on careful surveys that at the work all or probably less than $3,500,000, which is a mere nominal sum for such a work. I presume that Mr. Stark did not include the cost of damage to property along the route which would probably swell the amount to $5,000,000; but if we could get the canal constructed for $5,000,000, or even for $9,000,000, it would be an exceedingly cheap work. I am afraid a large portion of the people of this Dominion do not appreciate the advantages of this inland route of water communication. Take a common point in the west, as Sault Ste. Marie or the Straits of Mackinac, and another common point in the east, as Kingston, and a saving of 400 or 500 miles of travel will be secured by this canal; and at the western terminus of the canal when it is built, as I hope it will be before many years, we can by means of elevators handle the grain coming from the west and place it on board of vessels which will carry it to the harbor of Montreal at a very nominal cost. I venture to say, on a very careful estimate, that grain can be brought from Duluth or Port Arthur to Montreal at a cost of not more than 5 or 6 cents a bushel. If that can be done, we can bid defiance to the competition of the railways. One of the mistaken ideas of the present day is that the days of water communications have passed by and that railways are sure in the future to do the forwarding business of the country. But if it can be shown that grain can be brought from Duluth to Montreal at 6 cents a bushel, as I think it can, that is a good proof that the days of water communication have not passed by. There are people who believe also that freight can be carried cheaply in large vessels. I admit that the larger the vessel the cheaper the freight can be carried; but when we take into consideration the shortness of this route, its perfect safety, and the absence of risk from storm or tempest, its advantages, as compared with the Welland Canal route, will be apparent. The saving of life and of vessels is itself an object. As I stated on a former occasion, freight is carried on the river Hudson to New York at the rate of 24 cents per ton a distance of 160 miles, which is another evidence that water ways have not passed their usefulness; for I do not think it is possible to carry freight by rail at 12 1/2 or 15 or 20 cents a ton. This is further evidence that a route of this kind would be decidedly practicable and useful. It has been stated that we lacked water, but people conversant with the country will not dispute the fact that we have abundance of water for the proposed canal. We have sufficient water tributary to this route to supply all the canals not only in the Dominion but on the Continent, as we drain the water shed from four large countries. I think it would be wise for hon. gentlemen to post themselves on the practicability and advantages of a scheme of this kind, and if they did I am satisfied we would have much less opposition to the scheme than it meets with to-day. I trust the Minister of Railways will take pains to inform himself thoroughly on this subject. As to the appropriation, a sum of $100,000 has been placed in the Estimates for this work previous to the deputation coming here, but I have every hope that when Supplementary Estimates come down, we shall find a vote in them equal to the amount promised by the Minister of Railways and Canals. I have every confidence that the hon. Minister will see this work carried through.

NORWOOD

INCENDIARISM.—Early on Tuesday morning an unoccupied house on the north side of the mill-pond, the property of Mr. T. M. Grover, was consumed by fire. The building was a large frame one and was worth about $200. The fire was undoubtedly the work of an incendiary, the identity of whom is a mystery.

ASSESSMENT STATISTICS.—Mr. H. Spence has just completed the assessment of the village and the official summary contains the following information:—

Value of Real Estate, $132,265; Personal Property, $13,225; Income, $2,700; Total Assessment, $148,190; Population, 1,208; Taxpayers, 245; School Population, 430; Acres, Non-resident, 711.60; Doer, 51; Batches 1; Cows, 66; Hogs, 18; Horses, 76; Sheep, 5.

LARCENY AND ROBBERY.—On Monday afternoon one keg of porter and a barrel of beer were stolen from the yard of Brennan's Hotel. The porter was taken from Mr. Brennan's store house and the beer from the delivery wagon of Calcutt's Brewery. During the evening the liquor was discovered by a crowd of youngsters who drank until they became intoxicated and then paraded the streets, rendering the night hideous with their howls. The debauch was, if possible, worse than that of the Friday night previous. It is to be hoped, for the fair name of our village, that the Council will take immediate steps to have constables appointed who will prevent a recurrence of the scenes of Friday and Monday.

MEMORIAL INSTITUTE.—The annual meeting of the members of the Norwood Memorial Institute was held in the Town Hall, Norwood, on Friday evening, the 30th April.

Lacrosse Club.

The Brampton Club extended an invitation to the Peterborough Lacrosse Club to join in a friendly game on the 24th May. Our boys not having had any practice were compelled to decline.

Married.

The Age, of Aitkin, Minnesota, contains a notice of the marriage of Mr. Dan Menzies, formerly of this town, to Miss Miller, of Aitkin. The notice is very flattering to each of the contracting parties. Of the groom it says:—"As a business man he is highly respected for his ability and integrity," and of the bride, "She is a general favorite." Mr. Menzies' many associates here extend congratulations.

Real Estate.

On Wednesday afternoon the sale of six lots situated between George and Water streets, north of King street, the property of R. Smith, Port Hope, was commenced on the ground, Mr. Charles Stapleton, auctioneer, in charge. Two lots, with thirty feet frontage and one hundred and twenty-eight feet deep, were sold to Mr. George Stethem for $30.50 per frontage foot. These lots immediately join Mr. Comstock's premises on the south. Mr. Comstock purchased his lot from the same party about one year ago for $36.50 per frontage foot.

Football.

The Norwood Register, referring to the proposed organization of a city battalion, says:—"One thing is certain the battalion will have to be made of better 'stuff' than a certain company in that town which was ordered out for active service during the Northwest rebellion and when the captain notified the men he found that not one of them would go unless compelled by law to do so. To smooth matters over it was decided to make a draft of seven men from each company of the regiment."

To those who know the truth this sounds very foolish indeed, and for the benefit of those who may not be acquainted with the circumstances we wish to say that it is not true. Col. Rogers received instructions to furnish a company for the Midland battalion late on Saturday night, and on Sunday he went to inform the officers of the Keesee, Norwood and Hastings companies, before any Peterborough company had been called out at all, because the colonel thought that each of the companies in the regiment would desire to be represented. As a matter of fact, the companies here were not ordered out, for the notice given to the town volunteers was a written notice put up at the telegraph office calling for militia men to volunteer to go, and this notice brought forward so many willing to go to the Northwest that a battalion could have been formed there. The Register has been badly misinformed, and should withdraw its slander.

Wanted, Coat and Vest Makers. Good Coat and Vest Makers wanted. Apply to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

SCOTT ACT ENFORCEMENT.

The Fund Alms House—The Fund Alms House $4,128.

On Wednesday evening Mr. F. S. Spence lectured in Bradburn's Opera House on "Scott Act Enforcement."

At eight o'clock the hall was jammed to the doors. Standing room was at a premium. On the platform there were the Rev. E. F. Torrance, the Rev. F. H. Wallace, the Rev. D. Cattanech, the Rev. E. A. de St. Dalmas, Mr. Geo. A. Cox and the lecturer.

Mr. Geo. A. Cox, the Chairman, introduced the lecturer.

The lecturer said that he was very thankful to have the privilege of meeting the people of Peterborough who had just passed through the preliminary skirmish of this temperance campaign so successfully and were met to-night to devise means for entering vigorously into the fray. He explained that some people had formed erroneous ideas of the Scott Act. The Scott Act was not what the temperance people wanted; but it was the best measure they could get and they took it with the best grace. It was a very defective measure. The reason it was defective in Halton was that both Ontario and Dominion Inspectors had been withdrawn, and there was no one left to enforce the Act. But the people had now taken the matter in hand and were determined to carry out the Act. This temperance movement was one which nothing could stop. Year by year its waves were swelling into billions. It was destined to spread over the whole land, and drown out drunkenness. The hotelkeepers and liquor men might just as well submit at once. The Scott Act was merely a preliminary step to prohibition, and the temperance people would never rest till whiskey was banished from the land.

What was wanted to enforce the Act perfectly was the election of men who favored prohibition in all municipal and government positions. This means would give a great support and stay. Scott Act people should tear a leaf out of the liquor men's book; they should go to work unitedly. But they should also give individual support. They needed pluck and courage, and should inform on every occasion which they could find. Why not inform? It was not dishonorable any more than informing on a thief or a murderer. The laws were the laws of the land alike. They should be obeyed. They should set their faces against intemperance more than ever. They needed energetic and fearless inspectors, policemen and commissioners, also a magistrate who would not be hoodwinked by wily lawyers. It was of great importance that a first class lawyer should be engaged—the best lawyer that could be got, a man who would not be afraid to prosecute. Temperance societies should be kept up and supported. The best lecturers should be engaged, and by frequently having lectures on prohibition the people would be educated up to prohibition. Lastly there should be a copious fund to sustain all prosecutions. In Peterborough there were all requirements except the last mentioned.

The Chairman announced that he had promised that if the Scott Act were carried the temperance people would not wait for funds to carry it out. He was here to-night to redeem that pledge. He would open a subscription list by placing his name down for $500.

The following subscriptions were added: Wm. Y. Land, $100; J. Stinson, $100; A. Rutherford, $100; J. W. Flavelle, $100; W. J. Mason, $100; Jas. Kendry, $100; W. A. Morrow, $100; K. W. Cox, $100; J. J. Hartley, $100; N. L. Plante, $100; J. O. T. Lacey, $100; D. Stimm, $100; F. W. Cox, $100; J. Kendry (private subscriptions collected), $1,400; N. Stock, $50; F. Hilliard, $50; Mr. Wier, $50; D. B. Gartner, $50; John Moore, $25; D. Dole, $25; R. Cook, $25. Slips of paper were passed around, which, when returned, brought the subscriptions up to $4,125.

The meeting adjourned amid enthusiasm.

A Social An Evening.

Two years ago a boys' branch was established in connection with the Young Men's Christian Association. This branch is now in a flourishing state. The boys meet regularly and the meetings are always well attended. Usually there are from twenty-five to thirty-five boys on hand to be addressed by a member of the paternal, so to speak, association. Mr. W. Gilbert, formerly of Peterborough, now of Chicago, who pays an annual visit home, is a particular favorite with the boys. During each visit he makes he is given full charge of the branch, and he manages the boys in a first rate way. He says the only way to keep a boy quiet is to set him down to a well stocked table. But at any rate he enters into the boys' sport, the while leading and guarding them by the silver thread of good example. On the eve of his return to Chicago the boys made preparation to give a suitable good bye. In the Y. M. C. A. lecture hall on Wednesday evening two long well loaded tables with toothsome edibles provided by the good ladies, were soon lined up around fifty bright faced boys. Mr. Geo. E. Williams presided over one and Mr. W. Gilbert over the other. A blessing was asked and soon after the picnic fever raged. Cakes of all sorts, oranges, apples, and even confectionery, were despatched with astonishing zeal. After the social followed an entertainment which consisted of readings and recitations by several of the boys and by address by Mr. Gilbert and Mr. Whitlow. Mr. Gilbert says this branch is the best he ever visited and he has visited a good many.

THE REMAINS IN STATE.

THE BODY OF THE LATE RIGHT REV. BISHOP IN THE CATHEDRAL.

Thousands of People Approach the Cathedral to see the remains of the deceased Bishop Henry's Entail.

St. Peter's Cathedral to-day presents an appearance of deep solemnity. The stained glass windows are all covered with folds of crape. The altar and within the communion rail is hidden in funeral drapery. The galleries are faced with gylphs of alternate white and black. The pillars are wound with alternate white and black. The light is dim; like twilight. The brighter shines the candles around the altar which contains the body of the late Bishop, and the dispersed light which falls through the windows of the open sacristy. The scene is AWESOME.

All is the deepest of mourning save where the remains lie. Here is a picture more like the bright creation of imagination. A profusion of floral ornaments surround the casket. Green vines twine themselves closely around it. Bright crosses, wreaths, and other floral devices abound, while the steady, quiet rays of numerous candles lend gliding to all around. The dead prelate lies in a white satin lined metal casket, with extension bars of silver each ornamented with silver tassels. The body is robed in full pontifical vestments. The golden crucifix lies alongside the coffin; the golden chalice is held by the hands, and at each end of the coffin lies a mitre. The signet ring is worn by the right hand; and many a parishioner, yesterday and to-day, have come with feelings of affection and awe to touch it with their lips. At noon to-day the scene was particularly impressive. A quietness pervaded the Cathedral, broken only by the subdued sobs of some who had retired to their pews to weep, and by the low whisperings of the hooded sisters who steadfastly guard the casket.

THE FLORAL OFFERINGS.

are beautiful. A mitre of white blossoms crossed with deep blue violets was offered by Mr. B. Morrow; a cross of white blossoms studded with purple violets, by Mr. Jas. Henry; a beautiful wreath, by the altar boys; a pillow of flowers, by the St. Vincent de Paul Society; a heart forming a base for a purple cross, by the School Board; a cross tipped with chaste lilies, by the children of St. Mary's Society; a bright hued cross, tipped with a tangle of lilies, by the Ladies Alter Society, a beautiful floral harp, with vase of lilies and frame of half and half blown roses, interspersed with lute and blossom, by the choir; and a alabaster vase filled with flowers and the vine which encircle the casket, by the children of the convent; a beautiful array of foliage plants are the gift of Mr. Geo. M. R. ger.

AT KINGSTON.

His Lordship Bishop Cleary, of Kingston diocese, formerly Bishop of this diocese, before it was separated from Kingston, announced from the pulpit the death of Bishop Jamot, and was thus reported by the Freeman:—

"The Bishop told his people simply and briefly the high virtues of the deceased Bishop—a man of goodness and holiness and sacrifice. His Lordship regretted that he was unable to state the circumstances attending Bishop Jamot's demise, but he was assured that the good Bishop was always prepared for the summons to God's judgment. His life had been full of devoted labor for the service of God. Every moment of his time was employed for the good of his fellow men and the interest of religion. In three brief years the four counties, formerly of Kingston Diocese, which had been given to form Peterborough Diocese, and which had been too distant for direct supervision by the Bishop of Kingston, had been converted by active zeal of Dr. Jamot into 'a garden of spiritual fertility,' so contented and watchful was the care of the good and holy Bishop. He seemed to be everywhere, according as the wants of his flock called for his presence, and in the midst of all these anxieties and labors for the souls committed to his loving solicitude God has called him to reward and rest. 'Let us pray therefore,' the Bishop concluded, 'in the presence of Jesus Christ: upon the altar for the soul of the deceased Bishop; let us appeal to the Sacred Heart of Jesus for a merciful judgment upon his life; let us follow to death and martyrdom the God of life to give him unending joy in eternity.' The Bishop announced Pontifical High Mass for the repose of the soul of the Most Rev. John Francis Jamot to-morrow morning at 7.30 o'clock, and very earnestly exhorted the congregation to attend and unite their prayers with the Holy Sacrifice for the eternal rest of the first Bishop of the Diocese of Peterborough."

AT TORONTO.

A Solemn Pontifical High Mass was celebrated at eight o'clock on Wednesday morning in St. Michael's Cathedral, Toronto, by Archbishop Lynch for the repose of the soul of the late Bishop.

AT GRAFTON.

The parishioners at Grafton will have a disappointment. The late Bishop had an appointment for next Sunday in the parish of Grafton, where the Catholic Church is to be reopened. Father Kelly, of Ennismore, was to accompany him.

THE LAST WORDS.

The last words of the late Bishop were: "My Lord and my God." With these words still on his lips the vital glow was annihilated.

THE CLERGY.

His Grace Archbishop Lynch, of Toronto, and Bishop Laurier, of Pembroke, have arrived at the Palace. Father Conway expects the following to-morrow:—Bishop Fabre, of Montreal; Bishop Duhamel, of Ottawa; Bishop Welsh, London; Bishop Casberry, London, and Bishop Cleary, of Kingston. All the Priests of the diocese will also be present at the funeral of the late Bishop, which takes place at 10.30 a.m. to-morrow.

Hotel Men.

The hotel men of Peterborough held a private meeting in one of the Grand Central Hotel parlors on Wednesday evening. After considerable discussion as to means to be adopted in combating the Scott Act, it was resolved to test its validity. A list was passed around and five thousand dollars was subscribed to the fund. A prominent hotel man says that $10,000 will be forthcoming if required.

FRIDAY, MAY 7, 1886.
THE CATHEDRAL CRYPT
THE BODY OF THE LATE BISHOP INTERRED AMID GREAT BOWROWING.
Five Absolutions Offered—Prayers and Masses to be said for the repose of his soul—Vicar-General Laurent to come to the Palace.

The late Bishop of Peterborough was laid to rest to-day. The funeral obsequies lasted from half past ten o'clock in the forenoon till half past one o'clock this afternoon, and were of an unusually improving character.

The Cathedral, at nearly an hour before the ceremonies began, was crowded, transepts, galleries and auditorium. The remains of the prelate lay in state on a sloping bier, covered with a canopy of black looped, with white crapes. On either side stood ornate stands of flowers, containing a profusion of beautiful devices. To the right, to the left and to the front rows of mortuary candles burned.

At half past 10 o'clock the following clergy emerged from the palace and made slow progression along Rabbidge and Hunter streets to the Cathedral:—

His Grace Archbishop Lynch, Toronto; Their Lordships Bishop Fabre, Montreal, Bishop Dahamell, Ottawa, Bishop Lorrain, Pembroke, Bishop Carberry, Hamilton, Bishop Walsh, London, Bishop McQuade, Rochester, N.Y., Bishop Ryan, Buffalo, N.Y., Bishop Cleary, Kingston, Bishop Mahoney, Toronto; Vicar-General Laurent, Lindsay; Vicar-General Laurent, Toronto; Archbishop Cassidy, Dixie, Ont.; Father Vincent, Superior of St. Michael's College, Toronto; Father Provost, O. M. I., Superior of the University, Ottawa; Father Langevin, Director of the Grand Seminary, Ottawa; Father Morde, Secretary of the Archdiocese of Quebec; Father Delarue, Grand Seminary, Montreal; the Rev. Fathers Lanagan, Saint Bridget's, Montreal; Michel, Buckingham, Quebec; Levesque, formerly of Peterborough; Cicourel, Lochiel, Ont.; Duffus, St. Raphael's, Ont.; Sweeney, Lindsay; Beaumont, Newmarket; McCloskey, Victoria Road; P. J. O'Brien, Madoc; Wm. Macdonell, J. S. O'Connor, Perth; Spratt, W. L. Island; Walsh, Trenton; Hooper, Toronto; Toohy, Kingston; Jeffcott, Orangeville; Davis, Brechin; Allen, Uxbridge; McCall; Ray; Campbell, Orillia; Sullivan, Thorold; O'Connell, Duror; McKay, Keokuk Falls; Bretherton and McGuire, Bracebridge; Quirk, Hastings; Casey, Campbellford; Brown, Pigeon Hope; Murray, Cobourg; Larkin, Gravelly; O'Connor, Brighton; Quilivao, P. S. S., Montreal; Kelly, Kenmore; Conway, M. J. O'Brien and Kodkins, Peterborough.

The procession was led by a priest bearing the Crucifix wrapped with crapes between two others bearing candles. The procession moved into the Cathedral and while passing up the central aisle the choir sang the "Funeral March." The clergy all passed through the gate to within the altar rail and took seats. Thence draped in mourning were provided for His Grace and their Lordships. The throne occupied by the deceased Bishop was draped in black, and vacant. The Requiem Hymn Mass was celebrated by Bishop Mahoney, of London, as celebrant, Father Vincent, of Toronto, as Deacon, Father J. S. O'Connor, Perth, as Sub Deacon, Father O'Brien, Peterborough, as book bearer, and Father Morde, as Master of Ceremonies. After the celebration of the Mass Bishop Walsh, of London, preached the sermon.

His Lordship said that the following words would be found in the third chapter of the Book of Wisdom. "But the souls of the just are in the hand of God and the torment of death shall not touch them. In the sight of the unwise they seemed to die: and their departure was taken for misery: and their going away from us, for utter destruction: but they are in peace, and though in the sight of men they suffered torments their hope is full of immortality." The occasion that called them together to-day, he said, was, in a human sense, inexpressibly sad and distressing and had shrouded this young diocese and entire church in Ontario and Quebec in a great sorrow. But a few weeks ago the good and holy Bishop returned home from the Eternal City amid the rejoicing and plaudits of a devoted people. When in the Eternal City he prayed at the shrine of the apostles for the spiritual welfare of his children, and while there no doubt drank in more of that apostolic spirit that always animated and made fruitful his priestly and episcopal life. After doing homage to the Vicar of Christ and rendering an account of his stewardship, he came back to his people laden with blessings. And now what did they behold? What spectacle was it that met their eyes? The good Bishop lies stiff and cold in death. His voice was silent, his mirror had fallen from his brow; his crozier had fallen from his grasp, and his episcopal throne was vacant and was waiting for some other occupant, whilst the young diocese was widowed and plunged in tears. Their father had gone. Nothing could dry their tears or assuage their grief. But there was a lesson which death and its surroundings were well calculated to teach. It seemed to him that on an occasion like this no voice should be heard but the voice of the church of God pleading, by the power of her prayers, with vehement affection, for the repose of the soul of the deceased. The death of a bishop was no doubt intended to instruct as well as the living of a bishop. The lessons from the pulpit of the coffin should be heard. This should impress on all the necessity of serving God; the necessity of leading a holy life. Yes, since Almighty God uttered against mankind the awful sentence "Dust thou art and into dust thou shalt return,"—since that day down through all the ages that terrible sentence has been carried out with a universality admitting of no exception and impartially, admitting of no favor. Bishops and priests as well as laymen must bow their heads in obedience to that decree of God. But "the souls of the just are in the hands of God." The Son of God had destroyed the empire of the grave and the power of death. By His death He destroyed death. He died taking away the sin of the world, and rising he restored our lives—the lives of our imperishable souls. So the people had this consolation: they mourned and listened to the voice of Christ should live with Him in the Kingdom of God. Their good Bishop would rise again triumphant. He had but changed his mitre for one more glorious, and had dropped his crozier in the church militant for one in the church triumphant.

The good departed Bishop, when considering his life, was not an ordinary man. He was a great priest and a great prelate. It was his (His Lordship's) privilege to be associated with the late Bishop during his priestly life in Toronto diocese, and he could say that there was nothing in his life that was not calculated to be edifying and to win esteem and affection. His Lordship reviewed the great work done by the late prelate from 1854, when he came to Canada, till his entry to the Peterborough palace. The country between Barrie and Toronto was at that time utterly destitute with spiritual destitution. There was not a resident priest in that whole district; now there were twelve flourishing parishes. Then the people were famished for the bread of life and there were no consecrated hands to break it. The marriages of the people were unblessed, and not unfrequently to his certain knowledge, did the poor immigrants go their long journey without the means of grace having reached them. The late prelate was then given charge, and he need not say what intrepidity he showed in organizing the church in that district. Work under his direction progressed wonderfully.

The marked success achieved by Father Jamot under the notice of His Grace the Archdiocese. He was appointed Vicar-General and Chancellor of the Diocese of Toronto. Here he worked faithfully and zealously for ten years. His work was blessed and his success was equally marked. What was one of the chiefest and most distinguishing characteristics of the late prelate was his unquestioning submission to his superiors; not only to their decrees, but to their slightest wishes. During his labors as Vicar-General he actively worked in the organization of church machinery. A lasting memento of his zeal was the spire which now towers over St. Michael's, Toronto. In 1874 the attention of the Church was drawn to the terrible spiritual destitution that prevailed in the Northwest Territory, from Thunder Bay to the Hudson Bay. The mission work for this vast country was committed to his charge, being appointed Vicar-Apostolic of Northern Canada. He undertook the work with his own hands. He made a pilgrimage throughout Ontario collecting money for the active prosecution of the work. He underwent great hardship in the new country, sent missionaries to feed the starving souls and this work also was carried into great blessings. Since coming among the people here nothing need be said. The people here all knew of his holiness, his heart pure and his character unblemished.

His Grace, the Archbishop, announced that the people would be expected to offer up three communions, on three stations of the cross, or masses, for the repose of the Bishop's soul. He also announced that the Vicar-General Laurent, of this Diocese, would come to the palace to take charge of the diocese till a successor was appointed.

Five absolutions were then offered by five Bishops, the Archbishop, Bishop Ryan, Bishop Fabre, Bishop Cleary, and Bishop Mahoney, officiating.

Father Conway, the Parish Priest, then requested the people to retire, that the funeral procession would move around the Convent square. The people thronged out. A procession was formed, the clergy, bearing the casket, at the head. Then came the remains of the late prelate, borne by fourteen pall bearers: Messrs. H. L. Brun, Dr. Crevier, T. Cahill, B. Morrow, T. Kelly, T. Dolan, J. H. Kelly, J. C. Sullivan, R. W. Muncester, Dr. O'Sullivan, J. M. Lynch, John Sullivan, James Henry and E. P. Loran.

The procession moved along slowly, the clergy chanting as they went. Thousands crowded the route and bore respect to the deceased by bearing their heads. A re-entry to the Cathedral was made and the body was interred in the crypt. The five Bishops ended the absolution. A beautifully appropriate solo was sung by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre as the casket was lowered into the crypt. The words of the solo were as follows:—"Angels, angels, ever bright and fair, take, O take him to your care." While this was being fervently sung tears welled to the eyes of clergy and layman alike. The crypt was closed and the people left the Cathedral, sorrowing for one whose reign had been so short, but so bright.

THE MUSIC.
The music given by the choir on the occasion was as follows:—"Die Profundus," the duet by Miss A. Dunn and Miss Tierney, the choros "A Christe" by the choir. The mass music was harmonized in parts, base Messrs. Coughlin, Dunn, tenor, Messrs. W. and Geo. Ball. The offertory was Rossini's "Inflammatus," the solo being taken by Miss Bealey. During the communion the trio "O Jesu Dei Vire" was sung, Miss Mary Dunn, Mr. Geo. Ball, and Mr. T. Dunn, taking the trio. Miss Morris presided at the organ.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

Recent debates in the House and discussions in the press and elsewhere have brought prominently before the public the question of the "Independence of Parliament," particularly as to whether members should be permitted to have any interest direct or indirect in any dealing with the Government or should be allowed to purchase, or to belong to any company purchasing or receiving public lands or other property of the Dominion.

While acknowledging the difficulties in the way of a solution we have no hesitation in expressing our opinion that it would be well that some change should be made so as to prevent any risk of wrong doing, and even the mere appearance of evil, aggravated by scandalous political attacks by unscrupulous men who impute evil where it does not exist. But any change should be made carefully so as not to prejudice the development of the resources of the country.

The difficulty is that a hard and fast rule that no member of Parliament should have any dealings with the Government or should purchase even an acre of public land, or should have an interest in any company doing so, would be tantamount to saying that the electors must not choose as their representative any active business man or enterprising citizen. The personal hardship of a member being restricted from investing his money or conducting his business in a manner open to any other man though worthy of consideration would not be conclusive, for a candidate would know the position he would occupy if elected and might govern himself accordingly. But the public considerations are more important. It would be hard upon the electors to be restricted in their choice of candidates because their best men had enterprise enough to be railway shareholders, or holders of stock in companies manufacturing articles which might fairly compete for Government contracts, or in companies to develop the agricultural, mineral or timber resources of the country. For instance in Kingston some of the leading men of both parties are interested in a company making engines, or they would all be ineligible as candidates, so that their company must be forbidden to supply a single locomotive for a government railway, or they would be forced to abandon their share in the enterprise. Now in Peterborough we manufacture cloth, blankets, coats, shoes, flour, canned, and a variety of other articles, so that neither party could well choose a prominent man as candidate unless we are to be precluded from competing to supply the public service of the country. Even holders of railway or bank stock, volunteer officers, some holders of house property and so forth would be excluded. This would manifestly be against public policy.

Perhaps the line might be drawn by allowing members or their companies to be interested in contracts by tender open to all, or in the purchase of public property on terms which any person can equally obtain, but not to have any private bargain or dealings with the Administration or its officers.

The suggestion of Sir R. Cartwright and others that the members who support the Government of the day should be restricted from dealing with it is clearly inadmissible. That would not be a system to preserve the independence of Parliament, for it would only mean that a member wishing to have an interest in an aided railway, in a colonization company, or a company supplying goods for the public service would have to show that he was an opponent of the Administration. It would be a direct inducement to him to vote in a certain manner for his own personal interest or that of his associates.

In a country like ours, where nearly all our best men are active producers or are adding to develop the country, this question is beset with difficulties. We almost despair of legislation being able to supply a satisfactory solution, which should rather be found in a better state of public opinion, and in more conscientious individual conduct. Members should avoid so getting as even to seem to use their parliamentary and political influence, or to traffic systematically in transactions with the public authorities. And other members should resist from scandalous attacks and cries of corruption, because a member of one party is allowed just the same rights as members of the other party, against whom not a word is whispered, and from charges of political favoritism, because a member obtains what any other man could get under general regulations.

And critics of others should be careful not to cast imputations on the letter but the spirit of their own intentions. If Mr. Blake objects to a member making a profit (or a loss) by buying public lands, he should not sit in the House with a fee in his pocket as an advocate of the Great Trunk Railway and throw in his parliamentary with his legal advocacy. Mr. Mitchell should not blame Mr. Woodworth for threatening parliamentary opposition until his claim is recognized, while practicing parliamentary opposition to the Great Trunk because of a disputed claim. Nor would it be right if the Conservative Administration at Ottawa is to be precluded from treating its supporters as other men, that Reformers should be allowed to go to the Reform Administration at Toronto to grant them favours. Mr. Blake and Mr. Eyer, for instance, should not allow Mr. Mowat to purchase vacancies for them by using the Ontario treasury for that purpose. Mr. Mills should not be constantly obtaining briefs from the Attorney-General of Ontario. Nor should Mr. Cook receive from Mr. Mowat special advantages to enable him to recoup himself for the large sums of money he boasts to have spent in corrupting the electors. We repeat that any feasible legislation should be adopted that would remove even the appearance of trafficking in parliamentary influence, but more scrupulous conduct in the transactions of members, and an avoidance of false charges of corruption where none exists, would afford a more efficacious remedy.

Mr. Mills says that to insist upon Mr. Elgar answering as to who gave him his "credible information" is to put him on trial for his veracity. That trial has been concluded by Mr. Elgar's own admissions that he had only mere hearsay to go upon, and that he made no attempt to ascertain the truth as to his charges. In fact his admission is that he made a willfully false statement to the House, so there is no further question of his veracity.

The Globe's language in regard to its political opponents has always been discreditable but it surpasses even its own bad record by describing the Hon. Mr. McLellan, Finance Minister for the Dominion, as "an old gentleman of wandering wits, never strong minded and now too obviously approaching second childhood."

REVIEWS.

THE CANADIAN METHODIST MAGAZINE FOR May.—There are three striking illustrated articles in this number. "On the Erie" describes the picture-que scenery of that famous road. "Landmarks of History" records some of the epochal events in the world's progress. Among the Eskimo, by the Rev. W. S. Blacklock, summarizes recent Arctic discovery. The illustrations of these articles, especially of the first two, are very fine. The Rev. L. N. B. Aubrey, himself a cultured French Canadian, contributes a paper on the "Relations of the French and English in Canada." John MacDonald, Esq., concludes his account of the strange variety of characters who, on a strange variety of business, visit a merchant's office. An elaborate article by the Rev. J. S. Ross, M. A., discusses a proposed Sustentation Fund for the Methodist Church. The story of "Jan Velder's Wife" continues to grow in intensity of interest. A steel portrait of the late Dr. Ross, with memorial tributes by leading ministers, and other articles of special interest, are in preparation.

HARPER'S MONTHLY.—The May number of Harper has for its frontispiece an engraving from Armitage's picture of "Faith." It is one of the numerous illustrations of W. H. Ingersoll's articles on "Portraits of our Saviour." A chatty description of "The London Season" is prettily illustrated by Du Masurier, so well known in the pages of Punch. W. H. Gibson, in "Sap Bewitched," discourses learnedly, yet fancifully, on the strange vegetable growths caused by the egg laying of insects. R. F. Zolbaum takes the reader through a fresh style of military life, "With Bluebirds on the Border." C. D. Warner carries us along with his friends on "Their Pilgrimage" through summer pleasure resorts. In "The Home Acre" E. P. Roe gives useful practical hints on vine culture. There is another installment of "She Stoops to Conquer," with Abbey's striking illustrations. Miss Woolson's novel, "East Angels," is concluded, and the other two serial tales, "Springhaven," by Blackmore, and "King Arthur," by Mrs. Craik, are proceeding with growing interest. Short tales, poetry, and the editorial miscellany complete an excellent number.

MISCELLANEOUS.

EDWARD MERRITT was killed at Alma by a falling log.

McKILLIP's saw mill and logs at Wallace's town, Ont., have been destroyed by fire.

THE mills at Ottawa started work with full gangs. Laborers receive from $1.25 to $1.50 per day.

THE Canadian Pacific railway is building an elevator at Toronto, Ont., with a capacity for 250,000 bushels of grain.

It is estimated that over 40,000,000 feet of lumber is now (May 4th) en route to the English and American markets.—Ottawa Journal.

MENARD, Corey Bros. have just planted a row of young black walnut trees along the roadside at Stanbridge East, Que.

H. B. RATHBEN & SON, the lumbermen of Deseronto, Ont., purpose to put on a line of side wheel steamers between Belleville, Ont., and Ojibwayburg, N. Y.

A man named Joseph B. Woodard, from Drummondville, Que., was drowned at Kingsbury, in Melbourn township, on 23rd April, while engaged in driving logs down Salmon creek.

BEFORE Easter 2,000 dozen of eggs were shipped by one lumber firm of East Saginaw to their camps in the woods. Thus says the North-western Lumberman, it will be seen that the monopolistic pine men are not unmindful of the religious wants of their employees.

F. W. GILBERT, of Alpena, Mich., has purchased the propeller Algonquin Summer, which is 135 feet long, 24 feet wide, with 11 feet depth of hull. She will probably tow Gilbert's yacht, the Mammoth log barge, that is to take pine from the Canadian north shore to Alpena.

THE Reolute cleared from Deseronto on Wednesday morning at 7:45 a.m. arrived at Ojibway, discharging her cargo of 330,000 feet of lumber and was in Deseronto at 5:45 on Thursday morning. That beat the record, and Capt. Cowan is confident that he can yet reduce the time for the round trip.—Probus.

Landslide Near Sandus.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 7.—A great landslide occurred about 12 o'clock last night, a quarter of a mile east of Dundas station, about 50,000 cubic yards of earth on the mountain falling, carrying away trees, telegraph poles and everything in its way and burying the main line of G. W. R. division of the Grand Trunk railway under 80 feet of earth for a distance of a quarter of a mile. Five hundred men are at work under direction of Mr. Stiff, and a division track will be built around the mountain. Through freight will be sent around by Paris and Stratford in the meantime. It will take several months to clear the track.

They Underestimated the Danger.

"I wonder that you never got married," said Mrs. Yeast to young Crimmesbeck, a brakeman on the railroad.

"I don't see why you should wonder. We railroad men never marry, you know."

"How's that?"

"Oh, we understand the danger that is attached to coupling, you know."

ANOTHER INDUSTRY.

Peterborough Voted Means—The Metropolitan Grocery Co. to Manufacturers.

The Metropolitan Grocery Company have decided to embark in a partly new undertaking. For years the company has carried on pork packing, but it is the intention to go into that branch more extensively. This branch will be carried on in the same place as it has been carried on heretofore, in the first flat of the big warehouse to the rear of the grocery building.

In connection with this the company has established a potted meat factory, which is situated on the third flat of the warehouse. Here the necessary machinery has been introduced, chopping machines, sausage machines, etc. A ten horse power boiler and engine supplies the motive power. An elevator lifts the pork packing department and the putting department, which brings up materials in the raw state and takes down the finished article.

The manufacture will consist of potted beef, ham, tongue, and all kinds of sausages. A special department will be reserved in the grocery for the display of the home manufacture. If it is found that the undertaking is a success the company intend to enter more largely into it, and manufacture for the wholesale trade. Out of this may grow an important industry.

A BLAZE OF BRILLIANCE

Brodie Woollen Mills Basking in Electricity.

For the past year or so the top flat of the Brodie woollen mill has been lighted by electricity. Finding the light working so well Mr. Brodie decided to adopt the electric lighting system throughout the mill. For this purpose a Thompson and Houston twelve light dynamo was ordered, which has been placed in the first flat of the mill.

At eight o'clock on Friday night, Mr. A. W. Brown, the Superintendent of the Peterborough Electric Light Company's plant, who put the dynamo into shape, started the machine in motion and at once fourteen lamps grew into brilliance, lighting the whole place like day. The test was very satisfactory, there not being the slightest hitch. In the first flat there are three lamps, one in the dye house and two in the finishing room. In the weaving room, which occupies the whole of the second flat, there are six lamps and on the spinning flat there are five lamps.

The power is derived from a twenty three inch turbine water wheel, which, during the day time, is arranged so as to be diverted to other machinery. The turbine performs nine hundred and twenty revolutions to the minute, and at this rate, though the dynamo is a twelve light machine, sufficient current is delivered to feed the fourteen lamps.

With its own private system of water works and fire protection, and its own lighting plant, together with the adoption of the most effective machinery in the market, with which the mill is well stocked throughout, the Brodie Mills are at once among the best equipped in the Province.

MR. PEARCE'S PURCHASE.

To Run the Railway from Toronto to Harwood—No Mining at Present.

Our town was visited this week by a gentleman in whom the majority of our citizens have taken a deep interest. This gentleman was Mr. Pearce, the new proprietor of the C. P. and M. R. R. In appearance, he is a little below medium height, inclines somewhat to portliness, has a rufous complexion, fringed by a light growth of beard, and looks the embodiment of business; the moment you set eyes on him, Mr. Pearce intends taking personal management of his newly acquired property and will operate the road as the Harwood Road.

On Monday, in company with the engineer, he took a run over the road between Chatham and Harwood, to ascertain the extent of the damage done to the road-bed by the storm of winter. They found that considerable repairs would be necessary before the road could be used for traffic. The railroad will be operated this year at all events. Mr. Pearce has complete arrangements with the Peterborough people in connection with the Harwood mill for the shipment during the coming season of seven or eight million feet of lumber.

Mr. Pearce will probably discontinue the road from the Harwood to where it crosses the C. P. R., a distance of 16 miles. There have been several millions of dollars invested in the property which will, we trust, under Mr. Pearce's energetic direction, be profitable to him and to the municipality which are interested in it. In the course of interviews held with Mr. Pearce during his stay in town, he candidly admitted that he was not the sole owner of the road, but was a party to the partnership with the Bank of Toronto. At the time of the sale in Toronto, he made a certain proposition to the bank which was accepted, and somewhat unexpectedly to himself, he became the owner of the road. He said it was purely a matter of dollars and cents, and he was going to make the most of his bargain. He believes the Harwood mill will cost for eight or ten years longer at least. Personally, he does not favor "filling in Kice Lake," as he facetiously terms the proposition to fill the hedge across the lake and extend the road to Peterborough. He thinks that the danger and state of the ore trade at present will prevent the revival of mining operations at Blenheim. He was induced to complete the proposition of the road chiefly on account of the valuable ash and black-buck timber situated on the 20,000 acres of mining lands in the township of Harwood and Belmont, which is growing in sufficient quantities to supply his saw mill at Harwood for a number of years. We are convinced that Mr. Pearce is a gentleman who is citizenship the people of Chatham would value exceedingly. We hope he will take the hint—Chatham's World.

THE CHICAGO RIOTS

The Rioters in the County Jail—The Death Blow of Anarchism.

CHICAGO, May 7.—Last night Spies, accompanied by his fellow-prisoners, were marched out of the central station to the county jail. The incendiaries are apparently disheartened, depressed and dejected.

CLEVELAND, May 7.—It is reported that the anarchist Parsons is concealed here.

LONDON, May 7.—Some papers predict that the events at Chicago will be the death blow to Anarchism and Socialism in America. Many give credit to the belief that the true labor interest of Chicago and all America is strong against rioters. The Socialistic leaders here strongly denounce Spies and speak of "the pitiful gang led by Augustus Spies, one of the street sweepers whose exposure to the St. James has been gained at the close of Blocher Street, whence they set out to spread their detestable doctrines of outrage and violence."

CHICAGO, May 7.—The divisions to the police had reached 222,000. The police have discovered more dynamite material, but they have a difficulty in finding the manufacturer. William Schickel, President of the labor makers' union, also a professional agitator, has been arrested, accused of instigating the rioters.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., May 7.—The labor difficulties have caused a depression in business, and perhaps, some injury to the tailoring trade than any other. It is estimated that nearly half a million dollars' worth of business in Pittsburgh and Allegheny has been lost since the labor troubles began. The iron and steel trades are also suffering heavily. Orders are being countermanded, and every one is uneasy.

THE RIEL QUESTION IN QUEBEC.

The Provincial Legislature Votes Down a Motion Respecting.

Thursday afternoon's session of the Quebec Provincial Legislature lasted until nearly 8 o'clock on Friday morning, and the debate on the Riel question was concluded. A vote was taken on the following amendment moved by Mr. Turcotte, a Liberal:

Whereas the half breeds, both French and English, for a long time past had grievances that gave rise to the political offence for which their chief, Louis Riel, had been executed; whereas, civil and national are opposed to capital punishment for political offence; considering, especially, that the fact of Riel having been recommended to the mercy of the Court by jurymen being a race and creed different from his own, to whom the State had entrusted his trial, made it the duty of the Government to exercise clemency towards him, considering that after the execution had been three times postponed, their duty became all the more imperative; considering further the fact that Riel was executed at the request of General Middleton, and that it is evident that the Government had made of this execution simply a subject of calculation for election purposes, that it has computed how many seats would be won by executing Riel, and how many would be lost by a policy of clemency and justice, that finally with a view of giving effect thereto it has sacrificed him to the hatred of fanatics, thereby allowing them to stir up against one another the different races which in this country live together under the protection of the British flag. Resolved, that in so executing Louis Riel on the 16th of November, 1885, the Government of Sir John A. Macdonald was guilty of an act of inhumanity and of cruelty unworthy of a civilized nation, and deserving the condemnation of all its friends of right and justice, without distinction of race or creed."

The motion was defeated by a majority of 27, the vote being 16 for to 43 against. The amendment of Mr. Gauthier, declaring that Mr. Riel had no right to interfere in the matter, was carried on a vote of 12 to 18. Mr. McCrear, Liberal leader, then moved another amendment asking for an amnesty. The Speaker ruled it out of order, and on an appeal his ruling was sustained by a vote of 43 to 16. A. H. House adjourned the members sang "God Save the Queen."

MR. PEARCE'S PURCHASE.

To Run the Railway from Toronto to Harwood—No Mining at Present.

Our town was visited this week by a gentleman in whom the majority of our citizens have taken a deep interest. This gentleman was Mr. Pearce, the new proprietor of the C. P. and M. R. R. In appearance, he is a little below medium height, inclines somewhat to portliness, has a rufous complexion, fringed by a light growth of beard, and looks the embodiment of business; the moment you set eyes on him, Mr. Pearce intends taking personal management of his newly acquired property and will operate the road as the Harwood Road.

On Monday, in company with the engineer, he took a run over the road between Chatham and Harwood, to ascertain the extent of the damage done to the road-bed by the storm of winter. They found that considerable repairs would be necessary before the road could be used for traffic. The railroad will be operated this year at all events. Mr. Pearce has complete arrangements with the Peterborough people in connection with the Harwood mill for the shipment during the coming season of seven or eight million feet of lumber.

Mr. Pearce will probably discontinue the road from the Harwood to where it crosses the C. P. R., a distance of 16 miles. There have been several millions of dollars invested in the property which will, we trust, under Mr. Pearce's energetic direction, be profitable to him and to the municipality which are interested in it. In the course of interviews held with Mr. Pearce during his stay in town, he candidly admitted that he was not the sole owner of the road, but was a party to the partnership with the Bank of Toronto. At the time of the sale in Toronto, he made a certain proposition to the bank which was accepted, and somewhat unexpectedly to himself, he became the owner of the road. He said it was purely a matter of dollars and cents, and he was going to make the most of his bargain. He believes the Harwood mill will cost for eight or ten years longer at least. Personally, he does not favor "filling in Kice Lake," as he facetiously terms the proposition to fill the hedge across the lake and extend the road to Peterborough. He thinks that the danger and state of the ore trade at present will prevent the revival of mining operations at Blenheim. He was induced to complete the proposition of the road chiefly on account of the valuable ash and black-buck timber situated on the 20,000 acres of mining lands in the township of Harwood and Belmont, which is growing in sufficient quantities to supply his saw mill at Harwood for a number of years. We are convinced that Mr. Pearce is a gentleman who is citizenship the people of Chatham would value exceedingly. We hope he will take the hint—Chatham's World.

ANOTHER GRIEVANCE.

THE "own correspondent" on the Saskatchewan of the leading Reformer in Ontario has discovered a new grievance in the North-West for which he severely attacks the Dominion Government. It seems that the authorities have had the cruelty to enforce the laws against whiskey. Ill-dressed and those who sold them, illegal sellers and purchasers, are actually locked up and fined. And this is done on the testimony of "sneaking informers," who are also "rascals" according to this "own correspondent" of the Globe. It also seems that there is one law in the Territories for the rich man and another for the poor, since the rich man can have a stock of whiskey in his cellar, while the poor man either has to "stare at vacancy" or to run the risk of being fined for buying a glass of adulterated alcohol. This is very terrible, but even in Peterborough the man who is rich enough to buy whiskey by the quart can have a stock in his cellar, while the man too poor to buy except by the glass will have to contemplate his vacuity or to run the two-fold risk of adulteration and a visit to the Police Court. This, however, is probably all right in the Globe's eyes, as it results from legislation passed under the auspices of the Mackenzie-Blake Administration. We venture to think that a restriction on alcohol is rather more necessary in the North-West.

A COWARD'S ATTACK.

MR. McMILLAN recently made an attack upon the Macdonald Administration in regard to superannuations, accusing them of extravagance and of thus creating vacancies for their friends. He read from the list about thirty of what he called the "most glaring cases." An examination of the names shows that nearly half of them were those of civil servants superannuated by the Mackenzie-Blake Administration, and the largest payment was in this category. One of them is a gentleman well known here, Mr. Langton, who represented Peterborough in Parliament. He was superannuated by the Reformers because they wanted the office as a reward for political services, though he was well qualified to perform his duties for years longer. The very case on which Mr. McMullen chiefly dwelt as a striking example of the Mackenzie-Blake Administration, Mr. McMullen in fact had the dishonesty to charge the Conservatives with what they had not done, but what had really been done by Reformers. Superannuation is a good thing if honestly conducted, but it can be used corruptly and was so used by the Reformers when in power. And then one of their supporters, a petty coward, who had to run out of the House, because he was not the pluck to speak his mind, being as false as cowardly, brings forward these misdeeds of Reformers and ascribes them to Conservatives. This is the Reform policy.

HOMER Reformers are enquiring the meaning of the word "Nil." It means "nothing," and is the foundation of a false charge by a slanderer on the authority of a discharged drunken servant. The charge is founded on nothing and means nothing.

If Mr. Blake has any more pocket constitutions at his disposal he might do well to choose as his next personal representative a man whose word can be taken in the House.

CAUGHT ON THE FLY.

A Brave Man Hugs a Dynamic Cartridge and Saves his Life.

Dell Bankton, an oil well shooter, went to the new Kane oil field on Saturday to torpedo the Craig & Capellan well, which had just reached the sand. He had lowered a shell containing 20 quarts of nitro-glycerine to a depth of 100 feet in the well, when he discovered that the well was about to make a flow. He knew that the force of the oil would carry the torpedo out at the top, and if it were thrown upward with the flow it would be exploded in contact with a derelict beam. If it escaped from the volume of oil it would fall back to the ground and explode. In either case Bankton knew that certain destruction awaited the property of his employers unless the torpedo could be secured. With remarkable presence of mind he placed himself at the mouth of the well, and as shell shot up on the stream of oil he threw his arm about it and held it. Even then undue haste and lack of judgment might have proved fatal, but Bankton held the torpedo until the spur of oil had ceased before he removed it from the well, although he knew that only a few seconds would elapse before the oil would be followed by a volume of gas and a mass of rocks from the depths. The instant the shell ceased he lifted the shell from the well and walked carefully and steadily away, carrying the torpedo in his arms. He had scarcely turned his back when the gas and rocks came out of the well with a roar and a rush. When all was over Bankton replaced the torpedo in the well, lowered it to the bottom, and finished his work. When the owners of the well heard of the wonderful nerve and judgment displayed by Bankton they at once presented him with a check for $100. Bankton's conduct in his perilous situation is said by old well shooters to be the most courageous in the history of nitro-glycerine operations in the oil regions—work that necessitates the exercise of constant vigilance, sound judgment, and steady nerves on the part of the operator.—New Orleans Dispatch.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Encouraging Small Savings.—The Standard Again.—Home Rule Recommended for Ireland.

THURSDAY, May 6.—Mr. McLean, in reply to Mr. Charlton, said the limit of saving bank deposits was $3,000, but not in the case of Foresters and other societies depositing the savings of many people.

REFORM BLANDERERS.
 Mr. WHITE (Reformer) refuted Mr. Lister's falsehood that he had been a stockholder in the Ottawa, Wellington and New York Railway, and in the Ontario Pacific Railway.

Mr. CHARLTON repeated his statement that Mr. Macgill had applied for a mining location. HOME RULE.
 Mr. BLAKE, as he had no indication that the Home Rule resolution was objectionable, moved it as already given.

Mr. CROFTON spoke in favour of Home Rule, but said that after the former unanimous expression of opinion it was in his opinion not advisable to weaken its effect by a possible divided vote. Now, however, that the matter was brought up he had no hesitation in expressing his opinion. After the reception of their former address he did not think it advisable to move another. They, however, might show sympathy with their fellow countrymen in Ireland in their constitutional agitation. He therefore moved, seconded by Sir H. Langvin, the following amendment to Mr. Blake's resolution:—

"That all the words after the word 'resolved' be struck out, and the following be substituted:—That the Commons of Canada desire to express their deep and abiding interest in the prosperity and happiness of their fellow-countrymen in Ireland, and their affection for the sentiments expressed in the joint address to Her Majesty of both Houses of the Canadian Parliament passed in the session of 1882. That in such addresses the Parliament suggested that Canada and its inhabitants had prospered exceedingly under a Federal system, allowing to each province of the Dominion considerable powers of self-government, and expressed the hope that, if consistent with the integrity and well-being of the Empire, and if the rights and status of the minority were fully protected and secured, some measure might be found of meeting the expressed desire of so many of her Majesty's Irish subjects in that regard. That in answer to the said address, the then Secretary of the State for the Colonies was commanded to state that Her Majesty will always gladly receive the advice of the Parliament of Canada on all matters relating to the Dominion and the administration of its affairs, but with respect to the question referred to in the address, Her Majesty will, in accordance with the constitution of this country, have regard to the advice of the Imperial Parliament and the Ministers to whom all matters relating to the affairs of the United Kingdom exclusively appertain. That this House having reference to the tenor of the said answer, does not deem it expedient again to address Her Majesty on the subject, but earnestly trusts that such measure or measures may be adopted by the Imperial Parliament as will, while preserving the integrity and well-being of the Empire and the rights and status of the minority, be satisfactory to the people of Ireland and permanently remove the discontent so long unapparently prevailing in that country."

This resolution covered the same ground as that previously passed, except that it did not call for an address to Her Majesty. As a unanimous vote of the House would have greater weight, he hoped Mr. Blake would accept his motion.

Mr. CAREY thought that the Premier should have consulted with Mr. Blake. Though Mr. Gladstone had snubbed him before, he should now send another address, as Mr. Gladstone had changed his mind and now was in such a mood as to accept it. They appreciated him in Canada, and he believed in Home Rule not only for Ireland, but for Scotland and Wales. The Protestant minority would be more useful in Ireland than in Quebec. The Empire was strengthened as Austria-Hungary had been. He would vote for Mr. Blake's motion and insist upon addressing the Throne.

Mr. CHAMBERLAIN said Home Rule for Ireland had always been the wish of his heart. He would vote for Mr. Carey's resolution, which was equally sympathetic and more dignified than Mr. Blake's. They could not send an address after the contemptuous answer which they had been treated previously. If Mr. Blake's sincere this resolution could be adopted unanimously, but he seemed rather to wish to make political capital, as shown by his putting his motion in the shape of a vote of want of confidence, and not taking the leader of the Free Press Canadians into his confidence. He believed that Home Rule was now a practical question, and would result in self-government in connection with a united empire.

Mr. McMILLAN before recess censured the Government for moving an amendment to Mr. Blake's resolution, which he praised. After recess he continued to speak, and he himself moved an amendment to Mr. Blake's resolution by substituting after the word "addressed":—

"And that this House is confirmed and strengthened by the events which have occurred since the passage of the said address, in its conviction that the true interests both of Ireland and the rest of the Empire will be secured in the highest degree by the granting of Home Rule to Ireland."

Mr. BURNS said Mr. Blake had brought his resolution in the shape he did in a vain attempt to catch the Irish vote. Irishmen could tell who was their friend when they saw Mr. Blake's resolution. Of the three motions he would vote for Mr. C. Carey's.

Mr. LANDERLIN praised Mr. Gladstone, praised Mr. Blake, and then said he would vote against his resolution in favor of Mr. McLean's amendment.

Mr. ORTON believed in Home Rule, but not in Mr. Gladstone's measure. They should endeavor to conciliate the Empire, not to disintegrate it. As Mr. Blake's motion endorsed Mr. Gladstone's bill he could not accept it, nor more apparently could Mr. McLean's followers, as they amended and found fault with his resolution.

Mr. McNEIL condemned Mr. Gladstone's course and his bill. Under Home Rule the unity of the Empire and the rights of the minority ought to be preserved.

Mr. HACKETT said Mr. Blake was not so anxious to speak in favor of Home Rule when he was in power and Mr. Isaac Butt would have been glad of his sympathy.

Mr. ALLEN spoke in favor of Mr. McLean's amendment.

Mr. WALLACE (York) could not agree in Mr. Blake's acceptance of Mr. Gladstone's bill, of which he pointed out many defects. One grievance defect was that it did nothing towards encouraging Irish industries, the greatest want of the country.

Mr. BLAKE grumbled because the Premier could not come to him to consult as to his vote of censure. He condemned Mr. Co-ign's resolution, defended his own, but thought Mr. McLean's an improvement, so he would vote for it.

Mr. THOMPSON expressed his hearty sympathy with the resolution of 1882 when he was out in the House. He expressed the hope that Mr. Blake's proceeding in connection with this matter, He would support Mr. Coign's motion.

Several other members continued the debate. Mr. McMullen's amendment was negatived by 118 to 90.

Mr. Coign's amendment was carried by 117 to 61.

SENDING THE RESOLUTION.

Mr. BLAKE moved to add to the motion that it be communicated by the Speaker to Mr. Gladstone.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said this was tantamount to sending an address, which they had resolved against.

There was a long and lively discussion, with several divisions as to whether the resolution should be communicated to the British Premier, Mr. Russell, the Speaker, the leader of the Opposition, or the Colonial Secretary.

Mr. THOMPSON moved an amendment that it be communicated to Sir C. Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada, for the information of the members of the Imperial H. of Commons, and this was carried by 80 to 70.

Mr. COLEMAN's resolution, amended by this addition, was carried by 140 to 6.

David Hartley and his wife, having returned from Downville, N. Y., are in Cobourg. Capt. Lizzy Boyler has charge of the Campbellford station.

Young Men's Christian Association.
The meetings in the Y. M. C. A. rooms are well attended by young men, and are generally very interesting. Strangers are always made especially welcome. The young men's meeting will be held as usual to night at 8 o'clock. On Sunday, the meetings at 4 and 8 30 p.m. will also be held. All young men are reminded that the pleasant rooms of the Association are always open to them, from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m.

A Blame.
Since the introduction of the Scott Act, there has been one continued blank at the Police Court. Not a drunk has appeared before the bar of justice, and no other case has been heard of since May 1st. The Magistrate is satisfied. He comes around every morning, makes his bow and goes away thinking what a grand thing this Scott Act is. Some think the police are not doing their duty; others are of opinion that the fact that there is no case at the court is the best evidence to the contrary.

BUY YOUR CARPETS AT R. FAIR'S, sign of the Golden Lion.

St. Andrew's.
The new St. Andrew's church is already more than half paid for, though subscriptions are yet to be received from a large part of the congregation. The subscriptions up to date amounted to more than $15,000. The cost of the church was about $20,000. At the re-opening the collections averaged $100 a service, $300 all together. The Ladies' Aid Society have a good fund in hand for the purchase of the new organ, which is to be placed in the choir gallery in June.

Wholesale and Druggists' Licenses.
A meeting of the License Commissioners for the West Riding of Peterborough was held in the office of the Chief of Police on Friday afternoon. There were present Messrs. Geo. Cochran, Inspector, Thos. Dolan, R. Graham and R. Walton. On motion Messrs. Geo. Cochran and Thos. Dolan were granted licenses. Messrs. John McKee, John Garry, Henry Raab, and Morrow, Thos. & Co., under the terms of subsec. 8, sec. 98, of the Canada Temperance Act of 1878 (3rd Act). The Board then adjourned to meet at the call of the chairman.

Driving Park.
The inauguration of the season's sport at Driving Park takes place on the 24th of May, at which time the managers of the Park will present a list of fare will be related to the occasion. Racing and driving races in different classes, also foot races, will comprise the day's amusement. The running race (100 yds) is looked forward to with much interest. There is sure to be a most exciting race. "Wild Dues" of Cobourg, the best of the "Lady Macdonald" at Port Hope is entered. Also one from Hastings and from Peterborough, some of which, it may be said, will probably surprise some of the best turf men. It will be well to appear on the Peterborough Driving Park.

—That the cricketers are "opening the season" this afternoon.
—That there will be a rush for spring suits to-night.

—That those who have captured their consider themselves lucky.
—That the ball players had a fine practice on Burnham's point last evening.
—That another turn out will take place this evening at the same place.
—That some good material is coming to the surface.
—That the Brodie Mills are self luminous.
—That the Peterborough Port Packing trade will likely come more than ever to the front next year.

AN ELEGANT STOCK OF PARASOLS at the Golden Lion. R. FAIR

The Nicholls Hospital.
Matters at the Nicholls Hospital are going on in a very satisfactory manner. Patient are being cured and discharged every week. Miss Kate Glasford, the actress, who was recovered at the hospital about a month ago, has been discharged. When leaving she was in good health and excellent spirits. She spoke very highly of the hospital, of the attendance and the nursing, and stated that if she was ever taken ill again, and was in reach of Peterborough, she would surely come to the Nicholls Hospital. Miss Glasford joined her company at Kingston. There are five "surgical" patients at the hospital just now, and Dr. Bell, the attendant this month, has considerable work to do. A critical surgical operation was performed on a Friday, consisting of taking a large tumor from a thigh of one of the patients, who it is pleasing to state, is on a fair way to recovery.

Floral Offerings.
The number of floral offerings made at St. Peter's Cathedral was largely increased since the last acknowledgment in the Review. The following is a full list—A wreath of white blossoms, ornamented by a cross of blue riot presented by Mr. B. Morrow; a cross of white blossoms studded with purple violets, by Mr. Jas. Henry; a floral pillow of white blossoms inscribed with the words "amour worked in purple paries and ornamented with call lilies at the corners, by the St. Vincent De Paul Society; a floral basket, by Mrs. J. E. McIntyre; a floral cross ornamented with white lilies, by the children of St. Mary's Society; a briar bush cross, tipped with a tennery of lilies, by the Ladies Aid Society; a wreath, by the altar boys; a floral heart and cross, by the School Board; a pretty chaste white cross, by Mr. J. J. Sheehy; a magnificent floral harp, the frame ornamented with full blown and budding roses, the base formed of lily cups, and bearing the inscription, "Our Shepherd," by the Cathedral choir; a vase of flowers by the altar children; foliage plants, by Mrs. G. M. Rorer; blooming plants, by Mrs. J. McNeill; Mrs. Thos. Henry Mr. Delaney, Mrs. Lynch, Mrs. O'Sullivan, and Mrs. Macdonald; Dr. O'Sullivan, a floral cross.

THE TOWN TRUST.

Two Vacancies in the Commission Filled by the Town Council.

A special meeting of the Town Council was held at four o'clock on Friday afternoon. Present—His Worship Mayor Stevenson, in the chair, and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, Kelly, McNeil, McClelland, Moore, Menzie, Kendry and Hartley.

The Mayor said that the object of the meeting was to fill vacancies in the Board of Commissioners. Mr. E. Chamberlain, one of the old Commissioners, who had served faithfully for years, had been called away by death, and Mr. J. J. Lundy, he regretted to say, had resigned. The special meeting of the Council had been called to fill these vacancies.

COUNCILLOR DAVIDSON APPOINTED.
Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor MCNEIL, That Mr. J. J. Lundy's resignation be accepted and that Mr. R. S. Davidson be and is hereby appointed in his place.—Carried.

MR. CAMERON, M.P., ALSO APPOINTED.
Councillor MOORE moved, seconded by Councillor MENZIE, That Mr. John Cameron be appointed a member of the Peterborough Town Trust.—Carried.

Both motions were carried unanimously, and the Council then adjourned.

THE TAILORS' TROUBLE.

A Bill handed in by the Tailors' Union Committee.

On Wednesday morning the Executive Committee of the Tailors' Union handed in a bill of wages to the proprietors of every tailoring establishment here, asking them to sign it, and giving till Monday next for a settlement. The bill calls for uniform scale of prices for work and a general advance in these prices. This action, the workmen claim, was forced on them on account of the procedure of one tailor shop which raised its wages twice within two weeks. There has been no uniform bill of wages paid up to the present, one shop pays one bill and another, another. The workmen claim that it is only fair to the shops that a uniform bill should prevail; that then one would have no advantage over the other in regard to the price of the make up.

Some of the proprietors complain of the excessive amount charged in the bill for extras in the shape of trimmings, etc. Another says the bill is very unfair inasmuch as it makes no distinction between coarse and fine goods. Thus, a man may make a tweed coat and receive as much for it as one working on worsted work. This difficulty, the workmen say, will be adjusted when the matter is discussed. Another proprietor claims that the action taken by the tailors and tailoresses is a very serious one, and one which will affect the interests of the latter. If they are compelled to pay the same wages for poor work as they do for good work, they assuredly will have the latter, and those less accomplished in the art will have to go.

The Union Committee are open to have the matter discussed and hope to arrive at an amicable arrangement. The proprietors do not seem to be much excited about the affair, and says that it is probable that a meeting will be held some time next week. About two hundred tailors and tailoresses are interested.

The Churches.

The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow—
ST. PETER'S CATHEDRAL.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10 30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.
ST. LUKE'S.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted, as follows: Morning Prayer, Litany, and sermon and Communion at 11 a.m.; evening and common at 7 p.m.

ST. JOHN'S.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England, Holy Communion at 8 30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and sermon and Communion at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.
ST. PAUL'S.—The anniversary services will be held. The Rev. Mr. Parsons, of Knox Church, Toronto, will preach morning and evening.
BAPTIST CHURCH, Murray Street.—The Rev. Mr. Moore will preach at 11 a.m., and 7 p.m. His subject in the morning will be "Light for Others"; in the evening, "The Great Supper."

METHODIST CHURCH, Charlotte Street.—The regular services will be conducted. The Rev. I. Twell will preach in the morning and the Rev. Mr. Wallace in the evening.
METHODIST CHURCH, George Street.—The Rev. Mr. Wallace will conduct the services in the morning at 11 o'clock and the Rev. I. Twell will conduct the service at 7 o'clock p.m.
METHODIST CHURCH, Mark street, Ashburnham.—The usual services will be conducted.
ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The usual services will be conducted.

The Market.

There was an average attendance at this morning's market. The delivery of grain was light, consisting almost exclusively of oats, which sold at from 36 to 37 cents per bushel. A few bags of wheat appeared, but nothing to amount to anything. The supply of potatoes was unusually large, bringing 55 and 60 cents per bag. The offering of meat is growing lighter as the warm weather advances. Veal and mutton were the only kinds on sale, the former bringing 6 and 7 cents per pound and the latter 7 and 8 cents per pound. The but and side mutton was crowded to the doors. The amount of this sort of produce, if it exceeded that of the offering of any market since last fall. Eggs brought 11 cents per dozen, and butter 20 cents per pound. Fuel was scarce.

Booming.
The Cobourg World says:—"Our Business Manager visited Peterborough on Monday. He found that business was booming with prosperity. New buildings are in course of erection, which will cost over a half million of dollars, and the population is increasing in rapid proportion. Mr. Williams acknowledges that he is the cause of it. He is a man, particularly from our old townsmen, Dr. Simpson, whose success in his new sphere is assured."

TRENT VALLEY CANAL.

A Deputation of Members Wait on the Minister.—The Promise will be Fulfilled.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Mail, writing on May 7th, says:—Mr. Hector Cameron called together a number of members interested in the Trent navigation works on Wednesday, and laid before them a resolution passed by the directors of the Trent Valley Canal Association, asking them to wait upon the Minister of Railways, and to remonstrate against any non-fulfilment of the promise made by the Minister to the delegation which some time ago waited upon him, and to press upon the Government to place in the supplementary estimates the sum of $350,000 for the purpose of starting new works in connection with the canal. The members waited upon the Minister yesterday, there being present Messrs. Tyrwhitt, O'Brien, Cameron, Elward, Burnham, Robertson, Cochrane and Gullist. Mr. Cameron, as spokesman, presented the case. The Minister said the Trent Valley Canal Association seems to be under a misapprehension, as a considerable sum was in the printed estimates, and he had no doubt they would have a sufficient amount in the supplementary estimates when brought down to show that he had not forgot his promise. Mr. Cook, though invited to be present at the interview, did not put in an appearance, doubtless feeling that after having in his speech thrown cold water on the expectations of the Trent Valley Canal Association, his advocacy would not be particularly efficacious.

HAYLOCK.

CHURCH OPENING.—The new Methodist Church near Haylock Station, was opened on Sunday last, the Revs. Dr. Bredin, President of the Conference, and A. Browning, of Campbellford, preaching the dedicatory sermon, and Revs. Marsh and Puffer assisting. On Monday evening a tea-meeting was held at which the above named ministers with Rev. Mr. Geo. of Norwood, were present. The congregations on Sunday were very large, many being unable to get inside of the building, and the attendance on Monday evening again filled the church. The cost of the church is about $1,000, all of which is provided for, over $300 having been contributed at the opening service. The result was a gratifying surprise to the resident minister, Mr. Puffer, and his worthy co-workers, and is so much the more appreciated by them. There are now three churches in the township of Elmhurst, two Methodist and one Presbyterian.—Campbellford Herald.

THE CHICAGO ANARCHISTS.
A Letter from Parsons—Further Improvement in the Railroad Situation.

CHICAGO, May 8.—An attempt was made last night to wreck an outgoing passenger train on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road by opening a switch near 14th Street and removing a light therefrom. The scheme miscarried.

The Anarchist Parsons is believed to be in the vicinity of Chicago, and quite as vindictive as ever. The Daily News this morning publishes a letter from him, in which he says: "I will, in due time, turn up and answer for myself for everything I may have said or done. I have no fear for past conduct or pledges for the future. If there is to be no cooking but starvation and death for the tribes of America, whenever the public decide to use reason and justice in dealing with this class, just at this time you will see me. But should the decision be to continue the present course of death and slavery, just as long will I wage a relentless war on all organs of the press, and endeavor to find me will be fruitless."

Mrs. Parsons is reticent and defiant. She is of a quiet and modest nature, with traces of Egyptian blood in her veins. She is self-reliant and a fluent speaker, and her language is most violent and vindictive. She says the ambition of her life is to free the world from the domination of the capitalists. She is thoroughly conversant with the doctrines of communism, and is capable of making a terse, logical argument, though her utterances are usually those of epigrammatic savagery. She has two children living, a boy of 7 and a girl of 4 years.

Last night was one of extreme quiet. There were no large assemblies. A few minor disturbances occurred this morning, but nothing of a serious character. The railroad situation shows a further improvement. Twenty of the old freight handlers of the Illinois Central have repudiated their duty. All the roads are handling freight in large quantities. The Lake Shore is working again with a large force.

DYNAMITE EXPLOSION.
A Man Blows to Atoms on his Farm—Prominent of Port.

One of the most horrible casualties recorded in the annals of the Township of Thurlow was that which befell Mr. Andrew Sherman into eternity on Friday morning, May 7th. Mr. Sherman lives in a 24,3rd Concession of Thurlow, near the Tyndings line. With him dwell his wife and two sons. On the morning in question the victim of the accident went to a creek in a field about 40 rods from the house for the purpose of blasting it out. About 10.30 an explosion was heard, but nothing further was thought of it, as Mr. Sherman is accustomed to blasting and is especially powerful, having been in the business for some time and another.

Dr. Wilson, the physician of the Sherman, attended to a frigidificator reporter that Mrs. Sherman heard the report at the house, and did the pump men in the field. At noon the news asked if their father had been discharging a gun. The mother replied, "No, he had been blasting the rock in the field. A view of the field could be had from the house, but Mr. Sherman was nowhere visible. A dark spot, however, could be discerned at one point and upon one of the boys going nearer, it was found to be the remains of his father brutally mangled and dismembered. The heart was torn from the body and thrown forty feet distant. The liver and four ribs were found in another part of the field some feet away. The remains, such as bits of flesh, have not been gathered up. His clothing was also torn to shreds and scattered. The doctor said the family did not know that the dynamite had exploded with him. A hole two inches deep was found drilled into the stone. An open pocket book was found on the ground near the hole. It may have contained the explosive and as he stood over fallen from his pocket, struck on the rock and caused the explosion. The deceased has been ill for a long period, but was quite hearty before. He had a family of four sons and one daughter. The latter is married. It is stated that Mr. Sherman told his wife in the morning that he had a disagreeable dream the night before, which clung to him and gave him a presentiment of impending evil. He was about 52 years of age, and has always been a resident of the county. Bellefleur Intelligencer.

ST. PAUL'S.
The Anniversary Services conducted by the Rev. Mr. Parsons.

The first anniversary of the restoration of St. Paul's Church was celebrated on Sunday. For K. V. Mr. Parsons, of Knox Church, Toronto, preached the sermon both morning and evening. In the evening the St. Andrew's Church congregation returned the visit made by St. Paul's Church congregation last Sunday. St. Andrew's was closed, and both pastor and people attended the evening service.

The text was taken from the sixteenth verse of the second chapter of Philippians. "Hold forth the word of life."
The preacher proceeded to point out in the first instance that there was nothing in all these letters written to believers which was more frequently repeated than the obligation of the witness to be true and faithful. Our Lord's last words to his disciples were "ye are my witnesses." Witnesses when called upon to testify as to any case in hand, the law courts were put under oath to tell the truth. Our Lord expected his witnesses to tell the truth with like rigidity. The exhortation is "Holding forth the word of life." This word was the only source of light to the believer. In the words of the Apostle, "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God," and further on, "In Him was life, and the life was the light of men." The life of Christ in the believer constituted man the light of the world. Christ was the light; but man (the believer) the channels through which that light flowed. This light was in the word. The word was intelligible it read with spiritual intent. There were many people who read the Bible Sabbath after Sabbath and year after year, who never received good from it, simply because they read over the words in the word as a pastime would say them off, and not as hearing the voice of God in those words.

These believers, to whom this light and the means of obtaining light was entrusted, had obligations, trusts, and responsibilities laid on them. In the first place they should become "acquainted with the Author of the Scriptures." That was the only means whereby they could hope for continued strength and light. Our great responsibility was laid on professors, Christians. They were the only Bible the world ever read. They watch the prevailing Christian every day and hour, to arrive at what was the difference between the two models of life.

Life in us is maintained only by the word of God. Some Christians think that they can exist spiritually without that word. But God sustained the spiritual as well as the physical life.

The pressing obligation on believers toward others who are unenlightened in speaking the word. There were many in this church who were unenlightened. There were even St. Paul's school teachers who had never been reached with the divine light. The obligation to bring that light to the unenlightened, who had been favored with seeing the benign glow of God. It was vitally important that every Sabbath school teacher especially should be brought under the influence of this light—that they should be filled with holy zeal. In these days nearly all the work that should be done in the house was thrown on the Sabbath school. A tremendous responsibility lay on the shoulders of every teacher in this branch of the church. Teachers, the double responsibility rested on the believer. They should see that the instruments used in Sabbath school were consecrated to God's work.

The believer should be ever growing in grace. He was a receiver in Christ distributing sweet water to all about him. But if the same water remained in the reservoir for ten years it would surely become stagnant. The believer should be taking in and giving out the living streams every day of his life. Like a fountain that when supply of water came bedewed plant, and blade, and flower, and vine, nourished them in health and bloom; so was the influence of the Christian on all those with whom he came in contact where he drew refreshing draughts from the book of God. But when these draughts were needed his nature rusted, and those who should be refreshed, lingered, withered and died a spiritual death.

He trusted that the members of this church would draw the living draught, and that the work of the coming year might be even more productive of good than that of the past.

The music prepared for the occasion was of unusual merit. The hymns were all sung with good feeling, lending real life to the words. In the morning the anthem was "Thou Art God." Miss Hamilton sang the solo; Mrs. Logan, the soprano solo, and Messrs. Legally and Geo. Dawson, the bass and tenor solos, respectively. In the evening the beautiful anthem "Praise the Lord" by Sir John Henry, was sung by the choir. The organ accompaniment by Mr. Parker was excellent.

"Bath."
No one should miss hearing "Ruth" at St. John's Church on Tuesday evening, 11th inst. Mr. Chambers as "Ruth."

HURRYING FORWARD TROOPS.
LONDON, May 8.—Turkey and Greece are hurrying troops to the front. Several European papers are of the opinion that Russia will shortly support Greece.

LABOR RIOT AT LYONS.
LYONS, May 9.—In the city today a mob of glass-factory strikers attacked the house of an artisan who had resumed work, several beat the man and wife and threw their furniture into the street. The mob then made an attack upon the factory, the owner of which armed with twelve pieces kept up a continuous fire upon the mob until they were forced to withdraw. Thirty were wounded.

REPORTED THREATS.
LONDON, May 9.—The Pall Mall Gazette continues to call attention to the reported threat of General Lord Wolsey to resign and lead the Ulster Volunteers in rebellion if House Rule be granted Ireland, despite the fact that it has been officially denied that he ever made such a threat. This afternoon the Gazette says it has been informed that Lord Charles Russell, sitting in the lobby of the House of Commons on the day Mr. Gladstone introduced his Home Rule Bill that he and General Wolsey had agreed that if the Premier's measure should pass and they were ordered to crush any rebellion the Ulster men might undertake, they would refuse, would resign, and would then go and help the Ulstermen.

LORD RANDOLPH CHURCHILL.
GLASGOW, May 8.—Lord Randolph Churchill has written another attack on Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule policy. A citizen of Glasgow, who describes himself as a Liberal, recently sent Lord Randolph a letter asking him to view on a proposition to unite the Liberals who oppose Mr. Gladstone, with the Tories, on a basis of a solemn pledge by the latter that if in the next election they are returned to Parliament with sufficient strength to undertake the conduct of the Government they will ever propose Home Rule for Ireland or any policy which small partake of the nature of Home Rule beyond the concession of local Government, and resist all attempts to enact further special legislation for Ireland. To the letter Lord Randolph replied at length. His reply has been published, and has been widely circulated. He says: "I cannot admit that any incident in the history of the House gives any evidence of the necessity for such a pledge as you propose, because the maintenance of the union, in all its essential conditions, is and has always been a cardinal principle of the Tory policy."

THE LABOR TROUBLE.
Thirty thousand men on strike in Cincinnati—Trade Favored.

CINCINNATI, May 8.—About 30,000 men are on strike here, but up to this time there has been no trouble, men are adjusting themselves soberly and quietly. The mayor will issue a proclamation ordering protection to all men who desire to return to work and an effort will be made to start business in the various industries in the shops and factories on Monday. The waterworks employees were successful yesterday in getting their demand for eight hours. The fund now being raised for the employment of extra police is a steady growth, but as far as the men have had but it is to do. The furniture manufacturers are still on strike. They will not accept the proposition on the fact that it would result in the troops will be sent to occupy the city.

PITTSBURGH, May 8.—The buses went on strike at midnight.

COLUMBUS, O., May 8.—Governor Fossick, at the request of the Cincinnati city authorities, has ordered to report at Cincinnati, the 5th, 7th, 14th and 17th regiments of the Ohio National Guard, in anticipation of a labor outbreak on Sunday.

A Mercle Act.
Heretofore it has not been among English-speaking people, though it may be dying in the House of Commons. In December last the American ship Cypriote was wrecked by Capt. Haydon, of the Liverpool steamer Lord Gough, near the St. George's shoal, with her colours at half-mast, and evidently sinking. The gale and sea were so terrible that it seemed madness to help her; but volunteers came forward, and a boat was manned, a boat which the culture were hauled down. Captain Haydon, however, refused, the desperate attempt was made, and the crew of the Cypriote perished. The United States Government awarded a reward and reward to Captain Haydon and his crew; but noble as their conduct was, Captain Pennington, of the Cypriote, had done a nobler thing. He was asked why his colours were hoisted down, and replied: "Because we had no bust, and it might be wrong to imperil other lives in a useless attempt." The Cypriote was then a helpless wreck, and Captain Pennington and his crew faced the certainty of death by drowning rather than tempt others—strangers—into danger. Honor to the name of the brave! That deed on the Cypriote is equal to the conduct of the soldiers on the battlefield, and should live like it in song.—London Spectator.

Rescue of a U. S. schooner.
HALIFAX, May 7.—An investigation was held on board the steamer Lusitania this afternoon into the charges against the United States fishing schooner detained at Digby. The vessel is the David J. Adams, of Gloucester, commanded by A. Lee Keady. The investigation resulted in the seizure of the schooner, and she will be taken to St. John's to-night by the Island. The complaint is that her crew purchased bait at Digby.

A Young Man Killed.
MILTON, May 7.—Lieut. Anthony Coppin, of the 11th Militia Field Battery, was working on a ladder at his father's on the afternoon of the 5th, when he fell from the ladder and fell sixteen feet, striking first the man who was standing at the foot of the ladder, and then bouncing on to a pile of machinery. He struck on his head and shoulder, and suffered such injuries that he died at night at 10 o'clock.

A SAWMILL NOVELTY.

Plans are now being prepared for the proposed new saw mill to be erected at Loring, Alaska, for the Alaska Salmon Packing Company, which contains some new features in mill building as well as possible improvements in other directions which deserve attention.

The mill is to be built to straddle a waterway about eighty feet in width, separating the mainland from a small egg-shaped island, which, with its smaller end pointing towards the shore, divides the main channel of Naba Bay from Freshwater Cove, a false inlet almost circular in shape, and about half a mile at its greatest diameter. The mill so built will thus have a berth for one or more vessels at either end, and will have in the cove a natural boom for the logs.

Though there is ample water power (estimated at 200 horse) in the stream that tumbles into the cove at its northern end, it is thought better to put steam into the mill rather than carry the water the necessary distance of about half a mile to the mill.

The mill is to be a band saw-mill, with all necessary adjuncts, and the addition of several Blanchard lathes, designed to turn out oars, banisters and other staple articles, for which the peculiar close grained, tough and tenacious yellow cedar of Alaska is especially adapted, experiments having proved the superior strength and lightness of an oar made from this timber over those made from the best Eastern swamp ash, while the refuse can be put to profitable use in making standard styles of stair rails, balusters, net floats, etc.

There is to be very little shafting or belting in this mill, as nearly every tool will have its own Westinghouse engine, which will be coupled direct, wherever practicable, thus doing away with the present system of line shafting and its attendant evils entirely.

The saving in material, friction, oil and supervision is estimated to cover the extra cost of the small independent engines, while the ease and facility with which one part of the mill can be run while all the others may be at rest, is a very important consideration, second only perhaps to the other one, which is, that any Siwash of ordinary intelligence and limited experience can attend to his engine and machinery, with no interference and only cursory supervision.

Steam is to be furnished by a battery of plain cylinder boilers with conical heads. The consideration of safety is superior to any desire to save fuel, as the abundance of the latter is more a source of annoyance than of profit.

Work is to be begun at an early day, and it is expected that a profitable market for nearly all the output will be found in the territory. The labor is to be almost entirely drawn from the native sources, for whose benefit it is principally intended, and as an adjunct to a mechanical training school to be erected at Loring by the Department of the Interior Bureau of Education. An agreement between Sheldon Jackson, Esq., agent for the Department in Alaska, and Mr. Max Pracht, calls for the aggregation at Loring of the three native villages now located at Skowah, Tongass and Cape Fox, Loring being a more desirable and central point, as well as a regular port office. Employment can be furnished in the various departments of the fishery and mill to a large number of intelligent and industrious natives.—Ex.

THE LOMBARDY POPLAR.

The poplars form one of the exceptions to the rule—often stated without qualification in botanical text-books—that roots do not produce leaves or leafy shoots. This characteristic is most obvious when one of these trees has been felled, for then all the vitality that before spread from the roots into the main stem is diverted into the far-reaching lateral roots, and a small forest of suckers spring up, often at a distance of many yards from the parent tree. These are true root suckers, and not merely ascending subterranean branches, like those of the rose; and as has been seen in the table just given the leaves on these suckers are often different in form from those on the branches of the tree. Though a merely "fastigate" habit is not considered a character of specific importance, the presence of these suckers in the Lombardy poplar is an important distinction between it and the black poplar, with which botanists generally unite it. The absence of the grey hairiness common on the leaves of other species, which has earned for its allied form the inappropriate name of "black," is equally characteristic of the Lombardy poplar. This fastigate variety is probably a native of the mountains of Western or Northern Asia, perhaps of Persia. It has been common in that country, and in Cashmir and the Punjab, from very early times, and is often planted along the roadsides in those distant lands, as in France, its somewhat scanty shade-producing powers being there of more importance than they are with us. Introduced from these countries into Southern Europe, the tree derives its popular name, both in France and in England, from its abundance along the banks of the Po and the other rivers of Lombardy, where at the present time it grows readily from self-sown seed, which it will not do in England.—From "Cassell's Familiar Trees."

Dramatic Fire at Mill.

HEILA, Que., May 9.—A disastrous fire visited this place last night. All the buildings on the east side of Duke street and along one side of Fairview street are destroyed, as well as the handsome new post office on Main street. The real value of the buildings destroyed is estimated at about $125,000. There 110 buildings divided into 135 tenements, and in these probably 175 or 200 families resided. In the street on Main street a lot of stock was destroyed. The total loss may safely be placed at $175,000 or $200,000, on which there is very little insurance.

Socialists Repudiated.

The Knights of Labor of Chicago have published a letter repudiating the Socialists in strong and vigorous language. It concludes: "We say we hope that Parsons, Spies, Fielden, Most and the whole gang of outlaws will be blotted from the surface of the earth."

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Concert.

Remember the concert on Tuesday, May 18th, under the auspices of the Peterborough Athletic Association in Brudenell Opera House.

But your carpets at R. Fair's sign of the Golden Lion.

The Percheron, "Planet."

In the list of stallions shown in the recent exhibition here the Percheron, "Planet," entered in the agricultural class. His name should have been placed among the Percherons.

A Spokesman for the Union.

The Labor Record is the name of a new weekly paper which has made its appearance in Toronto. It is published in the interest of the Knights of Labor and other trades unions.

The Blank Centinela.

The Police Court has put on a tomb-like appearance since the beginning of the present month. The glib-tongued drunk no more is heard pleading his own case, and the voice of Magisterial admonishment is almost forgotten. The slightest sound echoes as in a hall long deserted. The policemen seem to be out of their element, whilst the reporter is cheated out of many an item.

Exhibition Day.

Messrs. Porter Bros., the live carriage makers, are always introducing something new. Their latest move in this respect is the inauguration of a grand formal spring opening of their show rooms, the date of the opening being fixed for May 22nd. On that day their show rooms will be filled with an array of vehicles that will be, doubtless, well worth seeing—carriages and buggies, of different styles and finish, for prominent people of both town and country, fancy expressions for Peterborough merchants, besides a lot of salable rigs. Particulars of exhibition will be given later on.

St. John's Church Vestry.

The adjourned meeting of the Easter vestry of St. John's Church was held on Monday evening in the School House. The auditors of the vestry accounts presented a report certifying to their accuracy and on motion it was adopted. The Churchwardens stated that they had that day paid off $1000 of the principal of the building fund debt besides the interest due. Ward committees were appointed to canvass the congregation to augment the envelope subscription. The auditors of the building fund accounts presented their report, which was ordered to be printed for consideration at an adjourned meeting to be held on Thursday, May 20. A vote of thanks was cordially given to Mr. Pousette for his long and gratuitous services as churchwarden for so many years.

Sebastian Parks.

Along Park street, where it merges with Donegal, Downie, Reid, Rubidge, and, at the lower extremity of the town, with Stewart streets, there are little triangle plots of ground. By Mr. J. L. Hughes and others interested themselves, the Council has made a grant for the purpose of levelling off one of these plots, that situated at the merging of Park and Downie streets. Mr. Wilson and a number of men commenced work on Monday, and already have done a good deal. But the rest of these plots remain in primal ruggedness, besides being beset with all sorts of rubbish and refuse. At the meeting of the Horticultural Society held a short time ago, Messrs. J. Burdham, D. W. Dumble, J. McCallum, Geo. Burdham, and Geo. A. Cox, were appointed a committee to draft a petition, to have it signed, and to present it to the Council, asking that a by-law be submitted to the ratepayers for their consent to the appointment of a Park Commission. The petition has not yet been presented. It would be worth while appointing a Park Commission if their work consisted only in bringing these plots of ground under the plowshare. The cost of beautifying these grounds compared with the benefit to be derived, would be trifling. They could be levelled off, trees might be planted, walks made, and perhaps there in the vicinity might be induced to erect a fountain in each. Then Park street would not be the misnomer that it is now.

Doubled.

Masons and bricklayers commenced work at the Lock Works this morning to build an addition to the iron foundry. The addition will be the same size as the present foundry. The capacity of that branch of the works will be doubled.

Personal.

Mr. Geo. Matthews, jr., left town to-day for Birmingham, England, where he will remain for several months. During his stay he will engage in pork packing in one of the great packing houses of that city, and no doubt will derive much benefit from such experience. Mr. Matthews sails from Quebec on Thursday.

Dr. C. Collins, a graduate of Queen's University, Kingston, and a resident of Hastings, will in a few days open an office in Burnham's block, Simcoe street, next door to Dr. Crevier's.

W. C. T. U.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held yesterday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises. The president, Miss Sinden, occupied the chair. The Union wish to convey their thanks to the ladies who so kindly sent flowers for platform decoration on the evening of Mr. Schivere's lecture, also to the chairman for his very able services and ladies and gentlemen who so kindly assisted with the singing on that occasion.

Obituary.

On Monday evening John Palmer Howden, the only son of Mr. Robert Howden, died at the residence of his father, corner of Bethune and Antrim streets. The deceased was a young man, 24 years of age. A little over a year ago the family moved to Peterborough from Cavan township, and in September the son was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs. After a lingering illness he died on Monday evening. He was highly respected by his acquaintances, and his death will be deeply regretted. He was a brother-in-law of Mr. R. Fair, of the "Golden Lion." The funeral will take place to-morrow afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Bridge Building.

Operations at the Central Iron and Bridge works continue prosperous. Two more contracts were taken lately, one for a bridge over the Thames, and the other for a bridge over the Black river, Prince Edward county. Two contracts had to be refused of late on account of press of work. A departure in pier is being introduced by the proprietor of the Works. At one of the places needing a bridge, consultants were made as to the cost of stone, which, if used, would have to be hauled many miles. Mr. Law proposed a plan which was adopted, and the new pier, on more properly, abutments, are now being made at the Works. They consist of heavy iron plate cylinders about five feet in diameter. They are made in sections and will be rivetted together from the bottom, which will be bolted to the rock bed of the river. This, then, will be filled completely with concrete and thus artificial columns of stone will be made. The bridge will rest on four of these columns, one at each corner, and abutments will be entirely dispensed with. A saving of about $2,000 was effected by adopting this plan.

Peterborough Oddfellows' Excursion to Niagara Falls.

We understand that the Ontario Lodge of Oddfellows, Peterborough, contemplate running an excursion to Niagara Falls via Grand Trunk Railway, and Grand Trunk, on Tuesday, the 8th June, by train, by special fast train of first class coaches, without change of cars, only stopping at Oranmore, Lindsay, Unbride, Stouffville, Markham, and Etobicoke Junction. The fare is $2.50 and return from Peterborough; $2.25 and return from Oranmore; $2.00 and return from Lindsay. Proportionate rates from other places also mentioned. The tickets will be good for three days at least, and by the payment of an extra amount good for a much longer period. The train will leave Peterborough at 6 a.m. All arrangements will be completed this week. This will be a delightful trip, a pleasant all-day run from Peterborough, without any transfer or inconvenience. Passengers will be seated on the American side free of extra charge. Return same day by special train, afterwards by regular train. Keep the date in mind and take an "outing."

MADE E HUGO COCHRAN.—Dealers will kindly forward their orders for above brand with as little delay as possible, as our stock on hand is limited.

Home Manufacture.

In the yard in the rear of the Central Iron and Bridge Works there is a piece of machinery which might lead one to believe that an effort was being made to construct an umbrella to keep the rain off the yard. This machine is made of 16th inch sheet iron supported by heavy rods, attached to a shaft at the centre. It spreads out forty-five feet, from wing to wing, and is almost the exact shape of an open umbrella. The circumference is one hundred and forty-two feet. This is a gasometer in course of construction. It will be rimmed around so as to have a depth of sixteen feet. A well forty-seven feet in diameter will be dug at the gas works, to be bricked at the sides and cemented at the bottom. This well will be partly filled with water, and when the gasometer is empty it will be submerged. When filled with gas, however, it will bear up the holder, & gather with the weights which, when empty, fasten it down. The gasometer will have a capacity of holding 45,000 feet of gas. The present gasometers at the works were made in England and have a capacity of 10,000 feet and 15,000 feet of gas respectively.

New Auction Firm.
Messrs. Sherwood Bros., Commission Merchants, have taken out an auctioneer's license and are prepared to conduct sales in both town and country. They have secured the services of Mr. John Haggart, a gentleman well known to the people of Peterborough. Messrs. Sherwood, while entering into this new branch of business, will not neglect their commission trade, but will endeavor by strict attention to both to merit public approval.

Manufacturing Manitoba Wheat.

During the last few months a large amount of flour by the Peterborough Mills. The flour made from it is much stronger than that made from Ontario wheat, but mixed with the latter makes a superior baker's flour. To-day the new Peterborough Roller Mills (Meldrum, Davidson & Co.) received three thousand five hundred bushels of it. The cars were brought to Mr. Hazlett's lumber yard and from here the wheat was hauled in wagons across the bridge. A switch is to be laid from the lumber yard, across the bridge, to the Peterborough Mills. When this is done it will save a great deal of trouble in the hauling of incoming wheat and outgoing flour. Messrs. Meldrum, Davidson & Co. intend to export largely, besides doing a local trade.

It Might be Remarkable.

—That the scores of employees that work in the factories along Mill street had to plod through the mud to-day while going and coming to and from work.

—That the proprietors of the mills are beginning to think that the town is not treating them fairly.

—That it is a shame to force girls to walk through the mud for the sake of a few dollars expended or sidewalk accommodation.

—That many places on the outskirts of the town are provided with good sidewalks, even though the houses are a quarter of a mile apart.

—That the President of the Gas Works evidently believes in encouraging home manufactures.

—That the Police Magistrate and the Chief should congratulate each other on the prevailing light docket.

—That the residents on London street, between George and Alymer, should petition for a scavenger cart.

To Grow Plants from Cuttings.

The old way of rooting cuttings in a small glass bottle filled with water is a good method when a hotbed can not be used; but the bottle should not be put so close to the window as to become hot, and thus scald the roots. A little cotton or wool within the rim of the bottle will prevent evaporation. In two or three weeks the roots will be plentiful, and then the cuttings may be transferred to them pots, or, if the season suits, into the beds. As each cutting is taken from the bottle, dip the roots into a little warm sand (glazed) and then place the pot in the warm window, exposed to the south-east. Wet sand is also good for growing cuttings, and they will start quicker than in compost. A shallow pan is preferable; fill it up with sand (not sea sand) sopping wet, then press in the cuttings lightly, and keep them wet. When new leaves show themselves, in two or three days, transplant into pots filled with light sandy loam. After shading a day or two, they may have ample sunshine and sufficient water to keep them moist. Cuttings taken from the fresh growth of a plant strike best. It is better to break off a branch of a geranium than cut it (if it breaks easily). Cuttings of rose, honeysuckle, etc., will grow better if taken off at the junction of the old and new wood, and should be cut off just below a joint or bud, as the roots start out from that point; and if the bud is not left near or close to the base, the cutting is liable to decay in the soil.

Premier, refused to co-operate with the Greek

Deputies to take action on the crisis. Yesterday evening he explained to his adherents the reasons which prompted him and his ministry to resist the demand of the Powers. He said that the demand for the evacuation of the islands was a humiliation to which Greece had been subjected, but that war was impossible without unanimity among the Greeks. The opposition carried on by the opposition and the indifference of the King paralysed the efforts of the Government. Therefore the Government has resigned in the interests of the country, convinced that the Powers entertained enmity towards his Government.

THE QUEEN IN LIVERPOOL.

LIVERPOOL, May 11.—The Queen arrived here today for the purpose of personally opening the Liverpool International Exhibition. The ceremony is to take place at 3 o'clock this afternoon. This is the second time Her Majesty has visited Liverpool during her reign, her other visit having been in 1851, when she was accompanied by the Prince Consort. Her Majesty alighted at the railway station within the exhibition grounds, and was greeted by a large crowd with great enthusiasm. The weather was disagreeable, a drizzling rain falling. A grand royal pageant had been arranged with which to open the show, but it is feared the weather will make it impossible to have the parade. The Queen will remain over night in Liverpool, as the guests of the city. This will be the first time a British monarch has ever been the guest of the Liverpool corporation, and the citizens have adopted every means within their power to make the occasion memorable by their loyalty and the magnificence of its celebration.

To-morrow will be a holiday and the markets

TRENT VALLEY CANAL

The information obtained by the members of the constituencies along the Trent Valley Route from the Minister of Railways and Canals will have given a general feeling of satisfaction. The inadequate appropriation in the main estimates for the coming financial year (framed, it must be remembered, before the deputation visited Ottawa), was felt to be very unsatisfactory, and the news that the supplementary estimates will carry out the pledge of the Minister and his colleagues, was gratifying, as removing any feeling of disappointment and doubt.

The usefulness of the step taken at Ottawa to organize the Trent Valley Canal Association has thus been demonstrated. Its action in issuing the recent circular to the members along the route has led not only to this appeal to the Minister with its satisfactory result, but also to the debate in the House which called public attention to the work and elicited the promise that any estimates in the possession of the Department should be laid before Parliament.

The Association may well renew its efforts before long. As soon as the promised estimates of the engineers and the supplementary financial estimates are laid before the House, the same members should again be invited to put a little gentle pressure upon the Department to take another step. The money that is voted will be of no benefit unless it is used. There will be sufficient funds to commence operations upon another section and this should be done as speedily as possible. The Minister, therefore, should be urged to invite tenders at the earliest practicable date for the letting of another contract.

It seems to us that it would be injudicious to impede this step by any demand that the work should be undertaken in any particular locality. The section for which the engineers can most quickly supply the detailed estimates, plans and specifications necessary for awarding a contract should be the one chosen, so as to avoid any risk of delay. If two or more sections are equally advanced in this respect we would be quite content to leave the choice to the Minister. Whether it is the lower portion of the Trent, or the Severn, or the out between Lake Simcoe and Balsam Lake or the work between Lakefield and Peterborough, the four sections required to link together this chain of navigable water, we care not, so that the progress of any one of them is advanced. Whichever of them is chosen its completion will lend additional strength to the arguments for the early utilization of this navigable route throughout.

The amount promised for this work will not be enough to complete either one of these sections, but it will be as much as would be likely to be required for one year's operations, if different points are not to be attacked simultaneously, and therefore there is no sufficient reason why another contract should not be given with the beginning of the financial year. This can be accomplished if the representations of the constituencies along the route bear themselves and urge it upon the Government. A united effort cannot fail to be successful, and no lethargy should be allowed to impede the rapid progress of this great national undertaking.

MASTER AND MAN

The outwitted Edgar, the personal representative of Mr. Blake, having made a dreadful mess of the two experiments of sympathy with rebellion and wholesale slander, the Rialto leader has taken the latter matter in hand himself. Mr. Blake on Monday brought a charge against Messrs. Dudd and McDougall, the members for Cape Breton, of having procured the dismissal of Mr. Roche as member of a Board of Pilot Commissioners because he had opposed the Government candidate.

Mr. Dudd in reply plainly showed that Mr. Blake had lowered himself to the same level as Messrs. Edgar, Cameron (Huron), Charlton, and the rest of the gang of slanderers. It seems that Mr. Roche was not discharged, but the pilot board for several ports conjointly having been divided, he was appointed for the port where he resided. Mr. Roche preferring another port applied for the intervention of Mr. Dudd, who very naturally replied that he could not prefer an opponent living 12 miles away from the scene of his duties to a supporter residing on the spot.

Mr. Blake by his slander brought out the facts that the Dominion Government had acted with a fairness inconceivable by him, and with a due regard for the requirements of the public service. Mr. Blake certainly did not set the example of appointing an active opponent at an election. Nor would he have found any difficulty probably in appointing a Reform electioneer to official duties at a distance of twelve miles from his place of residence.

Mr. Blake has found that Conservatives have more fairness and more regard for the interests of the public, so he is disgusted, surprised and discomfited. He had better leave the details of his dirty work to Edgar.

WOULD CHANGE FOR THE WORSE

The position of the Reform party in regard to the independence of Parliament appears to be that no Conservative member should be allowed to have any dealings with the Crown, even to the extent of buying a lot of wild land or holding a single share in a railway or bank. To effect this they wish the Conservative Administration turned out to make way for a Reform Administration, though Reform members had such dealings with the Crown when in power, still continue such dealings, and propose to repeat them if replaced in office. They do not wish the law changed, for that would hamper them, if again in power, in their past practices of hiring Speakers, giving to members of the Commons timber limits without competition, and to Senators large bank deposits in return for aid at the elections. The remedy for any trafficking in Parliamentary influence must come from a change either in the law or in public opinion, not from the ousting of an Administration that has treated members of both sides of the House alike in such matters, in order to replace them with those who reduced to a system the use of the Dominion Treasury and the property of the Crown for the reward and encouragement of partisan services.

AN IMPORTANT QUESTION

During a debate in the House of Commons on May 7th on the proposed Agricultural College, Mr. Lister said:—

I wish also to make one remark with regard to Manitoba and the Northwest. I quite agree that in that region special experiments are required which cannot possibly be carried on at Ottawa, for example with regard to forestry. That is a question of enormous importance to the Northwest, and, indeed, to the whole of Canada. We must find out what trees are best adapted for cultivation in that country, whether for verdure or for fuel, or for windbreaks, wherever they may be required. In our eastern provinces we still boast of being a great lumber country, but before many years we shall be unable to make that boast any longer, and the question of forestry is likely to be a vital one in the eastern provinces. In the Northwest, especially, it is absolutely essential that experiments should be conducted with a view to ascertaining the best way of cultivating trees for windbreaks and other purposes. That cannot be done on a small scale, it cannot be done at Ottawa, and I believe that, also, will have to be done in the way I propose for other experiments, that is, all over the Dominion. The Government should appoint in different parts of the Northwest territory individuals who may be depended upon, who have been recommended for their intelligence and for their eagerness in carrying out this work, who will have to be asked to try the experiment of planting in their own locality, whatever trees are most likely to flourish in that region. For instance, there is a certain tree, the willow—that will serve the purpose of a windbreak all over the Northwest.

THE FISHERIES EMBROIDO

The American Congress Preparing for Reprisals upon Canadian Shipping.

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 11.—The recent seizure of a United States fishing schooner by the Canadian authorities for alleged violation of the Canadian laws, brought out several protests yesterday, in the shape of bills and resolutions. Mr. Rice, of Massachusetts, introduced a joint resolution declaring that the seizure was a violation of the reciprocal commercial rights of the citizens of the United States and Great Britain, and demanding of this Government prompt and efficient measures to obtain reparation for its citizens for the unlawful act and to protect them against its repetition. Mr. Dingley, of Maine, went further, and introduced a bill enacting that whenever any foreign country, whose vessels have been placed upon the same footing in ports of the United States as American vessels (the coastwise trade excepted) shall deny to any vessels of the United States any commercial privileges accorded to national vessels in harbor, port or waters of such foreign countries, it shall be the duty of the President on receiving satisfactory information of the continuance of such discriminations against any of the United States to issue a proclamation forbidding the vessels of such foreign country from enjoying commercial privileges in the waters of the United States which are denied in its waters to United States vessels. The bill provides for the seizure and sale of vessels violating the provision and prescribes heavy fines and severe penalties for resisting or aiding in resisting an officer of the United States while engaged in making such seizure. A duplicate of Mr. Dingley's bill was introduced in the Senate by Senator Frye, of Maine. It is probable that one or other will be rapidly crowded to the front.

AN ARCHBISHOP'S WARNING

Against Socialism, Anarchism and Unlawful Meetings.

BALTIMORE, Md., May 10.—Upon the occasion, to-day, of the dedication of the Church of the Holy Cross, Archbishop Gibbons referred to the recent disturbances in Chicago. He said the Government of the United States is a Government framed by the people for the benefit of the people. It welcomes to our shores foreigners from every part of Europe. It lifts aloft our glorious flag as a protection and guarantee of equal rights to all. Every man in our country has an opportunity of making an honest livelihood, and, in many instances, may secure independent fortunes. While the great bulk of the emigrants from Europe are honest, law-abiding men, yet the events of the past few days clearly show the country to this country a small but dangerous class of men, who boldly preach the gospel of Anarchy, Socialism and Nihilism. These men are land pirates, preying upon the trade and industry of the country. Their favorite weapon is dynamite. Instead of blessing the mother that opens her arms to receive them they insult and strike her. If these men had their own way, industry would be unwarmed and want poverty would stalk over the land. They wish the lions share for themselves and leave only a morsel for others. We have no large standing army in this country to uphold the law, and I am glad of it. Our strongest force consists in the law of the land judiciously executed, and this law is upheld by healthy public opinion. The Archbishop exhorted the people to beware of dangerous and forbidden societies, beware of demagogues, and to be always ready to grant to others the same liberty and tolerance they expected for themselves.

ON THE PACIFIC OCEAN

The First Vessel Between Japan and Canada in Connection With the C. P. R.

The announcement is made that the "Fred Billings" sailing ship has been placed on the berth at Yokohama, in Japan, to sail from there direct to Vancouver, British Columbia, on the 10th of June next. Her cargo will consist of tea and other Japanese goods, which will be brought to Eastern Canada over the Canadian Pacific Railway. The rates of through freight announced are very moderate. This is the beginning of direct Canadian trade on the Pacific. It is somewhat of a coincidence that it was thirty-three years ago to-day, namely, the 11th of May, 1853, that day the "Albatross," the first ocean steamship from Great Britain to Canada arrived in the port of Montreal. The pioneer of the large Canadian ocean steamship fleet to-day was welcomed in this port with great rejoicing, and the school children are being given a holiday to go down to the harbor to see her.—Montreal Witness.

Horrible Tragedy

QUEBEC, May 11.—News has just reached town of a horrible occurrence, last night, at St. Raymond, a thriving parish on the line of the Lake St. John Railway, in the adjoining county of Portneuf. The particulars, as far as learned, are to the effect that, two children, a boy of six and a girl of four, belonging to the family of Mr. Etienne Huard, farmer, were burned to death; the house, barn, two horses, a cow, a quantity of grain and all the vehicles and instruments of the farm being consumed at the same time. It appears that the unfortunate children had been temporarily left alone in their house by their mother, while she lusted at a neighbor's, and that they foolishly profited by her absence to play with the fire in the stove.

Breaking Out Again

QUEBEC, May 11.—The tomfoolery of effigies burning and hanging has broken out afresh in this district over the Rial question. Because of their votes on that question in the Legislature, last week, Mr. Faucher, M. P. P., was burned in effigy at St. Valier, in Bellechasse county (which he represents), on Saturday night; Mr. Desaulniers, M. P. P., was hanged in effigy, at Yamashiche, in his constituency, last night, and a general meeting of the electors of Nicolet has been called for Sunday next at Beauport to protest against the vote of the member, Mr. Dorais.

A CIRCULAR IN KANSAS CITY.

Numbers of People Killed and Injured and Much Property Damaged.

KANSAS CITY, May 13.—A fearful storm of wind and rain swept over this city to-day, continuing from 11 o'clock until noon. The count house on Second street was totally demolished above the second story. A number of persons were hurt there, but none killed, as far as known. Lathrop School building on Eighth street was partially wrecked, and many children were caught in the rain. Eleven are reported to have been killed and ten seriously hurt. An overall factory on Second street was blown down and five deaths are reported there. Fifteen girls were at work in the building and nearly all of those not killed were wounded. The old waterworks building near the Court House was blown down and one or two persons are missing.

AT 3 p.m. as nearly as can be learned amid the intense excitement and confusion, about twenty persons are known to be dead. Frank Smith of Smith & Moffat, owners of spool mills situated in the old waterworks building, Second and Main streets, is killed. Deputy Sheriff Siga, who was buried in the ruins of the Court House at 3 o'clock, is reported to have come in sight of his body. A teamster who took refuge in the Court House is also missing. Of the four buildings wrecked all were more or less unroofed. The school building has been twice condemned and the Court House by many was considered unsafe. No one was killed except in these four buildings. The storm, though continuing each heavy law of life, was nothing of the nature of the tornado that visited the city three years ago. It was a violent wind accompanied by floods of water and some hail which turned into heavy rain. Signs of the storm, however, were not seen. The old waterworks building, etc., were blown down with the gale, and a number of the vehicles were overturned in the streets.

At the Overall Factory, No. 110 West Third street, the search is still in progress, and several persons are still missing. The following are known to have been killed: Jessie Fitzgerald, Willie Eckman and a woman unidentified; Mary and Maggie Bird wild. Several others are in a dangerous condition. Julia and Joseph Hoar, the proprietors, are badly bruised.

THE LANDOWNER'S PRIZE.

The American Cabinet Declares the Re- sults of the Election.

WASHINGTON, May 12.—There was a long session of the Cabinet yesterday. Every member was in attendance. The case of the schooner Adams was formally laid before the President by Secretary Bayard. After commenting upon it in general terms he gave it as his opinion that the facts were not sufficiently known yet to warrant a decision being had. He expected to hear from Consul Pishin in a day or two by mail. He expressed great confidence in the ability of Mr. Phelps to guard the interests of the United States in the matter. The advisability of declaring an embargo upon Canadian vessels entering American ports was discussed at length, but as the powers of the President under the statute law did not seem quite clear enough, the Attorney-General was asked to prepare an opinion upon the subject. It was also suggested that it would be best to await the action of Congress upon the resolutions offered by Mr. Frye Mr. Dawes, Mr. Dingley, Mr. Storer and Mr. Breckinridge. No decision was reached as to the line of policy to be pursued. Incidentally it is understood that Mr. Whitney suggested the propriety of sending a vessel to cruise off the banks as a protection to American fishermen. The whole matter will probably come up again for discussion on Thursday.

Chicago's Wounded.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Twenty-three wounded officers are at the county hospital, the majority of whom are victims of the bomb explosion. All are out of danger. Officers Jacob Halson and Lawrence Murphy, will be crippled for life. Charles Schumacher, a young tailor who was shot through the liver by a policeman during the riot, and who suffered great agony ever since, died at midnight. OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A BAD SIGN.

Cutting prices is a bad sign; it means disturb- ance to trade in general, unsettlement of values, waste of capital and is usually a sign of weak- ness of business and of a crisis in those who are guilty of it.—Monetary Times.

A SUGGESTION FOR BRITAIN.

We venture to suggest that three millions an- nually raised by taxing continental competitors of Irish producers would be a more reasonable method of relieving the present distress in that kingdom than by taking the profits of an exor- bitant postal rate for the feeding of people render- able through the unrelenting competition of pro- tected continental producers.—Orillia Packet.

THE TERRITORIES WERE SAVED.

The money sunk in suppressing the Govern- ment's Northwest rebellion would have built the Trent Valley Canal.—Globe. Would the money have been equivalent for the loss of the Northwest Territories had the rebellion not been suppressed? And had it not been sup- pressed the necessity for the canal would be extremely doubtful.—Port Hope Times.

REFORM MOTIONS CHARACTERIZED.

Last night was a field night both at Ottawa and Quebec. In the House of Commons the Home Rule question was up for discussion, and in the Quebec Assembly the Riel question. In both Houses the real fight was for advantage in the coming general elections.—Montreal Witness (Reform).

SIR JOHN WILL NOT GO.

Some of the Grit newspapers are anxiously discussing the question of who is the "coming man." Quite an interesting topic for abstract controversy, but to bring it within the range of practical politics there must be a going man, and so long as he is persistently refused to go, the coming man discussion is superfluous.—Toronto News (Reform).

WANTS MORE CROW.

"I'm not a crow," said the South Carolina gentleman—"I'm not a crow; but hang me if I don't think so." Mr. Blake does hang after it, and he is introduced another serious of resolu- tions giving Mr. Gladstone some more excellent advice as to the manner in which Ireland ought to be governed.—Hamilton Spectator.

WHAT HE FEARS.

Mr. Cook is evidently very much afraid that the Trent Valley Canal will be built, and fur- ther credit accrue to the Government in connec- tion with this most important public work. In the House last week the honorable gentleman attempted to throw cold water on the scheme, but was most effectively refuted by several private members, including Mr. Cockburn, on his own side of politics.—Orillia Packet.

PUBLIC ENTERPRISES.

Mr. Hugh Sutherland, M.P., is in England endeavoring to float the Hudson Bay Railway scheme. He recently cabled to Ottawa, asking some amendments in the charter which are re- quired by capitalists who he has consulted. Public opinion is beginning to pronounce ad- versely to members of Parliament being inter- ested in railways which receive grants of public land. At present the question is in the law to prevent it, but the question has arisen out of some incidents, real or supposed, connected with the North-West Central Railway. It is possible that in future the independence of Parliament will be all that is left to be de- cided by the House of Commons. The public opinion which receive aid, in any form, from the Legislature. Such a measure, if proposed, would probably encounter no opposition from any quarter.—Monetary Times.

A TERRIBLE CRIME.

The Hamilton Spectator called the London as- sessors "Grits." The advertiser of the Forest City goes for the spec, for "Slendering two worthy gentlemen." That's right, Mr. advertiser. I've been enough to call a man a thief or a coun- drel, but to call "Grits" as him is much. A joke is a joke.—Guelph Herald.

SYSTEMATIC ABUSE.

The Toronto Globe, in connection with its systematic abuse of the judges who are doing the work of the Revision-Officers, speaks of "the suspicion of Judge Arden's fairness which has raised current." Judge Arden ought to be as well known in the county in which he has spent his life as in the Globe office, and there are no suspicions of his fairness here, among either Reformers or Conservatives. The Globe also has "suspicions" of the fairness of Judge Gowan, Chief Justice Hageney, Judge Boyd, and in fact every judicial officer in Canada who has ever been called upon to give a verdict against itself, or has said any word which has been construed into a slur on the power of the law.—Orillia Packet.

LABOR TROUBLES.

Strikes of Recent Pleasant and Indian spells—Bartholomew shot in Chicago.

MOUNT PLEASANT, Pa., May 12.—All the men employed in the Standard and Morewood coke works struck yesterday. The company says they will take a stand against the men.

CHICAGO, Ind., May 12.—A general strike of switchmen was inaugurated here last night, because non-union men were employed by the Vandavia Railway Company.

CHICAGO, May 12.—Chas. J. Bruchette, sen- ior member of the furniture firm of Bruchette & Ricks, last night shot and seriously wounded Frank Adler and Alays Wagner, two cabinet makers who were formerly employees of the firm. Bruchette made an attempt to disperse a group of strikers near his factory, when he was laid on the sidewalk by a blow from behind. He pulled out a revolver and fired upon the four men who had assaulted him, with the result stated.

A Shower of Dead Birds.

The watchman of the board of trade building made his rounds, he found the sidewalk and streets in front of the tower covered with dead birds of all sorts. A little later the electrician came down, and said the birds had been killed by the electric light at the top of the tower. When he went up to the lantern with several members of the board of trade the roof was found to be covered with dead birds, and each of the lamps in the big circle of light was filled with them, one globe having eight birds in it. These birds are of a very known variety, and many unfamiliar species are among the lot. All shades and colors are there, scarlet, blue, pink, red, canary, black and white, and there were some snipe and plovers among them. The theory is that they were migratory birds, flying from north to south, and were attracted by the great light, which killed them the moment they touched it. Many persons were on the street with bags and baskets, and in less than two hours the sidewalk was cleared, but the roof of the board was now covered.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 13, 1886.

SHIRKING THE POINT.

We had occasion to censure the London Advertiser for repeating an old slander against Sir H. Langevin, insinuating that he had pocketed part of the $32,000 received from Sir Hugh Allan as an election fund. We showed that this was contradicted by the fact that Sir Hector tendered his accounts of the expenditure of this sum for the inspection of the Reform leaders. Unable to gainsay this, the Advertiser, with its usual shiftness, turns aside to remark that the Pacific Railway charter was sold to Sir Hugh Allan. If it had been sold, it must have been to the Hon. Mr. Borgee, a Reformer and near relation of a Reform Minister; to Col. Walker, notorious even among Reformers for his zealous and judiciously condemned operations for his party, and recently rewarded by Mr. Mowat with a magistracy for his criminal conduct; to Messrs. Walter Stanley, F. W. Cumberland and Sanford Fleming, railway men of eminence, and to leading men representing the different Provinces, for they were among the recipients of the charter. Sir Hugh Allan had no further interest in the charter than any of these, and was refused even the presidency of the company. He was refused a charter for the company he had himself formed, and it was on account of this refusal that his associates in the United States endeavored to blackmail both him and the Administration, and when their demands were resisted, conspired with Mr. Huntington to overthrow the Government by means of false charges.

And now we may expect the Advertiser to raise some fresh quibble. Only the other day when we accused it of shirking a point at issue it said that it could not have received that copy of the Review, though it actually had quoted from the very paragraph in question. The Advertiser is too dishonest to conduct any discussion fairly.

INDEPENDENCE OF PARLIAMENT.

If the present law as to the Independence of Parliament is to be changed, and it is not impossible that a case may be made out for greater stringency, it may be well to consider what the change should be.

Mr. Ives, M.P., has been the solicitor and Mr. McCarthy, M.P., a director of aided railways. But the Hon. Mr. Blake, has been the paid lawyer, and Mr. King, M.P., and other Reform members, directors of aided railways. It is evident that any statutory disqualification of one must apply to all.

Mr. Small, M.P., and Mr. Wallace, M.P., are members of colonization companies; so are Mr. Mackenzie, M.P., and Senator Scott. If one is to be prevented so must the others.

Mr. Dickson, M.P., has a timber limit lease (obtained before he was a member), but so has Mr. Sutherland, M.P. There must be one law for both.

Mr. Birgin, M.P., is an officer of the Militia paid by government, and so is the Hon. Mr. Vail. No distinction between them would be right.

Mr. Kirkpatrick, M.P., belongs to a joint stock company which has dealt with the Government, but one of his associates in the enterprise is Mr. Gunn, M.P. One cannot be treated differently from the other.

The Hon. Frank Smith presided over a bank doing business with and chartered by the Government. So did Senator Simpson and other members of Parliament. All or none must be disqualified.

Mr. Sproule, M.P., has purchased crown lands. So have Sir R. Cartwright and Mr. Cameron, M.P. (Huron). One cannot be precluded from thus acquiring land and the others privileged to do so.

These cases, which are only specimens, show that there has not been corruption or the exercise of parliamentary influence to give an unfair advantage to government supporters.

They also show that the question is by no means simple. It is not easy to devise means to provide adequate safeguards for the independence of Parliament, without discouraging the development of the country or the choice of active business men as members of Parliament. It may be possible to draw the line, but it involves complex considerations.

An adequate solution certainly has not been found in the suggestion that Conservatives are to be restricted and Reformers to be left free.

THE SASKATCHEWAN.—"Our correspondent" of this Rehe Globe proclaims that the white inhabitants of Prince Albert are strictly law-abiding. To prove his case he represents them as stealing telegraph poles, rather than officials and returning a verdict of not guilty without considering the evidence because of their objection to "paid government informers." We would not however do the Prince Albert people the injustice of condemning them on such words than doubtful testimony.

PERHAPS the critics of the Dominion Administration would desire to inform us by what right the Minister could refuse, under the existing law, to allow the purchase of Crown lands or other property open to all applicants under the general regulations. And if such law is wrong, why do the Reform leaders act upon it in their own cases?

THE chief Rehe organ in Ontario does not like to esteem the Canadian judges. We cannot say we are surprised at the Rehe's opinion. Criminals and their friends do object to judges.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Reform Falsification—Scott Act Fines—
Mr. Blake Joins the Slanderers—Reform Suppression
 MONDAY, May 10.—Several private bills were advanced a stage.

TRAFFICKING IN TIMBER LIMITS.
 Mr. COOK made a long explanation of his Lumber Company operations to show that he had not cheated the Scotchmen, and that the Scotchmen had cheated him. Incidentally he revealed that he had made a profit of $137,000 for his Company out of this lease of public property.

A RASE FALSIFICATION.
 Mr. DICKINSON said that Mr. Cameron (Huron) had charged him with abusing his position in Parliament by applying for timber limits. Mr. Cameron knew this took place long before he was a member, he had the true date in the official return, but deliberately falsified it by dating it after his election, in order to make this false charge. Mr. Dickinson also denied Mr. Cook's statements as to his efforts to sell the limit.

Mr. COOK repeated his assertion, and suggested a Parliamentary investigation into Mr. Dickinson's conduct, as if he had not just before been bragging of his own profit from Government timber limits.

THE SCOTT ACT.
 Mr. McLELLAN, in reply to Mr. Stairs, said the Government had no return of Scott Act fines, and had received no money from them. They intended to call for returns.

NORTHWEST ONTARIO.
 Mr. THOMPSON, in reply to Mr. Mills, said it was still under consideration whether they would acquiesce in the decisions of the Courts of Chancery and Appeal as to the ownership of the land in North-west Ontario.

IMPRISONED REBELS.
 Mr. THOMPSON, in reply to Mr. Bergeron, said it had been reported that the health of some of the rebel prisoners at Stony Mountain had become impaired, and they were released. There was no such impairment of health in the remaining prisoners—a white, a halfbreed and four Indians.

NORTHERN QUEBEC.
 Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Mills, said the matter of the ownership of lands in Northern Quebec could not be treated in the same way as in Northwest Ontario, because there had been no Indian treaty there.

HALDIMAND ELECTION.
 Sir J. MACDONALD, in reply to Mr. Landerkin, said there would be no election for Haldimand till the new voters' lists were ready. They would probably add 30 per cent. to the voters, so it would be absurd to appeal to the present electorate, especially as the member elected could not take his seat this session.

MR. BLAKE JOINS IN.
 Mr. BLAKE brought a formal charge against Messrs. Dodd and McCallum, members for Cape Breton, of obtaining the dismissal of Matthew Roche from the Pilotage Board because he had voted against Mr. McCallum. He also charged the Government with carrying this out, and moved for a special committee of enquiry, naming on it five of his own friends and four supporters of the Administration.

Mr. DODD completely refuted the charge. He showed that a division being necessary Mr. Roche was placed on the Board in his own right. This was probably better in the public interest, though possibly he ought to have been dismissed. Mr. Roche wrote for his friendly interest but he did not care to use it for one who lived so far from his duties and was an active opponent at elections. He showed that there had been no dismissal and then contrasted the conduct of the Reform party, giving cases of their dismissing public officials for party reasons. Mr. McDONALD censured Mr. D's statement of the case. He challenged an investigation.

Mr. BLAKE denied that Mr. Dodd's precedents were any excuse for the government. He read a letter from Mr. Dodd to Mr. Roche, telling him he had warned him of the risk he would run, and saying that Mr. McCallum thought that a friend of his, not an opponent, should get the appointment. So he could not interfere in his favor. This Mr. Blake said was a corrupt act.

Mr. McCALLUM denied this, and gave instances of real acts of corruption on the part of Mr. Blake himself, including his conspiracy with the Hon. E. B. Wood to oust the Sandfield Macdonald administration.

Mr. McNEIL said that at the last election a Conservative Division Clerk was dismissed by the Ontario Government for voting for him.

Mr. MILLS supported the right of Reform officials to oppose the Government.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said a civil servant could vote, but not interfere actively in elections. Mr. Roche had no right to use his influence over the pilotage. Mr. Roche did not look upon Mr. D's warning as a threat, or he would not have written to him to befriend him.

Mr. McLELLAN said he had made the charge in the public interest, for which he was responsible. He was not disposed to follow the example of Mr. Blake and his friends in dismissing officials not supporting them, but he did think an official deserved dismissal who having others under his control tried to influence them.

He could not see that Mr. D was culpable for refusing to befriend a man who had so acted. The hour of recess interrupted the debate.

SOME RULES.
 Sir J. MACDONALD and the House Rules resolution had been tabled to Sir C. Tupper, with instructions to supply a copy to every member of the Imperial Parliament.

SUPERSEDITION.
 Mr. McLELLAN resumed his attack upon the Government for superseeding civil servants. Mr. McLELLAN showed that nearly half of the superseditions were the work of the five years of Reform Administration.

The motion was withdrawn after some further discussion.

BUDGETARY.
 Mr. ROBERTSON (Hastings) moved the second reading of his bill for the more severe punishment of burglary, but after some discussion it was defeated.

POLLING HOURS.
 Mr. MCCARTHY's bill to extend polling hours was negatived after some discussion on the second reading by 89 to 42.

OLD-MARKETINE.
 Mr. TAYLOR resumed the debate on his motion for the prohibition of oleomargarine. Considerable discussion followed.

Mr. BOWELL said the Government thought the heavy duties they proposed amounted to virtual prohibition, but as they found the House prepared to support them they would bring down a proposition that would undoubtedly be acceptable.

The debate was therefore adjourned.

MEASURES ADVANCED.
 TUESDAY, May 11.—A number of measures were advanced a stage.

ANOTHER REFORM SLANDER.
 Mr. GALT exposed another slander by Mr. Charlton that he was an applicant for two townships in the North-west. A Mr. Norwotchy, whom he had been introduced and with whom he had spoken for five minutes, had sent an application to him to forward to the department, which he had done. He had never applied for a rank.

NORTH-WEST COURTS.
 Mr. THOMPSON in committee explained that it was intended to establish a Supreme Court for the North-west territories with five judges for five districts and all sitting together as a court of appeal. There would only be a slightly increased expense. It was not to be necessary to appoint the present stipendiary magistrates as judges.

Mr. BLAKE expressed his gratification at this and criticised the action of one of them who had not stayed to be murdered by Mr. Blake's friends and allies and had said in a telegram "God save the Queen."

NORTH-WEST REPRESENTATION.
 Sir J. MACDONALD moved the second reading of his bill on North-west representation in Parliament. The franchise of the North-west would be adopted for the election of four representatives, two for Assiniboia and one each for Alberta and Saskatchewan.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) objected to the franchise being awarded to residents, and to the plan of registration. He was afraid the representatives would support the Government.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said the resident clause was Mr. Mills'. The present franchise for the Council gave satisfaction and was simple, settled and new and squarely settled country. So were the machinery for registering and for the election.

Some Reform members expressed discontent with the Bill.

Mr. ROYAL said the bill was suited to the requirements of the people of the Northwest. The second reading was carried and some progress was made in committee.

A Leading Anarchist Arrested.
 NEW YORK, May 12.—Herr Most has been arrested. He endeavored to elude the officers by crawling under the bed of one of the female inmates of the house, and with whom he is said to have been a long time intimate. The detective seized the Anarchist a few hours after locating him, and when he was pulled by the heels from under the bed he presented a sorry spectacle. His head and face were covered with dust and dirt, and his eyes were large with terror. He recovered, however, sufficient to wave his arm aloft and shout a demand for liberty for the people. He was handcuffed and taken to police headquarters, where he was locked up. The arrest was made on account of incendiary utterances made by Most at a recent Anarchist meeting.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

During the last week the Otonabee has been thickly dotted with logs passing on to the mills below Peterborough.

A Medical Visit.

Mr. Peter Doolan, one of the Nile voyagers, has lost his medical assistance here in Peterborough, and is, of course, anxious to regain possession of it. If the finder will kindly leave it at his office he will greatly oblige the owner.

Withdrawn.

The New Review has become convinced that its slander on the town volunteers was without foundation and has withdrawn it. It was, it says, misled by a rumour which was circulated in that section, but it is "highly pleased to learn that the statement is devoid of truth."

Wine Plate Glass.

The plate glass front recently placed in Messrs. Fairweather & Co.'s hat store is unique and attractive. It consists of seven plates, the front proper and side and door light. The side on the north side forms a case for the display of goods. At the south side of the window there is a mirror eight feet high by five feet wide, which duplicates the contents of the window. The greater of six jets is shadowed by a corrugated reflector.

A Field Day.

The twenty-fourth of May promises to be a field day at the Driving Park. The interest in the coming races grows every day, and the date draws near. The turf men predict that the event will surpass anything of the kind ever held here. The Peterborough Times says:—
"Mr. Robt. Reid, proprietor of the Driving Park, has arranged for a field day on Tuesday, the 19th inst., for the races which take place on the Queen's Birthday. 'Turf' will have a good account of itself, and Mr. Reid's skillful training."

But YOUR CARPETS at R. Fair's, sign of the Golden Lion.

Manufacturers.

The William Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works are unusually busy. The stove and lock works are working up to their full capacity and the latter is shortly to double its output. Besides at R. Fair's planning mills is being put, and strenuous effort is required to keep pace with orders. The same is the story with all industrial establishments here. The wooden mills are all working full time. There is a big demand for Peterborough carves this spring. The Otonabee factory has considerable number of rear-ends to fill. The lumber mills will soon commence operation.

Forestry.

On Wednesday last, Watson, D. D. H. C. H., and Rev. Fanning, R. W. H. M., went to Lindsay to attend the officers of the Lindsay C. H. This was the first installation since the organization of the Court. The ceremony was gone through satisfactorily, and afterwards Bro. M. Alpin, on behalf of Court Lindsay, presented Bro. Watson with a silver-mounted ebony cane accompanied by a beautifully engraved address, as a souvenir of the event. Bro. Watson returned thanks for the beautiful gift and kind expressions of regard by saying a few words conveying his interest in Court Lindsay and wishes for its prosperity.

Dr. Washington.

Edmund Throat and Lung Surgeon, has arrived at the Grand Central, where he will remain till Saturday night. Dr. Washington is the most experienced throat and lung specialist in Canada. Having visited all the principal Throat and Lung Institutes in the United States, and also his extensive practice through the D. M. Smith, and the many testimonials of the most wonderful cures ever recorded, attest his skill, and the superiority of the "new method" of inhalation over the old "hot" cases of the throat, chest and lungs. The great secret is to apply in time, and thousands who have died premature graves will have been living long had they used the "inhalation method" and applied in time. N. B. is the golden opportunity. Come early. Remember the date, and see that procrastination does not slip the golden moment forever by. Consultation always free.

TAILORS AND CLOTHIERS

The Union Reviews the Bill—One Firm Signs It.

The Tailors' Union have made a revision of the bill of wages presented to clothiers for signature. The price of costmaking remains, in most part, the same. Naps, Beavers and Pilots overcoats are quoted at the same price, $4.50, the same as was paid before the strike for beavers alone. Instead of the words "master's" coats, the words "youth's coat with thirty-two inch breast" have been substituted.

In the extra a considerable change has been made, of a compromising nature. Vents in cuffs are quoted at 12 cents instead of 15 cents; with button holes, however, they will be 25 cents. Silk facings, quarter, are 15 cents; half, 25 cents, and full, 50 cents. Coats faced at bottom will be 15 cents instead of 25 cents, except when bound. The charge for extra button holes over four in single-breasted coats and over eight in double-breasted coats, is left out. Basting wadding all through is to refer to over-stitching only. Matching check goods in coats, in the un-revised bill quoted at 20 cents, is also left out.

A grading has been made in vests. It made of fine goods the charge will be 80 cents; if made of coarse goods, 75 cents. Double-breasted vests are quoted at 10 cents extra, and pockets over three, eight cents each. No charge is to be made for making chain holes, and hand stitched edges are reduced from 25 cents to 20 cents. Lining pants is to be 8 cents instead of 10 cents; spring bottoms, 8 cents instead of 10 cents; pockets over two, each 7 cents instead of 10 cents. The clothiers are to be allowed to employ weekly hands.

All coats made of tweeds worth under 75 cents per yard, selling price, are to be made up 25 cents cheaper than those manufactured of goods of a finer quality.

With these revisions made Messrs. Hall, Innis & Co. have signed the bill.

The rest of the clothiers refuse to sign the revised bill on one condition—by doing so they would be recognizing the union. This they decline to do. They urge that even if they did accede to the demands made now the matter would not be settled, but that in busy times the strike would be apt to recur, and they might just as well fight it out now as at any time. Moreover, they say that they will not be coerced by the union into discharging hands that are now at work. They profess to have union men now at work at prices as high as is asked for in the bill. To sum up, the clothiers prefer rather to deal individually with grievances than collectively.

The union hold that the prices asked are fair and much below what is paid in Toronto.

Tree Planting.

During the spring a large amount of tree planting has been done in town. Messrs. Geo. A. Cox, Jas. Stevenson and D. W. Dumble imported several hundred young not pruned elm trees for themselves and friends from Rochester. Mr. Stevenson had a hundred ordered for the Central Park. These arrived a few days ago, and have all been carefully planted and boxed. Mr. Stevenson has also made a great improvement in the appearance of Water street, along the town buildings. Beside planting and boxing in trees, he has had a neat Cleveland made all the way along the buildings.

POLICE COURT.

THURSDAY, May 13.—The case of Elias Burnham vs. Geo. Reynolds, for having fraudulently and clandestinely removed goods to prevent distraint, adjourned from yesterday, was heard.

The complainant testified that the defendant lived until May 2nd in a house rented from him at $5 per month. On that day the defendant owed him seven months rent, $42, besides the taxes which the defendant should, according to terms of lease, have paid. On May 1st he sent defendant a note requesting the payment of the rent, but no attention was paid to it, and when he sent his man around on Monday morning the man found the house vacated. He laid a complaint against the defendant, and afterwards expostulated with him, stating that the rent was justly due and should be paid. But the defendant replied to the effect that he would not pay the rent and that nothing could be done to make him pay it. The goods were followed and distrained on. The defendant stated that he had neither fraudulently nor clandestinely removed the goods; the removal had taken place in broad daylight. Judgment was reserved.

Mr. C. W. Savers appeared for the defendant.

The Act and the Action.

Mr. J. W. Flavelle, Secretary of the Scott Act Association, says that the Association have commenced business with the intention of seeing whether the Act will, or will not, be a failure. They are aware that the law is being violated, and say they are determined to force the breakers into understanding that time and energy have been spent to secure the Acts approval by the people and that it is not to be thrown away now that they have the Act. They are aware that they will be handicapped by their not "knowing the ropes" but they will not be discouraged. If it costs $1,000 a case they will prosecute in every instance.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

Reasons for Calling a Special Session of the General Assembly.

BALTIMORE, May 11.—Mr. Fred Turner, General Secretary of the Knights of Labor, and a corps of clerks at Philadelphia have been kept busy during the past two or three days sending out the call for the special session of the General Assembly.

The call states that General Master Workman Powderly, acting under the authority vested in him, has felt that it was absolutely necessary to call the session and place the order squarely before the world on several issues in such a way that no misunderstanding can possibly arise in the future.

The causes leading to the calling of the session are:—
First—The rapidly increasing membership of the order requires changes in the laws, which the General Executive Board have no authority to make.

Second—The laws in relation to the government of boycotting are wholly inadequate to compel obedience on the part of assemblies that believe in boycotting for every offence, whether great or small.

Third—The laws in relation to strikes do not cover the ground necessary to give the general Executive Board power to interfere in such matters until after the strike has been inaugurated.

Fourth—The order has become involved in difficulties with trade societies, and an effort is being made to create a rupture between these societies and the Knights of Labor.

These and other matters which will help to perfect the discipline of the order will require the careful deliberation and prompt judgment of the General Assembly. The most critical period of the order's history has been reached, and some means must be devised whereby the machinery of the order may be improved. The present Executive Board cannot attend to one-tenth part of the work that pours in upon them, and some means of distributing this work must be thought of and put into practice.

The session will be held in Cleveland, Ohio, Tuesday, May 25, and will be called to order at two o'clock in the afternoon of that day in Stiles hall, No. 356 Ontario street. All representatives who served at the session held last October in Hamilton, Ont., will sit as representatives in the special session at Cleveland.

General Master Workman Powderly has also issued a secret circular to the order everywhere, in which he is very severe on strikes, boycotts, Anarchists, and intemperance. He says:—

"If every member of the Knights of Labor would only pass a resolution to boycott strong drink so far as he is concerned for five years, and would pledge his word to study the labour question from the different standpoint, we would then have an invincible host arrayed on the side of justice."

A Terrible Tragedy.

HAMILTON, Ont., May 12.—Saturday evening George H. Wigel, a young mechanic, and Annie Blakely, to whom he was engaged to be married, took a boat and went out for a row on the river. Yesterday they were found floating around the lake in the boat and both dead. Miss Blakely had been shot through the brain and through the breast. Wigel had been shot through the head. It was evident from a letter found in Wigel's pocket that he had done the shooting. Unrequited love is supposed to have been the cause of the terrible deed.

FRIDAY, MAY 14, 1886.

MR. BLAKE AND RAILWAYS

It is an astounding piece of effrontery in Mr. Blake to talk in the House about railway grants being given or used for corrupt purposes. Does he think people forget that he was the very inventor of a system of railway grants to be utilized in order to gain and consolidate political power.

When Mr. Blake conspired with one of the Cabinet sitting at the Council board to overturn the Administration of Mr. John Sandfield Macdonald, he used two great levers to effect his purpose.

The first was his howl against the rebel and murderer Riel to gain the Orange vote, as he now clamours against justice to Riel, the double dyed rebel and murderer, in order to catch the Blue vote.

The second was wholesale though masked bribery by means of railway grants. He violently condemned Mr. J. S. Macdonald for proposing a railway aid fund to be divided by order-in-Council among the recipients as seemed best for the development of the Province. The Cabinet has been called a committee of the House, and such powers are often entrusted by municipal and other public bodies to a committee. But Mr. Blake fulminated against it as if it were a dreadful crime. No sooner, however, had he succeeded by trickery in obtaining a majority of one than he made his hypocrisy apparent. He greatly increased the railway aid fund and with impudent cynicism evaded that legislative control over its distribution which he had pretended to consider so necessary. He refused to give any information as to the grants, though the Order-in-Council were passed, and later on the very same day, he pulled them from their lurking place in his desk to rush them through the House without time for consideration in the last hours of the session.

And how was this money distributed? Part to buy votes for himself in his own electorate, and other grants to corrupt members or constituencies. Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's plan was to distribute the grants to railroads that would open up new country and that from the sparseness of the population along their route could obtain little municipal aid. Mr. Blake's plan was to give our money to railways through comparatively populous districts, where less assistance was required, but more political capital was to be made by this corrupt means. And thus, too, legislative control was rendered a perfect farce, for the inducements to many members and the log rolling of the different grants, procured their hurried adoption. His successor, Mr. Mowat, pursued the same plan as long as Mr. Sandfield Macdonald's cash surplus lasted. We all remember that there could never be any grant obtained for our road, opening up the thinly settled country between here and Perth, because it could not be made to turn to the party advantage of these corrupt dealers with the Provincial funds.

Neither in the House of Commons has Mr. Blake a clear record as to railway matters. He sat there the paid advocate of the Grand Trunk Railway, being publicly described in that capacity by the officers of the Company, and he so favoured them and opposed their rival, that if any Conservative member had thus acted, Mr. Blake would assuredly have accused him of having had his advocacy retained in the House as well as in the Courts or in his law-office.

In truth Mr. Blake has not shown himself to be over particular as to corrupt practices. He was a party when in power to the hiring of a Speaker by a bogus contract, and to the corruption of other members at the same period. He has owed his own seat to the purchase of a vacancy for him by Mr. Mowat. He owes the seat of his lieutenant and personal representative the untruthful Edgar to the purchase of a vacancy by Mr. Mowat. He tacitly sanctioned last year the Globe's wholesale offer in his name, a bribe to the Quebec members till he found they turned the base inducement, and this year he has only varied his tactics by implementing the agreement made by his agent Edgar to some of them to assist them to obtain vengeance for the infliction of justice on a criminal friend.

Mr. Blake should look at home before he talks about corruption in regard to railway grants or in any other form.

WINTERING ON ANTICOSTI

Terrible Hardships Endured by the Crew of a Wrecked Steamer.

QUEBEC, May 12.—It will be remembered that last October the steamer Brooklyn was wrecked on Anticosti Island while on a voyage from Liverpool to Quebec. The wrecking steamer Earl Dufferin left Halifax November 4 for the wreck, but after securing a cargo was herself wrecked in the same place November 20. The owners undertook by advice that the crew wanted to remain on the island all winter and did not try to get them off. The crew of twelve men, not getting assistance, built a hut of wreckage seven miles from Fox Harbor, where there are only three fishermen's families. They got what provisions they could from the wreck and settled down. During the winter they suffered terribly from cold, and towards the spring their provisions have been short. One of their number, named James Green, decided to try and get home. He took an open boat and crossed the Gulf of St. Lawrence, a distance of 180 miles, to Gaspé Point. He was three days in the boat and suffered severely. The men had nothing when he left in the middle of April except flour, and had no prospect of getting anything. The winter was a very hard one, and all hands suffered terribly. It is supposed the suffering men will be sent for immediately.

superiority. It grows in clusters on low, swampy grounds subject to overflows. On account of its aquatic life it seems to endure exposure to the weather. Cypress nuda and sidewalks in New Orleans are a rarity old. Cypress is usually cut in low water and floated out in high water. The Northern lumber companies are rapidly erecting mills and putting them in order in certain sections of Louisiana and Mississippi. From present appearances the lumber in these States will soon exceed the cotton interest. Suffice it to say there is an enormous supply of these varieties of lumber, and their manufacture and marketing will have some effect on the price of Western lumber.—Manufacturers Gazette.

FROM ALL OVER

BROU, the condemned murderer, of Victoria, B.C., has been reprieved for one month.

A DYING EVIL—Children are often fretful and ill when worms is the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Hyrup safely expels all worms.

The body of an infant has been found lying among some logs on William street, Montreal.

TO REMOVE HAND-PUSS—Cleanse the scalp with Prof. Low's Maple Sulphur Shampoo. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

A barn belonging to Mr. L. Hurd of Mt. Raymond, P.Q., was burned on Tuesday and two of his children perished.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and anti-bilious medicine, they are mild and thorough.

A fire in Campbell & Graham's furniture factory at Bratford on Wednesday night $2000 worth of damage, covered by insurance.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

A SEVERE TRIAL—Those who endure the torturing pangs of neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago, and similar painful complaints are severely tried, but there is a speedy relief in Haggard's Yellow Oil, as the thousands who have used it is fully testify. It banishes pain and lameness quickly.

Henry Lucas, 6 years of age, stole a horse from Mrs. Mary Ann Niagara, and got as far as Camden with the animal, but was overtaken and arrested while selling it there.

A PLEASANT DUTY—"I feel it my duty to say," writes John Burton, of Desert P. Q., "that Burdock Blood Bitters cured my wife of liver complaint, from which she had been a chronic sufferer. Her distressing, painful symptoms soon gave way, and I can highly recommend the medicine to all suffering as she did."

A DOUBLE BENEFIT—Harry Ricardo, of Toronto, certifies to the benefit received from the use of Haggard's Yellow Oil as a cure for rheumatism and deafness, his affliction with these combined troubles being a severe one.

Hon. L. A. Tullion has a series of resolutions before the Quebec Legislature urging: the Governor-General to pardon persons now imprisoned in connection with the Northwest rebellion.

A MODERN MIRACLE—In a recent letter from R. W. Dowson, of Deloraine, Ont., he states that he has recovered from the worst form of dyspepsia after suffering for five years; and when a council of doctors pronounced him incurable he tried Burdock Blood Bitters, six bottles of which restored his health.

A freight wreck in the mountains on the Pennsylvania Railway on Wednesday night demolished twenty five cars, killed three men outright and obstructed the tracks so badly that it took twelve hours to clear them.

ONE DOLLAR AGAINST FIVE HUNDRED—Isaac Brown, of Bothwell, Ont., was afflicted with chronic humor in the blood. He says one dollar bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters was worth more than $50.00 paid for other medicines. It is a reliable blood purifier.

Mrs. Flora Birrell, daughter of Sheriff McKellar, has obtained the divorce for which she prayed, the Senate finding that the divorce obtained by the husband in Michigan was not valid, as no notice had been served on Mrs. Birrell.

MURRAY & LAMMAN'S FLORIDA WATER—We earnestly urge every purchaser to ask for that which is prepared by Messrs Lamman & Kemp, New York, who are the sole proprietors of the true perfume. All other so-called, Florida Waters are only ordinary Colognes.

At Britton, Pa., two brothers, Philip and William Bush, quarrelled on Wednesday over an axe. William shot Philip, killing him instantly. The murderer had recently returned from the penitentiary.

J. D. Tully, druggist, will gladly inform anyone enquiring as to the wonderful merits of West's Pain King. The standard remedy for fevers, dysentery, summer complaint, cholera morbus, cholera, colic, etc. Price 25 cents.

"RHEUM AND SCALDS"—If you are so unfortunate as to injure yourself in this way we can suggest a remedy that will (we speak from experience) soon relieve you of all pain and swelling. It is the wonder; it cures but twenty cents and is sold by all druggists—ask for Perry Davis Pain Killer.

A large tent at a camp meeting in Johnston County, Kansas, was blown down during a gale on Sunday. 20 persons were in the tent. Three were killed—Mr. and Mrs. Jackson and their babe. A great many persons were slightly injured.

For the past quarter of a century West's Cough Syrup has given relief to thousands, and its medicinal compound can show such a vast number of unolicited testimonials. Ask your neighbor as to its merits. It is an unfailing cure for coughs, colds, hoarseness, asthma, bronchitis, consumption in its early stage, and all throat and lung diseases. Price 25c., 50c., and 1.00 per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

If any of our readers that are afflicted with rheumatism have never tried West's World's Wonder or Family Liment, we advise them to do so at once, and give it a trial. It is the only medicine that can be placed in the extra bottle.

It is a never-failing remedy for colds, sprains, bruises and all complaints requiring external treatment. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

Scott's Emulsion of Pure Cod Liver Oil With Hyposphosphates.

More reliable and given in the cure of Consumption, Chronic Cough, Emaciation, than any remedy known to medical science. It is so prepared that the potency of these two most valuable agents is largely increased. It is also very palatable.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Masonic Excursion.

A Masonic excursion, under the auspices of the Corinthian Royal Arch Chapter, will run to Rochester on the 24th of June. St. John's Day. Look for further particulars.

Encourage Home Manufacture.

Ladies' Oxford Shoes, $1.00 to $1.40; Ladies' P. Calf Shoes, $2.75 to $3.50; P. Calf Sewed Shoes $2.50; Boys' Boots, high cut, from $1.80 to $2.00; Boys' Oxford Shoes from $1.70—all our own make. JOHNSTON CARR.

Appeals.

There are now thirty-two appeals put in against assessments, not an unusually large number. There is yet one more day for those dissatisfied with their assessment to apply for a revision, to-morrow being the date at which the reception of appeals will close. The court will sit in about a week.

Bells.

The Cantata "Ruth" will be repeated in St. John's Church on Monday evening next. Mrs. Chambers, Mr. T. Dunn, Miss Wells and Miss Coe will take the leading parts. They will be supported by a strong chorus. No admission fee will be charged, but a collection will be taken up on behalf of the conductor, Mr. Hampshire.

Baseball.

The Lock Works baseball club have challenged the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co.'s employees to a game of ball on May 24th, for a trophy consisting of a $25 silver cup. If the challenge is accepted it is likely that the match will be played in the Riverside Park. It is altogether probable that the Peterborough club will send a nice out of town on the Queen's birthday.

Mysterious Disappearance.

The Port Hope Times of Thursday says:—"Last fall a young girl named Barbara Grant, whose parents live in Northumberland, was employed with a family in Hastings village, Peterborough County. She left that place, saying she was going to an adjacent village, and has not been heard of since. It was found that she had purchased a ticket for Peterborough, but although detectives have been placed on the case, and the cities and towns of Central and Western Ontario have been searched, no trace of the girl has yet been found. The people in the neighborhood of the girl's home are strong in their belief that the unfortunate girl has met with foul play and that she is dead."

Personal.

Mr. P. C. Blacher who from 1861 to 1866 was head teacher in English and Mathematics in the Peterborough Union and Grammar school was in town yesterday and called upon several of his old pupils and other acquaintances. He has resided ever since in Hamilton where he carries on two drug stores. He is (as he was here) very popular there and has for several years been elected a city alderman. He looks well, fat and alert. He was one of the deputation sent by the city of Hamilton to Ottawa to urge on the Railway Committee in the House that the bill regarding the Northern and North-Western Junction Railway should provide for the main line passing through city. The deputation were successful in their effort.

The Late Mr. Heathfield.

The news of the death of Mr. Alfred Thomas Heathfield will cause much regret not only to the lovers of music in Peterborough, but to the community in general. Mr. Heathfield was born in England, but came to Canada at an early age. Since then he has chiefly resided in Peterborough, where he has always been prominent in musical circles. For many years he had charge of the organ of St. John's Church and subsequently of the George and Charlotte Street Methodist Churches consecutively. His great taste, his skilful execution, and his thorough knowledge of music, were generally recognized not only in this capacity but in the many public performances in which he took part. He was always ready to give his aid in the performance of any concert, or in the organization of any musical society. Many also felt that they are indebted for their musical progress to his skilful and judicious tuition. The musical public of Peterborough feel that he has done much for them. Mr. Heathfield died of consumption, which made rapid progress during the winter. He leaves a widow to lament his loss.

Reserved seats for the A. A. Concert are to be had at L. Davis & Co., Peterborough. Secure your seats early.

Wanted, Coat and Vest Makers. Good Coat and Vest Makers wanted. Apply to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

W. T. M. S.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary Society in connection with St. Paul's Church held its regular monthly meeting on Thursday evening. There was a large attendance.

Knights of Labor.

A meeting of the Knights of Labor was held in Tremont's Hall, Water street, on Thursday night, for the purpose of forming a Women's Branch. Mr. Marsh, the Provincial organizer, not being present, nothing was done. An informal meeting of the Tailors' Union was also held.

Lost and Found.

This afternoon when P. C. McGinty was on his rounds he was given charge of a girl about six years of age who had lost her way. The P. C. took her under his care. In about an hour afterwards the mother of the strayed appeared at the Police Station and reclaimed her little daughter. The child was found about four miles from town in the township of Douro.

Scott Act Law.

This morning quite a consignment of ale arrived in Town from Toronto for several private parties. The ale, in kegs of different sizes, was carted up street to the homes of the consumers. Thus it comes that the people of Peterborough support Toronto industries, while Calcutt's brewery, on which Mr. Calcutt is compelled to pay taxes, is closed down and the hands are idle.

Battery Drill.

The Right Division of the Durham Field Battery commences drill this evening at the drill shed. The members of this division complain as to the inadequate supply of light. Last summer there was an electric lamp in the shed, but it has been taken away. The gas fixtures are in a very defective condition; more gas is wasted from leaks in the pipes than that which is consumed. All members having uniforms are requested to come in uniform.

Committee.

A meeting of the Finance Committee was held on Thursday evening. A number of accounts were recommended for payment. At a meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee it was decided to recommend the location of the gas lamps removed from the vicinity of the corner of Simcoe and Aylmer streets. Where an electric light has recently been placed, as follows:—Two in the South Ward and one at the corner of Water and Antrim streets.

Thomas Beavis' Filibuster.

Thomas Beavis, Esq., besides being Local License Inspector, is also Sanitary Inspector. For the past two or three weeks he has been going the rounds and has exerted himself toward procuring the cleanliness of everything which need cleaning that has within his jurisdiction. Mr. Beavis has grown tired warning the slothful and has determined on bringing these people before the court. He now states (last chance) that if the yards are not all cleaned up by Monday that he will inaugurate a crusade.

Firemen's Annual Excursion.

The large number of townspeople who spent such an enjoyable day by patronizing the Firemen's excursion to Niagara Falls, August last, will be pleased to learn that the firemen are making arrangements to make another excursion to the same place on the vic Holiday, August 19th. The committee in charge promise that all details will be most satisfactory. They attended to them as on the day of their excursion last year, and assure those who wish to see the great natural wonder of Canada that they cannot do so under better auspices.

Miss J. Willoughby, B.A.

In its account of the laureating and capping of the candidates for degrees in Victoria University, the Cobourg World says:—"As each candidate stepped forward and knelt before the Chancellor to receive the talismanic Latin formula, which admitted him to the charmed circle of scholarship, he was greeted with a vigorous cheering by his friends in the audience. Miss Willoughby, who took the bachelor's degree in Arts, received an ovation. She is the daughter of the Rev. R. N. Willoughby, M.A., of Whitby, and is the first academic grand daughter of the Old Vic. This University has already admitted ladies to degrees in science and medicine, but this is the first time Victoria has had the privilege of admitting a lady to the degree of B.A."

Dr. Washington.

Eminent Throat and Lung Surgeon, has arrived at the Grand Central, where he will remain on Saturday night. Dr. Washington is the best expert on throat and lung specialists in Canada. Having visited all the principal Throat and Lung Institutes in the United States, and also his extensive practice throughout the Dominion, and the many testimonials of the most wonderful cures ever recorded, attest his skill, and the superiority of the "new method" of inhalation over the old for disease of the head, throat and lungs. The great secret is to apply in time, and thousands who have filled premature graves would have been saved to-day had they used the "inhalation" method and applied in time. Now is the golden opportunity. Come early. Remember the dates, and see that prescription does not slip the golden moments forever. Consultation always free.

FRIDAY, May 14.—Just two weeks have gone by without a drunk putting in an appearance at the Police Court. This morning No. 1 registered with the Clerk.

Isaac Simpson, a middle aged man, was charged with having been drunk on Thursday night.

The prisoner stood up and pleaded guilty. The MAGISTRATE—Well, how in the world did you manage to get drunk in this county? PRISONER—I don't know.

ELIAS BURNHAM—Perhaps I ought not to interfere, but this man, I learn, is one of the strikers, and I suppose during the excitement has been unfortunate in taking too much. If he will promise to do better I think you should let him off.

The MAGISTRATE—These are Scott Act times. Fines are heavy now. There is no occasion for a man to fall into drunkenness. However, he will be let off easy this time—two dollars and costs or ten days.

PRISONER—Will you give me a week to pay it in?

The MAGISTRATE—A man that can afford to go out on a strike and get drunk ought surely to have lots of money. No; any one fined for getting drunk under the Scott Act will either have to pay his fine at once or go to gaol.

CANADIAN PROSPERITY.

The London "Standard" on the Canadian Exhibit at the Colonial Exhibition.

The London Standard says in its issue of April 23rd—

"Representing as it does an area of two and a half million square miles, a large space is necessarily devoted to the Dominion of Canada. Her leading exhibits are, naturally in the main agricultural. A fine trophy of corn and fruits and vegetable produce at the head of the court presents at one view the prime elements of Canadian prosperity. It may be safely assumed that one effect of this exhibition will be to bring into increasing prominence the vast territory of Manitoba and the North-West, now being open to the world, by the Canadian Pacific Railway. The corn, the fruit, and perhaps most of all the roots displayed from all the newly open territories are striking evidences of fertility. Some very fine agricultural implements and machinery of Canadian manufacture are shown. They are so good as to render it doubtful whether the Canadian manufacturers need any longer the doubtful aid of protection for these essentials of their greatest industry. Of the mineral produce British Columbia sends a trophy in the shape of an obelisk showing the quantity of gold found in the colony during the last 25 years. It is estimated at $10,000,000 in value. Nova Scotia contributes a small obelisk, showing that the yield of gold has been $7,250,000, or about $1,450,000. In both these lands, and particularly in British Columbia, gold mining has received an impetus recently. More important than the precious metals is the reserve of coal, of which Nova Scotia sends some fine samples. At present the Dominion of Canada draws its supplies from the United States, but the coal seams of Nova Scotia at no distant date will add largely to its wealth."

Care of Hotbeds.

Three things are to be guarded against in the care of hotbeds, viz., frost, "damping off," and sun burning. The first of these dangers is easily avoided by covering the sash, in severe weather, with straw mats, old carpets, blankets, or any convenient article of the kind. Almost the only caution to be given is, do not run unnecessary risks. Remember that it is far better to apply the covering a score of times when it is not needed than to leave it off an hour when it is required. Remember that the weather of Spring is fickle, and often unexpectedly severe. Therefore, be sure to err, if you must, upon the safe side.

The second danger is perhaps more apt to overtake the beginner than the first, because it gives no visible warning. The plants suddenly droop and on examination it appears that the stems are rotted if at the surface of the ground. The direct cause of this trouble is a fungus that attacks and destroys the tissue of the plant. It is probable that the primary cause is a lack of a proper supply of oxygen in the atmosphere of the hotbed. It should be remembered that the fermentation in the manure is in reality a slow combustion, and requires oxygen for its maintenance, precisely as our fires must have air or they cannot burn. The remedy is, give the hotbed air. So long as the manure is in an active state of fermentation the frame should not be entirely closed. Leave every alternate sash open an inch or two at the top in mild weather. In severe weather, when it is necessary to cover the sash, reduce the opening a half an inch in width.

Those who cannot conveniently have a hotbed may grow a sufficient quantity of plants for the family garden in shallow boxes placed in front of the windows in the kitchen, or any other room in which a fire is kept. Make a light box of a length equal to the width of the window, about eighteen inches wide, and four inches deep. Bore a few small holes through the bottom for drainage, but do not push the shavings out of the holes. Fill the box with fine rich soil, and place it across two chairs, or upon a bench in front of the window. Plant the seeds in rows running crosswise.

Early cabbage, cauliflower, tomatoes, peppers, and eggplants need to be started in such a box, or in the hotbed. Gardeners used to think that celery plants should be started in this way also, but of late we believe that the seeds of this vegetable are usually planted in finely prepared beds in the open ground.

Daily Evening Review

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Business College.
 Two students from Gananoque registered at the Peterborough Business College this morning.

The P. A. A. Concert.
 Remember the above concert takes place on Tuesday evening next, and that reserved seats may now be secured at A. L. Davis & Co's bookstore.

Birth.
 Don't forget to hear "Ruth" in St. John Church on Monday evening at 8 p. m. Mrs. Chambers, as Ruth. Admission free, collection for organist's benefit.

Gough's Big Offer.
 Gough, the clothier, Arcade block, is to the front with another big offer. This time he proposes to give away a silver watch, with Geneva movement, with every suit of clothes purchased from him amounting to $10 and over that amount. See his advertisement for full particulars.

Battery Drill.
 The Right Division of the Durham Field Battery held their first drill at the drill shed on Friday evening. As long as daylight lasted the drill progressed most satisfactorily, but when night closed in no light was forthcoming. It was found that the gas fixtures were completely out of order. The drill stopped when it was too dark to go through the movements.

New Polka.
 The "Fleur de Mai" (May Flower) Polka is now out. The first two hundred copies struck have come to hand. The polka is composed by Mr. Julius A. Duncanson, of this town, and is dedicated to the ladies of Peterborough. Of the work's merits it is needless to add anything further than the comments which appeared in the Review before it was placed in the printers' hands. The ladies are left to pronounce judgment upon it, doubtless a favourable one. Mr. R. L. Smart is the publisher.

Sperry and Irwin.
 The Lindsay Post of Friday last says:—"On Monday Judge Clark of Cobourg opened at the court house here an arbitration in the case of Irwin against Sperry of Hamilton, referred to him by Chancellor Boyd at the recent chancery sittings in Peterborough. Mr. Sperry brought an action for $10,000 damages against Mr. Irwin for non-fulfilment of contract in connection with shingle mill at Hamilton, for which Irwin was to supply logs and Sperry make shingles. Irwin claims heavy damages for non-fulfilment of contract, etc. The business commenced in 1882. The evidence was closed Wednesday afternoon and court adjourned to Peterborough for argument. Mr. D. W. Dumble of Peterborough for Sperry; Mr. Gordon of Toronto for Irwin."

Putting on Canvas.
 The Lindsay Post says:—"Commodore Edwards' new outfit of canoe sails arrived last week and were run up on his canoe. They fit admirably and show a breadth of canvas to the wind that should secure the owner a place at the head of the race. The sails were made by the Ontario Canvas Co. at Peterborough, and are known as the 'wrecking rig.' A number of members have set to work to get up the same rig, and have ordered gear, silver-plated rudders, and a lot of the most gorgeous fixings, and Messrs. S. Britton, J. Britton, Thos. Stewart and J. Kennedy are equipping their canoes with a breadth of canvas truly astonishing, with a possibility that either or all of the above named venturesome canoeists will be as much astonished as any one else when they come to see their Brobdignagian sails."

Matrimonial.
 On Wednesday forenoon the marriage of Mr. A. R. Randle, barrister, of Oshawa, to Miss Lily Clark, eldest daughter of the late Rev. M. Clark, of the Episcopal Methodist body, was celebrated at the residence of the bride's mother, Stewart Street, Mr. Overdale, of Oshawa, supported the groom and Miss Rose Clark, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid. The Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte street Methodist church, officiated. After the ceremony, the usual felicitations took place, when the wedding guests, the bride and the groom, all sat down to dinner. The newly wedded left on an afternoon train for Oshawa. A large number of friends bestowed their well wishes at the station.

SETTLED.

Mutual Comprehension Made by Clothier and Tailors.
 The difference existing between the tailors and clothiers has been adjusted. A meeting was held at the Oriental Hotel on Friday afternoon composed of twelve men, six representing the clothiers and six the Tailors' Union. The representatives of the Union were: Messrs. Battersby, Fitzgerald, Hickey, Lynch, Ball and McAvally; and those representing the clothiers Messrs. McNeill, Dolan, Mercer, LeBrun, Cameron and Clark.

Mr. Geo. Ball was voted to the chair. The first business of the meeting was the consideration of the last clause of the bill presented by the clothiers in which the tailors refused to recognize the Union. The tailors held out for the recognition of the Union. The clothiers defined wherein they would not recognize the Union. They would not permit the Union to have any voice in how a shop should be managed and what hands be employed. They agreed to allow any hands who chose to do so to belong to a tailors' Union.

After considerable discussion the union committee agreed to go back to the shops and work with the hands that worked during the strike, and also agreed, on pain of dismissal, not to molest those hands in any way.

The union committee also agreed to the engagement hereafter by the clothiers of any non union hands they chose to employ.

Thus the two strong objections raised by the clothiers against the tailors' demands in the first instance were satisfied, and the joint committee proceeded to go over, item by item, the bill presented by the union. A considerable revision was made; rates here and there were lowered and raised, and the grading which the clothiers held out for was satisfactorily accomplished to the full agreement of both parties.

The bill was afterwards presented to a large meeting of tailors held in Tremnum's Hall, and unanimously adopted.

Most of the hands are at work to-day, and others will go on duty on Monday.

Thus by a quiet discussion which might have taken place days ago, the difficulty was settled; the Union was recognized as a body, but its powers were limited to the governance of its society, and not to the governance of the shops.

The Raid.

At half-past two o'clock on Friday afternoon the members of the police force were ordered to report for special duty at three o'clock. At that hour the Police Magistrate put into the hands of Capt. Cooper ten summonses and nine search warrants. These all related to Peterborough hotel-keepers. The force, together with Mr. Geo. Cochrane, the License Inspector, started out at about half-past three o'clock to serve summonses, and at the same time to search the premises named in the warrants. The following hotels were searched: The Stewart House, Morgan's Hotel, the Commercial House, the American Hotel, the Grand Central Hotel, the City Hotel, the Hub Restaurant, Chamberlain's Hotel and Dunn's Hotel. No liquor was found in any of the hotels excepting Chamberlain's, the American Hotel, and Morgan's Hotel. In the latter eight casks of ale was found; in Chamberlain's Hotel eleven casks of ale and a considerable quantity of liquor was found, and there were six casks of ale in the cellar of the American Hotel. The pipes leading to the bars were all disconnected with the casks and in one or two cases it would appear at first sight that an industrious spider had been around—cobwebs were spread over the mouth of the pipes. This fact was duly pointed out by the proprietor, but on lifting up the pipe a considerable quantity of ale flowed out. In every instance except one the hotel-keepers appeared to be perfectly willing to have their premises searched.

LINDSAY.

NARROW ESCAPE.—A little boy named Condy fell into the river near the locks and was carried over the side, and with the current to the west side of the swing bridge, where he was rescued in the nick of time.

GREAT GROWTH.—We have in our office a stock of Timothy this year's growth which measures 22 inches in length. It was sent us by Isaac Preston Esq., jr., of Manvers, and is a practical testimony of the extraordinary growth this early spring.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Early last Sunday morning while the children of Mr. Leonard Irwin, near Cambridge, were playing on the lawn the little one, aged about two years, ran barefoot into the embers of a fire kindled the preceding day to burn chips and rubbish. Before being extricated the little one's feet were badly burned, but hopes are entertained that no permanent injury will result from it.—Warder.

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY.—On Sunday night an attempt was made by burglars to enter the boat and shoe store on T. G. Marlett after plunder. It appears that entrance was forced into the shoe factory of A. Wright and then a door leading from the factory into the store was tampered with. The woodwork around the bottom hinge was chipped out and the door sprung back some distance. An attempt of this kind offered O. Mr. Marlett after having been in business only three days would indicate that he was doing a large and profitable trade and consequently had plenty of money on hand.

LOVE AND A SHOOTING IRON.—They tell us an interesting episode which occurred on Sunday night week all about a young lady. The outcome of the affair is rather flattering than otherwise to the girls of Lindsay, as showing that they possess attractions which young men seem to value sufficiently to dispute about. A young man from the country has been paying attention with intention to a Lindsay young girl—by the way, of the east ward. Likewise a G.T.R. man has been tendering love and devotion unto the same. On Sunday night the rivals met and after some recriminations the heavy young man from the country produced a revolver and proposed, he said, to blow the G.T.R. fellow into a territory where switches, coupling pins and conductor's lanterns are not worth a cent for practical purposes. But he didn't carry out his intentions, and was disarmed and somewhat pummelled by the employees of Mr. Joseph Hickson.

ARRIVAL OF BAYCOTE.—Wednesday of this week, one year ago, the battle of Hatoche was fought. The local members of C Company, Midland Batt., decided to celebrate the first anniversary of the day, and were mustered in full fighting promptly on the market square early in the afternoon by Capt. J. C. Grace. Of the 40 members of C Company, only about 18 turned out, the others being scattered over the country at points some distance away. Those who appeared, the mail marched along Kent street, led by Serg. Hutton, steady and well in line, a thing they learned to do while tramping across the prairie. In the evening the officers and privates were entertained at supper by Capt. J. C. Grace, at which an enjoyable time was spent, resting incidents of the voyage down the river in the Northcote, and of the exciting times while clearing out the rebel rifle pits.—Post.

Labor Troubles.

New York, May 14.—Another strike has been commenced in the Balch Sugar Refinery. Yesterday afternoon four new men were engaged to fill the places of the strikers, who attacked and beat every new man they could lay their hands on. The police dispersed the crowd, who retreated, muttering vengeance. The officers now guard the works.

Toronto Strike.

The Toronto Street Car strike continued much the same on Friday. The K. of L. are gradually increasing the number of their vans of all patterns, sizes and shapes, and they seem determined to carry on to the opposition. The company have all the routes supplied with cars, and are making better time. The cars did not stop until eight o'clock on Friday night. It has not been decided when they will commence to run till midnight.

BOGUS BUTTER.

A List of the Ingredients Used in the Manufacture of Oleomargarine.

CHICAGO, May 15.—Col. R. Robert M. Little, Secretary of the National Butter, Cheese and Eggs Association, in reply to the Board of Directors of the Chicago Board of Trade, says that they were influenced by mercenary and selfish motives in their endeavor to have the Bill passed by Congress. He asserts that the B and E is not a matter of difference between wholesale and retail dealers in dairy products, and that their sphere of usefulness is confined to the inspection of butter—not butter. He says that the standard they have, it would be well, the Council assume, to give an entire list of ingredients used in the manufacture of butter and oleomargarine. "I submit a few of the compounds found in the product of a patent in patents for butter and oleomargarine at Washington: Sugar of lead, bisulphite of lime, borax, a lactic acid, benzoic acid, orris root, cotton seed oil, bicarbonate of soda, glycerine, caprylic acid, alum, capric acid, pepsin, tallow, lard, salt, corn starch, butyric ether, caustic potash, chalk, slippery elm bark, oil of sassafras, oil of sweet almond, olive oil, turpentine oil, bromine chloralum, chlorate of potash, oil of sweet almonds, oil of peanuts, peroxide of manganese, stomach of pig, stomach of calf, stomach of sheep, nitrate of soda, mustard seed oil, nitric acid, dog blood, albumen, sugar, etc. In addition to these ingredients, analyses have shown vasoline, a refuse of the petroleum oil refineries, and it is well known that the sale of animals dying of disease mysteriously disappear in the vicinity of some counterfeits but factories. Few of these things would the members of the board of directors of the board of trade of Chicago willingly and knowingly put into their stomachs. He then cites an instance of the bogus butter being sold for what it really was. An investigation followed, and developed the fact that but two persons had bought the stuff knowing what it was, and that they were boarding-house proprietors.

A Right Blaze at Chicago.

CHICAGO, May 15.—W. R. Riddle's residence on College street was found to be on fire this evening. The fire brigade saved the house after an hour's work. The loss will be light.

Blow off the Top of His Head.

CHILTERNHAM, Ont., May 15.—William Dobson, a wealthy and respected farmer of Chilternham county township, blew the top of his head off with a shot gun at an early hour this morning. No cause for the act is given. He was in Brampton on Saturday and returned home in the evening in good health and spirits.

Great Distress in Newfoundland.

HALIFAX, May 15.—The distress in Newfoundland continues without abatement. A heartrending story of the death of two men and a boy named Barrett, and another named Sheppard, from starvation and exposure at Chignecto, on the French shore, is told. The steamers have all returned from second trips with very few seals. The seal fishery has been a great failure.

Sailed in Ontario.

BUFFALO, May 15.—A small fishing boat from this city with seine bay nets has just been seized at Black Creek, Ontario, by order of the Provincial Fish Inspector. It appears that a number of parties, principally from Port Erie and Buffalo, have of late years persisted in taking fish with unlawful nets by wholesale, until the fish have been nearly all destroyed, against the protests of the residents. No objection is made to pleasure parties with the usual hook and line.

Babies in Milk.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., May 15.—A milk cow belonging to a farmer named Hall, living near the city, was bitten by a mad dog last week. She showed no signs of being affected by the wound, and it was thought that danger was over until two days ago, when she began to show signs of hydrophobia. At the same time the farmer's two children, who had drunk milk from the cow, exhibited similar symptoms, and are suffering from the disease. Other members of the family are also very ill, but not so alarmingly as the children.

The Reg. enters.

ST. JOHN, N. B., May 15.—Work on the new fishing wharf at Grand Miramichi, in Canada, is proceeding very rapidly, and it is expected that in a few days the wharf will be ready to receive fish and cargo. A harbor has been laid between the wharf and a space has been cleared off sufficiently large for quarters for the crew. The wharf has been finished over, and everything on board is being placed in apple pie order. Capt. Scott is expected over from Light in a day or two to take charge of the wharf and to fit her out for cruising purposes. Capt. James McLean, an old comander, will command the wharf. He will have for mate Capt. Kemp, of Grand Manan, whose aid will be found invaluable in cruising among the islands and ledges about the mouth of the bay.

POLICE COURT.

VAQUANCY.

MONDAY, May 15.—John Keely, a generally delapidated looking individual, adorned with an antiquated coat, ragged pantaloons, a torn soft felt hat, and boots much the worse for wear was charged by P. C. Adams with being a vagrant. The prisoner pleaded guilty.

THE COURT—You are just out of goal, are you not?

PRISONER—Yes, sir.

THE COURT—Do you want to go back?

PRISONER—Yes, sir.

THE COURT—The grass in the gardens needs cutting. One month.

MILLBROOK.

PRESIDENT.—Dr. G. Brereton, Bethany, has generously presented to the Manners Agricultural Society a plot of land, containing two acres and a half for an Agricultural Ground, and Mr. Frank Hamilton has also given an additional half acre, to complete the square. The plot lies on the East side of Hunter Street.—Messenger.

The Civil Service Reformers say their object is simply to retain good men in office when you find them. This theory may be safely applied to the treatment of the human system by means of medicine. Those who have once tried Dr. Pierce's "Golden Medical Discovery" for rheumatic swellings and sores, loss of flesh and appetite, weak lungs, spitting of blood and consumption, will apply to it the real principle of Civil Service Reform and "hold fast to that which is good."

LATEST BY TELEGRAPH

THE SPANISH HURRICANE.

MADRID, May 15.—The hurricane here on Wednesday lasted only ten minutes. The Government architect has examined a large number of buildings situated in the track of the storm, and have pronounced most of them unsafe. The Town Council has appropriated $8,500 for the relief of the sufferers. The Queen has given $400 for the same purpose.

AT THE PISTOLS POINT.

PARIS, May 15.—M. Pailot, an agent of the Bureau of Sample, of this city, who recently fled for successfully uttering a large amount of forged paper, yesterday suddenly appeared in the private office of Baron Soubert, the director of the bank, and at the point of a loaded pistol compelled him to sign three checks for $30,000, with which Pailot then made good his escape.

THE FLOODS IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, May 15.—Floods are general throughout the kingdom. Heavy damage is reported. Many of the railways are flooded, necessitating a stoppage of work.

A BRUSSELS MURDER.

BRUSSELS, May 15.—Carlier, a prominent official connected with the ministry of railways, posts and telegraphs, was murdered in his office yesterday with a revolver by his brother-in-law named Verhaeren. The latter demanded a loan which Carlier refused.

THE AUSTRALIAN ORANGEMEN.

LONDON, May 15.—The Orangemen of Australia have promised to help the Loyalists of Ireland in preventing the adoption of Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule scheme.

A SHORT-LIVED MOVEMENT.

CONSTANTINOPLE, May 15.—A new Soudanese Mahdi, with fifty Arab followers, recently appeared in the vicinity of Jeddah, cut the telegraph wires and defeated a detachment of Turkish troops, killing and wounding many of the soldiers. Another detachment of troops overthrew the rebels and captured several of them, whose heads were exposed on spikes at the gates of Jeddah.

ATTACKED BY NATIONALISTS.

DUBLIN, May 15.—News has been received that a mob of Nationalists attacked a number of Protestant peasants while the latter were returning from market at Croke, County Tyrone. A fight took place near Croke where the Catholics have a decided superiority in number. The peasants resisted the attack and several of them were roughly handled, two being badly hurt. No arrests have been made.

APPEAL TO THE COUNTRY.

LONDON, May 15.—An informal Cabinet Council was held last evening and to-day. Mr. Gladstone had a conference with his colleagues. It is reported that, yielding to the urgent advice of Mr. Morley and Lord Spencer, Mr. Gladstone has decided in the event of defeat, to demand from the Queen an immediate dissolution of Parliament. The Liberal Association leaders in the Provinces have sent a letter to Mr. Gladstone pleading with him not to resign, but to appeal to the country, with a certainty of securing a majority.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 17, 1886.

It was hoped that the early disappearance of snow and the genial spring weather that came so early in the year would have warded off one annual affliction, but it was not to be. The Port Arthur Herald says that "Winter still lingers," etc. If the Knights of Labor want to find a good excuse for a boycott, they can find it in Port Arthur.

A Reform paper published in a western town says:—

"Figures are the best hold of the demagogue, chiefly because there is a popular delusion that figures must have facts to back them."

The people of Canada do not harbor that delusion any more. Sir Richard Cartwright's speeches have driven it entirely from their minds.

Is by any chance there should be a change of Ministry, Mr. Mills thinks that the Reformers would find the Senators block their legislation, so he proposes an elective Senate. Perhaps the most frequent, obstinate and serious deadlock in a two-chambered legislature have been those in Victoria, Australia. They have an elective Upper House, and it very naturally thought it was as representative and had as much right to its opinion as the elected Lower House, so neither would give way. And so it might be in Canada if these visionaries and theorists had their way.

TRULY REPRESENTATIVE

As an instance of the working of a nominated Senate, Mr. Mills recalls the fact that at Confederation the Senators from Nova Scotia were appointed by a Government that had the confidence of only one out of nineteen members of the elected representatives. He conceals the fact that this Government appointed the Nova Scotian Senators equally from each party. But in reality his chosen intestine tells against Mr. Mills' theory. A wave of popular opinion that we now know to have been transient, and not the deliberate conviction of the people of Nova Scotia, placed their representatives for the first Parliament out of harmony with the people after the evanescent outburst had subsided as speedily as it had arisen. Was not the Nova Scotian contingent of the first Senate of Canada, differing in party but all imbued with the wish to do calmly and deliberately what was most judicious for the interests of their Province, more truly representative than the members in the House of Commons who were the mere creatures of a transient ebullition of discontent, and were almost immediately found to be out of harmony with popular opinion on nearly every important subject?

MORE SEVERE STORMS

Destruction of Property and loss of Life in Different parts of the States

DATTON, O., May 15.—At Trebeau station, a ferryman discovered a little boy in a drifted tree top. They rescued the child, who had an arm and leg broken. He had drifted four miles down the Shawnee Creek. The child died before they reached Xenia. The estimated losses to the nine counties devastated by the storm foot to two million dollars.

BORT WAYNE, Ind., May 15.—About mid night a cyclone crossed the track of the Pittsburg, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railway, tearing west of Fort Wayne, Ohio. It blew down a tree, which crashed the side of the fast express, eastbound, injuring ten or twelve passengers, one of them seriously. The storm did great damage along the Pittsburgh river. The town of Dunkirk was struck by the storm, four persons were killed and between fifteen and twenty injured.

TURKEY, Kansas, May 15.—A destructive cyclone struck the northern part of this country yesterday and swept away a portion of the town of Meriden. The residence occupied by J. L. Hart and family of five persons were lifted from the ground and carried eight feet. Hart was seriously injured and will die. The family escaped. Eighteen or twenty people were badly injured.

Evictions in Ireland

NEW YORK, May 14.—The Herald's Dublin special says:—Heartrending details have reached here of the evictions on the estate of Lord Kenmare, at Headford, near Killybegs. While he, as Lord Chamberlain, was attending the Queen at the Liverpool festivities and enjoying the good things of life, a sheriff and bailiff, backed by 50 policemen, turned out a large number of his tenants of the poorest kind with the usual concomitants of sympathizing neighbors and exasperated people fighting the police. The most aggravating case was that of Jeremiah Callaghan, who has eight children, all under 12 years of age, who was turned out on the roadside. They cried and howled as pitifully as to move even the police. The house was a poor old place just they knew it as their home. At another house, that of a woman named O'Connor, the occupant was very ill, and a consultation was had, but as it was concluded she would not die she was set on the roadside, being removed in her bed.

A Cowardly Crowd

CHICAGO, May 14.—Early this morning an expressman named Bux handed himself from a rafter in his barn. His wife found him and he seems brought a crowd to the scene, but no one attempted to cut the rope, owing to the frantic efforts of the victim to release himself. Crowds from the street came in to view the appalling sight, but none ventured to attempt a rescue. After a lapse of ten or fifteen minutes a policeman cut the man down. He was then dead.

Resisted

MONTREAL, May 14.—The Paterson Kinsack case has just been settled. The stock has been released. The officers in charge are to be immediately withdrawn and all restrictions in the train trade removed.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Northwest Representation.—Mr. Mills vs. Mr. George Brown.—Reformers find the Senate too much in Accord with Public Opinion.

FRIDAY May 14.—Several measures were advanced a stage.

NORTHWEST REPRESENTATION.
Sir J. MACDONALD moved the third reading of the bill for the representation of the territories.

Mr. MILLS moved in favour of manhood suffrage for subjects having twelve months residence but did not carry it.

Mr. WATSON's motion in favor of the ballot was lost.

The bill was read a third time and passed.

THE SENATE.

Mr. MILLS in amendment to supply moved in favour of an elective Senate. He argued that a Senate nominated by the Administration could not carry out its duty of protecting provincial rights. It could not be adjusted to public opinion and so might be at a dead lock with the popular House. The life of the Senate being much longer than that of the Commons it might require a long period to bring them in harmony. A strong case he attacked the government bill but did not explain what the Senate had to do with Mr. Mills's legislation. He preferred the House of Lords to the Senate because the former was placed altogether in the hands of the Administration by the right to create Peers. The Senate could obstruct legislation by a Reform administration, but he gave no instance. He would have the constitution changed to suit his view.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD thought that if Mr. Mills wanted a decision he would have brought this up as a substantive motion, not as an amendment to supply. It was only a little electioneering balloon. Our written constitution was founded on the theory of making it as similar to that of the United Kingdom as possible. They had a very good but a very different constitution in the United States. Both were good in their way, but a jumble of the two, as proposed by Mr. Mills, would not be good. No evil result from our present system had been shown and yet we were urged to change it as an experiment advocated by mere theorists. If the Senators were appointed by him and were at his beck, as Mr. Mills said, it was because he was the representative of the majority in the House and therefore of the majority of the people. If the Senate followed him it must follow the wishes of the people, and it was because the Senate was in harmony with the people that Mr. Mills and his friends objected to it. The Reform Government had not found the Senate prevent it from legislating nor had the House of Lords prevented Liberal governments in Great Britain, the Upper House yielding to the recognized wishes of the people. If Mr. Mills obtained an elective Senate it would claim equal powers with the Commons. Indeed if framed on the pattern of the United States it would have greater powers. Two legislative houses were incompatible with responsible government. We had tried the experiment unsuccessfully, so that on framing our present constitution it was abandoned, one of the strongest opponents being the great leader Mr. Mills' party, Mr. George Brown. The people's knowledge that they had been right and had not shown by complaints or petitions that they thought it a grievance and preferred Mr. Mills' theory.

Mr. PATRICKSON (Brn) attacked the Senate because it was in accordance with the chosen leaders of the people. There were not enough Ontario Reformers in it. He went extensively into figures to show the hours the Senate sat last year and the cost of the House. He wanted to revert to the old elected Senate, in the hope that it would legislate more to his satisfaction.

Mr. FORSTER said if the Senate often had to adjourn last year after short sittings it was the fault of Mr. Patterson and his friends, who had filled up the time with endless talk to impede legislation. They had heard that the Senate was partisan, but what remedy was proposed by these gentlemen who were just as ready to say that the elected House of Commons was partisan. As to the cost of which Mr. Patterson spoke, how was the cost of the Senate to be diminished by making it elective? Why did not the Reformers if they really objected to the Senate, propose its abolition or amendment when they were in office? They were no more straightforward in this than in other matters, always loudly, but remaining inactive when power and only proposing misty resolutions to mystify the people.

A number of other members continued the debate, some of the Reformers advocating the abolition of the Senate.

Mr. MILLS' motion was negatived by 89 to 57.

SUPPLY.

The house went into committee of Supply and passed several items.

Fathos and Humor

"Simpson," said the managing editor, "please don't write any more pathetic articles. I ask you this for a personal favor for I am inclined to look on the bright side of life, and when I thoughtlessly take up an article like the one you wrote last night, why it topples me over the precipice of despondency and gloom, where I cannot for four or five days climb up the rugged steep and again back in the beams of the sun."

"To which article do you refer?" asked Simpson.

"The one headed 'A Drummer's Experience with a Battle of Cretal.'"

"Why, sir, that was a humorous article."

"That's so? Well, give us some pathos."

"Simpson, label 'em please."—Archer's Transfer.

Miss Booth Challenged.

The irrepressible Mrs. Antio de Velazquez is still waiting, like Sir Richard Stretton, to be at somebody. Of all persons in the world she has the time challenged "Marchale" Booth, of the Salvation Army, to mortal combat. In a strong epistle to Miss Booth the lady dwelt on having referred to the mysticism of the Villanovian criminal—calls the most evanescent of the Salvation Army "a propagator of pernicious doctrines" and "a new Luther, who wants to add to the number of schismatical prelates in France." If Miss Booth will not return to her own country Miss de Velazquez sees no other resource left but to fling down the glove of battle, which she hopes will be taken up as courageously by "La Marchale" as it was by Miss Sheby.—Ferris Dispatch to London Daily Telegraph.

CHURCH OPENING.—The new Methodist Church at Havelock was opened for Divine service on May 2nd. The Rev. Dr. Bredin, President of the Bay of Quinte Conference, preached in the morning at 10.30, and performed the dedicatory services. The Rev. Mr. Marsh, of Campbellford, and the pastor, the Rev. I. W. Puffer, were present and took part in the service. The Rev. A. Brown, of Campbellford, preached at 2.30 p.m. and the Rev. Dr. Bredin again in the evening at 6.30. Both these Rev. gentlemen sustained their reputation as able preachers, giving an stirring and eloquent sermon.

The subject of the morning's discourse was "Zion," in the afternoon "Heaven" and in the evening the "Life of Jacob." Thus giving us a variety of thought. After each service a collection was taken up and subscription cards quietly passed among the congregation. On Monday evening we had a grand tea-meeting, when the Rev. Dr. Bredin, the Rev. D. F. Gee, of Norwood, the Rev. A. Brown, and R. Marsh, of Campbellford, were present and delivered a discourse. The subject of finance was taken up by the Rev. Mr. Brown, and so well did he handle it that the entire indebtedness was provided for. On Sabbath it was announced that the amount required was $300 to clear the church of debt and this sum was all provided for with a small surplus. The church is 42 x 28 on the inside, balloon frame to be veneered with brick, and delivered stone. The furnace is fit for a brick church in any town or village. The ladies of the church furnished matting, lamp, carpet for the altar, pulpit and sofa, to the value of about $75 or $80. The pulpit and rostrum were made by Mr. D. Helleghem, of Peterborough, also the communion table. The latter was donated by him, for which he received a hearty vote of thanks the night of the tea meeting. He conveyed to him by the pastor. Two very pretty perforated chairs were also donated by Mr. A. Clegg, of Peterborough. On May the 9th the Rev. D. Cattanach, of Peterborough, preached morning and evening in the new church two excellent sermons to appreciative congregations. After the evening service we had a fellowship meeting and sacramental service, which were both interesting and beneficial.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, MAY 17, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Birth.—Don't forget to see "Don" in St. John Church on Monday evening at 7 p.m. Mrs. Constance M. Smith. Admission free, collection for organist's benefit.

Meeting.—A meeting of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club will be held on Wednesday evening to consider the challenge issued by the Oshawa. Members of the first twelve are especially requested to attend.

Lucky.—Mr. H. LeBrun has been lucky enough to carry off another prize at the annual distribution of prizes in connection with the London Art Union, which took place at 112 Strand, London, Eng., on May 14th. The prize drawn by Mr. LeBrun is valued at £15.

More Laffs.—Mr. J. D. Baple is at present making a needed improvement at his planing mill. The chimney which carries off the smoke from the furnace is being raised twenty feet higher. This causes an additional draught, and is expected to carry the smoke to such a height as to be beyond annoyance to the neighborhood.

Sale of Rare Furniture etc.—Remember the sale of Austrian bentwood furniture, rugs, pictures and books, a large number of them. Engineering works, best hair mattresses, etc. Sale on Thursday, May 20th, at the residence of Mrs. Howard Fry, Elizabeth street, Ashburnham. Sale commences at one o'clock, p.m. sharp. Terms cash.

AN ELABORATE STOCK OF PARASOLS at the Golden Lion.—R. FAIR

A Gate Day.—The Reading Park Association hall of festivity, the celebration of the 24th of May is fast becoming the most interesting and profitable, but in the surrounding country. Everything points to this part of the day's sport being an unequalled success. There are many entries coming in for each race, and each individual is expected to be able to watch the admission charged. If the day be a fine one there will doubtless be an immense turnout.

Personal.—At the end of the summer holidays the Collegiate Institute is to lose a member of its staff of teachers. Mr. L. E. Horning has been offered, and has accepted, the tutorship in modern languages in Victoria University, Coburg, for the term of two years, taking that position in the place of the present tutor, Professor H. L. who is going to pay an extended visit to Germany.

T. M. C. A. Work.—The work in the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association is progressing. The meeting on Saturday night was well attended, and on Sunday evening the room was filled to its utmost capacity. It is the intention of the members to commence their open air meetings as soon as the weather gets warm. There are now two training classes in connection with the Association, composed of fifteen members of the Association. These classes are well attended also. The Rev. Mr. Wallace holds a Bible class meeting every Tuesday evening, and all young men, whether members of the Association or not, are cordially invited to this, as well as all other meetings of the Association.

Robbed in Tere to.—The many friends of Mr. J. S. Hall, who lately left this town to take up his abode in Toronto, will regret to learn that since his arrival there he has been made the victim of a daring robbery. One night last week a burglar broke into his brother's residence, where Mr. Hall at present is staying, and stole $25 in cash and two gold rings. His brother's wife bearing the news made by the midnight prowler, set up to see what was the matter, when she received a blow in the face that felled her to the ground. The burglar then made his escape. In the same room there was a second cash box, containing $24 in money and a gold watch. This would doubtless have been taken also, had the thief not been surprised.

THE FIRST CONVICTION.

A HOTELKEEPER FINED $50 FOR INFRINGEMENT OF THE Provisions of the Scott Act—A Witness Says He Asked for Ginger Ale and Got Beer—The Defendant's Position.

The cases concerning the infringements on the provisions of the Scott Act, adjourned from Saturday, were heard to-day.

At nine o'clock His Worship the Magistrate entered the Court, followed by the prosecutor, Henry R. Crevier, and a number of prominent Scott Act supporters.

Mr. Sawers, who is retained by the hotelkeepers, was present. Also, A. P. Pousette, Q. C., J. Burnham, W. H. Moore, J. O'Meara, and W. A. Stratton, for individual defendants. Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the Scott Act Association.

The case of Russell vs. Timothy Cavanagh was first called.

Mr. Moore asked that the counsel be provided with tables; he observed that the press was provided for. A suggestion for adjournment to the old court was not acted on. The case was proceeded with. Messrs. Pousette and Moore for the defendant.

J. H. IRVING was called. He was in Cavanagh's hotel twice since May 1st. He was there about ten days ago and subsequently the next day. He saw Mr. Cavanagh in the bar. Had nothing to drink. Took a cigar and paid for it. The second day he saw Mr. Cavanagh. He got about that day. He had something to drink. He did not know what it was. He supposed that the drink was given to get rid of him. He was very sick after drinking the potion. It did not make him sicker. He supposed Cavanagh looked on him as an informer and treated him accordingly. The bottle was labelled "bread." It did not do him up brown. He did not know whether there was any intoxicants in it or not. Mr. Calcutt asked a red ribbon beer. What he drank came out of a bottle in which the red ribbon beer was usually put up. It was not like the red ribbon beer.

TIMOTHY CAVANAGH was sworn. He kept a hotel. Since the first of May he had kept no intoxicating liquors. There was no liquor on the premises that he was aware of. There might be liquor there without his knowledge. A man might bring a flask in the hotel and carry it in his pocket. His bartender, Mr. Crevier, had gone to the Rocky Mountains. Liquor was kept in the hotel until May 1st. He declined to answer what was done with the liquor then on hand.

A discussion arose between the Court and counsel as to whether the witness had or had not a right to answer the question.

Mr. CAVANAGH continued: He put the liquor away on the 1st of May. He previously sold quite a lot of it to Scott Act fellows. So far as he remembered the liquor was all gone by May 1st. He had as good a memory as his learned friend. He knew where it was between the 1st and 14th of May, but declined to disclose the whereabouts. He had control of the liquor. He was not aware that any of it was sold. He did not visit the place where it was put since May 1st. Irving got pepper sauce mixture.

To Mr. Pousette.—There have been none of the usual appliances for selling liquor in my hotel since May 1st.

JOSEPH HUSTON was called and sworn. Thought he had been in Cavanagh's hotel since May 1st. Did not know whether he got anything to drink or not. He was not there on any Sunday since May 1st. To the best of his knowledge he did not have anything intoxicating since May 1st.

JOHN TREBELL was called and sworn. He was at Cavanagh's every day since May 1st. He had something to drink nearly every day. He was there a week ago to-day. He did not drink any intoxicating liquor there since May 1st. He drank soda water or "red ribbon" generally. He was a manufacturer of soda water. Cavanagh was a customer of his.

WM. ARDRE, sworn, said that he was at Cavanagh's hotel since May 1st. All he had to drink when there was soda water. He had no intoxicating liquor to drink.

HUGH RILEY, a tailor, was the next witness. He was on strike last week. He boarded at Cavanagh's. He was often in the bar. He saw the beer there. He heard for no drink, nor got none. Simpson was with him on Monday. Neither Simpson nor he called for anything. He was not drunk last week; drank nothing stronger than water.

THOMAS MARSH, sworn, stated that he had not been in Cavanagh's hotel for a year. He was in the yard last Sunday; went into a shed to see some horses. There was nothing to be had to drink there.

IRVING MARKS was in Cavanagh's since May 1st. He just went in to look around and pass a quarter of an hour. (Mr. Edwards—And a quarter of a dollar?) No, sir. Wasn't last Monday. He drank no intoxicating liquor at Cavanagh's since May 1st.

T. TREBELL was called. He had been at Cavanagh's since May 1st, but had drunk no intoxicating liquor there.

EDWARD DAVIES felt ill one night after drinking cold water all day and went to Cavanagh's to get a glass of something. They refused to give him anything stronger. He went into Cavanagh's one day and asked for a glass of beer. The boy said that they had no beer, but had some temperance stuff. The boy put up something. He just tasted it and threw it away. He didn't know what it was; he termed it "swill."

J. MARTIN got a glass of malt beer at Cavanagh's one day since May 1st. It was called Montreal ginger ale.

To Mr. POUSETTE—Crevier served me. I asked him if he had something. He said he had some Montreal ginger ale. I will not swear it was not Montreal ginger ale, as I never tasted any before. I did not tell Crevier or any of the Scott Act Association men that I got liquor there. I told a man named Baro.

Mr. Edwards closed the case for the prosecution. The evidence for the defence was taken. T. CAVANAGH was re-called. He did not know whether the last witness was in his hotel since May 1st. He kept Montreal ginger ale in his house. It was quite different from Peterborough ginger ale. He had told Crevier to sell no strong drink after May 1st.

Mr. POUSETTE submitted that there was no evidence for the conviction of the defendant. The bar was not the same as that in which liquor was kept for sale. The charge was not for selling beer for keeping for sale. Even if the defendant had actually sold liquor on one account it would be no evidence that liquor was kept for sale. But the defendant did not sell; it was Crevier that sold. An unlawful act committed by Crevier contrary to the defendant's instructions would not be binding to the defendant.

Mr. MOORE submitted that the evidence was "fishy" and flimsy, that the prosecution should not be favored.

Mr. EDWARDS submitted that Crevier was Mr. Cavanagh's agent and what Mr. Crevier did Mr. Cavanagh was responsible for.

The MAGISTRATE, referring to remarks made by the counsel for the defence regarding alleged unfair means employed to get evidence, and the unwarrantable action of the prosecution, said that nobody had any right to take to task the manner in which the evidence had been obtained. In ninety-nine cases out of a hundred this tentative kind of evidence was the only kind available. This act was the law chosen by the people, and it had to be obeyed. He thought the people should rather sympathize with those who were endeavoring to enforce the act than those who broke it. With regard to this case, Mr. Cavanagh had a stock of liquors previous to the taking effect of the present law. He took the precaution to remove it, but did not take the precaution to carry the key of the storehouse himself. He allowed the bartender to carry the key. If he had locked up the liquor, kept it pending any change that might take place and carried the key himself he would not be subject to any penalty. The evidence of Masters could not be got over. It was clear and simple proof that he got a glass of beer. He found the defendant guilty and imposed a fine of $50 and costs, adjudging that Henry Russell, the informant, be paid one half of the said fine.

Mr. Cavanagh sarcastically expressed his thanks at the justice of the decision.

THE HUB RESTAURANT.

In the afternoon the charges against T. Darcy and E. Darcy of having sold liquor between May 1st and May 8th were taken up.

Mr. W. A. STRATTON, who appeared for the defence, said that there was a witness for the defence absent in Toronto, whose evidence might be important. He wished to give notice that he might have to ask for an enlargement.

The MAGISTRATE said that the application would be considered on its merits.

Mr. EDWARDS called Thomas Darcy.

Mr. STRATTON objected to Mr. Darcy giving evidence until the prosecutor had brought forward his evidence.

The objection was noted, but overruled.

THOMAS DARCAY was sworn, and said he managed the business of the Hub Restaurant for his wife; business was carried on there as a licensed hotel prior to May 1st; had complete control of the business; had very little liquor on hand when the license ran out, principally fine liquors; have no liquor on premises now; he declined to say where he had it, but it was in the town and he had control over it; it was removed sometime on May 1st; there was none left on the premises, to his knowledge, and there had been none there, that he knew of, between the 1st and 8th of May; the liquor was not removed very far away from the hotel; hadn't sold any liquor between the dates mentioned, to his knowledge; could not remember having sold any himself; might have given some away; didn't remove any of the liquor upstairs; had sold temperance drinks, including Star's and Trebell's ginger ale and soda water, lemonade made on the premises, Montreal ginger ale, lime juice, and cherry bitters.

To Mr. STRATTON—I do not know of any liquor being sold on the premises between the 1st and 8th of May.

As we go to press the case is still in progress.

THREE HOURS' BUSINESS

THE LOCAL PARLIAMENT SITS IN REGULAR SESSION

Direct Improvement in and More Light Asked For Reports of Committees—Spaulding's Bay Again.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Monday evening.

There were present: His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors Kennedy, Rutledge, Yelland, McNeil, Moore, Davidson, Cahill, McClelland, Menzies, Kelly, McNair, and Harley.

The minutes of the last two meetings were read and confirmed.

HORTICULTURAL SOCIETY.

(On motion a deputation from the Horticultural Society was heard.)

Mr. D. W. DUMBLE addressed the Council. He needed not to point out the great improvements that had been made in the Horticultural Gardens last year. The park was now the people's pride. The people took pleasure in it. He owned his own garden, but there were many who did not own their grounds. In behalf of these people he spoke. He held that the Council had a right to provide a public pleasure ground. The people would willingly contribute to support it, for it would not amount to a song individually, and then each citizen would have the privilege during the summer seasons of walking through a beautiful garden which they could claim as their own. The deputation asked for a liberal grant this year.

Mr. J. H. KOPPEL in a similar strain. The Society took a great interest in the gardens, not on its own account, but to benefit the public. The Society was in debt $325.00 on account of last year's operations. He asked the Council to make a liberal grant.

The Mayor said that the Society spent $1,300 on the Park last summer.

COMMUNICATIONS.

Communications were read as follows:—

From T. McKee asking for grading and sidewalk accommodation on Dublin street.

From Wm. H. White, and five others asking for the placing of a sidewalk on Aymer street, between the bridge and Dalhousie street.

From P. J. McNair asking assistance in making street improvements on Park street.

From Wm. Bates and Edward Crowe, asking that the Council consider the advisability of constructing an open drain on the north, south and west sides of the lot lying between Smith, Edinburgh, Head and Downie streets, also sidewalk accommodation in the locality.

From Thos. Gillespie and Clement Gordon, asking that a sidewalk be laid down on the east side of 12-13-14 street, running south from Roman street about 150 feet, also the same distance on the same street be watered.

From A. L. Davis and 15 others, asking for a gas lamp to be placed on the corner of Charlotte and Park streets—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From John Lockhart and 20 others, asking that an electric light be placed on the corner of Dublin and Harvey streets—Fire, Water and Light Committee.

From John Hackett and six others, asking that the Town Engineer be authorized to strike a grade on Simcoe street, between Dalhousie and Park streets, also to have a sidewalk laid down.

From John Burnham and 212 others, asking the Council to submit a by-law to the people, asking their approval of the appointment of a Park Commission—Finance Committee.

From the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company stating that they understood that any manufacturing company should not have their taxes raised within ten years. Theirs had been raised $1,000. Was it not a violation of the Council's instructions? The Company were complaining an encroachment of their works. They asked in the event of their doing so, whether they would be privileged as others were.—Finance Committee.

Peterborough, May 15th, 1886.

SUPPLEMENTAL REPORT.

This Committee would recommend that the Council communicate to the Council of South Hants the following resolution:—

Resolved, That the Council of South Hants do hereby recommend the Council of Peterborough to grant a loan of $10,000 for the purpose of building a bridge at Ross's on the Quabais river, and that this Council would recommend the granting of a fair proportion of the cost, provided the township would be municipal and other purposes within the County of Peterborough.

R. B. DAVIDSON, Chairman.

Councillor McNair challenged one item—that of Hall, Jones & Co's account. He wanted to know who ordered the carpets in the Chief of Police's room and in the Council chamber.

THE MATON—Councillor Rutledge.

Councillor McNair asked who gave Councillor Rutledge power to purchase the new carpet for the Council chamber.

He thought that the one that ordered these things should pay for them.

Councillor McNair asked that Councillor Rutledge had overstepped his rights. He had not called the Council together to consult as to the furnishing of the Council chamber. The only thing to be done was to let Councillor Rutledge off this time but he never did the like again.

Councillor Yelland did not believe in letting the chairman do the business of the committee. He thought Councillor Rutledge had done what he had no right to do.

Councillor Rutledge, stated that he and the Mayor had talked the matter over. He did not think it necessary to call the committee together. He thought it a pretty small thing to bring in to ask for such a trifling thing after he had spent so much time in seeing after the affairs of the building.

The report was adopted.

whom was referred the matter of providing dog tags for the dogs of the town. The Council ordered 500 dog tags at 7 cents each from W. H. Bondfield, Toronto, the tags to be the shape of a simple oval, inscribed with the name of the owner, and the numbers, running from one to five hundred, below, your Committee will also recommend that the clerk provide a register book, to be issued to dog tags and collect fees for the same. Respectfully submitted.

A. MCNEIL, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

FIRE WATER AND LIGHT.

The report of the Fire Water and Light Committee was read by Councillor Rutledge as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council:—

GENTLEMEN:—Your Fire Water and Light Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the petition of Wm. Chaston and others asking for the watering of Stewart street be granted and in order to make better provision for the watering of that part of the town will recommend that a stand pipe be erected at the corner of Charlotte and Stewart streets.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

(Signed) A. RUTLEDGE, Chairman.

The report was adopted.

CHARITY.

Councillor McClelland presented several charity accounts amounting to about $50. This had been incurred by sending persons away who were dependent upon the town. It was a good job to get these people off the town's hands as reasonably.

Councillor Yelland took exception to the remarks just made. He said that if Councillor McClelland had not asked his rights as Chairman of the No. 4 Ward Charity Committee the town would not be called on to pay this money. These people were not what they represented themselves to be and he knew it. They lived in a nice dollar a month house and asked for charity.

The accounts were ordered to be paid.

Councillor McClelland gave notice to the Council that they had better appoint a Chairman for the Central Charity Committee, for he would act no longer.

FURNISHING.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor MCNEIL,—That the Property Committee be requested to have the committee rooms furnished, and that the desks in the Council Chamber be provided with locks.—Carried.

STREETING A GRADE.

Councillor KELLY moved, seconded by Councillor MCNEIL,—That the Town Engineer be instructed to have the grade struck on Simcoe street, between Downie and Park streets.—Carried.

FIREMEN'S FURNISHINGS.

The notice of motion in regard to constructing water closets in the Fire Hall rooms and the furnishing of the room for the Engineer, submitted at last regular meeting, was brought up.

Councillor RUTLEDGE supported the motion. The Firemen had arranged to have a certain number of sleep in the Fire Hall rooms, recently furnished, every night. It was quite necessary to have a closet attached to those rooms.

The matter of inadequate drainage was discussed.

According to rule 20 the propositions contained were dealt with separately.

The first proposition was rejected on the following division:—

YEAS—Councillors Hartley, Davidson, Rutledge and Kelly.

NAYS—Councillors Menzies, Moore, Yelland, Kelly, McNeil, McClelland, McNaughton and Cahill.

The second proposition was carried.

DOG TAGS.

Councillor MOORE moved, seconded by Councillor RUTLEDGE,—That the License Inspector require the owners of every dog or bitch before furnishing any tax to such dog or bitch, according to by-law 511.—Carried.

SIDWALK.

Councillor KENDRY moved, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY,—That the Street Inspector be instructed to have the sidewalk on the north side of Austin street raised and repaired for the distance of 40 yards—Street and Bridge Committee in power to act.

POLICE MATTERS.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY,—That $15 be given to the Constables for the purpose of buying bread and cheese for themselves when on night duty.—Carried.

REPAIRING A RAY.

Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DAVIDSON,—That the Street and Bridge Committee be given power to pay such price as they may decide upon for material to fill in Spaulding's Bay, at not to exceed $150, and also that they be given power to deal with any immediate matter requiring their attention.

Councillor CAHILL announced that he had been offered 1,000 yards of clay for 15 cents a yard, to be deposited, free of charge, into Spaulding's Bay. He stated, also, that the bridge over the creek back on Reid street needed immediate repair.

Councillors MOORE and RUTLEDGE thought the motion gave the committee too great power and was too indefinite.

Councillor KELLY took the motion and struck out the last proposition, leaving the committee to deal with Spaulding's Bay alone.

Councillor CAHILL, disowned paragraph to such a motion. He withdrew his altogether.

Councillor RUTLEDGE moved, seconded by Councillor YELLAND,—That the offer to give the corporation earth at 15 cents per yard be accepted and that it be placed in Spaulding's Bay where the Street and Bridge Committee deem best.—Carried.

Councillor KELLY's motion, touched up by Councillor YELLAND, was tried.

Councillor MENZIES raised a point of order on the expenditure of money, this necessitating cast votes before the motion was carried.

The motion was lost on the following division:—

YEAS—Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, McNeil and McClelland, and the Mayor.

NAYS—Councillors Yelland, Moore, Rutledge, Menzies, Kennedy and Hartley.

BUYING NEW JACKETS.

Councillor MCNEIL moved, seconded by Councillor KELLY,—That the Police Supervisor be authorized to purchase the new necessary clothing for the police officers.—Carried.

AT HIS DISPOSAL.

Councillor YELLAND moved, seconded by Councillor MOORE,—That the Treasurer be hereby instructed to place in the Bank the account of the Mayor at his disposal for charity the sum of $200.—Carried.

THE GARDENS.

Councillor KENDRY moved, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY,—That the sum of $300 be granted to the Horticultural Society towards maintenance of the Horticultural Gardens.

Councillor MCNAUGHTON raised a point of order on the expenditure of money. The matter was left as a notice and the Council adjourned at 11 o'clock.

MAINE F. HIND CHAIRS—Try them, especially if you are in the market.

MAINE F. HIND CHAIRS—Dealers will kindly forward their orders for above brand with it be delay as possible, as our stock on hand is limited.

LICENSE COMMITTEE.

Councillor MCNEIL read the report of the License Committee as follows:—

To the Mayor and Town Council of Peterborough: GENTLEMEN:—Your License Committee to

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR

No More Bald Heads.

Restores the color, gloss, and youthful freshness of the hair; stimulates a rich and luxuriant growth; thoroughly cleanses the scalp; prevents dandruff and humors; and is the most cleanly and effective preparation for the hair ever offered to the public. Rev. J. W. Davenport, Illinois Bend, Texas, writes: "Ayer's Hair Vigor, used in my family for several years, has no equal as a dressing, nor for preventing the hair from falling out, and turning prematurely gray. It keeps among the first luxuries of a household."

To produce a new growth of hair on bald heads, in the case of persons advanced in years, is not always possible. When the glands are decayed and no stimulant can restore them; but when they are only inactive, from the want of some hair Vigor, the application of Ayer's Hair Vigor will renew the hair, and a new growth will result. L. M. Templeton, Newbern, N. C., writes: "After a protracted illness, with fever, my hair all came out, leaving me entirely bald. I procured a bottle of Ayer's Hair Vigor, and before I had used all its contents, a thick growth of hair, nearly two inches long, covered my head." "Baldness is hereditary in my family. Five years ago the hair on the top of my head was becoming weak and thin. I procured Ayer's Hair Vigor, the application of which invigorated the hair roots, and sent out a new growth of young hair. To-day my hair is as thick and vigorous as ever. I still use the Vigor occasionally to keep my scalp in a healthy condition."

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.

Eighteenth Annual Meeting of the Members of the Institute.

The Annual Report—Progress of the Institute—Success of the Drawing Class—Election of Officers.

The annual meeting of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute was held in the rooms of the Institute on Monday evening May 17th.

The President, Mr. Wm. English, was in the chair.

Mr. JOHN CORKERY, the Secretary, read the minutes of the last meeting and they were confirmed.

ANNUAL REPORT.

The President read the annual report of the Board of Directors as follows:—
To the Members of the Peterborough Mechanics' Institute.

In compliance with the by-laws to that effect, your Directors beg to submit the following report, and are pleased to be able to say that the progress of the Institute for the past year has been satisfactory, as there has been an increase in the membership, now numbering 281 members, and also in the number of books issued. The reading room continues to be well frequented, and many of those making use of it express their satisfaction with the manner in which it is kept.

During the winter a drawing class, conducted by Mr. J. Fraser in connection with the Institute, was a success, and it is believed that it will prove a lasting benefit to the young men who attended it. The drawings made by members of the class have been taken by Dr. May to London to be shown in the Colonial Exhibition.

One of the members of this class, Mr. Bruce Hatley, obtained a first class certificate from the Board of Education for his drawings. This will enable him to teach machine drawing in any Art School or Mechanics' Institute in the Province.

Efforts were made to establish a class in English literature, and a first class teacher was engaged, but unfortunately the number of pupils required by the Government regulations could not be obtained. As the class fees to members of the Institute are merely nominal—only 50 cents for the term, we regret that the privileges of the Institute are not more generally availed of.

On account of the change made by which all membership tickets expire on the 1st of May, the amount received from this source is not as large as it was last year, but a diminution was expected, as many of the members in renewing their subscription had to pay for but a few months, instead of for the full year.

The following statements from the Secretary, Treasurer and the Chairman of the Library Committee are self-explanatory.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

The financial statement for the year, as audited, was read as follows:—

CHANGE OF CONSTITUTION.
Mr. JAS. ENGLISH gave notice of motion to amend the constitution as to election of Officers and Directors in compliance with the Government regulations.

MEMBERSHIP TICKETS.

Mr. ROBT. ROBERTSON gave notice of motion to amend the By-laws by reverting to the sale of membership tickets at any time for twelve months.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

The election of officers and directors then took place with the following result, Messrs. F. J. Lewis and T. A. Hay acting as scrutineers.

PRESIDENT—Mr. Wm. English (re-elected by acclamation).
FIRST VICE PRESIDENT—Mr. F. J. Lewis (elected by acclamation).
SECOND VICE PRESIDENT—Mr. T. A. Hay (elected by acclamation).
SECRETARY TREASURER—Mr. John Corkery (re-elected by acclamation).

DIRECTORS—Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Dr. Clarke, Messrs. J. English, J. Fraser, R. Robertson and E. J. Toker.

The meeting then adjourned.

The Late Bishop Jamet.

An esteemed correspondent supplies us with the following notes:—Canada's Cardinal was represented at Bishop Jamet's funeral by the Rev. C. A. Marois, Secretary to His Eminence the Cardinal Archbishop of Quebec. There were also present on the same sad and solemn occasion one Archbishop and nine Bishops.

There were also present fifty-eight priests, amongst whom were six Vicars-General, one Monsignor, one Archbishop, three Deans, two Bishops' Secretaries, one Superior of Grand Seminary, two Superiors of Colleges, one editor one L.L.D. and one D.D. Five of the religious orders of the church were represented: the Lazarists, the Basilians, the Oblates, the Sulpicians and the Dominicans. The latter wear a white robe. This explains why Bishop Carberry, of Hamilton, who is a Dominican, wears a white robe. St. Patrick's, of Montreal, one of the most important parishes in America, the Parish Priest of which is the illustrious and venerable Father O'Dowd, was represented by the Rev. J. P. Quinlan, S. T. D. (Doctor of Sacred Theology) carries with it the highest distinction in the way of theological learning.

Bishop Cleary, of Kingston, is the happy possessor of this proud title. The late Bishop Jamet did all things well. On his demise a document was produced appointing Vicar-General Laureat, of Lindsay, Administrator of the Diocese in case he himself should be summoned away hurriedly. Had not the late Bishop thoughtfully attended to this diocese would be without an Administrator until the Pope could appoint one. Yes, Bishop Jamet did all things well, and now
After life's first dream
He sleeps well.

GLADSTONE SUPPORTED.

LONDON, May 18.—The London Liberal Radical Council yesterday followed the lead of the National Liberal Federation in supporting Mr. Gladstone strongly against Mr. Chamberlain. Although a very radical body it was with great difficulty that Mr. Chamberlain's friends induced the meeting to drop from the resolution the clause specifically censuring Mr. Chamberlain. Several delegates warned Mr. Chamberlain that he is making a great mistake if counting upon the country to support him.

FIGHT AT A LOYALIST MEETING.

LONDON, May 18.—A Loyalist meeting at Bournemouth yesterday was invaded by a party of Radicals and Irishmen who stormed the platform. A general fight ensued and the meeting broke up in disorder.

OFFERS FROM NEW YORK.

LONDON, May 18.—The Irish National League has received from the Irish New York Regiment and the Clan-na-Gael Society of that city, offers to equip, transport and maintain in the field 10,000 men to support Home Rule in Ulster against any Loyalist opposition.

A VOLUNTEER CORPS.

DUBLIN, May 18.—A volunteer corps has been started at Belfast in connection with the Church of Ireland Young Men's Society.

NATIONALIST CALL TO ARMS.

BELFAST, May 18.—The Morning News says: "The time has arrived for the Nationalists to prepare to meet the enemy and disperse them. It is a he-iron that the Nationalists are in a minority in Ulster. Although well disposed towards their Protestant brethren, the Catholics of Ulster will not submit to be massacred by a rabble armed with Snyder rifles."

LEAVING CHAMBERLAIN.

LONDON, May 18.—The Standard says: "Four members of the House of Commons, who attended Mr. Chamberlain's recent meeting, now intend to support the second reading of the Home Rule Bill."

M. FLOUQUET IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 18.—M. Floquet, of Paris, was lingering in the lobby of the House of Commons last evening when a policeman ordered him out. As M. Floquet does not speak English he vainly tried to explain. An onlooker intervened and explained the facts to the policeman. Later it was stated that through fear of dynamite outrages the police had been ordered not to allow strangers to linger in the House. M. Floquet then retired.

LIBERALS MORE HOPEFUL.

LONDON, May 18.—The supporters of Mr. Gladstone are daily becoming more hopeful that the Home Rule Bill will be passed by Parliament. Nine Members of the House of Commons who had hitherto been opposed to the Home Rule measure have been converted since Saturday, and it is expected that other Members will soon signify their adhesion to the Bill.

MICHAEL DAVITT CONFIDENT.

DUBLIN, May 18.—Michael Davitt presided at the fortnightly meeting of the Irish National League here to-day. He expressed himself as confident that Mr. Gladstone's Home Rule Bill would pass the second reading. He referred to the terms of the arrangement as silly and pitiable.

"Fleur-de-Mai" Poems by J. A. Doucet, at Smart's Music Rooms.

Wanted, Coat and Vest Makers.

Good Coat and Vest Makers wanted. Apply to ANDREW MCNEIL, Tailor and Clothier, George street.

A Big Bill.

The gas fixtures in the drill shed have been fixed and all leakages have been stopped, much to the relief of the officers of the battery, who are now drilling. Mr. Drury Locke, at the meter on Tuesday and announced that there was seventy nine thousand eight hundred feet of gas to be paid for by somebody. It is claimed that the largeness of the bill is due almost solely to leakages in the pipes.

Personal.

Mrs. Chambers, who has spent about three months in the study of operatic music in Montreal, under the instruction of an Italian professor, leaves on Friday to undertake another three months term. Mrs. Chambers is not certain as to whether she will return to Peterborough, at the expiration of the term. It is to be hoped that sufficient inducements will be held out to keep Mrs. Chambers here. To lose her would indeed be a great loss.

The Rev. Father Fyall, who was appointed to succeed the Rev. Father Leseque as French priest at the cathedral church here, has arrived and is installed in his new charge. Father Fyall comes from Montreal.

Mr. James Dolan, an old time resident of Peterborough, now of Madoc, is in town spending a few days. He says he hardly knew the bug now—not because he has become the proprietor of a gold mine or anything of that sort.

Mr. Wm. Lech, who left town on his annual business visit to Germany, has arrived home again. The weather was very fine while on the trip, which was, he says, an exceptionally pleasant one. Mr. Lech visited Leipzig and other centres of trade in the Empire.

Evening Concert.

The concert given in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association was fairly well attended. Mr. J. S. Parker, conductor, presided at the piano during the evening. The concert opened with the singing of Mendelssohn's "Farewell to the Forest" by about thirty five voices. The singing had a good effect. The choir then delighted the audience twice during the second part of the programme. On Mr. T. Dunn's appearance behind the footlights he was greeted with applause. He sang at solo with the grand "Alone in the Desert" Enrased. At the last note a storm of applause commenced, kept up without cessation for several minutes. Mr. Dunn acknowledged with a bow. In the second part, after singing such a trite song as "I love the East," the applause was so divided that he was compelled to appear for the second time. He was in fine voice. Mr. Dunn gives promise of becoming a vocalist of more than local note. The singing by Miss Clara Stephenson, of Guelph, was greeted with loud plaudits. She was recalled twice. Miss Stephenson possesses a mezzo soprano voice of considerable power. Her style exhibits capable training. Miss Haultain sang "A Song of Winter" in such a manner as to win a pretty bouquet. "The Maid of the Mill," a solo sung by Mr. Manning, met with a due share of applause. Miss Stevens sang "The Haunted Stream" in a very pretty way. The song, which peculiarly suits her voice, was given charmingly. The audience showed its approval of Mr. Gale's solo, "The Little Hero," in the usual manner. Miss Logan was warmly encouraged after singing "I Love my Love." Two piano duets were given, one by Miss Hall and Mr. Parker and one by Miss Best and Mr. Parker. Both were creditably rendered. The concert closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

Five Gilbert's fashionable Dress and Mantle maker at the Golden Lion.

MICHAEL HALPIN IN THE BOX.

Didn't Receive Money or anything Else, but Didn't Know as to "Consideration."

The charge against Mr. Halpin was taken up on Tuesday afternoon.

MICHAEL HALPIN was called as a witness for the prosecution.

Mr. O'Meara again raised the objection that the defendant should not be called to give evidence in the first instance, and other objections raised other cases.

GEORGE COCHRANE, sworn, said that he was License Inspector and County Constable. He went with Chief Cooper to Mr. Halpin's Hotel on May 11th with a search warrant. They found six kegs of ale, a bottle of porter and two bottles of ale here.

Mr. HALPIN was then recalled. He said that he received no money for liquor since the first of May.

Mr. EDWARDS—Did you receive any consideration for liquor since the first of May?

Mr. HALPIN declined to answer the question.

The MAGISTRATE—I rule that you must answer that question. If you don't I will have to punish you, probably commit you to jail for contempt of court.

WITNESS—I might as well be there now as any time.

Mr. EDWARDS—Mr. Halpin, you must not take any hints from your lawyer. Either answer the question or don't answer it.

WITNESS—I won't answer it.

The MAGISTRATE proceeded to gravely point out his duty as a magistrate "of the law. The only course open to him, if the witness refused to answer, was to commit him to goal.

Things began to be impressive. Beads of sweat stood out on the witness' face. He mopped it off with his handkerchief and the people in court stood on tip toe of expectation, every moment expecting the dread sentence.

Mr. O'Meara suggested that the witness did not understand the question.

The question was put again in different words. The witness said he did not receive any money nor anything else for the liquor.

Mr. MOORE—Give him plain English, Mr. Edwards.

Witness, continuing, said: Several striking tailors boarded at my house for two or three days. I was not such a big fool to put liquor where they could get at it. I sold no striking tailor a glass of beer or a drink in with it. I am a half liberal kind of an Irishman. I have often put up the drinks and a cigar before the 1st of May to boarders, but not after. It doesn't pay to do that now, not any. I have a part of a barrel of beer left. When the striking tailors were dining with me I gave them one jug or two low once, I just gave them one jug; I didn't fill it again. George Ball wasn't there. He went home to dinner. The striking tailors gave me 25 cents each for their meals. There are no striking tailors at my house now.

The witness bowed as he left the Court, announcing that he was about to refresh himself with a glass of beer.

The MAGISTRATE asked Mr. Moore whether in his opinion to supply ale at dinner was an infringement of the law.

Mr. MOORE held that it was not an infringement, because the proprietor of the hotel did not get any extra pay for the dinner, therefore he gave it away.

The MAGISTRATE was of opinion that the boarder paid for everything that he consumed at the table.

Mr. MOORE contended that if five cents extra were charged for meals, then the defendant would be liable, but not in the present case.

The MAGISTRATE put the case like this: Suppose one hotel charges twenty-five cents for a dinner, and gives a glass of ale, and another charges the same price for no better meal, and gives no ale; now, Mr. Moore, which would you patronize?

Mr. MOORE sat down and the case was adjourned till Thursday.

Seen and Heard.

—The conduct of Mr. J. O'Meara should be looked into. In court the other day Capt. Cooper called a witness named Devine two or three times. The witness didn't appear. Mr. O'Meara remarked that he guessed it would be rather difficult to "divine" where the witness was. Then when Capt. Cooper came to the name "Ball," he called it. "This time also the witness didn't come to the front. Then the same gentleman suggested that bawling louder might bring the witness. The Magistrate did not order a commitment.

—P. C. M. Gentry isn't used to smoking cigarettes. While the people were circling around the pavilion in the Horticultural Gardens to hear the band play, a young gentleman who doubtless was anxious to be friendly offered the P. C. a smoke. Charles took the whole box, put it in his capacious pocket and walked off. The other went down to the City Cigar Depot for another—not for another pipe-man, but for another box of "Old Judge."

—The young men who mistook a George street water fountain for a lager beer chest got somewhat sold. They apologized by investing in zealous.

—A jolly party was seen driving about town on Tuesday afternoon. They were seated along a spring board, which stretched from axle to axle, much after the fashion of boys on a gate. These four were the Mayor, the Finance Minister, the Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee, and Councilor Rutheford, a member of the Committee. The quartette teetered along so easily and so comfortably as if it had been paid for hack fare. They visited Mill street, decided on improvements, and also inspected the bridge over the creek at Reid street. They will re-moved rebuilding the bridge.

—A certain hotel keeper was heard, during a heated criticism of the Magistrate's ruling in the recent cases in the Police Court, to exclaim with robust indignation, "Talk about British justice and fair play. The time was when a man was held guilty till he was proved innocent, but now he is held innocent till he's proved guilty." The observer smiles and walks off.

The Right Division.

The members of the Right Division of the Durham Field Battery were out at drill in full force on Tuesday night. With a few exceptions all members were present, and about thirty others stood around, most of whom were candidates for admission to this Division. There is no reason why a battery should not be established here. To obtain recruits there is no trouble and as far as officers are concerned they are the most efficient. This Division will go to camp at Kingston on or about the 20th of June.

OUR FISHERIES.

WHILE individual cases of infringement upon our fisheries are in the hands of the law courts, and the general question is to a certain extent in the diplomatic stage, it would obviously be improper and inexpedient to enter upon any full discussion of the matter. Neither is there any ground for a clamour for its right on the part of Canada. Our Government is evidently alive to its duty and requires no stimulation. Neither does public opinion in the United States, as shown by their leading journals and their fair comments, betray any signs of an unwillingness to do us justice. The agitation of the New England fishermen as interested parties must go for what it is worth, and the ravings of one or two Senators and Congressmen are no surer indication of popular feeling than the antics of our own Edgars, Milles, Camerons and Charltons.

There is, however, one point upon which an apparent mystification upon both sides of the international line is produced by the use of a vague term. We hear a great deal about "bait," and it seems often lost to view that this bait is also fish. Very often the fish is of a marketable value as food for mankind. It is also food for the larger and more valuable fish, so that its unnecessary destruction must result in the deterioration of our fisheries, for the larger fish, deprived of their food, would increase less rapidly, or would seek other waters less depleted. In either case our fisheries would be deteriorated. Thus the necessity is evident for protecting our so-called "bait" from extirpation by our neighbours. There is nothing unbecomingly in using our treaty and legal rights to prevent such an injury.

Neither is there anything unbecomingly, as is sometimes assumed, in refusing to the fishing vessels of the United States the liberty of "trawling" at their will upon our coast. Trawling as distinct from fishing vessels having to observe not only the law of nations, but also the laws of their own country and of those they visit. Before starting on a trading voyage they have to observe certain regulations, and on reaching a foreign coast they have to comply with other regulations. There is no pretence that these fishing vessels have acquired the character of traders, or that they have complied with the laws affecting trading vessels. Their so-called trawling is therefore out of the pale of the law, even without reference to the object of their trade.

We have no doubt that our courts will do what is just in each case brought before them. Neither do we fear that our neighbors will refuse to be guided by justice in their international dealings with us. If our present relations, founded on the laws and treaties now in force, are found irksome, mutual concessions can be agreed upon in the future, as they have been in the past. While maintaining our rights we are quite willing to make any fair agreement.

Mr. PLATT, M.P., says that Mr. Blake is "a trickster," but a "self-denying patriot," and that his feeling for Mr. Blake "has ripened into reverence and love." Yet during the present session of Parliament Mr. Blake stooped so low in his scheming for votes that even Mr. Platt could not follow him, and he voted against the order he says he reverts to.

Mr. MILLIS would run Mr. Edgar hard for a Munchausen prize. He had the effrontery in a recent debate to utter the falsehood that the Administration of which he was a member disallowed no Provincial legislation that was not ad extra. Mr. Mills has either a very short memory or no regard for the truth.

We do not often agree with Mr. Cook's Parliamentary utterances, but we certainly think that he struck the right nail on the head when he said in a recent debate that "those who cry their loudest are generally the biggest thieves themselves."

Hon. L. S. Huntington Dead.
The death is announced of the Hon. L. S. Huntington, Q.C., which occurred at New York. Mr. Huntington, about four years ago, retired from active politics in Canada, and went to reside in New York, where he devoted himself to literature. He was a descendant of a New England family that came to America at the time of the Mayflower. His grandfather, a U. R. L. yalist, removed to Canada and settled at Compton, Que., towards the close of the last century. He was a son of Seth Huntington, and was born on May 26th, 1827. He was twice married, to a daughter of the late Major David Wood, of Sherbrooke, who died in 1871, and afterwards in New York to the widow of Charles May Jr., C. E. He was called to the Law in Canada in 1853, and appointed Q. C. in 1863. He was Solicitor-General for Lower Canada in the Macdonald-Laurier Government from May 1868 to May 1869. He sat in the Canadian Assembly for St. John from 1861 until the Union, and in the Commons from the Union until 1862, when he was defeated. He was first President of the Council in the Mackenzie-Callaghan, and Postmaster-General from Oct. 1875 until the resignation of that Government in 1878.

The President's Veto.
New York, May 18.—The Herald's Washington special says: The President's vetoes are beginning to cause apprehension in the House. The close attention which the President is giving to the increased and unnecessary expenditures is causing a fear that some of the appropriation bills may be retained by him.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

The Franchise Act—the C. P. R. Retaining the Lease—Yankee Advocates—The Northern and Pacific Junction—Customs Frauds.

TUESDAY, May 18.—The Speaker took the chair at 3 o'clock.

THE FRANCHISE ACT.
Mr. THOMPSON introduced a bill to amend the Franchise Act. The principal provisions were to remove the necessity for providing the assessment rolls, to enable one applicant to be substituted for another; to allow subdivisions to stand till the votes exceeded 400; and to cheapen the voters list by omitting three of the columns. There was no change in the qualification of voters.

The bill was read a third time.

THE C. P. R.
Mr. McLELLAN moved the third reading of the C. P. R. bill.

Mr. WATSON moved to add a clause to remove the restriction against lines to take the C. P. R. traffic away to lines in the States.

Mr. ORTON said such an attack upon the C. P. R. would destroy the confidence of capitalists, and would therefore injure the prospects of the Hudson Bay road now seeking a loan. He was confident the C. P. R. would continue its fair treatment of the Northwest.

Sir R. CARTWRIGHT advocated the interest of the United States railroads against the C. P. R.

Mr. ROYAL said the disallowed bills were only paper charters.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said the C. P. R. was returning a $20,000,000 of a loan which the Opposition said would never be repaid and $10,000,000 in land at $1.50 an acre which the Opposition said was worth from $2 to $10 an acre. And we were asked to say that we would not allow the C. P. R. to give us all this unless it also gave up its claim to be protected from the competition of United States lines. We could not be so foolish.

The bargain was a good one for us, but it was also good for the Company, as it was placed in a better position in the money market.

What advantage would our great national road be to us if it could be tapped to take all its traffic to United States lines, to convey to other ports instead of our own. The present policy was established by the Mackenzie Administration in a bill by Mr. Mills and being a sensible policy it was maintained. The veto power under our constitution was therefore used. This was in the interest of the people of Canada, and even if the C. P. R. asked leave to connect their line with those of the United States it would not be granted.

Mr. MILLIS maintained that the government had done wrong to allow the short line to run for a little way through Maine and enter Canada. He also thought it very wrong of the government not to allow the C. P. R. to be tapped to carry the traffic away altogether to the States. He said that it was unconstitutional to disallow legislation within Provincial jurisdiction; and then said because our constitution provided for so doing it was all wrong. He then added the falsehood that the Administration to which he belonged had disallowed no act except on the grounds that they were ultra vires.

Mr. FOSTER condemned the hostility of Mr. Wells to the Maritime Provinces, and pointed out the distinction between the St. John River to facilitate business between the different Provinces of Canada, and the vetoed lines meant to take traffic away from Canada. He quoted with ridicule the glowing eulogies of Mr. Laurier and other Reformers that the C. P. R. would never return us a cent of our loan, and expressed his fierce forebodings as to the future.

Mr. FAIRBANK spoke in favor of allowing United States lines to tap the C. P. R.

Mr. McLELLAN quoted the rates of the great through railways of the United States and showed that the C. P. R. was far lower than any of them, so it was not unreasonable to suppose that it should be allowed to tap the C. P. R. He showed that Manitoba, whose boundaries were enlarged, distinctly agreed that lines should not be built running to the United States.

Mr. DAVIES also advocated the cause of the United States and claimed that Sir C. Tupper had promised that disallowance should cease.

Mr. HECTOR CAMERON said that the people of Ontario had willingly submitted to taxation for building the C. P. R., and were not willing to lose all benefit by having the traffic devoted to them to the United States.

Mr. MITCHELL assured Mr. Watson and expressed his surprise that Sir R. Cartwright should continue his antagonism to the great national road. He should give credit to those who had conducted it so successfully.

Mr. WOODWORTH thought that the C. P. R. was built, disallowance should be discontinued.

Mr. WATSON's amendment was negatived by 116 to 49.

Mr. CAMERON (Huron) moved to refuse to take any more of the $10,000,000, but his amendment was lost.

Mr. TROW moved the addition of a clause providing that the C. P. R. should prudently publish a list of lands sold, so that they might be sold.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD supported this proposition and it was agreed to.

NORTHERN AND PACIFIC JUNCTION.
Mr. McARTHY moved to add a clause compelling the C. P. R. to give the same mileage rate over its line to Chicago, St. Louis, or from the Ontario railway station at the rate to or from Montreal. This would prevent the C. P. R. from making its line round by Smith's Falls to serve at the Northern and Pacific Junction.

Sir J. MACDONALD said they could not be expected to adopt this without consideration. The present arrangement seemed a fair one, that the rate from Callander should be the same to Toronto as to Ottawa. It now seemed that it was wished to prevent the C. P. R. from carrying round by Smith's Falls. Any unfair rate would be at the expense of the Privy Council.

Mr. MILLIS supported the discrimination against the C. P. R.

Several other members continued the discussion.

Mr. McARTHY proposed to substitute another amendment, providing for equal mileage rates to or from Toronto by the Ontario railway.

Mr. MITCHELL thought this was just as bad, as it discriminated against Eastern Canada in favor of Toronto. If the Northern could not carry freight one mile for the same rate as the C. P. R. could carry it a hundred miles, it should not exist.

Sir J. MACDONALD thought the matter should have been brought up earlier, and could not support the discrimination against the C. P. R.

The amendment was negatived by 119 to 51.

Mr. PLATT moved against releasing the $5,000,000 security for the working of the line, but his amendment was lost and the bill was read a third time.

CUSTOMS FRAUDS.
Mr. GALEY, on motion to go into Committee of Supply, asked as to the cut in duties from Patterson, Keweenaw & Co. It was said to have been compromised for $2,000, though a more recent case than one to which $30,000 was paid.

Mr. BOWELL said the invoices had been destroyed, but it was arranged that the entries of E. G. Smith should be compared with the customs entries. No compromise had been made or authorized, and if $2,000 had been paid that was the amount due.

LABOR NOTES.

ST. LOUIS, May 18.—A committee from the executive committee of the Brewers' Union, accompanied by two members from the Central Labor Union, called yesterday upon Chas. G. Stifel, president of the Beer Brewer's Association, to confer in regard to the demands made recently by the Brewers' employees.

A meeting was held, and a resolution by which Stifel's refusal was unanimously adopted. The failure of arbitration will, it is expected, precipitate a general strike.

PITTSBURGH, May 18.—Brown's Tenth Street mill was resumed operations yesterday, the men returning to work at the old rates. Ten men employed in Byers pipe mill also returned at the old rates.

TRAFFICKING.

In pursuance of its policy of slander the Dominion Opposition is practicing a very crafty and unfair method of confounding the ideas of the people upon an important point. Both in the House and in the press they reiterate vague charges of "trafficking in parliamentary influence." Then finding themselves unable to adduce any proof, they shift their ground to say "trafficking in lands, etc." By using the two alternatives they endeavor to affix a stigma on any "trafficking" and to attach it to perfectly innocent dealing.

This is simply a mere piece of trickery, an unfair playing with words. Trafficking, so far from being dishonorable or wrong in itself, in most cases meritorious. There is hardly a Canadian worth his salt who is not trafficking in something, or we would not be the flourishing, progressive community we are. Whether trafficking is good or bad, depends upon the thing dealt in and the manner of dealing with it. Trafficking in Parliamentary influence is without a doubt wrong, dishonest, immoral and illegal. Trafficking in land is neither immoral nor illegal. It is not even immoral or improper in a member of parliament so long as the law allows it and he does not use his parliamentary influence to obtain advantage not open to others. If it should be considered expedient to remove any risk of wrong doing or even of scandal, by making it legal for members to acquire or deal in public lands it would then be immoral to break the law, but not till it becomes law. How otherwise, we may ask, could the dealings of Mr. Mackenzie, Sir R. Cartwright, Mr. Scott, Mr. Goss, Mr. M. C. Cameron and many other Reform members with public lands be defended. It will hardly be assumed by the critics that in their case trafficking in public lands is synonymous with trafficking in Parliamentary influence.

In the two kinds of trafficking which we have mentioned, trafficking in lands, etc., and trafficking in parliamentary influence, there is no difficulty in deciding that the one is right and the other wrong. But the trouble is that there are some cases of a doubtful or mixed nature. Mr. Blake has a perfect right to traffic in his legal land, but when he uses the legal advantage of a subsidized railway, it is difficult to dissociate his legal from his parliamentary advocacy. Mr. John White has an undoubted right to traffic in public lands, but the fact that he had exceptional terms from his associates evidently led them to form the injurious idea that he would obtain them better terms from the Administration, though, to their disappointment, they found that such was not the case. In the cases of Mr. Hugh Sutherland, a Reform member, and Mr. Beatty, a Conservative, no unscrupulous man believes that they obtained land grants for the railways with which they are connected through their parliamentary influence, or that they are improperly trafficking in such grants. On the other hand, Mr. Woodworth confessedly used his parliamentary influence for obstruction because his claim to traffic in such a grant for his own advantage was not allowed. So, too, Mr. Mitchell almost openly used his parliamentary influence to oppose a railway because of a money dispute with it. Mr. Blake, Mr. Mills, Mr. Edgar and others make use of Mr. Mowat's patronage and thereby give him a claim on their parliamentary services.

It is evident that there are exceptional cases for which a remedy should be found, if possible, without undue repression of the efforts of those who would aid in developing the resources of the country. It is certain that this remedy cannot be found in slanderous charges against the Administration, which seems in this matter to have held an even balance between friends and opponents. With all the energy in this direction of the Reformers they have not been able to substantiate one single case against the Government of giving advantage to Conservatives that were not equally open to all comers.

THE REBEL PRESS.

The Rebell leading organ at Toronto publishes another diabolical and scurrilous effusion from its "own correspondent on the Saskatchewan." This unparliamentary agent of the rebelling Globe is vile enough to describe our brave volunteers as "Middleton's excited incendiaries," and as an army sent "to shoot down the brave winners, burn their dwellings, steal their cattle and belongings, etc." On the other hand this slanderer in the pay of the Globe dwells with apparent delight on every partial success of the rebel friends against our gallant forces. He even describes with gusto, and panegyrics with the term "glory" the shooting of the brave Capt. French through a window. And this is the dish that an Ontario journal serves up to its readers, commendation for rebels and murderers, foul insults for our own gallant troops.

CAPTAIN SIR GEORGE STRONG NARES, F.R.S., of Arctic fame, has been honorably placed on the retired list, having attained the age of 55 years, thus placing another good service pension of $150 a year at the disposal of the First Lord of the Admiralty.

MADON F. HUGO CHARR.—The trade are respectfully requested to send in their orders without delay. O. Davis & Sons, Montreal & Toronto.

SCOTLAND.

Kirkcaldy has been illuminated nightly for two or three weeks by the burning of whips on the surrounding hills. The sight was splendid. By the recent death of Thomas Edward, "The Band Naturalist," one of Scotland's most remarkable native productions, has passed away.

The Union Bank of Scotland, at their annual meeting at Glasgow on April 25th, declared a dividend of 12 per cent., carrying forward £19,000.

The National Telephone Company have decided to establish an exchange at Dunfermline giving communication with Glasgow, Alloa, Stirling, Fife, Dundee and Kirkcaldy.

THE sheep in the western district of Perthshire have been so weakened by the recent snowstorm and insufficient feeding that they are dying in great numbers, and the prospect of the lambing season are very gloomy.

LOCKHESE Presbytery appears to be greatly exercised regarding Sabbath observance. There is a great deal of "half-day heaving" in the churches. The milk train is very late, and 20 or 30 carts arrive at Lockhart in the evening, making a "scene" at the railway station.

A WELL-KNOWN Dundee character passed away on April 30th, in the person of Mr. D. Baxter Brown. He was born in Dundee in 1811, and was brought up as a bookbinder, but later became an auctioneer. He took a keen interest in local affairs, and no word or other meeting was considered complete unless Mr. Brown was one of the orators.

His Majesty is about to carry out a variety of alterations and improvements in the houses and grounds of Birkhall purchased by the Queen last year from the Prince of Wales for £25,000. It forms the "march" between the estates of Balmoral and Glenmuir, and the house is within a short distance of Ballater. There are some fine woods on the property, which were much improved by the Prince Consort.

IRELAND.

ARCHBISHOP COCHRAN has sent a subscription of £25 to the fund for the Altar, Larkin, and O'Brien memorial about to be erected in Limerick.

THE trustees of a landowner in Mayo have offered to sell the land to tenants at 12 years' purchase, calculated at present Poor-law valuation.

THE Scottish Amicable Life Assurance Company, on May 6th, ceased to lead money in Ireland, the future tenure of which is uncertain. An account was started to meet possible losses. The Bank of Ireland stock is quoted at 245, the lowest point yet touched.

On the night of April 26th a shot was fired into the house of a labourer named Hickey, Spa Road, outside the town of Tralee. Hickey's wife, who was not in bed, had a narrow escape. The bullet landed in a wooden partition near the head of Hickey's bed.

MISS BOLTON, sister of George Bolton, ex-Crown Prosecutor, died on April 28th in Dublin from the effects of injuries received by the explosion of a paraffin oil, which set fire to her dress as she was going to bed the previous night. A candle she carried ignited the oil.

THE part of Ulster which returns to parliament fifteen Loyalists and five Partisans shows an income tax return under Schedule D of £2,200,000; while that of Ulster which returns thirteen Nationalists and one Loyalist shows a return under Schedule D of only £300,000.

It is stated that some military officers serving in Ireland, who have family connections in the country have applied to the War Office to be transferred to India. The reason for the request is that they wish to avoid the necessity of acting against Ulster Loyalists in the event of the later resulting the introduction of Home Rule into Ireland.

A VERY curious moonlighting raid has taken place in Kerry. Some houses were visited in the neighborhood of Tralee, amongst them being that of a man named Archer, who was dragged out of bed, grossly maltreated, and obliged to swear that he would give up his farm to his brother. The marauders also demanded arms, but there were none upon the premises.

MR. WATSON, chairman of the Bedford Liberal Association, has resigned that post, owing to his disapproval of the Irish schemes of the Government.

MR. MALCOLM MACMILLAN, the eldest son of the publisher, is said to be the author of the story, "Daggonet the Jester," which was lately brought out by his father's firm.

THE jubilee of the Rev. Dr. Chambers, Principal of London Presbyterian College, was celebrated on April 28th, in London. He received, amongst other things, a cheque for £500.

WHEREAS in 1875-76 the British were paying 15s. 1d. a head for the revenue for the privilege of being allowed to purchase drink, they are now paying only 14s. 8d. a head for that privilege.

In April, the annual session of the Good Templar Grand Lodge of England was opened in Newport, Monmouthshire. According to the reports there are 130,000 members in 2400 lodges.

A Fire.—The fire brigade was called out on Thursday afternoon at five o'clock to quench a fire in the Canadian Pacific Railway buildings used as storerooms, which were situated west of the Grand Trunk crossing. The buildings were of wood, and being saturated with oil, burned furiously and rapidly. They were entirely consumed together with a quantity of road supplies and workmen's tools. A train of cars which were standing close to the building were moved by the railway men, who had hot work for a short time, but succeeded in getting them out of the way in time to save them. The Grand Trunk offered the services of a locomotive, but it was not required. The building was put up at the time the road was being constructed for a field office and has since been used as a store for workmen and a storeroom for supplies. It is not known how the fire originated. The material and tools lost were valued at $400 and the building at $300.

DISTRICT MEETING.

Clerical and Lay Representatives of Methodist Church in Peterborough.

The District Meeting in connection with the Methodist Church, which has been holding sessions in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church these last two days, closed its labors on Thursday afternoon. On Wednesday, the meeting opened, the Rev. I. T. Tovey, Superintendent of this district, presiding. The meeting opened with the usual devotional exercises. The first business of the day was the appointment of a Secretary. The election to this position fell to the lot of the Rev. F. McAmmond, of Ashburnham. The Rev. W. J. West and D. M. McCamus were appointed Assistant Secretaries.

The enquiry into the characters of ministers was gone into. No objections were found. Mr. H. O. Garbutt, of Hall's Bridge, having travelled for four years, and having passed a satisfactory examination, was recommended by the meeting to be received into full connection with the church, and to be ordained as one of its ministers. Mr. H. V. Mounter, of the Methodist Theological College, Montreal, a probationer of three years' standing, was recommended to be continued on trial. Mr. Joshua H. Burrows, of Lakeside, being recommended by the Quarterly Board of the Lakeside Circuit, was recommended by the meeting as a probationer for the ministry. Mr. Burrows preached his trial sermon in the Mark street Methodist Church before several of the ministers.

During the afternoon the following motion elicited discussion:—
 The Rev. Mr. GEE moved, seconded by the Rev. Mr. McFARLANE—That this district meeting recommend the conference to memorialize the general conference to substitute in the place of quarterly tickets a card of membership to be given to each member at the May quarterly meeting.

The motion was carried.
 The second day's business opened at ten o'clock a.m. The following laymen were present representing the different circuits:—J. A. Fife, M. D., W. A. Morrow, Thos. J. Hunter, Peterborough; R. W. Clarke, Millbrook; Thomas Morrow, Cavan; James Brock, South Cavan; Wm. Emberson, South Monaghan; Jas. Carter, Keen; S. B. Ford, M. D., Norwood; J. C. Shear, John Hull, Lakeside; A. R. Kidd, Waraw; T. H. Richardson, Ballymore; Thos. McGee, Jantville; John Harcourt, South Monaghan; P. J. Garrison, Blaiton; Wm. Northey, Hall's Bridge; Wm. Hall, Chaudes.

The Rev. G. H. Davis was invited to the platform. He addressed the meeting briefly.

The following were elected to represent the District as members of the Annual Conference Committee: Rev. D. E. T. Gee, Stationary Committee; Rev. R. T. Currier, Sabbath School Committee; S. P. Ford, Missionary Committee.

A memorial from the Millbrook circuit praying to be allowed to use missionary funds for general purposes, was discussed. It was received and referred to the Conference. Only one case of special affliction was recommended to the consideration of the Conference Committee.

The following laymen were elected members of the annual Conference:—Messrs. S. P. Ford, W. A. Morrow, A. R. Kidd, J. A. Fife, Geo. A. Cox, R. W. Clark, J. Hall, Robert Dwyll, D. Sharp, T. Buck, M. Gardener, L. Preston, J. B. Scuit, Wm. Yelland, T. H. Richardson, E. Kerr, Jas. Carter, Geo. A. Elliott.
 The matter of finances and church membership occupied the attention of the meeting during the afternoon. The schedule for the various circuits showed a gratifying increase in the membership of the church throughout the district. The receipts and expenditures were also found to be satisfactory. The next district meeting will be held in Keshoe, the date to be decided hereafter.

As we anticipated, the Library Association has found favor in the estimation of the public and is steadily gaining ground. Give us a call at the Dominion Express Office and let our friends speak for themselves.

Respectfully, S. U. NELSON & CO.

Peterborough Swimming Baths.

The Peterborough swimming baths to be erected by Mr. H. Calcutt give promise of being well patronized. Though the first notice of the establishment of the baths was given on Thursday evening, Mr. Calcutt was called up brightly and only this morning to answer questions regarding the same. It was to be expected. One medical gentleman, also, doubtless valuing the importance of the new establishment of public baths, drove up and expressed his appreciation of the scheme by asking for two season tickets. Mr. Calcutt good naturedly refused to supply the tickets for the season, but he had a note. However, when the baths are constructed all will have an opportunity of patronizing them and profiting by them.

 Don't fail to hear this beautiful and instructive entertainment.

The Telephone.

Under Mr. H. W. Kent's efficient management the business of the Peterborough telephone exchange continues to make very satisfactory progress. The number of telephones in use has so well as to render it necessary to put in another fifty point switch. This was done a day or two ago, and now the central office is capable of managing one hundred and fifty telephones. There are now one hundred and fifteen instruments in use, with five more orders ahead to fill. Mr. Kent intends to commence night service early in June. In view of this department one which Peterborough people will appreciate—he is making necessary arrangements. Two more operators will be engaged, and then the members of the staff will number nine. Two operators will be kept continuously in attendance at the switch boards.

A NOVELTY.

The Enterprising Carriage Builders, Messrs. Porter Bros., Make a Departure.

Messrs. Porter Bros., to-day introduced a new and improved carriage, a grand spring carriage. This is the first thing of the kind ever attempted in Peterborough in the carriage making line, and it speaks well for the original way in which Porter Bros. conduct their business.

In the morning the contents of the contents of the spacious warehouses, showrooms and parlour, of the shape of new completed vehicles, was turned out. A row of buggies, fast, strong, and light, of various styles, and of the shape of new completed vehicles, was turned out. OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

REFORMERS SELF-DESCRIBED.

Mr. Mills once before posed as a Senate Reformer. It was during the Mackenzie regime. And this is what the Globe said of him then:—"Providence, in its wise distribution of its gifts, has not seen fit to give him the tongue of the serpent; and he is, therefore, to persuade himself that in compensation he has been privileged to be profound." He was further told by the organ of his party that his statesmanship was "of a very legitimate description," and that the "patronizing contempt" with which he is referred to the Senate was abundant in him.—Toronto Mail.

THE CORRECT SOLUTION.

It would puzzle even a greater philosopher than Mr. Mills to reconcile the Grit statement that the D mission immigration funds are misapplied, with the allegation from the same source that the Government is swamping the country with immigrants that get assisted passages. The solution of the puzzle, however, is that neither statement is true.—Toronto Mail.

MR. BLAKE RECALLED.

It is about time that our legislators at Ottawa were coming home. When they find time to produce such unbusinesslike resolutions as that of Mr. Blake upon the Home Rule question it is evident that the real business of the House is pretty well exhausted. The sessions of our Parliament are made sufficiently expensive by a good deal of purposeless wrangling and recrimination over what may be called Canadian affairs, and we object to the taxing of purely Imperial issues for debate.—Windsor Record (Ref.)

WORTH REMEMBERING.

Mr. Blake seems to forget that if the Canadian Pacific had to go to the Government unexpectedly for aid on one or two occasions, the mischief was caused by himself and those who co-operated with him in attacks upon the great enterprise. It is safe to affirm that no body of capitalists, laboring in good faith for the completion of a great enterprise having for its principal object the development to a vast extent of the most valuable portion of the Dominion, had any right to count upon such uncalculated, vexatious and long continued assaults upon their property and their financial standing, as they were subjected to by Mr. Blake and his allies in Canada and England. It is almost incredible that the great enterprise of the Canadian Pacific should have been so completely overlooked by the herculean efforts of its promoters had proved powerless in the face of the extraordinary combinations arrayed against them, the people of Canada would have had a heavy account to settle with Mr. Blake.—Montreal Herald (Indep.)

TRANS-CONTINENTAL TRAFFIC.

The San Francisco Call announces that one of the transcontinental lines has notified its agents in the East that it has more business than it can handle, and that it must either refuse new business or raise rates high enough to drive a portion of the business into other channels. If this is true it would seem to auger well for the future of the Canadian Pacific. If the United States can find traffic for four railways to the Pacific, Canada will surely be able to support one. Perhaps as the Canadian line is shorter and has easier grades than any of the others it may in time be able to secure some of the American business, too. If Hudson Bay navigation ever becomes an accomplished fact another Pacific railway will probably be built north of the Canadian Pacific, connecting the bay with the Pacific ocean by the shortest possible route. Just at present, however, the Canadian Pacific Railway seems likely to have a monopoly of the Canadian transcontinental traffic for many years to come.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

THE FISHERIES QUESTION.

The plain truth is that the owners of the New England fishing fleets desire no just settlement of this dispute. What they demand is that they shall be permitted to enter the inner waters of Canada for bait, and that the Canadians shall be prevented by high duties from supplying the markets of this country with food fish. They want, in short, all the advantages which they enjoyed under the treaty with Canada, and all the advantages which the absence of a treaty can confer on them. While they insist on equal terms with the Canadian fishermen in Dominion waters, they are not willing that the Canadians shall have equal terms in the markets of this country. This is what the Fryes and the abstract principles of justice involved in the question in the American people have an interest in it which is not that of the owners of the New England fishing vessels. It is rather too much to ask the people of this country to go to war with Canada in vindication of the policy of taxing their supplies of food fish in order that the Gloucester owners of fishing "fleets" may grow rich at their expense.—Philadelphia Record.

LINDSAY.

FELTON FALLS CANAL.—The Trent Valley canal works are being rapidly pushed forward by the government. The canal is to be 10 miles long, and will be completed in 1887. The canal will be a great benefit to the people of the district, and will greatly increase the trade of the district. THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY Celebration of the Day by the People of Peterborough.

SPORT AND PASTIME IN TOWN.

THE RACES AT THE DRIVING PARK AND THE F. A. A. EVENTS

Lacrosse and Baseball Matches—The Lindseys Defeat the Peterboroughs—The Trotters vs. Norwood—The Bay at Idyl Wild.

The sixty-seventh birthday of Her Majesty, Queen Victoria, was joyfully celebrated by the citizens of Peterborough, both at home and abroad. The inauguration of the day's sport was made at ten o'clock, when a salute of ten rounds was fired by the Right Division of the Durham Field Battery in the Central Park. A list of the sporting events is given below.

THE DRIVING PARK.

The Races—A Field Day—List of the Winners.

The 24th was a 6-day day at the Driving Park. The weather was the most unexceptionable, the track fast, the attendance large and the races the most interesting.

Between twelve and one o'clock buses and hacks commenced plying between town and the park, while the walks were also crowded with foot passengers. At two o'clock there were fully fifteen hundred people on the grounds and grand stand.

Messrs. G. S. Page and J. S. Saunders were judges, Mr. W. H. Rackham, referee, and Messrs. G. Savers and J. A. English, timers. The judges' stand was ascended at about half past one o'clock.

FIRST HEAT OPEN TROT.

The first race called was the open trot, open to horses from the "four counties." There were three entries: J. J. Daly's Fannie B., driven by Ed. Brown; C. Bartlett's Maud Bartlett, driven by C. Bartlett, and A. P. Morgan's Grey Ned, driven by T. McKean.

Before the first quarter was measured Maud Bartlett went by in beautiful style and took a ten yard lead. This she held until the three quarter when Fanny pulled up. The latter, however, broke in the beginning of the home stretch and Maud Bartlett, Fanny second, came in easily. Time 2:47. First heat—

RUNNING RACE.

The next event was the first heat of the running race, open to four county horses. There were several entries: J. Simpson's bay gelding, Kelso, W. Morgan's gelding, Scott Act, Mike Garry rider; J. E. McIntyre's bay mare, Nancy Lee, H. Topberry rider; J. E. McIntyre's grey mare, Grey Bird, M. O'Donnell rider; A. Elliott's bay mare Maggie Rosch, C. Stapleton rider; Gus White's bay horse, Wild Deer, G. White, rider, and E. A. Dickinson's (Zion) sorrel horse Lexington, J. H. Dickinson, rider.

The first heat was commenced after the usual unsuccessful scores. At last the whole field got off under the wire, Maggie Rosch, Lexington, and Scott Act leading. Scott Act had gradually drawn up and at the first quarter took first place. Maggie Rosch and Lexington soon gave place to Grey Bird and Kelso, in which order the three finished the race. The others tailed up all along the home stretch. Some surprise was occasioned by Nancy Lee's action. She came in several seconds after the race was finished. Time, 2:01.

SECOND HEAT—OPEN TROT.

Maud Bartlett led off in the second heat, with Fanny B. second, and maintained first place during the first half mile and till the three quarter post. Here she made a bad break from which she failed to recover. Fanny B. gained considerable ground, some of which she lost before she came under the wire. Maud Bartlett second. Time, 2:47.

SECOND HEAT—RUNNING RACE.

The whole seven went off in a crowd in the second heat. At the first quarter Scott Act emerged and the matter of who was to have first place was settled. Lexington and Maggie Rosch made a good bid for second and third places, but on the home stretch Grey Bird and Nancy Lee came up and took honors. This finished the running race. Time, 2:02.

THIRD HEAT—OPEN TROT.

On the third heat Grey Ned pulled himself together and trotted the course twice in magnificent style. The other two, through frequent breaks were distanced. Fanny B. came in second, time 2:48.

FIFTH HEAT—THREE MINUTE TROT.

There were three entries for the three minute trot; Lady Tariff, owned by J. Beaky, Cobourg; R. Read driver; Lulu, owned by W. J. Clancy, Peterborough; and W. J. Clancy driver; and Maud M. owned by M. McGee, Norwood; C. Stapleton, Jr., driver.

When the three went out on the first heat, Lady Tariff was somewhat behind. She fell further in the race while three-quarter of the two laps were traversed. Here Read pressed her and brought her id ahead easily, Maud M. second, and Lulu a good third, time, 2:59.

FOURTH HEAT—OPEN TROT.

For the first quarter mile of the fourth heat Maud Bartlett shot along with fine action. It seemed as if she was going to have it all her own way. Fanny B. followed about fifteen yards behind while they all went out on the second lap. Here Maud Bartlett made a succession of breaks and the driver ran her under the whip. The other two went long in good form, coming in on the home stretch nose and nose. Maud Bartlett came in ahead, but first place was disallowed on account of her running. Fanny B. was given first place and Grey Ned second. Time, 2:48.

SECOND HEAT—THREE MINUTE TROT.

This heat was a walk over for Lady Tariff. She led all the way around and trotted easily past the stand at the finish of the last lap. Maud M. came second with Lulu another good third. Time 2:50.

FIFTH HEAT—OPEN TROT.

In the fifth and third heat of the open trot all three went away together, Maud Bartlett slightly leading. She trotted in fine style keeping the lead and increasing it till the final three quarter. Here a slight break was made but the driver pulled her on her feet again. Fanny now measured out in grand form, slowly closing the gap between herself and the leader. On coming around the turn to the home stretch her nose forced past that of the bay maid loud cheers. She came up the home stretch and won by about two yards. Time 2:50.

THIRD HEAT—THREE MINUTE TROT.

The third and final heat of the three minute trot was another walk over for Lady Tariff. She led from start to finish, Lulu second, and Maud M. third. Time 2:59.

HURDLE RACE.

The last and most exciting race of the day was the hurdle race. There were four entries: Greybird, Scott Act, Nancy Lee and Kelso. On the first beat Greybird surprised and delighted her admirers by taking a big lead. When the first lap was made she went by still leading, amid loud cheers. But when coming in on the last lap she lost ground in favor of Scott Act, and the two jumped the last hurdle simultaneously. Scott Act won by about half a length. Scott Act also won the second heat with Greybird a good second.

RECAPITULATION.

TROTTER RACE, OPEN.—Fanny B. of Peterborough, won first money, $65; Maud B. of Lindsay, second money, $25, and Grey Ned of Peterborough, $10.

RUNNING RACE, OPEN.—Scott Act, of Port Hope, won first money, $35; Grey Bird, of Peterborough, second money, $15, and Nancy Lee, third money, $5. (By the American Turf Club rules the first and second places are decided on according to the places taken in the second heat.)

TROTTER RACE, THREE MINUTE CLASS.—Lady Tariff, of Cobourg, won first money, $25; Maud M. of Norwood, second money $10, and Lulu, of Peterborough, third money, $3.

HURDLE RACE.—Scott Act won first money, $30, and Grey Bird won second money, $10.

NOTES.

Mr. Rowlett was on the grounds, presumably to see how Scott Act acted.

The races were acknowledged to be the best that have ever been contested in Peterborough. The two judges were heard to remark that they never saw keener competition.

The best of order prevailed, and to Mr. Winn's credit he ran off the events in a way that kept up the interest.

The Driving Park Association have every reason to feel satisfied with the manner in which they catered for the public.

ASSOCIATION SPORTS.

A Good Programme of Athletic Events Well Carried Out.

At about one o'clock in the afternoon (Monday) the Fire Brigade Band proceeded across the Otumbea bridge to the grounds of the Peterborough Amateur Athletic Association, where a programme of athletic sports was carried out under the auspices of the Association. The attendance was fair, but certainly not as large as the entertainment or the Association deserved. The band played several pretty pieces during the afternoon.

The officials of the ground, who had charge of the programme were—
JUDGES—H. E. Hamilton, Dr. Boucher and Dr. Burnham.
CLERK OF THE COURSE—John E. Hammond.
STARTER—R. B. Rogers.
TIMEKEEPER—R. W. Muncester.

THE SPORTS.

It was nearly two o'clock before the first event was called, and from that time was well filled up with the following fifteen events:—
THROWING CRICKET BALL.—Eight entries. Price, cricket ball. Won by Wm. Pakenham. Distance, 85 yds. 6 in.

220 YARD RACE (boys).—Three entries. Prize, cup given by McFarlane Wilson, won by A. Miller.

100 YARD RACE (open).—Four entries. Prize, medal. A close race between G. F. Orde and A. W. Barnhart, won by Barnhart, 10:15th sec.

MILE RACE.—Three entries. Prize, medal. C. A. Lawford made a good start in the last lap, but it was unavailing. Won by C. W. Orde. Time 5 min. 22:15th sec. The winner received a bouquet thrown to him from the grand stand.

120 YARDS HURDLE RACE.—Three entries. Prize, medal. Won by W. J. King. Time 17 and four fifths seconds.

440 YARD RACE.—Four entries. Prize medal. Won by G. F. Orde. Time, 57 and two fifths seconds.

ONE MILE RACE (open).—Three entries. Prize medal. A close race, when he was passed by A. Barnhart, who then led to the finish. Time 5 min. 15 and two fifths seconds.

FANCY BICYCLE RIDING (open).—Prize, medal given by J. McNamara. Three entries. Won by M. A. Dean.

220 YARD RACE.—Four entries. Prize, medal. Won by G. F. Orde. Time 35 sec.

FIVE MILE BICYCLE RACE.—Four entries. Prize, medal. A stubborn contest between F. Might and A. E. Ames. J. McNamara rode piously for a time, but dropped out. Might led first and was passed by Ames, but Might came to a front again and held the position to the finish. Time, 21 min. 33 sec.

NOTES.
The medals given for the mile race and the 440 yards race (Association) have to be won twice before becoming the property of the winner.

F. Might had a bad fall from his bicycle in the mile race. While turning a corner he fell forward and the bike turned over him. His face was scratched and he was shook up considerably, but he recovered from the shock in time to win the five mile race.

A. Barnhart, after he ran in and won the 440 yards race, said that the Association track was the best cinder path he was ever on!

The management deserve great credit for the manner in which the sports were brought on and the programme carried out. There was very little delay, and everything passed off smoothly and satisfactorily.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Lacrosse and Baseball Matches—Sports at Idyl Wild.

In the forenoon the nines representing the Lock Works and the William Hamilton Manufacturing Company's works played a baseball match in the F. A. A. grounds. The following is the score by innings:—

LOCK WORKS.....4 0 9 5 11 0 3 6 5—43
HAMILTON'S.....0 3 3 0 2 0 0 0 3—11

The Lock Works won the match by their superiority as fielders.

The nines of the Lindseys and Peterborough baseball clubs played the first match of the season at Lindsay. The following is the score by innings:—

Lindseys.....1 3 0 1 0 11 0 0—7
Peterborough.....0 0 1 0 0 1 0 0 2—4

Mr. Geo. Denington umpired the match in a manner which gave satisfaction to all—a big thing to a y of a baseball umpire. It is probable that the Lindseys will play a return match here shortly.

At Idyl Wild the day was well celebrated. There was a large number present on the island. Owing to the prevailing high wind, however, the regatta could not be entered upon. The water was very rough. The prizes offered were drawn as follows:—$10 gold piece by A. Coburn, of Hastings; Crut Stand, by W. Wait, of Harwood; and the cake basket, by Mrs. Fisher, of Ashburnham. The dancing in the pavilion commenced at 9 o'clock and continued during the day to the music furnished by the Ladies' band, from Almonte, relieved by Prof. Doris, quadrille band. The music on board the Golden Eye was furnished by Prof. Martinus quadrille band. Palcos eons attached furnished ample room for dancing. There were about 1,000 at the island.

The best material of the Crokes Lacrosse club went to Norwood to cross sticks with the Clippers of that village. The following composed the team:—R. Kincaid, goal; R. Farnell point; M. Larose, cover point; J. Canning, left defence; E. Carter, 2nd defence; J. Canning, 3rd defence; F. Larose, centre; J. King, field; F. McPherson, left; H. Foot, home; T. Duncan outside home; R. Canning, inside home. M. Halpin captained the boys, and after fifteen minutes close playing succeeded in his efforts to induce them to indulge in team play, which resulted in Duncan getting a nice overhead shot, scoring the game. The second game lasted 22 minutes, during which time the ball travelled, uninterrupted by even a face, from one end of the field to the other, until Stevenson scored game for the Norwood youngsters. The third game was even better than the previous two, and showed in an admirable manner the staying powers of the Peterborough boys, who for over half an hour kept the ball hovering around their opponent's goal; and were making it rather hot for them in that section when time was called by five o'clock. The boys returned on the 6:43 train, and seemed highly delighted with their match and the treatment accorded them by their friendly rivals.

Mr. J. J. Sheehy made a capable and satisfactory referee.

A Bore Thing.
There are very few things in this life of which we may be absolutely certain, but this is one of them: that Dr. Pierce's "Pleasant Purgative Pellets" have no equal as a cathartic in delicacy of the liver, stomach and bowels. They are very small and their action is pleasant. Purely vegetable, perfectly harmless. It costs a vital. All druggists.

Bible study.
 The subject for the class conducted by the Rev. F. H. Wallace, M. A. B. D., in the Y. M. C. A. Rooms to-night will be "The Holy Spirit." All men are invited to attend. At 9 o'clock one of the Association's Bible Training Classes will be held, under the leadership of Stenif Hall.

Good Weight.
 Two cattle belonging to and fed by Dr. Kincaid, on his stock farm, were weighed on the market scales to-day and raised the beam at 3430 pounds. They were sold to Mr. Webber for shipment. The doctor appears to be as successful in raising fat cattle as he is in raising people from beds of sickness.

The City Battalion.
 The city battalion has evidently become a fact. According to the last Canada Gazette the headquarters of No. 3, 4, 5 and 6 companies, 57th Battalion "Peterborough Rangers" are changed respectively from Ashburnham, Keene, Norwood and Hastings, to Peterborough; and the battalion is to be considered in future a city battalion.

Went to cattle.
 On Monday Mr. Geo. Webber shipped a couple of our loads of cattle. Among them was six head bought from Mr. Wm. Armstrong, of Ontario. The six were weighed on the scales by Mr. J. D. Heston, and their combined weight was 10,070 pounds, an average of 1,678 pounds each. They were a fine lot of cattle, and their condition was creditable to the feeder.

Card of Thanks.
 The Committee in charge of the centenary, "Flower Queen," rendered in Bradburn's Hall on Monday evening in aid of the Organ Fund of St. Andrew's Church, beg to return their sincere thanks to all who gave their time and helped to make a success, and to the general public for their very liberal and much appreciated patronage.

W. C. F. T.
 The regular meeting of the Women's Christian Temperance Union has been held on Monday afternoon in the Y. M. C. A. room. The President, Miss Sanderson, occupied the chair. A committee was appointed to prepare bouquets for the Hospital this week. Those contributing flowers are requested to kindly leave them at Miss Sanderson's store, not later than Wednesday.

How came it there?
 Mr. S. Shannon, grocer, of Ashburnham, on Monday found a gold piece in his till. He does not remember receiving it, and neither does any one in the store. Consequently he thinks it was taken by a mistake for a coin of less value. If the person entitled to the change calls before Saturday it will be made right, and if not, the coin will go into the collection plate at St. Luke's Church on Sunday.

In the Water.
 While Mr. J. H. Stephens, Jr., and a young lady companion were out rowing on Monday their boat was by some means capsized near the locks. When the young lady rose to the surface her head hit a boom, but she fortunately came up again on the side of the boom above the locks and held on to it, thus preventing herself going over the dam. Mr. Stephens shouts brought assistance, and they were rescued by Mr. Browncombe and others.

Fire.
 Two fires broke out simultaneously on Monday night at about ten o'clock, the one in the outbuilding of a house on London Street occupied by Mr. G. Sawers and the other in the outbuilding of a house west of Park Street on the Northern boundary owned by Mr. M. Harris. The firemen turned out in response to the alarm sounded. The engine was taken to St. Paul Street, on the bridge in front of the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Co.'s works. It was found, however, that the tank made several years ago, and left neglected nearly ever since, was completely filled with refuse. The firemen had to construct a dam in the creek so as to get through water to run the engine. The hose had been laid up the hill to where the fire was but when the necessary steam was put on to force the water the firemen were charmed to find that just as the stream commenced to play, the end of a hose was blown out of the engine. This disabled the engine could do no work. The fire meantime was fast consuming the strip board and in about half an hour it was burned to the ground. The firemen directed their efforts then to save the house next that burning on the northern boundary, and by good work with pails rendered effective service. The house on London Street was owned by Mr. Nevins; Mr. Sawers' furniture, much of which was saved was covered by insurance in the Royal of $1200. The house on the northern boundary was insured by Mrs. Porter for $300; loss about $600. The fire at Mr. Sawers' house was caused by a sky rocket dropping in the stable yard; that at Mr. Harris' house, it is supposed, was started by an underling firecracker.

POLICE COURT.
 DRUNK.
 THURSDAY, May 25.—James Walsh was charged with having been drunk. He pleaded guilty and was fined $2 and cost ten days in jail.

INSULTING AND THREATENING LANGUAGE.
 Henry May was charged with having used insulting and threatening language towards William Cunningham. The charge was proved. The defendant was fined $5 and cost for the first offence and was bound over to keep the peace at two securities of $500 and himself at $1000.

THE NORTHWEST MEDALS.
 To the Editor of the Review.
 Sir,—As quite a number of the members of "G" company, late Midland Battalion, are justly anxiously enquiring about the medals and wondering at the delay in their issue, I wish to state through your columns that I have received official information that they have been forwarded to C. J. Villiers, D. A. G. of No. 3 Military District, about three weeks ago for transmission to C. J. Rogers, of the 57th, for distribution among the members of that company. It is reported, however, that C. J. Villiers, who made the presentation of the medals to Capt. Henry's company of the 40th Battalion on Monday at Campbell's Hall will be in Peterborough at an early day this week with the medals, and also to make the necessary arrangements regarding the presentation of the medals to my old and deserving company.

Yours truly,
 THOMAS BURKE.
 Capt. late G. Co., Midland Battalion.

Two Sunday Fatalities.
 Patrick O'Donnell, aged 21, a partner in the firm of McCarthy & Co., hardware dealers, Toronto, was drowned on Sunday. He went in a row boat alone and it is not known how the accident occurred. John O'Donnell and Patrick Sullivan, aged 23, went out on the Humber in a boat and upset. O'Donnell was rescued but Sullivan was drowned.

Another Fire at the "Mail" Office.
 At about midnight on Sunday a fire was discovered in the Mail building, Toronto. The north wing of the building was started from the floor to the top. In the attic the roof was half destroyed. On the fifth floor the Mail composing room was badly gutted and a portion of the new press of type was destroyed. On the fourth floor the furniture in the editorial rooms was destroyed. Alexander & Cable, lithographers, occupied the third floor, where the fire started, and lost heavily. The second floor, which was occupied by Southam & Carey's job printing department, was completely gutted. The stock and press room on the ground floor was damaged by water. The Mail's loss is about $20,000 on the building and $10,000 on plant, covered by insurance. Alexander & Cable's loss was $10,000; insurance $3,000. Southam & Carey's loss was probably $15,000. The origin of the fire is believed to have been incendiary.

A Commission Proposed.
 WASHINGTON, May 21.—The British Minister is very urgently recommending a commission to consider the fishery controversy.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE

Bookellers.—A. J. Sillbury, 100, offer to supply books in Nelson's catalogue at their price, and the publisher gives the $4.00 fee charged by N. & Co.

Cornice Poles.—For 75c. complete. Hair Brushes worth $1.00 for 50c., Brass Frames, usually sold at 75c. each, for 25c. The Morse stand for photographs is the newest out 25c. Come early and procure one. C. B. ROUTLEY.

Discontinued.—The Grand Central and Oriental Hotels have ceased running their buses to trains. People coming to the hotels will now either patronize the hackmen or take the alternative and walk. The baggage wagons will be run as usual.

Lost Child.—This morning at about nine o'clock, Israel Dubrey, who lives west of the Driving Park, missed his little three-year-old boy. A search was instituted, but no boy could be found. The police were notified, but up till this afternoon the little fellow had not been found.

Landsdowne Lodge.—According to the number of sittings occupied at St. Luke's Church on Sunday night by the Landsdowne Lodge, S.O.E., there were seventy-seven members present. This does not include nearly all of the members of this rapidly growing body. The lodge purposes running an excursion to Sturgeon Point on Dominion Day.

One Each.—On the Queen's Birthday the Warsaw and Norwood baseball clubs played a game at Norwood, the Warsaw nine winning by the modest score of 35 to 15. The Norwood men turned round and introduced football, at which they worsted their opponents by three goals to none.

Rest Act.—There will be three charges for infringement of the provisions of the Rest Act read at the Police Court to-morrow morning, against Geo. Lister, Ashburnham, one against R. N. Roddy, Peterborough, and one against Joseph Martene, a peasant vendor, Peterborough. On Tuesday Capt. Cooper and P. C. Adams and Pidgeon searched the premises of the two last named, but found no traces of liquor.

Matched Race.—The outcome of general race course meets is usually one or two matched races. The meet at the Driving Park on May 24th has already precipitated one match, J. E. McIntyre's Grey Bird vs. A. Elliott's Mangle Roach. Mr. E. Brown backs the latter for $100 against McIntyre's fast mare and terms and date of the race have been agreed on—mile heats, best two in three, to be run a week from Monday next on the Driving Park course.

Northwest Medal.—Lieut. Col. J. Z. Rogers received this morning from the Military Department forty-six silver medals for presentation to the members of "G" company, Midland Battalion, in recognition of the services rendered by them in quelling the Northwest rebellion. The medals, which are about twice as large as a fifty cent piece, were stamped in the royal mint. On one side the words "Northwest, 1885," are engraved by a wreath of maple leaves, and the other side bears a raised profile of the Queen. Arrangements are being made for the presentation.

CITY BATTALION.

New Officers Wanted—New Clothing to be Ordered—Signal Corps.

The news of the sanctioning of the formation of a city battalion in Peterborough by the moving of the headquarters of Nos. 3, 4, 5, and 6 companies of the 57th Battalion to this town was greeted by the officers and men of the Battalion, here, with satisfaction.

Steps are to be at once taken to proceed with the formation, and for that purpose the officers of the old battalion will meet on Tuesday evening next. Meanwhile Capt. Edwards is going to get his No. 1 thoroughly re-organized. He will meet his men in the drill shed on Friday evening.

The formation of the battalion will necessitate the appointment of a number of officers. A second lieutenant is wanted for No. 1 company, a second lieutenant for No. 2 company, first and second lieutenants for No. 3 company, a second lieutenant for No. 4 company, a second lieutenant for No. 5 company, and first and second lieutenants for No. 6 company. Capt. Howard, of Hastings, is to be appointed paymaster and thus a captain will be needed to command No. 6 company.

Lieut. Col. Rogers is making arrangements for a supply of new clothing for the whole battalion, consisting of the regulation red coats and blue pants. The men and officers are very interested in military matters here are very grateful to the Lieut. Col. for his untiring and persistent efforts to bring about the much desired end, and congratulate him heartily that he has succeeded.

The Signal Corps which was organized here one year ago are to have their outfit completed and are to be placed in a position to facilitate active drill.

Entrance Examinations.—For the information of candidates intending to write at the approaching examinations for entrance to the Collegiate Institute, we have been requested to state that drawing books will be required.

Boys' Express Wagons and Baby Carriages are going fast at C. B. ROUTLEY'S—the place to get good goods cheap.

Personal.—Mr. E. W. Cox, Mr. F. Cox, Mrs. Cox, Mrs. A. L. Davis, Miss Cox and Master Bert Cox left town on Tuesday evening on a trip to the United Kingdom and the continent. The party sails in the Parisian, Allan line, on Thursday. Mr. A. L. Davis accompanied the tourists as far as Quebec.

In the Gardens.—The Fire Brigade Band gave a delightful open air concert in the Horticultural Gardens on Tuesday evening. Notwithstanding the uncomfortable cool weather the Gardens were well filled. The band appeared in civilian suits, their uniform being too shabby to wear with dignity. These uniforms have done service for eight years. Something should be done to get the band new uniforms.

Fires and Fireworks.—The occurrence of two fires on the evening of the Queen's Birthday, both supposed to have been caused by fireworks, affords a lesson to the public which should not be neglected. If fireworks are to be used at all in town there certainly should be some restriction and regulation of the practice, or even more serious destruction of property may be the result. The incessant firing of crackers on the public streets on such holidays, is dangerous to life and limb as well as to property. Ladies light drapery may easily catch fire from these nuisances, and horses startled by them are often confronted with difficulty at the constant risk of serious accidents.

It May be Remembered.—That there's a big stir among railway men here.

—That it is rumored that another syndicate is after the Ch. mone Lake line.

—That, at all events, it is more than likely this part of the line will be opened up again.

—That there will be added another to the already numerous branches of railroad running out from Peterborough.

—That a man who comes from Toronto, says he lives in a free country. There he can get drunk and pay for it—here he can do neither.

—That it is more cool than comfortable today.

—That the Lindsay ball players are crowing over their victory.

—That perhaps it will be a somewhat closer game, when the clubs meet here.

—That local mill men are enthusiastic over the change which is to take place.

—That the captains of companies are receiving a large number of applications for admission to the ranks.

—That it is anticipated that there will be no difficulty in filling the six companies.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

How Peterborough is Represented at the Exhibition in London.

The official catalogue of the Canadian section of the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, London, Eng., has been received, for which we are indebted to Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner for Canada in London. It is a large volume of 300 pages, and with it there is a map of the Dominion.

A number of the manufacturers of Peterborough for some reason did not send an exhibit of the product of their factories to the exhibition, yet Peterborough figures somewhat conspicuously in the exhibition. It is, however, to be regretted that a much larger exhibit was not sent from this town, in order that the world might have had a good opportunity of getting an idea of its importance as a manufacturing town and otherwise. Those exhibitors from the town and county whose names appear in the catalogue are:—

W. Forsyth, Peterborough, shows an improved fanning mill and seed separator and a hand pump for wells.

The Peterborough Lock Manufacturing Company show door locks, door knobs, door bells, levers and pulls, chain and foot bolts.

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company, Peterborough, exhibit saw sharpeners for saw mills, in motion, saw bench for dressing and hammering mill saws, saw swage for swaging saw teeth, worked by hand, illustrations showing the different kinds of saw mill machinery built and used by the exhibitors in the manufacture of lumber, altogether making a good exhibit from this important manufacturing establishment.

Wm. English displays specimens of the open canoe made at his canoe factory on Charlotte street.

The Ontario Canoe Company exhibit the following samples of the work they turn out at their Ashburnham factory:—Longitudinal rib canoe, varnished, with two single paddles; longitudinal rib canoe painted, with two paddles; haw-wind canoe, varnished, with two single paddles; cedar rib canoe, varnished, with four single paddles; cedar rowboat, with cut-hat outriggers and four paddles; Ontario canoe, with hatches and foot steering gear, batten, long keel, and double blade paddle; twenty-three different styles, makes and kinds of canoes.

Thomas Gordon, Lakeside, shows an assortment of such canoes as are made at his factory in Lakeside.

M. Curtis & Son show white brick, plinth brick, clay, 2 1/2 in., 3 in., 4 in., and 6 in. tiles, and red brick.

The Convent de Notre Dame, Peterborough, is represented by a photograph.

The Collegiate Institute, Peterborough, is shown in a photographic representation, which, with others, was taken by Mr. G. B. Spradley.

The Separate Schools are represented by a photograph of the boys' school on Murray street.

The Mechanics' Institute, Peterborough, shows specimens of examination work on drawing.

The newspapers of the county are represented by copies of the Review and Times of Peterborough, and the Register, of Norwood. The Hastings Star is also shown.

The Cobourg, Peterborough and Marmora Mining Company exhibit specimens of iron ore—hematite, red hematite and magnetite—from their mines in Belmont township.

To our advertisers.—Customers desiring a change of matter in their advertisements in the WEEKLY REVIEW are requested to hand the same in not later than the Monday previous to issue for which they are intended.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1886.

A REFORM PRINCIPLE.

In the search for the missing policy of the Reformers, we have often been disappointed, for it constantly eludes the mental grasp. But we really think we have at last got a clue to another Reform "principle," besides favouring rebellion and slandering political opponents.

This "principle" is that Conservatives are very wicked to act upon the laws passed under the late Reform Administration.

For instance the Reformers repealed the Conservative law that timber limits should be sold by auction, and took power to grant them without competition, but according to the Reform principle it is a crime for Conservatives to obtain timber limits under this law or even to ask for them for themselves or their constituents.

Again the Reform Administration legislated for the formation of Colonization Companies, but according to the Reform "principle" it is terrible for Conservatives to take up Northwest lands in this manner, even under the management of blameless Reform officers.

So the Reform Administration, finding that the independence of Parliament Act interfered with their plan of hiring speakers and members of Parliament, amended it so as not to apply to members belonging to companies. Yet according to the new Reform "principle" it is inexcusable that companies with Conservative stockholders should have any dealings with the Government, though the Reform stockholders are only displaying laudable enterprise.

In much the same spirit the Reformers strongly object to the free grants of land to aid North-west railway construction if Conservatives are interested, though the Reformers vilified the Conservative Administration for its asserted measures in not making the grants free when a reduced rate was asked for them.

In taking this line the Reformers have certainly more reason than in some of their attempts to manufacture a policy. It must be admitted that it is always probable that so-called Reform legislation was faulty and should be reversed. But Reform critics should remember that it would be a big job to remedy all their blunders and reverse all their bad legislation. Much has already been done in this way. The Reformers taxed the family teapot or coffee pot and the Conservatives freed them from three impost. Under the Mackenzie administration our great national highway was to be a series of little railways consisting water-stretches and not pushed on too rapidly, but under the Macdonald Administration the C.P.R. connects the Atlantic and Pacific to the admiration of the civilized world and the great benefit of this country. Foreigners had the credit of manufacturing for us when Sir R. Cartwright ruled our treasury, and now our artisans and manufacturers have the profit. Foreign farmers, then fed those who manufactured for us, and now our own agriculturists supply them. Space forbids the enumeration of all the beneficial changes. Other bad legislation passed under Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake, &c., will no doubt be revised by degrees. Meanwhile till the law is changed Conservatives have as good a right to avail themselves of it as Reformers, and it is rather impudent of the ones who passed the laws to make it a crime to act upon them.

OUR FISHERIES.

NEWFOUNDLAND has refused its consent to the new fishery treaty with France. Besides the neighbouring interest Canada feels in this matter, it concerns us by showing what may be our own fate if we leave ourselves in the hands of a "Liberal" Administration at Westminster. It is apparently not recognized in England, and hardly sufficiently in Canada, that the right claimed by the New England fishermen is that of destroying our fisheries as they have destroyed their own. The "bait" they wish to steal or buy in order to catch our more valuable fish are themselves in mature edible fish, and as the food of the more valuable fish they also serve to attract the latter to our shores. Thus, in two ways, our fisheries would be deteriorated if we allowed such improvident privileges to the New Englanders, who refuse us even a market to return. It is only right to say that the leading journals of the United States do not support the New Englanders in their adoption of poaching, smuggling and piracy.

The Globe says that if Mr. Blake had been in power for the past two or three years we would now have no trouble with the United States and that we would have a fair reciprocity treaty with them. Well, Mr. Blake was at one time in power and he and his colleagues sent the ablest man of their party, the late Hon. George Brown, to Washington to make a reciprocity treaty. But he did not make it, as it takes two to make a treaty, and the other side was not willing. Mr. Blake would find it just the same again.

The own correspondent "on the Saskatchewan of the Rielite Globe seems now to be engaged in the work of assisting the rebels to make out of time against the Dominion for alleged losses. The manner in which this rebel agent of a rebel journal performs his dirty work may be judged from one of his questions as reported by himself: "A great many believe your property stolen and destroyed by GENERAL MIDDLETON did not amount to much."

We need not disgust our loyal readers with the elders upon our brave volunteers drawn forth by such questions as this.

The United States say they will no longer permit Canadians to sell fish to them. Canada says that this being the case they will no longer permit fishermen from the United States to catch or buy Canadian fish. The fishermen of Maine are indignant because they are not able to carry out their scheme of keeping their own market for themselves and also the right to catch our fish.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT

THE FOURTH SESSION OF THE FIFTH PARLIAMENT OF CANADA.

Emancipating Reformers—Sectional Opposition—Reform Efforts to Restrict the Franchise.

TUESDAY, May 25.—A number of measures were advanced a stage.

REFORM ROMANCING.

Sir JOHN MACDONALD said the Reform press had tarred and feathered him with accusations. Mr. McCarthy of blackmailing in the matter of the Northern and Pacific Junction. The demands of the railway interested went too far, and Mr. McCarthy had carefully guarded himself from supporting them, so no censure was due or applied to him.

NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

Mr. WELDON moved an amendment to render the judges ineligible for the Northwest Council.

Sir J. MACDONALD said it was only following the law established by the Reform Administration. It was only a temporary provision as by the statute the Northwest would soon obtain a wholly elective legislature.

After some further discussion the amendment was negatived by 70 to 42 and the bill was read a third time.

CAPE BRETON RAILWAY.

Sir H. LANGFORD moved the House into Committee on resolutions to authorize the Government to construct an extension of the Intercolonial through Cape Breton to Sydney or Louisbourg. The Dominion and Provincial grants had not procured its construction, so power was asked for the Government to undertake it.

Mr. VAIL and other Maritime Province Reformers supported the proposition.

Mr. MILLER, Mr. CHARLTON and other Ontario Reformers opposed it.

After some debate the resolutions were adopted.

THE FRANCHISE.

The House went into Committee on the bill to amend the Franchise Act.

Mr. McCarthy's amendments were again considered.

Mr. WELDON, Mr. BLAKE and a number of other Reform members fought hard against relieving Methodist Ministers, who of teachers, bank clerks and other income voters, and tenants from disqualification till they had been nearly two years in residence.

Mr. McCarthy reluctantly consented that the change should not take place till next year.

The remaining clauses were then passed and the Committee rose.

BURLINGHAM FALLS.

From a Correspondent.

THE QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.—The anniversary of Her Majesty's birthday was celebrated here on Monday in a most enjoyable manner. In the morning a single scull boat race was rowed on Lovick Lake between men selected from the different departments of Mr. Goodwin's works.

Mr. Edward Wade represented the staff; Mr. Edward Stewart, the carpenters; Mr. J. J. Greville, the stone cutters; Mr. Frank Wade, the engineers, and Paddy "Mut" and Donkey (a chevron Italian) represented the laborers.

The course reached from a buoy off S. W. corner to another just below Lovick rapids, and return, a distance of one and three-quarter miles. As early as nine o'clock every available craft was being utilized. Mr. John Holmes very kindly placed his boats at the disposal of the public for the day. The judges' boat, Mr. Goodwin's pretty little steam launch Ina, commanded by Capt. Kealey Graham, pulled up and down the course a couple of times, testing the smaller crafts about in her immense wake.

At 10:15 a small white boat, the "Paddy" called out the warning. They were a little while getting into position, but at 10:32, precisely, the sharp crack of a pistol sent them all off in good shape. A hundred yards from the start the Italian unfortunately broke an oar and was obliged to leave the race. At the three-quarter mile stake we could see that the engineer and Paddy "Mut" were leading all the others by about a boat length, but it was impossible to tell from the look of the boat which had the lead.

At the half mile stake Paddy "Mut" had gradually drawn away from the engineer, leaving a clear boat length of water between them. Our staff representative held a good third place and was pulling a steady clean stroke of about 36 with the stone cutter in the rear, which was expected, as Mr. Greville did not feel at all well before the race. The staff's 36 counted well, for before he reached the turning buoy he was even with the engineer, but just a half length in turning. Down the home stretch they came, and as they passed the judges' boat fully three lengths lay between Paddy "Mut" and the engineer, with the staff scarcely a half length behind the latter. For the next few hundred yards we witnessed a beautiful race for second place, but the staff possessed better staying powers than his little opponent, and at the mile and half buoy was ahead, and not only caught up, but had made a full length out the engineer. The hardy little laborer, who is not by any means a graceful oarsman, surprised everybody, in fact he was lagged at when he came out as the representative of the laborers. Still he succeeded in crossing the home line four lengths ahead of the staff representative, who had made two lengths of the engineer. The carpenter came along after while, but found the course blocked up, so he did not try to cross the line. The time appropriation to the boat race was $25.00 which was divided—1st, $15.00; 2nd, $7.00; and 3rd, $3.00.

Mr. Goodwin presented the prizes from the race of the Ina. Messrs. B. W. and Timbony acted as judges and Mr. Langford as referee. The water was a little lumpy, but did not materially impede the progress of the aquatic. In the afternoon Mr. Goodwin ran a race of the scows over the rapids and side, into S. W. Lake, a pretty ticklish and very exciting trip. It passed through the rushing, foaming waves safely under the management of its crew of twelve. Mr. O'Brien was the victor, commanded by Mr. Edward Wade. At the head of the Ina Mr. Goodwin very kindly invited all who wanted to run the side, to come aboard. Quite a few ladies took advantage of the little craft and enjoyed it immensely. The evening saw Burlingham Falls looking brighter and gay than it ever looked before. Immense bon-fires, blazed up in different parts of the village and it seemed as if every body had had in a stick of fire works, the sky being illumined from dusk until nearly midnight. Mr. Brantley's display of fireworks and colored fire was remarkably pretty. Ya, Burlingham Falls, throw away back in the country, had a most enjoyable day on the 24th.

PLAIN FACTS

Are Stubborn Things and Defy Contradiction. -Note the following Facts:

FIRST.—That previous to Gough's opening, three months ago, Peterborough buyers of Clothing had to pay 40 per cent more for their goods than they have to-day. Of course this was to dealers of principle.

SECOND.—That notwithstanding Gough has forced those high-priced clothing "fellers" to drop fully 40 per cent, it is notorious that their tremendous expense, and inferior judgment in buying, does yet, and always will, put it beyond their power to reach Gough's bed-rock prices.

THIRD.—That Gough must have taken some trade from those elevated clothing "fellers" which makes fairweather cloudy.

FOURTH.—That any insinuation that the Watch Gough throws in with his $10 Suit the customer pays for, either directly or indirectly, is false, but it is a bona-fide gift, and as a proof of it Gough boldly throws the challenge to any party that makes the insinuation, that he will forfeit $500 or $1,000 if his $10 Suit-Watch thrown in, is not better than their $10 Suit without the Watch.

FIFTH.—And furthermore, to the same party, Gough will forfeit another $500 if he is not in a position to sell goods CHEAPER and make a profit out of them than said party bought for.

SIXTH.—That this is a grand opportunity for cloudyweather to test who does as advertised, and he either should accept or make no more false assertions. And now, babies, swallow this and look pleasant, as you are too small for the Big Clothier to take further notice of. I will this week sell for $5.00 a suit exactly the same as my rivals have ticketed out $7.00. Don't forget, it will be a cold day in Peterborough when our hope fades away, and cloudyweather, will be a thing of the past.

FENELON FALLS.

SAWLOG DRIVERS.—Last Monday the first of this season's drives of sawlogs passed over the slide. There were about 40,000, all belonging to Boyd & Co., who have at least 100,000 altogether, and Mr. Hillard has about 16,000. Some are across the lake and some near the pulp mill and for several weeks to come, the river below the falls will be so full of them that boats can not get either up or down. There are a few big ones among them, but the average is much smaller than it was ten or a dozen years ago. —Gazette.

A despatch from Quebec says:—Mr. William Dubie, a young man in a lower town mercantile establishment, who arrived out from Edinburgh about two years ago, has recently fallen heir to over £380,000 by the death of his father in England. He intends returning to the old country to live, taking with him as a bride one of Quebec's charming daughters, Miss Eva Wilson, daughter of C. W. Wilson, the well known lumber merchant.

A CONTINUED CRUSADE

A WITNESS COMMITTED TO GAOL FOR CONTEMPT OF COURT.

Three Convictions Were—A "What in it" Brought into Court—Tested, Tried and Thrown Away.

The court opened at nine o'clock this morning. His Worship the Magistrate presiding. The court room was packed with people. Charges were read preferred by George Cochrane against Robert Hamilton, jr., keeper of the C. P. R. refreshment stand, and John Simpson, for having between the 1st and 26th of May committed a breach of the Canada Temperance Act.

Mr. Moore, for Mr. Simpson, and Mr. Stratton, for Mr. Hamilton, entered pleas of guilty. Fines of $50 and costs were entered in each case.

Mrs. ELIZABETH Darcy was charged by H. Rosier with having committed a breach of the Canada Temperance Act between the 15th and 26th of May.

Mr. STRATTON, for the defendant, pleaded guilty. A fine of $50 and costs was imposed, to be paid within twenty-four hours, in default of payment distress, and default of distress imprisonment for two months.

Inspector Cochrane went down stairs to the police station and in a few minutes re-appeared carrying a two gallon jar in his hand. This he placed on the table in front of the bench. Mr. Edwards held out a glass; Mr. Cochrane half filled it. Mr. Edwards examined it critically and then passed it over to the Magistrate, who tasted it, pronouncing it to be sherry wine. Capt. Cooper sipped a little and said he thought it was really made cocktail. Mr. R. N. Roddy took a swallow and said that no one on oath could tell what it was. Mr. Cochrane, however, swore that it was intoxicating liquor and that he found it in Darcy's. Capt. Cooper was authorized to destroy it, and forthwith he consigned it to the waste pipe.

QUEEN VS. CROFT. Wm. CROFT was charged by Henry Rosier with having committed a breach of the Canada Temperance Act between the 1st and 26th of May.

THOMAS BLEZZARD, M. P. P., sworn, said: I put up at Croft's when I came to town. I have been there since May 1st. I have drunk ginger ale at the bar every time I was in, but have not drunk anything intoxicating. It is not that I am so very fond of pop, but the charges are light and I feel it right to contribute toward the support of the accommodation received. I believe that Mr. Croft does not sell a drop of liquor. I have drunk there with Squire Breckenridge and Mr. Hope, a number of times, and several others.

Wm. CROFT, sworn, said: Up till the first of May I kept a licensed hotel on the corner of Hunter and Water Street. I knew that the Scott Act was coming in force and prepared myself accordingly—I let my stock run down. I run it pretty close, I assure you. I have got in no beer at my hotel since May 1st. I have two gallons of native sherry, mountain dew and some bitters left over, which I have reserved for my own use. I have given some of it to friends. There is not a drop of liquor on my premises now. I sell ginger ale—not Montreal ginger ale mixture either. What I sell is pure ginger ale made in town. Since the 1st of May 1886 no intoxicating liquor has been sold on my premises directly or indirectly, and I say with equal candor that there has been none sold at the place where I keep what I have left.

Mr. EDWARDS said that though there were other witnesses present he did not wish to hear them after hearing Mr. Croft's statement, which he accepted as ample proof that there had been no violation of the law.

Mr. CROFT did not care whether every one in the County of Peterborough were called the same story would have to be told. At the same time he would like to know who it was that brought this charge. He considered that he had been insulted and injured by having been brought to court. He had adhered in the law and every person knew it.

The Magistrate was well pleased with the candid straight evidence he had heard, and was also sorry that Mr. Croft had been put to any inconvenience.

He dismissed the case with costs.

Mr. CROFT bade the court good afternoon after expressing a hope that when brought here again the prosecutors, whoever they were, would have some foundation for their case.

He showed me the agreement signed and sealed with big green seals.

JOSEPH PARKINGTON, sworn, said: I got ginger ale at Roddy's since May 1st. I have not got a drink with Enos Dunford since May 1st. I don't know Tom Clancy at all. I know a man named Clancy who was keeping Roddy's bar.

Mr. EDWARDS—Did you get a drink from Clancy?

Witness—I got a cigar.

Mr. EDWARDS—Did you get a drink from Clancy?

Witness—I got a cigar. I tell you.

The Magistrate—If you don't answer that question I will commit you.

The witness refused to answer the question, and was committed to gaol for ten days for contempt of court.

Wm. REYNOLDS, sworn, said: I don't know that there was any drinks paid for at Roddy's since May 1st. I paid for none. I have got drinks but paid for none. Enos Dunford treated me once or twice. I don't know whether it was intoxicating or not. I acted as bartender for a few days. Mr. Roddy pointed out the ginger ale, etc., and I sold it. There was nothing stronger than ginger ale to my knowledge. To the best of my knowledge and belief I sold no intoxicating drinks. Quite a good business was done on the 24th. A number of intoxicated people came in. It made me jealous. I wanted to know where they got the liquor. Enos Dunford, recalled, swore that what he gave Mr. Reynolds was whiskey and port wine. He got it at home. He had the liquor before the Scott Act came in.

ROBERT N. RODDY objected to be sworn. The Magistrate noted the objection.

Mr. RODDY was called for the prosecution. He refused to be sworn, all he asked British fare play.

Wm. BOWMAN, sworn, said: I got something to drink at Roddy's, but nothing containing intoxicating liquor. In my opinion Clancy's ginger ale is a strictly temperance drink. This is what I drank at Roddy's. I was Roddy's bartender till May 1st. The Scott Act threw me out of a situation. I left on Saturday night. During Saturday I sold no spirituous liquors. Is old lots of pop.

HENRY SNELOBOVE, sworn, said that he drank nothing in Roddy's but Clancy's ginger ale since May 1st.

Wm. FENNELLY, sworn, said that he had about a dozen drinks at Roddy's since May 1st. He had nothing but soft stuff—ginger ale and ginger beer.

JOHN MURRAY, sworn, said: I got two glasses of ginger ale with pieces of lemon in them, and two cigars at Roddy's on the 24th of May. I come from Ireland—Galway, Ireland. They drink whiskey there. What I got at Roddy's was not like the stuff at home. It was not hard stuff. What I got was poured from a quart measure into a glass.

The case was adjourned till Monday, to get the evidence of John White, the informant.

LONDON, May 27.—Advice from Peking says that the Chinese Government has become alarmed at the size of the projected English mission to Thibet, and will ask that the escort be reduced and that the mission shall represent simply a commercial body; otherwise the Tibetans will refuse to allow the party to enter their territory.

FIRE AND FLOOD.

Royal Electric Light Co. of Montreal Again Burnt Out.

MONTREAL, May 27.—Another of those disastrous fires which have been so frequent during the past few months occurred early this morning in the factory of the Royal Electric Lighting Company on Wellington Street. The building is of solid stone, about 60 feet in height, and 70 feet in depth, and extends from Queen almost to Prince Street. It consists of four stories and a basement, and it was in the upper flat where the fire originated. Total damage about $50,000; covered by insurance.

The salvage corps saved the valuable stock of dynamites. In the third and fourth stories there was a quantity of high wines, sherry, calico and other inflammable materials. The flames spread very rapidly, and as the high wines caught fire the noise of the explosions could be heard for some considerable distance. Very soon the whole top of the building was enveloped in flames, and from the street it presented the appearance of the inside of a furnace. The Company has a contract to light part of the city within 40 days. They were burnt out of their premises on Donald Street some months ago, and they were flooded during the recent inundations.

KNIGHTS OF LABOR.

A Morning Spent at Cleveland in Business.

CLEVELAND, O., May 27.—The General Assembly of the Knights of Labor began its session at 8:30 o'clock this morning. The Committee on Laws presented a partial report embodying a number of propositions, one of which was taken up. The first proposition was in effect that the Executive Board should be increased from seven to eleven members. The morning was spent in discussing the proposition. There was a general sentiment in favor of increasing the membership in the board, but the question as to whether it were better to have a special convention to take action in the matter, met with some difference of opinion. Nothing was said about remunerating the members of the board, and it was thought they will be paid, as at present, only for time actually spent in the work of the committee. After a three hours' discussion the report was referred back to the Committee on Laws without instructions. A Committee on Legislation was then appointed.

At 4 o'clock a recess was taken until tomorrow morning, when the Committee on the State of the Order is expected to report.

Maxwell on the Stand.

ST. LOUIS, May 28.—Maxwell took the stand in the Preller murder case to-day. He testified that his real name was Hugh M. Brooks, and that he was 25 years old. He then proceeded to give an account of his acquaintance with Preller, and the incidents previous to and following the latter's death. The prisoner described in detail the particular occurrences of the Sunday on which, as he states, he started to perform the operation on Preller. He says when he had given him a fatal dose of a sufficient quantity of chloroform to produce insensibility to pain he introduced the catheter. Preller gave signs of feeling pain, and a small quantity more chloroform was administered. Preller breathing then became labored, and, despite witness' efforts to revive him, he died. He then forced the body into the trunk, thinking he could not make a statement in his own behalf. He admitted writing the placard found on Preller's body: "So perish all traitors to the great cause, his idea being that the authorities would be puzzled by it

The Daily Review.

FRIDAY, MAY 28, 1886.

THE Senate has taken the Opposition on its own ground and has rejected a Government measure. And now the Opposition press turns round and abuses the Senate for so doing.

THE Toronto organ of the Rielites seizes the occasion of the death of the widow of their martyred hero to lavish some more gushing sympathy upon the murderous rebel. It might have been better if the new admirer of Riel had shown their sympathy by aiding his widow while dying in poverty rather than by endeavouring to make more political capital out of her death.

THE London Advertiser has a long editorial to show the manufacturers that they need not be afraid to help restore the Reformers to power, as there would be no chance of a reversal of our protective policy. Other Reform journals and leaders declaim against the N.P. as an evil "Tory" invention which they wish to overthrow. A party which does not even know its mind on the most important question is not likely to inspire the electors with much confidence.

SOME Reform papers of Canada, ever anxious to injure their country so long as it gives its confidence to Conservative statesmen, insinuate that it is not only small, but of doubtful legality to prevent foreign fishermen from using our bait. That we are in the right on this point and that it is not a matter of little moment is shown by two facts. In the draft of the treaty procuring bait was allowed, but the word was struck out after a discussion. And in arriving at the amount to be paid for the use of our fisheries by the United States, their representatives declined to allow anything for the privilege of procuring bait, as it was only permitted on sufferance and could be revoked by Canada at any moment.

WHERE HE LEADS.

MR. BLAKE is undoubtedly an eloquent speaker and it certainly cannot be said that his words are always without effect. But unfortunately when they have an effect it is one that is detrimental to his country. It is strange that the leader of a great Canadian party, even though an unwilling and contemptuous leader, should be continually found assisting the enemies of Canada and her enterprises. The great weapon used by the land agents of the United States in attacking Canada and capturing would-be settlers is the portrait of Mr. Blake with choice extracts from his depreciatory remarks on his own country and laudations of the United States. And now in a similar way his late disloyal attack in the House of Commons upon our great national railway has been used in the London money market by the enemies of the road. London papers quote his words not to the advantage of his country but as a means of attacking it. Mr. Blake may be a leader, but he is a leader of his country's enemies.

A SIGNIFICANT WARNING.

MR. C. P. SIMPSON, an old Reformer, writes to the Toronto Globe to disavow any further connection with the Reform party, on account of the policy it has of late adopted. This is not such an unusual occurrence as to call for much comment; except as being a sign of the times—a warning to the Reform leaders of what they may expect. In this instance the matter is put very forcibly on excellent authority, for this old Reformer states in this public manner that he believes "there are hundreds of thousands of loyal Reformers" who will follow his example. This is in accordance with what we hear from other sources, that the honest and loyal Reformers are determined not to allow themselves to be dragged through the dirt after leaders who favor rebellion and murder, whose platform is a scaffold, and who systematically thwart and abuse the constitutional authorities of their country. Some of the loyal men thus alienated are speaking out, and many others will speak through the ballot box.
